HOOD RIVER, OREGON

MANY LOCAL FOLK ARE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Jan. 30, 1922.

Our fine weather took cold Friday. We went to Pasadena with clouds gathering and a stiff wind blowing. Saturday was cold and windy. We planned to drive to Long Beach Sunday, but woke up with the wind blowing and the rain coming down hard so concluded to take the street car instead. It rained more or less all day, while the wisest rose to the gloom, the streets running gutter full, some trees blown down, debris and signs scattered over the walk, and cold enough so that we hovered over the little gas heaters all day. In fact, it has snowed some all over the southland. Riverside reports up to three inches in the orange orchards. We had concluded to leave Wednesday for Pomona and go from there to the Imperial valley, but the rain extended down there and we will wait for reports from there as to roads before going. Perhaps we will stay here another week. Do not think we will drive to Phoenix, as reports of roads across the desert are not good. Will probably go from El Centro to San Diego and stay there a month.

The congested traffic makes driving around Los Angeles very disagreeable especially if you have to cross the busy down-town streets.

We have seen quite a few of the Hood River people down here and will try and see them all before we leave.

The Stewarts are located at the El-don Apartments, operated by Mrs. H. McGuire. Geo. Stranahan and party are in a pleasant apartment on Maryland St. and will start homeward in a couple of weeks by the coast route, stopping along the way and plan to get home about March 1. E. W. Birge is planning on getting home at about the same time. Frank Massee is located at the Rosslyn and is putting in most of his time on business connected with the apple market. Clarence Gilbert is selling real estate and apartment investments and pleasantly located in the Euclid apartments with his wife and mother. The latter is much improved in health. E. Ireland with a partner, has opened a first class restaurant called "Tabellier" at Figueroa and 7th streets, the best eating place in the neighborhood, and feeding as high as 1350 people a day. He just returned from a hunting trip over the line south of Calexico and is recovering from a two weeks' illness. J. J. Ward is back at his usual haunts at Long Beach, but on account of the bad storm we did not attempt to find him, but hope to later. We heard that L. E. Clark is also here.

H. M. Hicks has a grocery store on Santa Barbara avenue and intend to get a good restaurant in the busy section. Both he and Mrs. Hicks are feeling much better since coming to California. I saw R. W. Pratt in his office and had a nice visit. He is delighted with Los Angeles, doing well and living in fine section of Glendale. We called there on our way to Pasadena and saw Mrs. Pratt and his father C. G. Pratt. The latter is still on crutches from the effects of a broken hip sustained in a fall a year ago, but slowly recovering. There are probably others here whom I have not gotten track of.

We had a nice visit with C. W. Hooker and his efficient secretary, Miss Stabrook. Mr. Hooker is optimistic about the future of the market, and is having a better trade than ever this year in Hood River apples. He says they are taking Newtowns much earlier than before. The frost damage was undoubtedly heavy in the late cleanup of apples at stronger prices. He says that California apples are becoming more of a factor every year in this market. Many new and large acreages have been planted in the mountains near here and in northern Arizona, which are keeping local markets supplied down through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, yet the increasing population and new outlets are keeping pace and consuming more Hood River apples than ever. The greatest problem is the retailer. He still charges an average of about $4.50 a box, making too much profit. The dealers say they are in the hands and at the mercy of the retailer. Anyone who can successfully lower the retail price to the trade will largely increase consumption and not necessarily lower the net returns to the grower and be hailed as a great benefactor to the industry. The excess profits of the retailer allows the establishment of thousands of fruit stands, where one-fourth the number could supply the market better, at a lower price, and make a better net profit and a larger increased volume of business.

A Judicious Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if, for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping-cough it is unsurpassed.

WEST SIDE MARKET ROAD IS SELECTED

At the regular session last week the county court selected for application of an approximate $28,000 of market road funds a lap of the main West Side highway between the city limits and the R. H. Wallace place. This road was treated with waterbound macadam in 1911. The coming of automobiles however, resulted in early deterioration, and since it has been necessary to apply severe surfacings of gravel.

In former years all market road funds have been expended on the East Side, in the vicinity of Pine Grove and Odell, centers where the traffic of apple trucks and wagons is very heavy in the harvest season. Construction of the Mount Hood Loop Highway valley trunk, across the East Side, will, it is said, result in applying all future market road funds to the West Side district.

Renew Your Motor's Vitality

That old expression of workmen, whose accomplishments on your wares or your machines make them like new again, to use their own expression, is much overworked. But it is a fact that the reboring of cylinders of automobile motors restores them to their normal power. The little increase in the size of the rebored motors does not increase the power, but the fact that the motors are put in the condition in which, presumably, they left the factory, often accounts for what owners justly claim to be a noticeable increase in power.

We have the most up-to-date facilities for reboring your cylinders.
