PARK PLANS REACH CRISIS

CITY DOES NOT WANT COMPETITION

Irrigating Company Will Construct Storage Basin on Heights—Water System May Install Chlorinator

Plans of the city council to establish a new automobile park reached a crisis Monday when the council wired to Chas. F. Batchelder, of New York City, offering $12,000 for a 37½-acre tract just west of town and north of the Columbia River Highway. The city will turn in the present 3-acre automobile park at a valuation of $3,000, but demanded that Mr. Batchelder protect the municipality against its being used for park purposes for a period of five years. Unless these terms are met in 24 hours, according to the message forwarded to Mr. Batchelder, the city will consider the negotiations ended.

Mr. Batchelder had offered to meet all of the city's terms, but he declined to restrict the use of the present city automobile park property for more than one year. His original proposition called for a price of $15,000 on the 37½-acre tract. C. O. Hueltel, one of the most enthusiastic proponents of the new park proposition, declared that he did not consider that the competition the city would meet in case private individuals would operate the old park would greatly hamper the city. He cited that Ashland and other cities that have established well known auto parks have had competition to face. He cited that Mr. Batchelder had made many concessions to the city, and he gave his o. k. to the final proposition, including the one-year restriction.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce, including C. C. Anderson, Wm. P. Allyn and P. L. Tompkins, was present and advised against the one-year restriction. The committee, however, expressed strong favor of the new park general plans.

Mr. Anderson stated that he had just talked with Glenn Sloat, who was formerly custodian of the auto park, and that the latter had called attention to the fact that motor tourists do not like to drive off the highway to reach an auto park. The old park is in plain sight, while the new one will be under the hill out of sight of the tourists. For this reason it was considered that the old park, if allowed to fall into the hands of private owners, would prove serious competition.

Councilman A. B. Bennett favored the chamber recommendation. C. A. Bell addressed the council, declaring that it would be poor business for the city to purchase a new automobile park, and show the old one to remain in competition. He declared that such action would cost the taxpayers a heavy sum. Councilman Stranahan declared that he would wire Mr. Batchelder, if he were dealing privately in the matter, and call the deal off, unless the city offer including the 5-year restriction were accepted in 24 hours. His suggestion was incorporated into a motion by Councilman Holman.

City Engineer Clark stated that the city, in improving the new grounds, would first have to build an expensive road, construct sewers and lay a water main extension. He declared that the funds of the municipality would be fairly exhausted in such undertaking.

August Guignard told the council that he had traveled a great deal in Oregon and Washington, the past several years and that he had found motorists did not like to have the automobile parks located off the roads.

August Guignard addressed the council Monday night, asking permission to construct a concrete settling basin and storage reservoir on the Stanton lots on the Heights. The construction, he said, is needed, in order that the water plant may serve householders and gardeners from a pressure pipeline.

Mr. Guignard, cited that the Farmers' Irrigating Co., of which he is manager, is making extensive improvements all along its line. New construction of flume and tunnel and head works improvements, he said, will cost about $15,000.

Hood River may install a chlorinating machine in the municipal water system, in order to make available the supply from Hakel spring, in the Oak Grove district, which had to be diverted from the mains last summer because of contamination. City Water Superintendent Clark reported to the council that the chlorinator would cost an approximate $900. The fire and water committee was instructed to investigate the plans and report back to the council.

LEGION WILL REWARD CITIZENSHIP ESSAY

Dr. V. R. Abraham has been appointed to take charge of the American Legion good citizenship essay contest for Hood River county schools.

In addition to the statewide awards of $200, $100 and $50, respectively, for first, second and third best essays, students of this county will be given awards by the Hood River Legion Post. Dr. Abraham will appoint his judges for this county in the near future. He says he is receiving splendid cooperation from local school authorities, both County School Superintendent Gilson and City Superintendent Cannon displaying a keen interest in the contest.

The following is taken from a recent bulletin of the Legion department of Oregon:

To arouse greater interest in the development of good citizenship, a statewide essay contest is being conducted among the high school students of the state on the subject, "Peace-Time Patriotism" by the American Legion, department of Oregon.

Prizes of $200 for the first, $100 for the second and $50 for the third best essay submitted are to be given by the Legion.

The contest will be open to all students enrolled in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades of the public schools of Oregon. Each essay is to be from 400 to 600 words in length. Preliminary contests will be held in each county under direction of Legion county American Legion chairmen. The best essay from each county will be submitted to state headquarters of the Legion for judging by state judges. The state judges selected are Robert R. Bess, federal judge; J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, and W. B. Ayer, chairman of the Multnomah county library board. The contest closes in counties May 1, and state contest, June 1.

"The purpose of the contest is to create a state-wide public sentiment in the duties of citizenship," said Cassius H. Peck, chairman of the Americanism commission of the Oregon department of the American Legion, in outlining the contest. "Each child knows that it is a patriotic duty to arm himself with an intelligent ballot in defense of their country."

The council took up the matter of the fire truck leaving the city, and the fire and water committee was asked to investigate and report back.

DR. M. L. SANDERS TALKS TO CLUBMEN

Dr. M. L. Sanders, pastor of the Methodist church at Goldendale, who addressed the Tuesday Lunch club at the Hotel Oregon this week, paid a tribute to Woodrow Wilson, whose death, he said, brings to the United States and the world a material loss. Dr. Sanders, who was overseas with the Y. M. C. A. service, recalled seeing President and Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by General Pershing, at Chantilly, France. He also saw the war president frequently at Versailles during the progress of the peace negotiations.

"It only seems proper," said Dr. Sanders, "that we should pause for a time and pay our respect to this great man of America."

Dr. Sanders, who is here spending a week giving a series of revival sermons at Asbury Methodist church, is one of the most eloquent men who has recently addressed the club. He was introduced by Rev. W. N. Byars, chairman of the day. Dr. Sanders prefaced his address with some witty stories that at once won the attention of his audience.

Dr. Sanders has become a thorough western booster. He recalled that Longfellow in one of his poems had said: "God had searched three countries to find wheat to sow in New England. He declared that western people were in the forefront in physical and mental manhood. He asserted that it was his belief, so strong had he become for his adopted land, that New England would never have been settled had Columbus discovered America from the Pacific coast. He cited the proud record made by soldiers from the Northwest during the great war.

"I remember when I was in Manchester, Eng.," said Dr. Sanders, "when an American regiment passed by. An Englishman turned to me with enthusiasm, declaring he had never seen such men. He declared that an enlisted man would make an officer. "It is worth our while to watch our citizenship and make first class animals out of our men. We have made the world safe for democracy. It is up to us to make democracy safe for the world. I am surprised to find many men expressing themselves as having no idea why they are supporters of any certain political party. I think the women of my town have pointed an example to the men. They have, with serious intent, organized a political study club."

Dr. Sanders pointed out as a dangerous tendency the growing attitude of American people to break the laws that did not coincide with their personal accord. Too many Americans, he declared, are becoming outlaws. They refuse to be within the law themselves, and therefore they are going without the law, and the nation is suffering.

Dr. Sanders told how American statesmen have always walked hand in hand with God in the accomplishment of their purposes. He told how prayers had been offered before Bunker Hill. He recalled the prayers of Washington, Franklin and Lincoln, and that Woodrow Wilson had always opened his cabinet meetings with prayers.

Guests at the club Tuesday were B. L. Hyland, manager of the Standard Oil station, and J. D. Applegate, of Lincoln, Nebr. New members introduced were Capt. Harold J. Blackman and A. L. Anderson, the latter with Tam-A-Lum Lumber Co.

Vocal solos that were highly appreciated were rendered by Mrs. L. R. Alexander, who was accompanied by Miss Prudence Spight on the piano.

Grange Function Tomorrow

A card party will be given at Park Grange tomorrow. It is anticipated that many women from various parts of the valley will be present for the pleasant event. Table reservations are in charge of Mrs. Charles Stranahan. A free dance will follow the card party. A lunch will be served.

COMMITTEE OF 5 ORGANIZE

MEETING HELD IN CHEHALIS, WASH.

C. K. Benton, Oregon Member, Tells of Plans of Apple Growers for Cooperation—Yakima Meet Soon

The committee of five northwestern apple growers, appointed by H. E. Coffman, president of the Washington State Chamber of Commerce, who met last week at Chehalis, Wash., to organize, have established temporary headquarters at Yakima, according to C. K. Benton, Oregon member of the committee. Officers of the committee were named as follows: F. H. Moses, of Wenatchee, chairman; J. W. Langdon, of Walla Walla, secretary, and J. R. Schwartz, of Yakima, treasurer. The other member of the committee is E. M. Gillette, of Malaga.

Mr. Benton says that no definite plans have been made by the committee but that it adopted a resolution calling the California Fruitgrowers Exchange as the best model for the apple growers to follow.

"We selected Yakima, because it is centrally located," said Mr. Benton, "and we will meet there Thursday (today). We expect to spend most of the coming month with our coats off, digging into this thing. It is likely that any California cooperative plan will have to be modified to meet northwestern conditions among apple growers. We are going to proceed slowly and cautiously, hoping that we will be able to give the growers something tangible as soon as possible. We do not want to go at this matter so hastily, however, as to have to back track on anything."

Mr. Benton stated that the work of his committee, which would select an executive secretary as soon as one was available, would be financed by banks, clearing houses and commercial clubs and chambers of commerce.

Treasurer Butler was called to the Chehalis meeting in an advisory capacity.

SESSIONS OF INSTITUTE APPRECIATED

Those who participated in the seventh Annual Community Institute at the Pine Grove district, which closed Sunday, declare it was the best winter event ever held by the orchardists of the East Side section. Despite inclement weather, large crowds were present at all sessions. The basket dinner was a feature that has grown more popular each year.

"The people seemed to appreciate the program this year," said R. H. Waugh, who was active in preparations and arrangements for the institute. Chairmen of the program were: J. H. Mohr, Mrs. A. J. Miller, H. L. Shoemaker and C. T. Roberts. Out of town speakers gave addresses as follows: "An Agricultural Program for Oregon," Paul V. Maria, of the Oregon Agricultural College; "Fundamentals of a Sound Tax Policy," and "Government Ownership of Railways," Dr. Jas. H. Gilbert, of the University of Oregon; "Work and Outlook of the W. O. T. U. and the Children's Fund," Mrs. Mary Mallett, president of the state W. O. T. U. and Dr. Chas. A. Edwards, of Portland, who delivered the annual institute sermon Sunday morning.

Other numbers on the program were: Songs, Miss Helen Brodsky; piano recitation, Everett Clymer; solo, Dorothy Brock; songs by grade pupils of Pine Grove school; songs by high school boys; songs, boys of Miss Wagner's room; piano solo, Mrs. Walter Wells; community singing; recitation, Lenore Lage, and recitation, Maurice Vannier.

ARNOLD, JOHNSON LEASE, WILL BUILD

J. C. Johnson and Floyd Arnold, now tenants of antiquated frame structures, the former with a shoe store, and the latter with his meat market, announced Monday that they had each leased from the Otten estate a half of the 44-foot frontage and will act jointly in the construction of a fireproof, one-story business structure. The property adjoins the location where excavation is now under way for a $70,000 stone building for the Butler Banking Co.

"Mr. Johnson plans on a building that will provide his wife's quarters for a real, honest-to-goodness shoe store and repair shop," said Mr. Arnold, "and I plan on a meat market in which the town can take pride."

POSTAL AUTHORITIES SEEK INFORMATION

C. W. Paine, of Seattle, secretary of the Eleventh Civil Service District, and C. B. Welter, postoffice inspector of Portland, spent last week here interviewing candidates to succeed Postmaster Henvis. The men called on patrons of the office, seeking confidential information on the applicants: T. F. Johnson, Roy D. Smith, Geo. I. Slocom, Frank R. Riggs, C. E. Graves, J. W. Morton and W. W. Rowwell.
