CHRISTIAN SCIENCE RECONCILES, CONSOLS

(By Rev. Andrew J. Graham, G. E. B. Member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.)

The Pioneer
Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and the author of her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," has given us a compact definition of Christian Science. From this and fragments of "Science and Health," she has deduced it as "the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony." From this and scattered passages in her writings, we learn that Christian Science is the reconciler and the consoler of mankind. It is the only way to universal harmony here and now throughout all eternity. Christians of every age will accept this statement as true when they come to see that Christian Science means Christ-knowledge—that is, Jesus Christ and the universe as Jesus the Christ knew them. Paul writes to the Corinthians: "We pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God." In Christian Science we would add words saying: "Be ye reconciled to God—good. The addition of this word identifies all good with God. To be reconciled to God—good—is the basis for all lesser reconciliations. It is the only source of consolation for earth's woes. Consolation never precedes reconciliation. One must first be reconciled before he can be consoled. He must begin to see and accept the truth before his sins and weaknesses and woes can be permanently driven away. The English word "reconcile" is derived from the Latin re and conciliare. Literally it means "to be brought together again." There is a supposition that harmony has been broken, resulting in separation. The theological dogma known as the Fall of Man declares that the man whom God created and pronounced perfect fell away from God—became separated from his Creator. This belief is deep-seated and tenacious. Reconciliation is the act of destroying his belief and of restoring the sense of unity, harmony, or at-onement. Christian Science or Christ-knowledge is the power through which this result is accomplished. There is no other way.

Coincident with the "Rise of Learning," in the fifteenth century, the Holy Scriptures appeared in languages understood by the people. They were heeded as a great intellectual and religious awakening. Prior to that time very few Christians had access to the Bible. But with its translation that precious volume became the object of widespread study. It was not long, however, before thoughtful students began to be puzzled over apparent contradictions in the Holy Bible. Human reason discovered many passages which did not seem to be in harmony with the character of a loving Father. Very justly they did feel that:

"The loving worm within its clod
Were diving than a loveless God."
The adequate explanation for these antinomies. The number of intellectual doubters increased. Hume, Voltaire, Paine, and Ingelsoll were representatives of a large class of skeptics, reaching down to present days. Human reason, unillumined by Spirit, could not be reconciled to revelation. Christendom, for more than three hundred years, struggled with the problem of how the Bible book was written, in the futile attempt to reconcile reason and revelation. In 1886, the dawn of the day of understanding was drawing near. Mary Baker Eddy was revealed in orthodox Christianity and was familiar with its problem. For twenty-five years she had studied the Bible with great care. Through this study she had gained a spiritual understanding not equaled by any since apostles. She applied this understanding to the interpretation of the Scriptures; and through this understanding she was instantaneously healed of severe physical ills, while reading in one of the Gospels. She writes on page 106 of Science and Health: "For three years after my discovery, I sought the solution of this problem of Mind-healing, searched the Scriptures and read little else, kept aloof from society, and devoted time and energies to discovering a positive rule." On page 110 of the same volume she writes: "In following the Scriptures and their reason and revelation were revealed." Then came to her that spiritual sense of composure, certainty, security, consolation, which permanently marked her whole subsequent life.

"Key to the Scriptures"
This truth which reconciled reason and revelation for Mrs. Eddy was Christian Science. She has made the reception of this truth possible to all mankind. By means of it the Bible is unlocked and its real treasures made available. In the Christian Science Church, throughout the world, are multitudes of men and women who know little less about the Bible and cared less. To these persons the book has become a daily companion, whose teaching harmonizes with the highest reason. All of Mrs. Eddy's writings, elucidate the Scriptures. But the three chapters in the Christian Science textbook, entitled Genesis, The Apocalypse, and Glossary, constitute especially the "Key to the Scriptures." A few months' study of these will give to me a workable understanding of God which nearly forty years of study and of preaching in an orthodox church had not revealed. We lovingly commend, to those who think, a careful perusal of these chapters. They throw a clear light upon the darkest pages of Holy Writ. They have led some of the closest thinkers of the age to accept the Bible as the highest expression of reason known to man. Christian Scientists do not hold to the Bible on mere blind belief. They accept it because they understand and they rightly interpreted, it is the living Word of God in this and every age. So understood through Christian Science, this Word runneth very swiftly on its loving errand of consolation—removing manifold perplexities which have vexed Bible students for centuries.

DAN WUILLE STOCK NEARLY ALL SHIPPED

Except for a single car of Arkansas Blacks remaining here and 15 cars of assorted varieties of apples at warehouses in the La Grande district, Dan Wulle & Co. have shipped their tonnage of the 1922 season. The total deliveries from growers reached 840,000 boxes in the mid-Columbia district, the Willamette Valley and eastern Oregon. A heavy tonnage was also handled at Medford and Yakima, according to Walter Woolpert.
Dan Wulle & Co. exported 210,000 of the apples handled through the local office. Except for 40,000 boxes, the export fruit was all shipped from Portland by refrigerated ships.

Wise Owls Are Shown

The show window of the First National Bank, which has attracted much attention the past year by its "home products" displays, for the past week has been filled with two wise owls. These birds, according to placards beside them, demonstrated their wisdom by starting savings accounts and constantly adding to them.
