WYEAST CLUB

The Wyeast Club trip of May 6 to party proceeded by auto to the beginning of the Skyline Trail about a mile beyond the Mt. Hood postoffice. The three-mile climb to the top of the hill over a good Forest Service trail was an excellent conditioner for the sunmer mountain climbing. The trail led through fir and oak woods most of the way, with numerous open lookouts from the points affording fine views up and down the valley. Long Prairie, a grassy opening in the woods at the foot of the hills where a ranger's camp is located, was reached about noon. Lunch was eaten here beside the headwaters of Neal creek, with hemlock and fir needles for tablecloths. Considerable snow was found in sheltered and shady spots in the vicinity of Long Prairie and snowball fights were the order of the day. Two miles along the Blue Rock and Bald Butte was the most successful trip yet held. The Trails Club, of Portland, responded to an invitation to join us on the trip

THE STAR COUPE

The Star Coupe is especially suitable for business and professional as well as private use, due to its permanent protection against weather, its seating and luggage capacity, its convenience and economy of operation. Its low top, streamlined hood and cover and crowned fenders express its efficiency. There is one broad, comfortable seat inside for two passengers and behind it a deep compartment for suit cases, sample kits, apparatus or other business equipment. Another compartment in the rear of the body has additional carrying capacity. Upholstery is wool broadcloth, very neat and durable. Doors are broad and sturdily hung on three hinges with double catches and anti-rattlers. Side windows can be adjusted to any height.

Controls, including clutch and service brake pedals, foot accelerator, hand gear shift lever and emergency brake are conveniently arranged, and afford ample freedom of movement, and entire driving comfort on trips of any length.

There is a metal windshield venter and rain gutter around the roof. The gasoline tank is on the rear of the frame where filling will not inconvenience the passengers or mess the car.

Complete lamp equipment, approved headlight lenses, tail light, interior body light, tire carrier and license holder are standard equipment. Electric starter and demountable rims are standard equipment on this car.

trail south from Long Prairie brought the party to Blue Rock, an open rocky point on the eastern base of the mountain. The trail was very steep, and it was necessary to take the shortest trail down, reaching the foot of the hill at about 10 o'clock. The return trip to the Wyeast Club party at the foot of the trail leading to Bald Butte. The Trails Club people had to get an early start here for the return trip, and it was necessary to take the shortest trail down, reaching the foot of the hill at about 10 o'clock. Everyone who made the trip can now feel assured of his ability to take the Eden Park trail because the trail from Paradise to Blue Park is no longer than the trip to Blue Rock, and the grades are considerably easier.

Friday evening F. W. Rockhold, of Parkdale, president of the club, gave an illustrated lecture on the Mount Hood region at the high school auditorium. He showed 150 slides made from his own photographs and colored by Mrs. Rockhold. The attendance at the lecture was somewhat disappointing. Those who did not go missed a rare opportunity to see an unusually fine collection of beautifully colored Mount Hood pictures, a great many of which were taken in out of the way places that very few Hood River people have ever seen. Mr. Rockhold has a first-hand knowledge of the natural history, as well as the topography, of the Mount Hood region, which gave a wide variety of interest to his remarks. An attractive feature of the lecture was the reading by Mrs. Rockhold of appropriate quotations from well known authors to accompany certain of the slides.

The Hood River Post of the American Legion, which had a meeting the same evening, adjourned in time to give the members an opportunity to see part of the picture. Mr. Rockhold showed a good many slides of the region traversed by the Legion Club, as well as of the newly opened up Eden Park country where the Mazamas and Wyeast Club are to have a camp this summer.

The next trip of the Wyeast Club will be another joint trip with the Trails Club, this time to the Peter's Dome on the Columbia River Highway May 20. This will be an all day trip, leaving the Hotel Oregon at 7 a. m., and returning in the late afternoon. Although the total distance is only 20 miles, yet there is a good deal of climbing, much of it fairly steep, and it is probably equivalent to a 10-mile trip on easy grades. It is absolutely necessary for members to wear hobnails or cleats in their boots, and cotton gloves should be worn to protect the hands in climbing. This trip will afford excellent practice for mountain climbing, and the climber will be rewarded by fine views from the middle base, about 200 feet below the summit of the Dome, which is the highest point that can be reached. Members should bring lunch, drinking cup and compass, if possible; also club business with them written on in India ink.

The transportation arrangements will be the same as those for the last trip, which enabled us to stimulate fine transportation to all members of the party. Those who wish to make the trip will please register with Joe Hackett at Kelly's furniture department not later than Friday, May 18, stating whether they need transportation or can furnish it, and if so, for how many. This allows the following day to check up on the registration and make sure that everyone is provided for.

STUDEBAKER FILMS

ON TOMORROW NIGHT

A cast of thousands of people, hundreds of machines almost human in the operations they perform, and a $20,000,000 setting provide the background for the film, "The Story of an Automobile" to be exhibited at the high school auditorium beginning at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

This film was produced under the direction of the United States Department of Commerce in cooperation with the Studebaker Corporation and will be shown in all parts of the world.

The scenes are laid in the new $20,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Ind.

This romance of modern manufacturing shows as commonplace happenings the wonders of motor car manufacture such as hydraulic pressure tossing a four ton hammer as though it were light as a feather, and the same hammer forging white hot bars of the toughest steel into automobile parts; molten metal flowing from a cupola spout like water from a faucet; a vast storehouse served by two traveling cranes which transfer materials from the loading docks to any floor in 60 seconds; a single machine which drills 68 holes in the engine block at one operation—this block being held by metal straps so that it will fit in the machine in only one position, the correct one, which helps to explain the perfect interchangeability of Studebaker parts.

The story is a fascinating portrayal of the miracles of twentieth century manufacture. It will interest anyone who ever rode in an automobile. After seeing it, you will appreciate why the representatives of 14 nations after viewing it in Washington asked that it be exhibited in their respective countries.

This city is fortunate to obtain this film which has been termed "the finest industrial film ever produced." It is due to the energy and courtesy of Mark Cameron, local Studebaker dealer, that this film is to be exhibited free of charge.

The Story of An Automobile

Here's an intimate story of automobile building that will appeal to everyone who has ever ridden in a motor car.

It's even more interesting than an actual trip through an automobile factory because the camera pictures details which would escape the eye. It abounds in human interest, with many thrills, and in many cases, real excitement.

You see the various parts transformed from the red-hot metal to the finished unit. You follow the final assembly line in operation with units added in logical order, each unit being traced throughout its manufacture before the next is applied.
