N. W. POWER LINE DAMAGED BY FREEZE

Engineers of the Northwestern Electric Company estimate that 20,000 pounds of ice was the average load which each span of the high power voltage line from White Salmon for a distance of ten miles out of the city limits of Portland withstood before the poles fell in the recent silver thaw visitation. The total damage caused by the thaw and by the snow storm that prevailed in the neighborhood of the mountain power station is close to $100,000. A force of 125 men has been at work repairing the distribution line. The company, after resorting to every other means, dispatched couriers on foot to White Salmon and started a repair gang on its way by launch. The launch made its way down the Willamette to the Columbia and up that stream through the hazards of floating logs, snags and other dangerous flotam to the White Salmon and thence up that river to the big $10,000,000 plant. The plant was not seriously injured, as the town of Hood River, which is supplied with light and power from the station, has been served without a break throughout the entire storm period to date.

"People who never saw the effects of a silver thaw," said General Manager Merwin of the Northwestern company, "could not possibly imagine its devastating effects."
"The wire cables that carry our 66,000 volt transmission are three eighths of an inch thick. Ice formed around these to a diameter of six inches. The length of the spans between poles vary from 400 to 1100 feet and there are three cables in each span."
"Computations made by our engineers show that an average weight of more than ten tons was thrown on each pole for a distance of ten miles out from Portland through the section where the destructive silver thaw worked the worst havoc. This weight when augmented by the wind caused a stress that no wooden pole could stand up under."

LOCAL MEN FACE INJURY LAW SUIT

Notice was served Friday by Sheriff Johnson on A. L. Day, O. A. Lakin, F. B. Snyder and J. H. Ferguson of a complaint filed against them in circuit court of Multnomah county by W. M. Eisminger, guardian of 14-year old Harry Eisminger, asking $5,000 damages for personal injuries to the boy.
According to the complaint the men were in an automobile, Mr. Snyder driving, which ran down the Eisminger boy, breaking one of his thighs. The accident, it is stated, occurred last summer on the Base Line road. The local men were en route to a grand lodge session of Odd Fellows. Payment of $850 doctors' bill in addition is asked.
The local men state that the accident resulted when the boy ran directly in front of their car, as another machine passed. They declare it was unavoidable.

Ned Baldwin Coming Home

Edward D. Baldwin is speaker of the "Little Congress of the United States." This organization is composed of secretaries to the state representatives of the United States congress and meets every Saturday evening to debate the questions of the day under the parliamentary rules of the house. It has been a very successful, going concern for more than a year. When organized Mr. Baldwin was chosen as the first speaker. Subsequent speakers have been Lehr Fess, of Ohio, Kenneth Romney, of Montana, A. E. Sedgwick, of Ohio, J. M. Harker, of Missouri, and P. F. Snyder, of Washington.
"Ned" Baldwin, who has been secretary to Congressman Nick Sinnott for almost nine years, and executive clerk of the house committee on public lands for three years, probably will return to Oregon during the coming spring, as he has been recommended for the receivership of the Portland land office by the Oregon senators. He is a member of the bar of the supreme court of the United States, as well as of the state of Oregon.

Meeting Offers Attractive Program

Final arrangements have been made for the meeting of the Oregon State Society of Horticulture at Forest Grove, today, tomorrow and Saturday at which the latest developments in the field of horticulture will be reviewed and discussed by the men who have been responsible for the advances which have been made during the last year.
An annual event, the meeting of the society is an outstanding feature which attracts everyone in the state who is interested in fruit and vegetable production and marketing. The program of this year presents an unusually interesting variety of topics and speakers.
After the meeting is opened, the first day will be given over to vegetable production. The remaining two days will be for fruit and nut growers.

Cow Attacks Mrs. White

Mrs. E. M. White was painfully bruised Wednesday night of last week when a cow attacked her. A nine-month old calf had just been taken from the cow, which was running loose in a stall. Maddened by the loss of the calf, the animal attacked Mrs. White when she went into the stall to milk her. The woman was bowled over by the cow standing on part of her body. A small boy heard the cries of Mrs. White. When help arrived the cow was standing quietly, with one foot holding down the bruised woman. Every time the latter made the least move to free herself the frantic animal began kicking.
While Mrs. White is confined to her bed with bad bruises, no bones were broken, and she will soon recover from the shock and injuries, it is said.

Taking Desperate Chances

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand such succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds, may be had for a trifle.

LIVED YEARS ON BREAD AND MILK

For More Than Decade Malady of Alabama Woman Was Continually Sapping Her Strength

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac as follows:
"During the past fourteen years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Tanlac nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me."
"Before I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got this medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that fourteen of them by actual count are now taking Tanlac."
Tanlac is sold in Hood River by the Kresse Drug Co.—Adv.

The Supply Was Steady

Some talk of famine was heard last week, when the snow lay in unbroken stretches on every side, but our supply of a variety of fresh and cured meats was steady. Nobody went hungry.

On Sunday we brought up from Lindsay Creek 18 head of fat steers. They are being made ready for Hood River tables.

Prepare early for the Christmas dinner and let us order your fowl.
