COTTAGE HOSPITAL MAY BE CLOSED

Pursuant to a resolution of the stockholders of the Cottage hospital at a special meeting March 14 the hospital property is offered for sale for a period of 60 days. The hospital was founded about 20 years ago by Drs. Dumble, Watt, Brocius, Duto and others, but these four physicians, seeing the need for such an institution in the community, started the movement and put in a considerable sum, each, which was augmented by subscrip-tions for one or more shares by quite a few individuals.

The board of directors for several years has consisted of the four phy-sicians named above. For the first several years these men went into their pockets each month to make up the deficiencies in operation until each has considerable more money in the present plant than was at first contemplated. In the meantime the hospital has taken care of the needs of the community, the management resting upon the directors. Time makes many changes and within the last few years Dr. Watt, who has been from practice and devoted his time to the conduct of his ranch; Dr. Brocius has moved to Elgin, Or. and Dr. Duto recently passed to the great beyond. This leaves the management of the hospital on the shoulders of Dr. Dumble, who is anxious to be relieved of the responsibility.

The hospital has always been man- aged as a community affair and not for profit. A small amount of ex-penses each year has been used for further equipping the operating room and keeping the property in good condition. It has been open for the use of any and all physicians without charge. The charges for beds and private rooms has been exceedingly moderate, as has the charge for the use of the operating room. A capable staff of nurses has been employed and the present management points with pride to the fact that the community has never been called upon to make good any deficits of operation, but has instead maintained it at an in- creasingly better standard.

A couple of years ago the Lunch Club started a movement to provide a more modern building at possibly a different location—and Miss Anna M. Spring gave the proceeds of a piece of property into the hands of E. H. Blanchard as trustee. It was to be the nucleus of a hospital fund that might be as much as $100,000. When it was realized that a hospital with grounds at a different location might prove an expensive luxury, the matter was allowed to drop. The situation revealed that the present hospital, while not installed in a modern build- ing, provided all that was required in the way of room and equipment for the needs of Hood River community and other ways. Many have ever given the matter any thought. The hospital was free and everyone was free to use it. The property has been placed in the hands of R. E. Scott to dispose of. It is understood that if not disposed of by May 14, the equipment will be sold and the building turned into an apartment house.

RADIO NEWS

Radio is a clean form of pastime and will be kept as such in Hood River. In the old days when there were four or five receivers being used for receiving from a small broadcast- ing station up or down the coast it did not matter how much disturbance (cat calls, whistles and howls) these old style receivers set up, the nearest neighbor was far enough away that he would not hear them.

Nowadays when there is a radio receiver or two in every block and you have your favorite station tuned in, enjoying the program that it is offering you, there is nothing more unpleasant than to have some one of these radio neighbors, in the same station with his old style re- radiating receiver possibly a mile away, and messing up the good stuff with his whistles and groans. The government will eventually prevent the use of the old style re-radiating receiving sets the same as other coun- tries do and have been doing for more than a year and a half, but why should Hood River not be a clean, pleasant place in radio as well as in other ways. Many are willing to change their receiving set so that it will not re-radiate and interfere but do not feel justified in doing so until his neighbor does. It is necessary that we all do it and thus keep the air clean. The cooperation of every radio fan is asked. The city council is willing to help in any way that is necessary to control the situation. If you are interested in radio and its welfare, go to the station building at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Cham- ber of Commerce hall and help out- line the policy that will be decided on.

Lost Lake Work Begun

The Hood River county court has authorized construction of concrete piers under a bridge over Buck creek on the Lost Lake highway and a crew of 20 men has begun work on the project. W. A. Langille, who last year had charge for the United States Forest Service of construction of new sections of the Lost Lake grade, is in charge.

Lectures in Odell

J. E. Waggoner, field secretary of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society, will deliver three illustrated, or film, lectures at the Odell garage hall, April 1. These lectures are given un- der the auspices of the Odell Parent-Teacher Association. The first lec- ture, "The Living World," is for high school students especially at 10:30 a. m. The second lecture, "The Gift of Life," is intended for mothers and daughters and will be held at 2:30 p. m. Lecture number three will be given at 7:30 p. m. This is for the men and boys of the community. Boys must be 14 years of age or over. These lectures are three of the most inter- esting and instructive used by the Social Hygiene Society, which for the past 12 years has been doing a splen- did work on social uplift lines. All in the vicinity of the hall are urged to be present.

Hershey's Truck Wrecked

A O. Hershey escaped with only a few scratches Monday when his truck struck a flat boulder, which caught under a wheel and caused it to skid over an embankment at Starvation grade on the Columbia River high- way. Mr. Hershey was proceeding west about 4 a. m. in a gray moon- light and failed to observe the rock. He was catapulted from the cab and alighted on a front wheel, which he grasped and held until the car slid into a bunch of railroad ties.

MR. CANNON BOOSTS ORATORICAL CONTEST

Supt. Cannon, who has strongly en- joyed the Telegram oratorical con- test, stated last week that three of the most gifted young men and women of the high school were engaged in preparation of orations for partici- pation in the event.

"We have been fortunate," said Prof. Cannon, "in stimulating an in- creasing interest in debate, essays and oratory in the city schools for the past several years. The students who have seized on the Telegram contest as a privilege for further develop- ment in training along this special line, and the possible attainment of a large monetary reward, have been active in public speaking since entering high school. We are all boosting and en- couraging them, and are hopeful for an Oregon winner."

"The Telegram oratory contest is deserving the support of every edu- cator of the state. Students partici- pating will gain invaluable insight into the principles of the Constitu- tion."

U. OF O. FACULTY MEMBER IS COMING

A member of the University of Ore- gon faculty will come here next Tues- day to meet the local Alumni Gift Endowment Fund committee and explain the methods to pursue in rais- ing this county's pro rata share of the alumni's $1,000,000 state fund. The meeting will be held at the Cham- ber of Commerce at 8 p. m.

All graduates and former students are urged to be present.

News of the Golfers

Howard Beale, professional of the Hood River Country Club and well known Portland golfer, circles, made a Pacific coast record Sunday when he went around the Oak Grove links of the club in 31. Mr. Beale made the first hole in a "birdie," one under par. On the 525-yard third hole he made an "eagle," or two under par. It set a record for the Hood River course.

The recent sunshine of the mid- Columbia district has stimulated golf- ing, and now local folk daily swarm to make an "eagle" or "birdie" on the links. Many Portland visitors come here to play. The turf of greens and fairways passed through the winter in excellent shape. Frank R. Howard, in charge of the course, says the big 50-ace lawns will respond to irrigation and be an oasis of the mid- Columbia throughout the entire sum- mer and fall season.

Worthy Grand Matron Visits Here

Hood River Chapter No. 25, O. E. S., was hosted to the worthy grand matron, Mrs. Stella K. Drake, of Port- land, Tuesday evening. Preceding the evening session the Past Matrons Club of the local chapter was hostess at a dinner for the honor guest, officers of the chapter and invited guests. While in the city Mrs. Drake was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Castner.

Nels Larsen Funeral Monday

Funeral services for Nels Larsen, native of Denmark, aged 83 years, were held at the Anderson chapel Monday. Rev. P. Hildgard officiat- ing. Interment followed at Idlewild cemetery.

Mr. Larsen is survived by an only son, John Larsen, member of the local chapter of the Elks lodge, at whose home his death occurred Sat- urday.

Dr. Belt to Remain Here

President McIsaac, of the Apple Growers Association, has announced that Dr. H. P. Belt, representative of the sales organization at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, who recently arrived to study the growing end of the fruit business, will remain over for the annual meeting of the Association Saturday, April 5.

"Dr. Belt," said Mr. McIsaac, "has some very pertinent remarks to make to us as to how our fruit should be packed to meet the requirements of the Brazilian markets. We feel that we have a great opportunity in this country and it will well repay our members to listen to what Dr. Belt has to say. We hope that there will be a good attendance at the meeting." At the annual session of the organiza- tion will elect a board of 11 directors.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. meeting held at Mrs. M. S. Crowell's Tuesday of last week was well attended. Many new members were taken into the Union. Both team captains in the work- shop drive reported. Mrs. Groff's team leading with 34 members. Mrs. Son- nichen's team had 25 members. The drive is being continued until April 1. Many more members have been reported since the meeting. After the business meeting a splendid mother's meeting was conducted by Mrs. Edgington. The following members spoke five minutes each on different sub- jects: Mrs. J. R. Blaney, Mrs. Edgington, Mrs. Smithson and Mrs. Edgington. After the talk the subject was dis- cussed from the floor by the members. Mrs. L. R. Alexander sang two solos. Mrs. J. R. Nickelsen was appointed chairman of the legislative committee. She will have charge of the next pro- gram and meeting. The next meeting should be of interest to every woman in the city, as registration for voting at the primary election, the officers to be elected, and the legislative committee. The date and place will be given out later.

The state W. C. T. U. meeting was held in Portland March 18 and 19. Many plans for carrying on the work more successfully the balance of the year were discussed and adopted.

Notice to Woodmen

Timbermen or woodmen please notice: I am making a collection of woods for the Hood River high school. I wish half sections of the following woods from this county: Yellow pine, white pine, black pine, nut pine, red fir, yellow fir, common hemlock, al- pine hemlock, spruce, lovely fir, Noble fir (called larch), white fir, alpine fir, tamarack, yew, cottonwood, hackberry, aspen, alder, haw, or any other tree not mentioned. Sections should be 20 feet or over in diameter, one to one long, free from knots or rot. Anyone cutting such trees, or having them in their possession, will confer an obli- gation by leaving such sections with me, or notifying me that they have them. I will pay you for them. I will also like to secure sections of maple and ash. m27a10 L. F. Henderson.

ASSOCIATION WILL PAY OUT $100,000

The Apple Growers Association yes- terday announced that checks aggreg- ating an approximate $100,000 will go forward to growers the latter part of this week on a distribution includ- ing the first general returns on apples for the 1923 crop. The larger portion of the cash dividend, however, will be on d'Anjou pears.

The returns are based on the fol- lowing sums of 11 standard apple varieties: Extra fancy, 75 cents per box; fancy, 55 cents and C-grade, 35 cents. The return on all other grades and varieties of apples reach 35 cents. The returns on pears are based on the following: Combination extra fancy and fancy d'Anjou, $1.80 per box; special, $1.50; C-grade, $1.40, and an d'Easter, $1 per box.

O. N. G. Company C

The annual federal inspection of Company C was held Monday of last week by Col. Willey Howell, 7th In- fantry, U. S. Army. Col. Howell in- spected the records of the company during the afternoon and inspected the personnel in the evening as to their knowledge of efficiency in their work. Col. Howell was taken on a tour of the valley by Capt. Black- man and Lt. Scheer and showed great enthusiasm over the beauties of Hood River. He left with the idea finally fixed in his mind that upon his return three years hence he is coming back here to make his home.

Last Monday the quarterly meet- ing was held. Forty-one were present. The next drill will be held Thurs- day, April 30. It is the first drill in the month and has been changed to eliminate the conflict with the Legion meeting.

Next Wednesday morning the offi- cers of Company C will drill at the Portland armory for a four-day school for National Guard officers.

COUNTY HEALTH NOTES

Hot school lunches and under- weight children are under special study by Miss Campbell. As she travels from one end of the county to the other, and inspects the children of the various schools, she is becom- ing entirely convinced that hot school lunches and children of normal weight and improved health are found to- gether.

Hot lunches are served in this county at Oak Grove, Frankton, Cas- cade Locks, Parkdale, Pine Grove, Middle Valley and Central Vale schools. "Of the 603 children in these schools, 15 are underweight, but three of these are new residents of Oak Grove who have not been in the community long enough to benefit by this practice. At Park Street school in Hood River, where many children have to come in long distances, can- not get home at noon, of the 350 chil- dren, 97 are underweight."

Miss Campbell has not completed her survey of the schools, but fur- ther evidence bears out the case more and more. The weight of the children, but at Pine Grove where there are now six underweight children, there were 15 before the in- stitution of the warm, supervised meals at noon.

At Oak Grove, Frankton, Central Vale and Middle Valley the lunch is prepared by the children, in groups, supervised by a teacher. At Cascade Locks and at Parkdale a woman is called in to come in each day and prepare the lunches. At Pine Grove Mrs. A. W. Peters, community chairman of the Public Health Asso- ciation, and the women of that sec- tion are in charge of the lunches and either come themselves or arrange for hiring someone to prepare the lunches.

The teachers in these schools say the work and attendance are improved by the hot lunches. The schools where underweight is no longer a problem have been less subject to epi- demic. At Dee, Parkdale and Cas- cade Locks there was no measles epi- demic last winter, and the percentage of underweight children is very small. Malnutrition and epidemics are found together, and Miss Campbell surveys of the school points to the hot lunch as the first step toward improved community health.

Miss Campbell's schedule for public health nursing takes her to Coe school Friday, March 28; Saturday after- noon, office in library basement, Park Street school, Monday; Barrett, Cas- cade Locks, Tuesday; and Oak Grove Friday.

The weighing and measuring of school children at Mt. Hood reveal that out of 69 children, 14 are quite seriously underweight. The parents are very much interested and give them hot lunches served for the chil- dren when school reopens next fall. They feel that this condition can be prevented and are making plans to do so during the cold weather next fall and winter. At Odell 31 out of 146 were found under weight. No hot lunches are served there. At Park- dale, situated in the same general part of the valley as Mt. Hood and Odell, where there was no meal at noon is an established fact, only 7 out of 110 are underweight.

Sixteen children were weighed, measured and examined at the clinic held Friday afternoon, March 21, in the library basement, as a branch of Miss Campbell's public health work. Six of these had not registered at former clinics. Dr. J. W. Sifton was the physician present. Mrs. R. B. Perigo is in charge of arrangements for the clinics and worked with Dr. Sifton in his examinations. Mrs. Vernon Whitcomb and Mrs. I. R. Ach- eson took histories; Mrs. Albert Cas- e and Mrs. James Stranahan assisted with the weighing and measuring. Miss Campbell has diet lists for the children of different ages and gives individual attention to each baby. Eleanor Bonck, Henry Halvorsen, J. Richard Rogers, Jr., Mary Jane Henton, Esther, Fern and Veva Bu- chanan, Quentin and Dolores Dum- bolton, Berkeley Snow, Jr., Patricia Chisholm, Catherine McDonald, Roberta Anne Wang, Ruth Marie Bent- ley, Betty Jane Fregang, and Fran- ces Luelle White were the children present.

COOPER'S SPUR WORK TO BE BEGUN

The county court yesterday received instructions from the Bureau of Pub- lic Roads to proceed at once to ac- quire rights of way for the Coopers Spur lateral of the Mount Hood Loop highway. County Judge Hasbrock stated that this indicates immediate construction on the lateral, which will

Advertisement for SPARTANBURG, S. C., A HOSPITABLE CITY. (From The Packer) After a trip of 6,500 miles, the decorated exposition truck sent out by the Apple Growers Association, of Hood River, Ore., loaded with choicest apples suitably displayed, is parked in Spartanburg until further orders from headquarters. As soon as the exposition truck reached Spar- tanburg, W. J. A. Baker, in charge, was met by J. H. Roper, of the Spar- tanburg Brokerage Company, which concern handles the Hood River ac- count in this city. Messrs. Roper and Baker came to the Chamber of Com- merce, where a photograph was taken of the car, with Mr. Roper in the act of attaching the visitors' parking priv- ilege card. The arrangements for the taking of this photograph were made by the correspondent of The Packer, in order to show the readers of The Packer how Spartanburg treats the strangers within her gates. The parking privilege tag was adopted by the Chamber of Commerce about a month ago at the sugges- tion of the produce men who thought it would be a good idea to extend this courtesy to the tourist trade. Thousands of these cards have been printed, bearing the authorization of the city officials, the Spartanburg Motor Club and the Chamber of Com- merce. They are in the hands of the traffic policemen, Boy Scouts and mer- chants, who attach them to the cars of out-of-town motorists. On one side the card reads: "Hello, visitor! Spartanburg welcomes you and hopes you will return often." On the reverse side: "This card entitles you to park your car as long as you please in Spartanburg. Never mind the time limit." Before the adoption of this tagging system the tourist tide flowed through Spartanburg over two great highways at the rate of several hundred cars per day. The city's parking ordinances are rigid, and tourists seldom stopped longer than to obtain road information and routings at the Chamber of Com- merce. Thus Spartanburg lost many thousands of dollars in trade. Since the adoption of the card sys- tem, the tourists stop in flocks and many dollars are spent here because of the thoughtfulness of the produce men in the wholesale district, who realized that none would profit more than the retail fruit and produce dealers, selling these long distance motorists who camp where night over- takes them and who are in need at various points along the route of all kinds of merchandise. There are several things of special interest about the Hood River "spe- cial," which arrived in Spartanburg, March 8. First, it traveled the 6,500 miles without replenishing the supply of air in the tires, the trip beginning September 15 last at Hood River. Sec-
