NOT alone is the Diamond beautiful because of the purity of the rays that it sheds. The fact that its lustre will endure down through time, lends it value and beauty, too. Some gaudy tinsel may be made for a moment to outshine purest gold, but the precious metal never loses its durability. We pride ourselves on our gifts of substantial quality, gifts the workmanship and nature of which will render them heirlooms.

And in passing we would call attention to the fact that gold watches and rings, is now at a low mark. The only increase from the increase in the labor expended in the making, and was never cheaper than at the present moment. Jewelry of gold, noted in the price of jewelry manufactured from gold has come that is lower than a year ago.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST DISEASE IS MADE

Under joint auspices of the United States and Oregon boards of health, a lecture on venereal diseases and latest methods of treatment and diagnosis was given at the home of Dr. McVay for the members of the profession in the city and valley. Most of the physicians and dentists of the city attended. Moving pictures showing methods were given by Dr. Huckleberry, who is touring the state in behalf of the work. The laws now provide that all cases of venereal disease must be reported to the county health authorities. The patient's identity, however, is not revealed by the practicing physician unless the case becomes such that there is danger of transfer of the disease to the general public.

Gasoline Launch Burned

A gasoline launch, towing a wood scow up the Columbia to The Dalles, burned Monday when an explosion followed backing of the motor. A craft of the Hood River-White Salmon ferry company responded to a call for help, rescuing two occupants of the scow tug. The fire completely ruined the launch before it could be towed ashore and the fire extinguished.

NED VAN HORN AT ARMY SCHOOL

Among those fortunate National Guard and Reserve Officers who have been selected to take the three months' course at the Infantry School at Columbus, Ga., is Capt. Edward W. Van Horn, who has reported to the commandant for duty. The course given these officers is an abbreviated edition of the same instruction which every Regular Army infantry officer is now required to take and its completion makes a far more efficient officer of anyone, no matter how great has been his previous experience. It is an acknowledged fact that the graduates of the Infantry School are much sought after for duty with all of the three components of the Army of the United States, the National Guard, Organized Reserve and Regular Army. Due to the small appropriation made by Congress it is impossible to send even a good proportion of the ambitious National Guard and Reserve Officers to Fort Benning, so that the work of spreading this instruction throughout the Army of the United States is greatly handicapped. The cost of the instruction is nominal as it involves but three months' pay and travel expenses for each officer, since the school itself is prepared to function when the students arrive. When it is taken into consideration that radical action has reduced the size of the Regular Army to a point far below the recommended figure, the importance of the work of training the National Guard and Reserve Officers is of great increased importance and the small size of the present class, about 100, is regrettable.

Mrs. Haxby Addresses P-T.

The Barrett Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday evening of last week at the school house. Mrs. MacMillan, of Oak Grove, gave a report of the State Parent-Teacher Association at Eugene. The following members of the seventh and eighth grades gave book reviews: "Mogli," Kipling, Ethel Pyle; "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Stowe, Helen Hayes; "A Dog of Flanders," Ouida, Carol Hurlbert; "Trail of the Spanish Horse," Schultz, Harold Forden. Mrs. Anne Haxby gave a talk on the importance of children's reading. She reminded us that children get more joy and more vivid impressions from reading than adults, that childhood and youth are the golden age in which to get the heritage of many of the classics. She mentioned "Treasure Island," Stevenson; "Indians of the Rockies," Schultz; "Jungle Book," Kipling, and others that were written for grown people but prove to be of great interest to children. When asked about the number of books in use from the central library she said that in the ten months ending November 1, 10,000 more volumes had been in circulation than in the 12 months preceding, 25,000 volumes. This does not include the branch libraries at Odell and Cascade Locks. Press Committee.

MRS. C. H. CASTNER VISITS WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. Chas. H. Castner, while attending the national Eastern Star convention in Washington, with other Oregon women called at the White House. The following is an extract from a letter written by E. J. Adams, private secretary of Senator Stanfield: "I am glad to report to you that the Oregon ladies of the Eastern Star have represented the state of Oregon here at their convention most splendidly. "All of the ladies met the President on Wednesday, but the Oregon ladies were received at the White House yesterday morning and presented to Mrs. Harding through her private secretary. A bouquet with the enclosed message, which was signed by twelve of the ladies as a committee for the whole, was presented to Mrs. Harding. "After the flowers were presented and received, our ladies were then escorted through the White House and given permission to pass through various of the rooms which are not open to the public. This was a very unusual courtesy extended to them. "The greeting extended by the Oregon women to Mrs. Harding follows: "The undersigned delegates from the Order of the Eastern Star, representing the Chapters of Oregon, while attending the National Convention of that order in the Capitol City, take great pleasure in presenting you with these flowers. "We are fully appreciative of the very great responsibilities resting upon you as the First Lady of our Republic and desire to express to you the satisfaction it has afforded us to know the grace and gentle dignity with which you have met the responsibilities of your position in health. "We regret exceedingly your illness and pray the Almighty Father that your health may soon be fully restored. "The delightful companionship between you and your beloved husband, the President, is an inspiration to the homelife of our country, for which we are deeply grateful. "We bring you greetings from the representative women of Oregon and trust that God in His infinite wisdom may spare both of you for still greater service to our people."
