The W. C. T. U. will meet at Library hall Tuesday evening, August 16. All members, and especially officers are urged to be present. Miss Grace Edgington, of the University of Oregon faculty, is at home for a short visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Edgington. An exhibit of butter from the Hood River Creamery will be sent to the Interstate Fair, which will begin at Spokane September 15. Carl Kent, who has been engaged in his profession as a painter at Fresno and San Jose, Calif., has returned here. He will resume work painting in Hood River and vicinity. J. W. Holbert and family, former local residents, have returned to the valley from the San Joaquin Valley, California, where Mr. Holbert has been in charge of a large orchard place. Mrs. Verne Whitcomb and little daughter, Marjorie, after a visit of six weeks with Mrs. Whitcomb's mother, Mrs. W. E. Shay, returned to their home in Seattle the first of the week. Mrs. Katherine M. Gill, who left last year for Camp Lewis to make her home, writes that they have purchased lots at Tacoma, where they are building a new home. S. J. Moore was in Portland Monday to attend the luncheon given at the Chamber of Commerce to John S. Drum. Bankers from all sections of the state attended the meeting. Donald Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bennett, who has been in Prineville the past several weeks on business, has returned here to spend the remainder of his vacation. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cooper have just returned from a visit to Seattle, where they witnessed the rendition of "The Wayfarer," a pageant-like performance, similar to the Passion Play. Musical numbers at the dedicatory services at the Christian church Sunday were given by Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Cooper, Geo. Mitchell, of Aberdeen, and the Odell quartet. The church was decorated with native greens. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Frazier, after a visit here with Mr. Frazier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frazier, Sr., and other relatives and friends, have left for their home in California. The trip south will be made by automobile. E. O. Blanchard and C. A. Bell were in Portland yesterday to attend a meeting of a Portland Chamber of Commerce committee, which is devising ways and means of a fuller development of Mount Hood scenic assets. Mrs. C. C. Lemmon, of Medford, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hersher, Mr. Lemmon is sales manager of the Oregon Growers Cooperative Association for the Rogue River Valley. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Moe and daughter, Miss Frances, returned Monday evening from an automobile trip to Cannon Beach. Mrs. Genevieve Canfield and daughter, Mildred, of Portland, accompanied them to the coast. V. D. Lill is expecting his brother, Thomas Lill, nationally known municipal research expert, to arrive here this week for a visit. Mr. Lill, whose headquarters are in New York City, has been engaged in gathering statistics on municipal activities in Chicago. Mrs. Lillian Seton, of Eugene, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rand, Mrs. Seton declares that she has never visited a region of such scenic delight as the Hood River valley. Judge Blowers and family returned Sunday from an 8-day camping trip on their Upper Valley ranch. He declares the experience a most beneficial one. He returned home with his face bearing a healthy tan and sunburn and the possessor of a keen appetite. Lost—Between Columbia Gorge Hotel and Hood River a large diamond, valued at $3,500, fell out of setting of ring. A reward of $500 will be paid by owner, R. H. Sullivan, care of Portland Vegetable Oil Mills Co., 805 Wilcox Bldg., Portland. Mrs. Conrad Jacobson and daughter, Ruth Anne, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Blowers, left last week for La Grande where she will be the guest of Miss Mildred Riddle before returning to her home at Walla Walla. The reservoir of the water power plant owned by the Apple Growers Association and located on the Heights tempted many small boys the past few hot days. The apple sales concern, fearing that some youngster may be stuck in the heavy sediment of mud, in the bottom of the reservoir, or be drawn against the screen of the main that carries the water to the lower city, has posted signs warning youths to keep away.

Leslie Butler and Homer A. Rogers were in Portland yesterday to attend a meeting of a committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce which is proposing a campaign for further popularizing the scenic assets of Mount Hood. Mr. Butler, with other members of the committee recently toured the base of the mountain. J. E. Bailey, whose hobby is gardening, Saturday displayed the most unique flower freak seen here this year. It was a dahlia bloom with four distinct centers and sets of petals growing in one stem. From whatever side one viewed the flower, of a large red variety, he beheld a perfect blossom. Edward L. McClain, Jr., who has been in southern California since the first of the year, with Mrs. McClain and their young son, has arrived here and has taken apartments at the Columbia Gorge Hotel, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Young, of Cleveland, O., are also members of the party. Mrs. Young is a sister of Mr. McClain. Charles Gumm will open his new Hood River cafe this week. The quarters of the popular restaurant in the Richards building Second street have been remodeled entirely. The place is now very handsome in appearance. The cafe enjoys an excellent patronage. It serves not only all kinds of American dishes but specializes in the preparation of Chinese foods. Rev. W. B. Young, formerly pastor of Asbury Methodist church, is making preparations for the dedication of a new $20,000 church structure at Ellensburg, where he has been pastor of the Methodist church for several years. Rev. Benjamin Young, of Kansas City, has arrived to assist his brother, with the formality of dedicating the new edifice. Mrs. Judson G. Ruggles and children, Dorothy and Judson, Jr., arrived home Saturday night from a visit of several weeks with relatives in Chicago. They enjoyed the middle west very much, but the extreme heat of summer days there were declared trying. Mrs. Ruggles declares also that she is glad to get back to the good water of Hood River. Chicago water, she says, is very disagreeable after that of most western cities. A. W. Isbell and family, who returned last week from a tour of Puget Sound districts, declares the roads to the Sound country now in excellent condition. Mr. Isbell made the journey from Hood River to Seattle in a day. "We made the long 265 mile drive with ease," says Mr. Isbell. "We started from our West Side ranch at 4:30 o'clock. We arrived in Seattle at just 6:30." Rev. J. Hilgendorf, accompanied by his wife, left Monday for Omaha, where he will attend a celebration of the 50th anniversary of his entrance into the ministry by a district synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church comprising all states at the middle west. Mr. Hilgendorf, who came here last year to reside with his son, Rev. P. Hilgendorf, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church, is 74 years old. He was head of the middle western synod for 30 years. Mrs. G. L. Schetty, whose husband, Lieutenant Schetty, was recently transferred from a station aboard the U. S. S. Boston at San Francisco to the Orient, has received word that Lieutenant Schetty has been sent on a mission to Vladivostok. Mrs. Schetty and baby daughter, here visiting relatives, had planned on leaving in September for the Orient to join Lieutenant Schetty. D. I. Stone, owner of Bonnybrae ranch on the West Fork of Hood river, which he homesteaded nearly 20 years ago, last week exhibited and gave to friends radishes and lettuce of fine quality grown on the place. The radishes of the large white Chinese variety, although not planted until June 28, are now of exceedingly large size, some of them weighing eight ounces. They are firm, crisp and delicious. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wetmore, of Connecticut, who have been touring scenic parts of America for the past two years and who have just returned from a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, after visiting Mt. Hood Lodge and Cloud Cap Inn characterize Mount Hood as the most beautiful mountain they have seen in America. The visitors also had high praise for the service of the Mount Hood hostleries. They have visited numerous national park resorts, they stated, but declared the fare of the local resorts better than any park hostelry. About 20 people participated in a delightful week end party at the Upper Valley ranch of A. J. Graf last week. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour Saturday evening. Early in the morning the fishermen of the party were out and brought in some nice catches. The festivities closed with a swimming party and trout supper on the Columbia beach. Mr. and Mrs. Van W. Gladden, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stranahan, Mrs. Alice Stalnaker, Misses Munde, Case, Streeter and Moss, and Messrs. Sylvester, Jarrrett, Graf, Marshall, Butler, Carnine and Ward. It is a case of love at first sight with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lauder and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Feldwick, of Booneville, Ind., who have just arrived. They are accompanied by Miss Ruth Shafer, a teacher and she, too, is so delighted with Oregon that she is ready to give up teaching connections in Indiana. Indeed, Miss Shafer has already applied for a position at the Odell school. The two married couples are looking for homes. The Indiana party on arrival called on J. W. Perigo and son, R. B. Perigo, old Booneville acquaintances. "The Camp de Luxe." This is the way motorists who have visited the upper reaches of the West Fork of Hood river the past week have referred to the temporary lodge established there by Ralph George and wife. Mr. and Mrs. George have removed the furnishings of their apartment to a fir canopied nook near the confluence of the Lake Branch and West Fork. They took the phonograph along and a dancing space has been arranged where friends who may chance to call on participate in impromptu steps. H. S. George, Mr. George's father, has been spending some time at the camp.

FESTIVAL TO HAVE POULTRY EXHIBITS Exhibits of livestock and poultry will be featured at a Harvest Moon festival to be held by the citizens of Pine Grove on the school and church lawns Thursday, August 18. E. F. Batten, school principal, and the Northwest for his prize winning Rhode Island Red chickens, will judge the exhibits.

BIG DOUBLE BILL

"Your Cursed Pride Did That"

And the boy, soul-sick at the wreck of his love, flung out of his father's home and sank to the depths.

But this smug "foremost citizen"—what of him? What of the girl who gave up when she wasn't fit for his son? What of his church that was ruled by hypocrites? What of the thousands of honest workers whose lives these hypocrites darkened?

Was there any way up to the light?—Only one!

A story that turns the dreags of life to the sparkling wine of happiness.
