THE WEATHER Saturday was the first "shirt-sleeves" day of the year, the maximum temperature reaching 81. John Koberg brought a wagonload of tomato plants to town, and Saturday night at least 100 vacant lot gardeners were engaged in setting them. The warm weather was greeted with joy by ranchers and fruit growers. Fruit buds responded and opened as if by magic. By next Sunday the entire section will be at its best for blossom festival. The warm weather is stimulating Columbia River Highway traffic, and the local auto park, which up to last Friday night had had but 70 visitors registered for the season, was well filled with cars Saturday night. Mr. Andrews' Car Recovered Sheriff Johnson received a message from Sacramento, Calif., announcing recovery by authorities there of an automobile stolen on the night of May 5 from W. F. Andrews, who with his wife had just returned in the car from San Diego, Calif., where they spent the winter. The machine still bore a California license. Mr. Johnson was not informed whether the officers had apprehended the thief. Mr. Andrews left Saturday to return the car, which was found with a broken wheel. The thieves were not apprehended. COMMODORE DEAN ON RIVER CONDITIONS

While Commodore O. C. Dean, formerly owner of the Hood River-White Salmon ferry system, says that the heavy snows that remained piled on the headwaters of the Columbia and in the Blue mountains are indicative of Columbia floods this summer, he declares that any definite prediction of how the run-off of the watershed will be, is futile. "I predicted erroneously river conditions two years," says Commodore Dean, "and then I ceased to be a weather prophet. And I will complete my predictions this year by saying that I would not be surprised at high water. I recently had a letter from Sam Kurbaw, of eastern Oregon, who has a mine in the Austin district. He tells me that the snow over sections of the high country there is still 110 inches deep. They tell me that the Okanogan country carries an awful burden of snow. If the weather conditions happen to be such that protracted warm periods prevail on all of the headwaters, we may look out for a booming freshet. It is a considerable 'if' that one has to take into consideration."

PORTLAND BOYS' CLUB IS COMING

James H. Price, manager of the Boys' Club, an organization of the Pilgrim Congregational church in Portland, was here Tuesday making arrangements for an outing of the boys here soon. Tentative plans call for a concert of the boys, the chorus of which numbers 100, at the Rialto theatre. The Woman's Union of Riverside Community church may take charge of the concert. The boys may come here to participate in the strawberry harvest, establishing a camp on Dee Flat.

Arm Broken in Auto Accident

B. L. Gibbons sustained a broken automobile Monday night when his sedan car went over the grade of the Columbia River Highway near Viento. He was accompanied by a brother, who was slightly bruised. Vernon Murray, traffic officer, was called to aid the motorists. Mr. Murray made the following arrests Monday: Stillman L. Kelly, of Corvallis, for driving without a tail light, and Robert McCuiston, local man, for speeding on the Highway.

Baby Hurt in Fall

The 10-months old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Carman, who fell last Thursday 20 feet from a high porch, head foremost, his skull striking the rounded top of a rock, which left a great dent, is apparently recovering, although in the opinion of physicians, the injury would have resulted fatally to an adult. The child was rushed to the Cottage hospital but was later taken home. Physicians are observing the little fellow, who has remained conscious and bright, to see if an operation will be necessary. The accident occurred at the home of the parents on the Serpentine road.
