

CLEAN PLACE

I am in the bowling business because since I was a child I have played and loved the game. And I believed the clean sportsmen and women of Hood River would learn to love it as I did.

Of course I also lived thereby. But I believed that the take care of itself, monstrate that conducted at the Blue Diamond Alleys would send you home after the game physically strengthened, mentally stimulated and with a clean taste in your mouth.

The 340 men and the 120 women who were habitual patrons last season bear witness as to the above.

FREDRICY OPPOSES LOST LAKE FETE

J. H. Fredricy, president of the Commercial Club, states that city and valley folk in numerous instances have expressed regret that W. K. Winans, Dee pioneer, proposes to hold a picnic to celebrate the completion by the United States Forestry Service of the Lost Lake Highway. Mr. Winans announces that he has invited a large number of state officials and members of the Oregon Hotelmen's Association to participate in his celebration September 17.

"It is true that the forestry crews may be through with their work," says Mr. Fredricy, "but the road, the entire distance from Dee into the Lost Lake country is now in a horrible condition. It would be very ill advised to hold a celebration now and take a party of visitors over the bad roads. The suggestion has been made here that Mr. Winans withhold his plans and permit a general celebration of the opening of the forestry road to be held about next July 4."

"I have just seen T. H. Sherrard, supervisor of the Oregon National Forest," said Mr. Fredricy Saturday. "He informed me that his department will positively close the Lost Lake road to travel Friday. He states further that it will be a crime to ask people to make a trip over the county road at this time as the road is practically impassable. None of the civic organizations of Hood River are back of the Lost Lake celebration, but, on account of the existing road conditions, are unalterably opposed to such an event this year. The road is not yet completed to the lake and will not be finished until about October 1."

Mr. Winans left for Portland Saturday afternoon to see the forestry department. He stated that he would endeavor to secure a reversal of the reported ruling about the closing of the lake road. Mr. Winans declares the discouragement of plans for the celebration by local folk resulted from jealousy of his activities in the matter. Ranchers and business men, it is stated, have subscribed a substantial sum for the event.

Sherrard Inspects Lake Road
T. H. Sherrard, supervisor of the Oregon National Forest, was here from Portland Saturday to inspect the Lost Lake Highway, completion of which by forestry crews is only a matter of a few weeks. Mr. Sherrard says forested shores of the lake bid fair to become one of the most popular points in the community. Automobile parties by the thousands have visited the section this year. Labor Day the motor visitors to the region were estimated at 2,000. The section will also be attractive to hiking recreationists as the forestry service will complete this fall a trail from Lost Lake to Walnut Lake, connecting with trails that lead down to the Columbia River Highway by way of Eagle and Herman creeks.

Mr. Sherrard while here visited his orchard place on Neal creek.

Wasco County Fruit Data
Wasco county has passed the peak of the movement in small fruits, pears and prunes, and now grapes are beginning to move out, according to J. H. Fraser, manager of the Oregon Growers' Association. Mr. Fraser, too, says he expects to handle 60 carloads of apples from Wasco county orchards this season.

The grapes from The Dalles now on the market are of an early and late and Black Hamburg variety. Rose of Peru are ripening and in 10 days Muscats and Tokays will be in plentiful supply. The grapes and peaches will be marketed in the Northwest, it is said.

Mr. Fraser announces shipment of 14 cars of prunes, two of which went to London, the others to eastern market. Prune prices varied. The London shipments brought $50 and $85 per ton. Nine cars sold f. o. b. The Dalles, returned $59 per ton. Thirteen cars of peaches have been shipped from Wasco county to date.

Inn and Lodge Both Closed
A harbinger of fall and the gradual descent of snowstorms and winter weather from the peak of Mount Hood to the lower levels, Cloud Cap Inn and Mount Hood Lodge have been closed for the season. Homer A. Rogers, who states that both resorts will be opened with numerous improvements early next summer, declares the past season the best he has ever experienced.

The toll road to Cloud Cap Inn has been closed, crews of men having spent the past week diking it to prevent destruction by winter freshets.

MANY TO MOTOR TO THE ROUND-UP

Arthur Rudd, publicity man for the Pendleton Round Up, who arrived here by automobile Saturday from the Round-Up City, declared the roads all the way through to Umatilla county in excellent condition.

"This road condition," said Mr. Rudd, who spent Saturday interviewing local folk and determining what the attendance would be from the Hood River valley, "is going to result in a record large number of apple growers motoring to Pendleton this year. Every one asked me about the roads. When I told them they were fine, they at once announced their intention of being present for the first cowboy tip on opening day."

Mr. Rudd states that entries will be made from this section in the North-west Hay and Grain Show to be held in conjunction with the Round-Up. He stated that he had just returned from a tour of the Inland Empire. Road conditions there, he stated, are improving, and the list of automobilists who will motor to Pendleton from eastern Washington points will be in excess of any former year.

A Pronounced Success
The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints, both for children and adults, has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival and as everyone who has used it knows, it is without an equal.

Take one of the Fashion Motor Buses to Portland. Cars make four round trips daily, leaving Hood River as follows: 9:30 and 11 a. m. and 2:20 and 4:30 p. m.

Mr. Davenport, too, has bought 24 head of young steers from M. B. Webster, who has pastured his animals the past summer on Columbia section. Mr. Webster's cattle are now being grain fed on ranches of the back country.

The local abattoir has been equipped with modern and sanitary appliances.

Middle Fork Candidates Named
At a caucus last week the following citizens whose land lies under the Middle Fork Irrigation Company's ditch, were selected for candidates for the directorate for a bonded district, into which it is proposed to convert the system: M. O. Boe, I. T. Beal, G. E. McIntosh, W. S. Dowd and F. W. Rockhold.

The election, both for determination of the will of the district's landowners in the matter of converting their system into a bonded district and for choice of directors, will be held Saturday.

Dee Arlington Club Formed
The Dee Arlington Club is the most recent organization of the Hood River valley. The club is formed by members of the Oregon Lumber Company's office force at the Dee plant and orcharders of the neighboring section. Officers and directors have been named as follows: C. Bingham, president; M. C. Arvidson, secretary and treasurer; and J. H. Van Wicklen, Dick Adams and John A. Ingels, directors.

No Substitute Offered
Say what you will about druggists offering "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, when the best medicine for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know from what their customers say of it, that it can be depended upon.

The old adage, "Figures can't lie," has been amended by a modern day writer by the addition of the clause, "and liars can't figure." Which recalls George Greene's old statement, that there are three kinds of lies, "Lies, damned lies and statistics."

To get back to the point, there is much going the rounds about food prices which emphasize the need of the amendment to the saying first quoted. Take the statement about retail food prices, for instance, and the repeated statements that the retailer has not gotten down to the basis of costs. We admit right here that some may be in this class. They are held up as a representative of the class. Really they are not. The surest indication are the reports which are made public from time to time on retail prices. These prices are coming down, just as they went up, slightly behind wholesale prices. Again we muse, "Figures can't lie and liars can't figure."
