M.H.S. POPULARITY CONTEST INTERESTS

The popularity contest now being conducted by the Molder, Huelat, Sather Co., through which two of the community's most popular young ladies will go to some popular Oregon beach at this firm's expense, is meeting with universal favor and has created considerable, clean, good natured competition among the many popular young ladies of this community.

In addition to the two beach trips, this firm has provided 23 other valuable prizes, ranging from due-bills from $1 up to pearl necklaces and a full set of table silverware, which can be seen on display in their windows.

The contest manager says that this should provide some real old-fashioned fun which he hopes the patrons of the store will enter into to the extent of asking for and saving the votes for some one of the contestants.

FOREST FIRE IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Speculation is rife as to whether the past week's record rain would have occurred if a fire, set Tuesday of last week by James Sloan had gained headway and spread over the Herman creek watershed. Sloan, said to have been a tramp, built a fire in an accumulation of fir and pine needles, and soon a heavy smoke was pouring up beside the Columbia River Highway near Wyeth. Passing motorists reported it to Chief Ranger Wheeler, who with Albert Weisendanger and Supervisor Stanley C. Walters, was holding a school for fire guards at the Herman creek station. The men responded at once. They found Sloan sitting idly by, making no move to put out the fire.

Indeed, the man, when ordered by the forest officials to extinguish the fire, piled it up with the dry debris, only making it worse, and it was necessary to bring in a field hose cart and put it out. The flames would soon have reached a dead snag, and wind would undoubtedly have carried the fire across the highway. The stage was all set for a repetition of the disastrous Herman creek fire of a year ago.

The forestry officials brought Sloan here, where Justice of the Peace Oshank sentenced him to 30 days in jail and assessed a fine of $50. Sloan was to stand committed until the fine was paid.

YAKIMA ROAD WILL BE COMPLETE SOON

Wm. F. Allyn, secretary of the Hood River Chamber of Commerce, has just received a letter from Orpheus C. Soots, secretary of the Yakima Commercial Club, who states that the final work on the new road from this city to Yakima, shortening the distance by about 70 miles, will be completed by August 1, when plans call for an excursion of motorists here from the big Yakima district.

Mr. Soots congratulated Hood River on the new interstate bridge to cross the Columbia here. He wrote: "We were much gratified to note that the new bridge project between Hood River and White Salmon had already been financed and that work would start the latter part of this month. Naturally we are greatly interested in the success of the enterprise, because it will be an important link in the new Mt. Adams Highway."

Mr. Soots accompanied his letter with the following clipping from the Yakima Herald: "Glenwood road boosters have a crew doing rush work on the completion of the section of the Mount Adams highway leading to the Big Muddy river crossing, according to information that reached this city today. W. T. Van Decar, who is keeping in close touch with the situation, said he thinks it will be the first of August before the road is open for travel. The Glenwood people are completing the road to the Big Muddy and are constructing the bridge across that stream."

Yakima has contributed funds for constructing the grade down Surry-cora creek to the Klickitat river, the bridge across that stream at Soda Springs ford, and the grade from that point to the Big Muddy crossing. All work is completed but the construction of the approach to the Big Muddy bridge. There is about 200 feet of heavy rock work to be done before it will be possible to cross the stream.

When the county commissioners went over the highway a few weeks ago to inspect conditions, they found the road from the Klickitat bridge to the Big Muddy impassable. They were obliged to leave their cars and walk several miles before they reached the section where the improvement is to be made. No work has been done yet and it is estimated there will be three weeks' work for a good crew before the Yakima section is open for travel. Mr. Van Decar estimates the Glenwood people have an equipment ready to do before the road is open for travel on that end.

Glenwood letters state that they are fitting up an auto park for the comfort and convenience of Commercial Club members of that city with W. E. Leidl, Jr., at its head, is clearing out the underbrush from the site selected, and building Dutch ovens, making park benches and tables and bridging irrigation ditches. There is an abundance of good firewood in the vicinity and the water supply is right off the ice, as the stream that supplies it comes right through the camp only a few miles away. Glenwood will be the camp supply point and business men there are making preparations to see that tourists can have anything they want in the way of food supplies and garage service. They are planning, too, to give the new highway plenty of publicity.

LOST LAKE NOW A TOURIST MAGNET

With the new forestry service highway now open to the shores of the highland forest of Lost Lake, it is becoming the magnet for hundreds of motor parties. Hood River folk entertain visitors with a trip through the heavily forested area on the Lake branch and directly over the Hood river. The Lost Lake Highway, penetrating this heavy timber for four miles, is one of the most enticing drives in this section.

The rains of the week, clearing the atmosphere, made conditions for viewing Mount Hood across Lost Lake ideal. With a calm prevailing Sunday, the lake mirrored the mountain, which seemed to rise directly over the southern end of the pool. The reflections of the snowfields and glacial crags were as distinct as the mountain itself.

An estimated 300 visited Lost Lake July Fourth, and the streams of the vicinity were whipped by many anglers. The fishing season, however, it is said, is a little early, and no exceptional catches have as yet been reported.

MRS. F. M. GREEN'S SISTER IN RECORD

Mrs. Ferris M. Green last week received word that her sister, Mrs. Cyle Horchen, broke the world's record altitude flight for a woman aviator at Aligum, Mo., flying to a height of 14,300 feet.

Mr. Horchen, who conducts aviation schools throughout Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas, stated that his wife was in the air two hours and eight minutes. She suffered no ill effects from the high altitude, he stated. Mrs. Horchen took up flying as a hobby because of her husband's interest in it.
