LUNCH CLUB HEARS OF DIABETIC REMEDY

The public should not be misled, according to Dr. J. W. Sifton, who addressed the members of the Lunch Club Tuesday, in the belief that the new remedy for diabetes, insulin, will effect a cure. Dr. Sifton, who recently attended the annual convention of the Northwestern Medical Association at Seattle and who has given the diabetic remedy considerable study, says that it will undoubtedly bring relief to millions. The product, Dr. Sifton stated, by constant administration, will enable patients to indulge in a more strenuous diet than ordinarily accorded them. Diabetic patients, he said, by taking advantage of the remedy called insulin, a limited diet, might live out their natural expectancy.

Dr. Sifton gave a brief history of the study of the medical fraternity and their research to find remedies for diabetes, long a dreaded disease. He told how physicians of Toronto had at last developed insulin injection. Dr. Sifton cited how small is the reward for successful research, the physician who made the remedy available to the public having received only $10,000 and the grant of a professorship in the Toronto Medical College.

President E. G. Smith called attention to the Editorial Association banquet at the Columbia Gorge Hotel Friday evening. He urged that as many as possible join in greeting the state's editorial fraternity.

Visitors at the club Tuesday were: R. N. Freeman, chief meter man of the Pacific Power & Light Co., and Geo. I. Drennan, transmission inspector, both residents of Walla Walla, Wash.; Boyd Jenkins, student of North Pacific Dental College; E. Tingstad, principal of the Hood River High School, and D. A. Tingstad, his brother, registrar of Luther College at Decorah, Iowa.

O. A. C. POULTRY MAN HERE NEXT WEEK

H. E. Cooby, poultry expert and specialist in charge of the poultry extension work in the county of Oregon, under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural College and United States government, has arranged to be in Hood River July 18 and 20. He will devote his time to the interests of the poultry industry in this county. Mr. Cooby, who is one of the leading poultry experts in the northwest, is expected, will arrange to do regular systematic demonstration work in Hood River county covering a period of one year. At the present time Mr. Cooby is in charge of the poultry farm demonstration work in many of the Willamette valley counties.

C. D. Nickelson, who is largely instrumental in having Mr. Cooby come to Hood River, says: "Mr. Cooby is one of the kind of men who calls a spade a spade, and will not kid one into believing that he has a good sock of chickens when the opposite is true. He will tell you right where you are at and where you are supposed to get off at. Everyone who has only a farm flock should avail himself of the privilege of hearing Mr. Cooby."

The first meeting will be held at the C. D. Nickelson poultry farm Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Mr. Cooby will lecture and give demonstration work with poultry. It is expected that a junket will be made Friday to the different sections of the valley to visit poultry farms. All interested in poultry are requested to meet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Saturday, at 2 p. m. to make arrangements for Friday's program and to discuss poultry matters in general.

GOLD RESERVE TOO LARGE SAYS FOLTS

Franklin T. Folts, member of the faculty of business administration at the University of Oregon, in an address to the members of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, declared that the business of America would never regain normal conditions until the reserve supply of gold held in Federal Reserve banks is reduced. Mr. Folts said that he confidently expected some organization, political body or national figure to start a movement looking to the withdrawal of the gold reserve, on which he declared deflated credit is built.

"Whether this be Henry Ford," said Mr. Folts, "or somebody else, I would urge that you give the suggestion your sincerest attention."

Mr. Folts, who is now engaged in laying on an Odell ranch, urged local business men to respond to questionnaires recently sent out by the school of business administration.

Gorge Links Are Free
 The people of Hood River, The Dalles and other mid-Columbia points have been extended an invitation by Manager Kaufmann, of the Columbia Gorge Hotel, to make free use of the hotel's golf links.

"We want the mid-Columbia folk to feel at home on our practice course," says Mr. Kaufmann. "They are welcome to come and use the grounds whenever they see fit."

William Leith, professional at the Gorge links, has a large class of Hood River and The Dalles folk, whom he is teaching the subtler rudiments of the game.

Educators Return from Convention
 Prof. A. M. Cannon, superintendent of city schools, Prof. E. Tingstad, principal of the high school, and O. A. Tingstad, member of the faculty of Luther College, at Decorah, Ia., have returned from San Francisco, where they attended the annual convention of the National Educational Association. The journey north was made in the car of the local high school principal.

"The journey was a fine one," says Mr. Tingstad, "and all of us enjoyed it very much."

Card of Thanks
 We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many kind acts and words of sympathy as expressed by our friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement at the time of the fatal illness and death of our daughter and sister. The ministrations of the members of the choir and those who sent such beautiful flowers will be held in sacred remembrance by us.

Better Lubrication at half the price

Zerolene costs less than most other oils and lubricates better. It follows closely the changing clearances of the moving engine parts; it maintains perfect piston seal always—hence the Zerolene-lubricated car averages 5% better gasoline mileage.

Zerolene forms less carbon. Its use cuts carbon-removing operations from 25% to 50%.

Insist on Zerolene, even if it does cost less.
