

The Defensive Armor of the Home

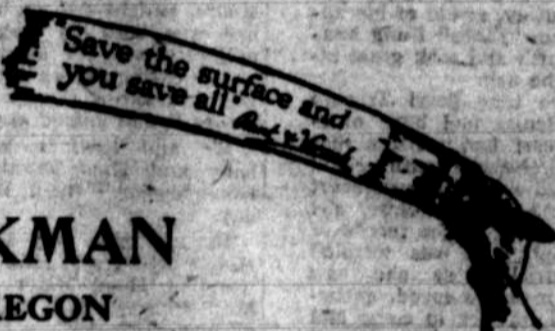

IN THE DAYS when chivalry flourished, the home, whether castle or hut, relied upon steel to protect it from its enemies. The home of today depends upon metal for its protection, but from different enemies. The foes of the modern home—heat, cold, wind, rain smiting it from without, and that human enemy within, called "wear and tear"—are all held at bay by a metal film called PAINT.

This liquid metal that protects your home within and without, is but $\frac{1}{16}$ of an inch thick—the thickness of a sheet of writing paper. In BASS-HUETER Pure Mixed Paint the film is made of the best materials obtainable—pure lead and pure zinc, ground in refined linseed oil. When you have applied this Twentieth Century Armor to your home, you have coated the surface with a metal film that resists the attacks of the elements and withstands hard usage.

BASS-HUETER Paints and Varnishes

Made on the Coast to withstand climatic conditions peculiar to the West, BASS-HUETER products give the utmost satisfaction to home owners, industrial plants and manufacturers, to all users. Keeping pace with every advance made in the industry during these years, BASS-HUETER chemists are producing paints and varnishes that spread easily, dry quickly and wear twice as long as the average paint.

Upon each can of Bass-Hueter Paint you will find full instructions for its use; though inexperienced, you may use these paints without fear of failure. Modernize the old home or keep a new one in the pink of condition by doing the small jobs yourself with these dependable paints and varnishes. The contracting painter you engage for the larger work will be glad to use BASS-HUETER products if you request it.

STAGE AND SCREEN

The first 100 boys and girls attending the matinee of next Saturday at the Rialto will each receive one of the famous Wesley Barry hats. These millinery creations are really hats plus false faces. If it were an age of horses somebody's nag, when the Saturday afternoon shopping crowds begin to wend the weary homeward way, would be due for a fright. The hats will be distributed as a publicity feature of the next Barry show, "From Rags to Riches," due here soon. Each hat will carry a personal message for the wearer from Mr. Barry.

In "The Masquerader," shown at the audience had an opportunity for witnessing some real acting. It had nothing of the spectacular about it, and the theatergoer has to do a little thinking as the play proceeds. Guy Bates Post took the part both of Chatterbox, the debauched Englishman, who degenerated from a career that promised much brilliance to drugged degeneracy, and of his Canadian cousin, John Loder. The famed actor played equally well the nervous drug addict and Loder, the idealist.

Friday and Saturday the Rialto will present a screen version of the famous Rex Beach story, "The Iron Trail," one of the biggest melodramas ever produced. A story that will give to theatergoers an insight into the lives of the builders of the lines of transportation and at the same time one that will rank with other works of this author that have already been visualized for the screen.

Wednesday and Thursday the Rialto will present Wesley Barry in "Rags to Riches," his latest screen offering, said by all who have seen it to be the equal of if not better than "Heroes of the Street." Young Barry in this picture again proves himself to be an actor of sterling worth and the picture is one that, like "Heroes of the Street," will appeal to all classes. The Rialto has booked all the Barry shows released to date and will continue to do so, after the reception given the last Barry picture, "Heroes of the Street," as the management is continually trying to get the sort of pictures that will make up an evening of wholesome entertainment.

The American Legion Post of Hood River will present the great Thos. H. Ince spectacle, "Skin Deep," at the Rialto Monday and Tuesday. The story is one that is especially adaptable to Legion presentation and was made by Mr. Ince with this in view, as hundreds of Legion Posts throughout the United States have already either directly or through endorsement produced the picture in their local theatres. The theme is one that will appeal to every Legion member, as it deals with a man, played by Milton Sills, who through his life as a gangster and leader of the rough element is so disfigured facially that he is terrible even to look upon. After signing up for his "hit" in France he became regenerated and on his return to the States tries to go straight, but is railroaded to prison on his past record. He escapes in one of the most thrilling scenes ever shown, is badly hurt, taken care of by a doctor who made a specialty of plastic surgery and during the war he is absolutely incorporated as to looks, goes among his worst enemies, proves that he is straight and wins the love of a good girl, his nurse during the time he underwent the terrible ordeal of being remade physically as well as mentally. A picture that has an object lesson for everyone who sees it. Owing to the fact that the picture is showing Monday and Tuesday the Legion has made special matinee prices available for the youngsters in order that it will not interfere with their school work. Monday the box office will stay open from 3.30 until 4.15 and although the night prices will be 50 cents for children and 50 cents for adults, the prices for this Monday matinee will be, children up to the seventh grade 10 cents, Monday the box office will stay open from 3.30 until 4.15 and although the night prices will be 50 cents for children and 50 cents for adults, the prices for this Monday matinee will be, children up to the seventh grade 10 cents, thus letting all children see this wonderful picture at greatly reduced prices.

May 11 and 12 the great Maurice Tourneur picture, "Lorna Doone," will be shown. This is a screen version of the famous old book and play of the same name. It has been a favorite with stock companies for years and is now produced for the screen by one of the greatest directors in the film industry, with a superlative cast that will take to the identical spots in the picture in order to give realism to the picture. "Lorna Doone" on the screen is as great as it was in the book or on the stage and is a picture in which every emotion is so blended that one scarcely realizes the passage of time in its viewing.

SCHOOL NEWS

(By Kathryn V. Morrison)

This Thursday, May 3, the junior class of the high school will give a vaudeville show in the auditorium beginning promptly at 7.30 o'clock. This show is for the purpose of raising funds with which to entertain the seniors at the annual reception.

A number of students have been worked up under the direction of Miss Esther Hettiger of the English department. The young people are enthusiastic about the affair and promising much more than your money's worth.

The other high schools of the county failed to appear at the track meet on Gibson field last Saturday morning but the Hood River high boys soon gave the Stevenson team cause and good competition. This was a preliminary event for practice only, before the mid-Columbia track meet to be held here next Saturday. In the afternoon the grade schools of the county held their annual meet in which the girls let Oak Grove take away the honors in girls' affairs with the Ogden and junior high tying for second place. In the boys' events the local junior high team was an easy winner of the boys' pennant. The meeting was managed by Principal Kiser, with the assistance of a number of county principals and teachers.

we won the silver cup and the pennant. This year we want to win the pennant again and retain the cup.

NIGHT OF LEGION MEETING CHANGED

The regular meeting date of the American Legion Post has been set for tomorrow (Friday) night, instead of next Monday, in order that the legionnaires and their ladies may attend "Skin Deep," the showing at the Rialto for Monday and Tuesday. The Post has taken over the presentation of the notable show.

Apple Blossoms
Apple blossoms bright and fair;
Apple blossoms everywhere.
Trees decked out in gorgeous gowns—
Just one look dispels all frowns.
Apple blossoms pink and white;
Apple blossoms, like the light,
Drive the shadows all away.
Happiness will come to stay,
Apple blossoms here and now,
With your wisdom, teach us how
To put forth our lovely side;
All the ugliness to hide,
Apple blossoms, so may we
Grow into maturity;
Bring forth fruit as good and true
As your perfect blossoms do.
Susan Young Dorsey.

Laurel Demonstration Attracts
The Laurel Market, the products of which are becoming famed among those of epicurean tastes in city and valley, attracted widespread attention Saturday. The market showed how it manufactures various kinds of sausages and various other by-products of a meat market.

THOUSANDS SEE BLOOMS ON SUNDAY

The Hood River Valley was thronged Sunday with motorists viewing the blossoms. Every main highway was traveled by a stream of cars from about 10 o'clock until late in the afternoon. Estimates of the motor visitors placed them at more than 7,500. Hotels and garages were crowded Saturday night. Sunday hotels and restaurants were put to it to feed the hungry recreationists.

The apple trees of the Lower Valley were loaded with blossoms in all sections. While Leroy Childs says he has seen heavier blooms in the district, he declares that the blossom of this season is exceedingly well distributed.

"It is one of the most cheering blooms we have ever had," says Mr. Childs. "It indicates that growers have begun to practice orchard work that will result in a good average yield of fruit every year and thus will eliminate the old custom of a heavy crop only on alternate years."

Because of continued cold weather it is anticipated that the blossoms next Sunday will be almost as good as last Sunday. Snow prevailed in the Upper Valley Monday night.

CO. C NOTES

The first drill in May will be next Monday night. We will not drill on Tuesday as heretofore.

Last Monday evening after drill the Service Club held a meeting and discussed plans for a track meet to be held soon between Company C and the Howlitz Company, of Portland. The date will be announced later. We have the team, so all we need is an opponent.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a dance to be held some time in May. Don't date up too close, but leave one open for the Company C ball.

Don't forget Camp June 15 to 20.
