PORTER HAS PRAISE FOR SUMMER SPRAY

J. C. Porter, who has just returned from San Diego, Calif., where he and Mrs. Porter spent the winter, states that he watched the retail apple markets there in an effort to check up on the quality of valley fruit as it reached consumers.

"The observation," says Mr. Porter, "demonstrates to me that we have effected a great step toward getting clean, sound apples into the hands of the consumer by the application of summer Bordeaux mixture in the control of anthracnose. The apples reached the retail trade in good condition. Formerly anthracnose, allowed to scatter in the orchards for lack of the summer application, caused much rot to show up when the apples were opened by the retail man."

McCULLAGH MANAGER FOR SGOBEL & DAY

Plans of Sgobel & Day, pioneer New York City fruit concern, established 53 years ago, to enter the northwestern boxed apple field on a more extensive scale, with C. W. McCullagh, formerly sales manager of the Apple Growers Association sales, of this city, and the Yakima Valley Fruit Growers Association, as northwestern manager, were announced Monday. Mr. McCullagh, who for the past year has been an independent shipper, operating in a number of northwestern districts, has made his headquarters here. Mr. McCullagh, whose new headquarters will be Portland, will have charge of western states and the export markets of the New York concern.

Final arrangements, it is stated, were made by Kenneth H. Day, sales manager of the New York apple marketing firm, who has been visiting Hood River. Horace W. Day, father of the sales manager, who founded the firm, remains its active head. Sgobel & Day have handled Hood River tonnage since commercial orcharding was begun here. Their northwestern and California tonnage of deciduous fruits last year, it is stated, reached 3,200 cars. The firm is represented in various northwestern sections. J. Arthur Biggs, who last year was in charge of The Dalles, is mid-Columbia manager. Paul Kercher, of White Salmon, is assistant for this district; Crawford C. Lemmon, formerly of Hood River, is in charge of the Rogue River branch at Medford. Other northwestern branch managers are: Louis A. Blunck, of southern Idaho; Ernest Carpenter, of Yakima, and Stanley Armstrong, of Wenatchee.

PINK SPRAY SHOULD NOW BE APPLIED

(By Leroy Childs)

Most apple varieties in the Lower Valley are now in the proper stage to receive the pink spray. In the case of early varieties this spray should be applied just before the blossoms open. This spray is used primarily for the control of apple scab and mildew and in order to get best results the spray should be applied until all of the fruit buds have separated in the clusters. (See Cut 2 in spray calendar.) Lime-sulphur should be used at the rate of 1-30. Avoid drenching as much as possible and spray with a fine misty spray. Endeavor to cover both under and upper surface and the young developing blossoms as well as the fruit. Arsenate of lead can be used in combination with this spray and will assist to some extent in destroying the leaf roller. The chemist of the Experiment Station has found that arsenate of lead and lime-sulphur is more effective and improved by the addition of five pounds of hydrated lime to each tank of spray. The presence of lime retards injurious chemical changes that take place after these two ingredients are put together.

Upper Valley growers should apply the delayed dormant spray immediately. Lime-sulphur 1-30 should be used. Where brown aphid has been troublesome, Black Leaf "40" at the rate of one (1) pint and three-quarters to 200 gallons should be added.

The green fruit-worm is very prevalent in the Willow Flat and Upper Valley districts this year. This worm is larger than the leaf roller and not as shy, but causes an injury of similar nature. To find this worm examine the fruit and leaf buds. Add arsenate of lead 2-100 to the pink spray for its control. Lime should be used as indicated above.

MIDDLE FORK TO VOTE ON BONDS

The Middle Fork Irrigation District, organized last fall to take over the system of the old Middle Fork Irrigation Co., which waters a large block of orchard land in the vicinity of Parkdale, will hold an election Monday to pass on a proposed $75,000 bond issue. A portion of the bonds will be utilized in the purchase of the properties of the old company and in making improvements.

"We will actually need now less than $50,000 worth of the bonds," says Ernest C. Smith, secretary of the district. "The others will not be sold until such time as the funds are needed at a later date."

Oregon Better, Says E. A. Prather

E. A. Prather, formerly of the East Side orchard district, who recently moved to southern California, in a letter to W. M. Black, manager of the Hood River Creamery, expresses a little disappointment in his change of residence. He writes:

"We arrived here in sunny California all O. K. Only I have not seen much sunshine. Some of the country looks nice, while other portions seem desolate and God forsaken. Once in a while I notice some dobie spots. I do not believe this country is what it is cracked up to be. It is not what I expected. It does not compare Oregon favorably. Yet one cannot deny that elbow grease and water made wonderful changes in a former desert waste."

Mr. Prather and his family motored down, leaving Portland on April 4, arriving at Pasadena on Monday, April 10. About eight hours each day was spent in traveling. The roads, he writes, are for the most part in fine condition.

Swope to Draw The Dalles Plans

The Baldwin & Swope Construction Co., has been awarded the contract for constructing a $10,000 club house to be erected by The Dalles Golf and Country Club. J. W. Swope will draw the plans for the new building.

Mr. Swope has also been employed by the Hood River school board to draw plans for a new $11,000 structure to be utilized as temporary quarters for a local junior high school. The new building will be so designed that it can be converted into a teachers' dormitory or an apartment house at a later date.

BUYERS ARE STILL REPLYING TO LETTER

Replies to an invitation recently sent out by the Commercial Club, cooperating with a committee of fruit shippers, urging delegates to the International Apple Shippers Association who will attend the annual convention at Seattle in June, indicate that hundreds of apple buyers from all parts of the country will see Hood River and orchards of other mid-Columbia sections before returning home.

C. C. Crew, secretary of the club, has already received more than 40 letters from buyers, whose addresses range from middle western points to New York City. The list is being added to daily.
