SAINT NICHOLAS

TRADITION tells us that about sixteen hundred years ago there lived in Flanders and Holland a good old Bishop known as the Bishop of Myra who was very fond of children and became their patron saint.

He adopted a plan of secretly giving presents to the children at Christmas time and, to conceal his identity, created the mythical character of Saint Nicholas, which the children of different tongues modified to the more easily pronounced "Santa Claus," and to this day millions of children are made happy each year by the Christmas visit of this dear old Saint.

In addition to the hearty co-operation we give to Santa Claus, we grown-ups could add greatly to the comfort and joy of the coming year if we would make and keep the vow of Dickens:

"I will honour Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year."

If we could take all the ladies in Hood River to one side, the Holiday gift buying for men would indeed be a one-sided affair.

Not that we are avaricious to want all the Holiday business in town-but honest, here's a display that will quickly turn any woman's mind away from cigars and such to slippers, silk shirts, ties, gloves and hosiery.

You have our word that no obligation will be attached to viewing it.

XMAS TREE PLANS MADE

FIR TO BE ERECTED MT. HOOD HOTEL

Public Spirited Citizens, Elks and Welfare Committee Prepare to Make Children Happy

The children of Hood River Valley will be given a community Christmas tree at the Mount Hood Hotel next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, as the result of plans made by philanthropic men and women. Mr. Edgerton, Mrs. C. A. Bell have donated the use of the lower floor of their big hostelry. Hood River Elks, headed by J. H. Fredrick, have agreed to take charge of raising funds for the event. Mr. Fredrick, too, will be the personal representative of Santa Claus at the tree festivities. All children under the age of 14 have been invited to be present. Gifts for all will be provided. Leslie Butler will provide hot cocoa for every youngster, and Miss Helen Fresse, of the domestic science department of the high school will prepare the hot drink and a "hot dog" sandwich for each child. Miss Elizabeth Campbell, county health nurse, City School Superintendent Cannon and County Superintendent Gibson are cooperating in arrangements for the tree.

John Baker has been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for transportation of children who have no conveyances of their own.

Mrs. F. C. Wittenberg, Mrs. L. M. Bentley and Mrs. W. B. Tewksbury form a committee to arrange gift packages for the children. Bakers will donate buns and cakes, and merchants of the city will contribute toward the stock of gift toys.

The big tree will be furnished by Gilbert Edgington, who secured it from the ranch of F. R. Absten west of the city. The Apple City Electric Co. will decorate the fir with varicolored lights.

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS REACHES $500

Final sales of Red Cross Christmas seals of the Oregon Tubercular Association were made Saturday by Mrs. R. B. Perigo, county chairman, and associates. Mrs. Perigo reports that the goal of $500 was then reached, setting a record for the county. She declared that rural sections of the county purchased the stamps in liberal quantities.

A large portion of the fund will remain in Hood River county for the administration of local charity.

SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN IS ON

The Salvation Army campaign to raise a fund in this county which was postponed from last week because of the necessity of sending workers to Astoria, where they participated in relief work, has been launched here in charge of Mrs. C. Underwood, of the Portland division headquarters. Envoy Graves has also been here aiding in the campaign. He delivered an address Tuesday to the members of the county branch explaining in detail and yet in a very interesting way the various ways of the Salvation Army in administering charitable work. He was introduced by Mayor E. L. Scoobee, chairman of the Lunch Club meeting.

Not a day passes that the Portland Salvation Army does not care for stranded strangers who have come into the city from outside points. During the past 12 months 197 homeless girls have been cared for without charge. Much prison gate and other work is performed. The Army is ever on the frontier where grim poverty and distress hovers to overcome humanity.

The Army is popular in Hood River, and despite weather conditions, Mrs. Underwood reports fair progress.

CLUB WILL URGE WALLULA CUT-OFF

At the instigation of C. H. Purcell, in charge of the Northwestern division of the Bureau of Public Roads, the directorate of the Hood River Commercial Club will draft a resolution urging that the United States Department of Agriculture, which, it is announced, has postponed for a year any participation in the construction of the Wallula Cut-Off, reconsider the matter. Mr. Purcell telephoned to A. S. Benson, who is making his home at the Columbia Gorge Hotel, urging that the local commercial body take action and forward a copy of the resolution to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The Oregon State Highway Commission has designated the Wallula Cut-Off as a primary route of the Oregon highway system, and the action of postponing federal participation, it is said, is inimical to the best interests of the Oregon highway plan as well as to plans already scheduled by the Bureau of Public Roads.

FERGUSON PRAISES RED CROSS WORK

J. E. Ferguson, Odell orchardist, who was interested in the large mercantile establishment of Fisher Bros. Co., destroyed in the Astoria fire, who has returned from the stricken city, declares that relief work performed by the American Red Cross was nothing less than wonderful. "I am ready to take my hat off to the Red Cross," said Mr. Ferguson. "It has an organization that functions on an instant's notice in such an emergency as that at Astoria. Almost before the conflagration had ceased the Red Cross was on the scene rendering aid and furnishing food for those who otherwise might have gone hungry. But for the ministrations of the Red Cross, some severe suffering might have been experienced in Astoria."

"After seeing the way the Red Cross functioned at Astoria, I will never decline the support they ask of good citizens. It is an organization that we should foster and aid at every opportunity. Such catastrophes as that at Astoria, or similar tragic emergencies may be met with at any time. We need such an organization as the Red Cross to be ready with a helping hand."

Mr. Ferguson says no one can visit Astoria without feeling an admiration of the spirit of the people there. He expresses a confidence that reconstruction will progress with rapidly when the people of the stricken town are accorded the support they merit from national and state government. Business firms, he says, are resuming commerce in the old frame structures of commerce in the old frame structures of "Old Town," which flourished in the wide open days of the Clatsop city.

Mrs. Ferguson accompanied her husband last week as far as Portland, where she visited friends. She says she would have been interested in seeing the effects of the devastating fire, but that she did not wish to make a visit there at the present time and inconvenience friends.

COLLEGIANS WILL HAVE ANNUAL HOP

Floyd Wright, Whitman alumnus, and Ray Slavens, Oregon Agricultural College student, are arranging for an annual intercollegiate dance to be held at the Oriental Cafe next Wednesday evening. Around 40 students from various Pacific Coast institutions of higher education will be home for the holidays, and all alumni of universities and colleges and high school students have been invited to participate. It is anticipated that the dance will attract a large crowd. Ford's orchestra will furnish music.

Patrons and patronesses have been named as follows: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sletton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Critter and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Cram. Students home from O. A. C. include: Mary McLean, Gertrude Horne, Elizabeth Kelly, Dorothy Cram, Margaret Fletcher, Margaret Young, Helen Brosi, Charles Johnson, Joshua Pierson, Mark Moe, Lindley Spight, Ray Slavens and Maurice Kinsey.

THE WEATHER

Col. and Mrs. W. S. Dowd, who were marooned for a time last week when the snowdrifts south of Dea halted the Mount Hood rail auto, now declare that the story of a white coyote bringing an open winter has been disproved. Col. and Mrs. Dowd, while motoring home in early November sighted an animal, which they took to be an albino coyote, galloping in front of their automobile. If the Indian theory about the white wolf is correct, say Col. and Mrs. Dowd, then they must have seen somebody's collie.

The minimum temperature so far recorded in the valley this year was 15 below zero. The mercury stood at this low point in the Upper Valley Tuesday night of last week.

With highways well broken and the rights of way thoroughly packed with dry snow, sleighing conditions here were never better than last week, and the family of the orchardist that has saved from former days the old cutter or a bobbed made merry with exhilarating winter trips. Many who have never ridden in a sleigh, wishing to experience the novelty of the method of transportation, tried in vain to rent a horse and sleigh, but none were to be had in the city.

A sleet storm, which for a half day was somewhat better than an imitation of the record storm of last November, tied up the Columbia River Highway all day Tuesday. Supervisor Nickelson and crews, having received a large snow plow from the highway department, had the road open again for traffic Wednesday morning.

Supervisor Nickelson has found his most serious work on the Highway at Shell Rock mountain, he says. Here crews were kept busy shoveling out the snow, as it rolled down from the overhanging declivity. It was necessary to shovel the snow off the O-W, R. & N. track into the Columbia after it was first dumped from the highway.

With the ice blockading the Columbia river ferry, Rev. Father Francis, in order to reach Goldendale for Sunday masses, at the mission Catholic church there, was forced to go to Portland and return up the gorge on the North Bank line. Ferry service between The Dalles and Granddalle was blocked.

Boats of the Cascade Locks-Stevenson ferry company are out of commission. An east wind blew water up over the craft, which, freezing, overloaded the boats and sunk them. The ferry service will be discontinued until a thaw prevails.

The cold weather caused Manager Kolstad to close the Rialto theatre because his heating system was inadequate. All shows were presented at the Liberty. Mr. Kolstad has ordered a hot water system for his playhouse.

With every steep street an ideal toboggan slide, adult Hood River joined children in coasting Sunday. The sleds were sold by merchants Saturday night and an additional supply ordered by wire.

A crack in the roof of the Brookus building caused flooding of the office of Balgwin & Swope and the Vogt store Sunday. The damage to merchandise was small, however.

Consider the bear, snugly hibernating his den or cave. He sees a fortunate beast when the temperature was flirting with zero.

The Columbia was frozen so solidly at The Dalles last week that pedestrians walked across in numbers.

RED CROSS BALL

FUND GOES TO CRIPPLE CHILDREN

Event is Arousing Interest Throughout City and Entire Valley - Big Attendance Expected

The Red Cross ball to be given Christmas night by the local chapter of the American Red Cross for the benefit of the crippled children of the county is expected to draw a large crowd. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event. Mrs. F. A. Cram, in general charge of the dance, has named the following floor committee: Dr. L. L. Murphy, Dr. V. R. Abraham, E. O. Blanchard, Harold Herberner and P. F. Clark.

Patronesses for the event have been named as follows: Mrs. L. L. Murphy, Mrs. Harold Herberner, Mrs. J. W. Ingalls, Mrs. E. O. Blanchard, Mrs. V. R. Abraham, Mrs. C. H. Caster, Mrs. F. A. Cram, Mrs. Mary Campbell, Mrs. P. F. Clark, Mrs. Truman Butler, Mrs. W. R. Collio, Mrs. A. S. Keir, Mrs. F. S. Kelly, Mrs. R. E. Scott, Mrs. E. O. Dutton, Mrs. E. L. Scoobee, Mrs. Leroy Childs, Mrs. E. W. Birge, Mrs. S. J. Moore, Mrs. R. B. Perigo, Mrs. H. G. Ball, Mrs. J. M. Culbertson, Mrs. Chas. N. Clarke, Mrs. Allyn Button, Mrs. F. P. Friday, Mrs. Geo. H. L. Sharp, Mrs. B. H. Snow, Mrs. H. O. Kresse, Mrs. Frederick Page, Mrs. L. E. Taft, Mrs. D. L. Pierson and Mrs. W. Robert.

The public should not rest under the impression that the ball is for the general Red Cross fund. The proceeds will be used exclusively for the aid of crippled children. Under an Oregon law, children of any county of the state are given the benefit of medical and surgical care at the expense of the state. Counties, however, must raise funds for hospital fees and the money to be raised this Christmas night will go to this fund. A number of Hood River children who would probably have gone through life hopelessly crippled, have been relieved by this fund.

The dance will be attended by the best people of Hood River. While a public dance, it will draw forth representative families of both city and valley.

Tickets, which are now being placed on sale, will cost $1.50. It is expected that the dance will be the most largely attended of the year. A great many are already expressing a keen interest in it.

The music will be furnished by Ford's orchestra.

NOTED EDUCATOR HAS PRAISE FOR VALLEY

Hood River has had no more interesting visitor recently than Dr. Marcus D. Buell, dean emeritus of the School of Theology of Boston University. Dean Buell recently retired from active service after 28 years' connection with the school. Some 10 years ago he purchased an orchard place here, and at intervals since has visited here to look after the property.

Dr. Buell, who is a world traveler, having written numerous articles on travel, declares that he has never seen any part of the globe more appealing from the standpoint of scenic wonder than the mid-Columbia section of the Cascades. He characterizes the Columbia River Highway as a marvelous example of what man can do in making available the beauties of God's open country.

The following is clipped from "Zion's Herald," an eastern religious publication:

Dr. Buell holds the seniority in point of service over all deans of this oldest department of Boston University, having served in that capacity for 19 years, from 1885 to 1904, the longest term in office of any dean in the history of the department.

A native of New York state, Dr. Buell entered New York University for his college training, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts and the senior fellowship in 1872 and the master's degree the following year. In 1875 he was graduated from Boston University School of Theology. He later studied abroad in Cambridge, England; Berlin, and Heidelberg. New York University conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of divinity in 1889.

Dr. Buell after his graduation from Boston University, he married Miss Edith V. Houghton, of Wellington, O. The young couple went at once to the Methodist parsonage at Fort Chester, N. Y. Later pastored as in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in Hartford, Conn., preceded his election to a professorship in Boston University School of Theology in 1884.

Dr. Buell has been a prominent writer for the periodical press on travel, educational, and religious subjects. During the year 1916 he made a trip through the Orient as a Bible lecturer. He has been a trustee of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal church since 1912.

The action of the authorities of Boston University in conferring the title of "dean emeritus" upon Professor Buell is a fitting tribute to his long years of faithful and efficient service and will be lauded with much satisfaction by his beloved students in every section of the United States and in foreign lands. To most of us this honored teacher, who grows younger in spirit as his body grows older, can never be known by any other name than "Dean Buell." The trustees of the institution have done well therefore, to give him officially and permanently the title which already has become a part of his very personality.

Budget Meeting Next Thursday

In another column it is stated that the annual county budget meeting will be held today. This is an error. The meeting for final adoption of a county budget will be held next Thursday.

Band Dance New Year's Night

The K. P. Band boys will start the sale of tickets for their third annual dance next Tuesday. The dance will be held Monday evening, January 1, at Pylvian Temple. It is anticipated that it will be one of the most largely attended dances of the season.
