

ODELL

A porch has been built on the front of the Grange hall, the inside walls have been plastered and the carpenters have almost completed the inside finishing. Some quite important changes have been made at the hall entrance.

Allison Fleteher has been working on improvements to his residence. He has changed what was formerly a bay window, thus enlarging the dining room. He also has new oak floors in both dining and living room.

J. M. Taylor, M. D. Odell and R. E. Miller attended National Grange in Portland last week. Mr. Odell and Mr. Miller returned home but the storm detained Mr. Taylor, who motored down.

Leroy Krohn has purchased the Boetzke property near Lenz Butte. The bungalow of this property was named Lodge Serene by Miss Outille Boetzke, the former owner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Duckwall planned to spend this week in Portland but the snowstorm prevented.

Odell's fine, new grade school building is a wreck, the roof having sunk inside the walls because of too great a load of snow and probably not sufficient bracing. The amount of loss cannot be estimated at present, but it is plain that the damage is great.

Several sheds and buildings of light construction collapsed. Many other buildings were threatened, but prompt work with shovels saved them.

M. Hawthorne went to Portland on the early morning train Saturday, expecting to drive a truck home over the highway. He changed his plans and took a train for the return trip but got only as far as Bonnevillie when the train returned to Portland.

Mrs. C. S. Hunter is in Portland. She and her brother expected to motor home Saturday. They have not arrived.

Many cars are stranded along the road. Some have been placed in shelter temporarily.

William Johnson, driver for the U. S. Bakery, delivered bread at Odell Saturday evening after having made a desperate effort to cover his route. He was forced to abandon the truck, familiarly known as the bread wagon and it will remain here until weather conditions are such that it can be moved.

Mrs. J. R. O. Barrie and daughter, Iela, are visiting in Portland. They have been detained by the storm.

At the Sunday school board meeting all the officers were re-elected as follows: Superintendent, Allison Fleteher; assistant superintendent, J. C. Duckwall; missionary superintendent, Mrs. J. E. Ferguson; primary superintendent, Mrs. G. A. Weber; eradic roll superintendent, Mrs. Allison Fleteher; secretary, Horace Gilmerson; treasurer, Andrew Weinheimer; pianist, Margaret Fleteher.

Sunday school 10 a. m. next Sunday. Service 11 a. m. The sermon will be the first of the series by Rev. Gleason on "Christ's Teaching." Sermon subject, "The True Measure of Greatness." Epworth League 7 p. m. Topic, "A Surrendered and Victorious Life." Marie Fleteher, leader. Evening service at 7.45 p. m.

The Father and Son banquet was a great success. Seventy-five boys, ranging in age from three to 80 years, were present.

The annual bazaar will be held December 9.

The Uptergrove sale of household goods and farm implements, advertised for December 26, has been changed to Saturday, December 3.

PINE GROVE

Joe Winchell left last Friday for a short visit at Los Angeles and San Francisco. He expects to return before Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Van Horn moved to the city for the winter last week. They will occupy the Batchelder house.

Mrs. Reynolds, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. F. Bickford, returned to Seattle last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shoemaker and daughter went to Portland for the National Grange last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Garland and daughter, of Chicago, are visiting her cousin, Mrs. V. Winchell. Mr. Garland is purchasing agent for the Pennsylvania Railway company in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paasch and family left last Friday for Spokane to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. Paasch's parents.

The packing houses of Sam Campbell and M. Drageath have collapsed.

BROWN ISSUES BULLETIN FOR GROWERS

Gordon G. Brown is author of a bulletin on orchard management just issued by the Oregon Agricultural College Experiment Station. Mr. Brown's bulletin covers observations of the six years extending from 1913 to 1918, inclusive.

According to the bulletin the general orchard average in packed fruit for the six-year period was 215 boxes per acre for the three years, 1913 to 1915 and 314 boxes for 1916 to 1918. The six year average was 264 boxes. The six year average for respective varieties was as follows: Delicious, 710 boxes; Baldwin, 504 boxes; Red Cheek, 500 boxes; Black Twig, 473 boxes; Ortley, 400; Winter Banana, 386; Jonathan, 376; Arkansas Black, 322; Spitzelburg, 264; Newtown, 238. Delicious, Winter Banana, Arkansas Black, Winesap, Spitzelburg and Newtown have relatively the highest average record of net prices for the six year period. Delicious averaged $1.808 per box.

The average age of apple trees studied was 15.6 years. The average number of trees per acre in the valley is 70. Mr. Brown says that the most hopeful feature of his analysis lies in the fact that remedial steps may be taken by orchardists to better their conditions.

The bulletin, beginning next week, will appear serially in the Glacier.

If you have any kind of auto electrical trouble, S. D. Cameron can find where it is and fix it for you or it will cost you nothing if he fails at Cascade Garage. j2141

Annual bazaar of the American Legion Auxiliary at Library hall, December 3.

LUNCH CLUB GIVES FOR NEEDY CHILDREN

Churches of the city and civic and commercial organizations have assembled a fund and are caring for needy children. A number of families, it is reported, have been left stranded here following the apple harvest. Several of these, with small children, are living in insecure shacks. Charitable men and women are searching out the sufferers and relieving their wants.

At the regular meeting of the Tuesday Lunch club Dr. H. L. Dumble, chairman of the day, appealed to all citizens to aid in the work of caring for the needy children. The club voted a fund of $10 to be used in relief work.

Dr. Dumble cited the need for raising a fund to care for the needy children of the city who are unable to finance paving of the short stretch, now one of the few stretches of the great scenic highway between Astoria and Mosier left unpaved.

Dr. Dumble declared that Hood River, as a matter of civic pride, should hasten the paving of the street. He suggested that a fund be raised by private subscription for the work.

At a special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion held last Thursday nomination of officers for the ensuing year was as follows: President, Mrs. Geo. R. Wilbur; vice president, Mrs. L. N. Blowers and Mrs. Albert Canfield; secretary, Mrs. V. R. Abraham and Mrs. Edgar Franz; treasurer, Mrs. S. G. Carnine and Mrs. Floyd L. French; executive committee, (composed of three members), Mrs. W. S. Dowd, Mrs. L. M. Bentley, Mrs. J. W. Ingalls, Mrs. F. H. Blackman and Mrs. E. W. Dunbar.

AUXILIARY MAKES ANNUAL NOMINATION

The final plans for the bazaar to be held December 3 were discussed. The bazaar will follow much the same plan as the one of a year ago. There will be the "white elephant" booth in Mrs. F. H. Button's charge. Mrs. V. R. Abraham will have the candy booth. At the "country store" booth in charge of Mrs. A. H. Berry canned fruits and vegetables, country products, picnic cakes and cookies will be sold. Mrs. Geo. Wilbur's booth will contain fancy work and homemade needle work. Aprons of all sorts, practical and fancy, will be sold in Mrs. H. L. Hasbrouck's booth. Mrs. L. N. Blowers has charge of the lunch counter where baked beans, brown bread and butter, salad, pie and coffee will be sold.

LOOP ROAD CONSTRUCTION ENDED

The snow storm has, it is thought, ended construction work on the valley trunk of the Mount Hood Loop Highway. The heavy snow has driven to settlements crews that were working on both Hill. Twenty-five men and eight teams of horses are marooned in a camp on the new section being graded in the Oregon National Forest southeast of Parkdale. The camp's supply of provisions, it is expected, is running low, as the men were just ready to leave the work for the winter.

The early snowstorm, according to local officials, is not expected to interfere with the State Highway Commission letting the contract for other units of the valley trunk line, scheduled for a meeting in December.

PHONES UNINJURED, POWER PLANTS OUT

While the dry sleet storm has caused no damage to telephone lines of the mid-Columbia, the weather conditions have put power plants out of commission. The Pacific Power & Light Co. reports that its two Hood River valley plants and that at White River in Wasco county are not running due to the slush and debris of the streams.

The company is supplying power to Hood River and Wasco county patrons from the Northwestern Electric Company's plant on the White Salmon river. Manager Smithson, of the telephone company, states that the worst damage sustained by his company has been from sleet wires broken by workmen throwing snow from roofs of buildings.

DEE BRIDGE AND DAM WASHED OUT

The storm took a heavy damage at the plant of the Oregon Lumber Co. at Dee. Monday morning employees found the main bridge of the concern's logging lines across Hood river washed out and the dam, utilized in generating electric power to drive the big plant, gone. It is presumed that ice and debris collected against the bridge, sweeping it out. The heavy accumulation of bridge timbers and debris then struck the dam.

The bridge and dam will be reconstructed in time for the company to resume the season's run next spring, it is said.

COLLINS LOSES BARN IN SNOW STORM

No valley individual suffered more from the severe snowstorm than did R. A. Collins. Dee orchardist and purebred Jersey stockman. A wing of Mr. Collins' barn was demolished Monday by the weight of the snow. Machinery and his automobile were damaged. A horse was seriously injured. None of the stock was hurt.

The day before Mr. Collins had gone on horseback to deliver milk to families with small children. The horse stepped in a hole and fell on top of its master. Mr. Collins was unconscious for a time. He also injured a severe ly wrenched knee. He is reported, however, to be all right again.

FRANK CADDY, PIONEER, DIED LAST WEEK

Frank Caddy, who died at Pleasant Home last Thursday at the age of 57 years, was formerly a West Side resident having lived here since 1912. Mr. Caddy owned orchard property and city real estate. He was prominent in community affairs, and news of his death brought a shock to many local friends.

Funeral services were held Saturday. Mr. Caddy's wife survives. Francis L. Caddy and Mrs. W. J. Bettis, a brother and sister who survive, reside at Nez Perce, Ida. Another son, Eva B. Caddy, lives at Pleasant Home.

FROZEN BATTERIES SHOULD GET CARE

"One of the most common questions I get now," remarked Floyd Gibbs, local Westinghouse distributor, "is 'How about my battery freezing?'"

"Freezing weather is a probability any time during the next few months and it is quite natural for motorists to worry. A frozen battery means broken jars and perhaps broken plates, a ruined battery in fact."

"A fully charged battery, however, will not freeze unless the temperature reaches about 60 degrees below zero. As soon as motorists realize this fact their worries should cease. It takes but a minute for an expert to test the battery and see whether it is fully charged. If it is, it won't freeze. If it's not, it goes a service battery while the motorist waits. He can use that while his own is being recharged. That's a lot better than getting the old battery frozen and having to buy a new one."

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS

Numerous local hunters have taken advantage of the stormy weather the past few days and have visited lowlands along the Columbia with good luck. Ducks have been flying low, because of the storm, and several nirons have bagged the limit of the fowls.

The heavy sleet that have covered the valley will, according to orchardists take a heavy toll of China pheasants, grouse, quail hites and other game birds. The sudden, early storm too, it is said, has caught hundreds of birds that are accustomed to migrate to the south before winter. Members of the Hood River Game Protective Association, as soon as valley roads have been sufficiently broken will distribute grain to various districts.

Orchardists are siding in the work. Scores of city residents are feeding birds that have collected on back porches. Cats are having a lining, but most families have incarcerated the family felines during the period of the snow storm.
