

SPECIAL MUSCOVITE SECTION Monster Ceremonial, March 29, '24 AT HOOD RIVER

PORTLAND POLICE MUSCOVITE PATROL TEAM

"JIGGS AND MAGGY"

In life Nobie D. A. Mattor and Nobie Walter Rea. Two fun makers who will be in the parade next Saturday evening, with the Muscovites. Mr. Rea is an exceptional female impersonator—many people think he is "the real thing" when he is "Dolled-up."

LOOK ME OVER, CANDIDATES
March 29th Come to the Imperial Kremlin and let me

LOOK YOU OVER
They say there are two hundred of you with enough crut to approach Kremlin when the Imperial Ceremonial is in session. I want to say to you that I am the guy who has been promoted to an office and position higher than that of the Royal Polar Bear himself.

Look me in the eye! Look again! And then decide for yourself whether you would rather be in warmer climes on the night of March 29th than the snow covered hills of Muscovy. I am getting "butter and butter day by day." I have been enjoying an exceptional assortment of tomato cans, skid chains and railroad spikes since the last ceremonial. I have had the Royal Walnut for a sparring partner, only to polish my horns. They had previously been toughened by cleaning up the whole of the Royal Reindeer herd.

I have had my whiskers trimmed and have a dispensation from His Imperial Majesty the Czar to go "as far as I like" when I start through that class of two hundred. Fat stomachs, baggy trousers and ice-cold feet are my meat and I want you to know that the defense of the Kremlin is

JESSE T. JONES, OF PORTLAND
Chancellor of Kremlin Baku

During the four years that he has held this important office, the membership has grown from six hundred to almost three thousand. Muscovites Clubs have been organized in most of the larger cities in the state, drum corps patrol-teams and bands now form part of the organization, and big ceremonials are held in some part of the state nearly every month now instead of once a year, as formerly. He has promised to bring up to Hood River next Saturday evening a fair sample of what the Muscovites are, and to stage a parade that will be well worth seeing.

Most of the University of Oregon students home for the spring vacation were present last Saturday night at the American Legion dancing party at the Oriental cafe. The hop was one of the most pleasant social events of the year.

Those who are attending are talking of the excellent dance music furnished by Ford's Peppy Orchestra. The presence of the many visitors and the general enthusiasm of the party, it was stated, made the orchestra more peppy than usual.

HOOD RIVER STARTS BALL SEASON WELL

The Hood River baseball team began its season's schedule in the gold Columbia league auspiciously Sunday, defeating Goldendale by 3 to 2. The game was played at the Kileklat county capital and the local team was accompanied by a fair-sized caravan of motorists. Bruce and Smith pitched for Hood River, Smith taking the mound in the sixth inning and completing the game. Smith, who was pitcher for local team last season, although a youth only 19 years old, displayed better form than last season in his opening game. Bruce, who is engaged in fox farming on the West Side and who was formerly a star at the Washington State College at Pullman, showed up well. In the second inning he threw only seven balls to get his three-outs.

Carl Rand made the local boys' first score. Orville Thompson made the first hit. He followed with two others in succession. Wolfe caught for the local team.

Manager Sherrill declared himself elated over the way his team showed up. They passed fewer men to first by far and allowed less hits than the Goldendale team. Next Sunday Hood River will go to Wasco for a game.

April 5 the first home game, a contest with the ancient enemy, The Dalles, will be played. Sherrill prides himself that his team is composed exclusively of local boys.

Last Sunday The Dalles defeated Dufur and Wasco defeated White Salmon.

Cotton Cooley, who accompanied the Hood River boys to Goldendale, was their umpire.

LEGION NOTES

For the purpose of increasing a spirit of Legion betterment among the posts of the Legion in Oregon, the state department offers to posts that turn in a membership equal or in excess of that for the last year, a certificate of merit for meritorious service.

At the first of the year some of the posts have already qualified. Twenty-eight posts have now completed their requirement and will be presented with the certificate at the annual state convention of the organization to be held in Portland next June. These posts are located at the following cities: Ashland, Astoria, Baker, Brownsville, Brighton, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Imbler, La Grande, Madras, Marion, Milton, Medford, Molalla, Monroe, Moro, Ontario, Oregon City, Prineville, Roseburg, Salem, Seaside, Silverton, Sheridan, Springfield, St. Helens, Tillamook and Westfall.

The mayor of Roseburg has requested the assistance of the local post of the American Legion in a campaign to beautify the city. The city has organized a beautiful commission and the American Legion will be represented. The movement has received the hearty endorsement of Roseburg legionnaires who have pledged their support. Legionnaire Walter Fisher heads the new commission.

The March issue of the Pacific Legion, official publication of the American Legion in Oregon, closes the fifth year of the existence of that publication, which has developed into what is generally conceded to be the greatest veteran magazine west of New York. In interest, appearance and service it is in the top rank of Legion publications of the country, though depending for support on a comparatively sparsely settled state. Since its first issue as the first state publication in America, the Pacific Legion has been dedicated to the cause of Americanism and service. It is perhaps the most bitter enemy of the radical element in the Northwest now being published. It is more than an organ of American Legion expression, being an active factor with the Legion in spreading the gospel of community service as well as a service to "buddies" of the world war. Its editorial policy is controlled by, and it is published through arrangement with the American Legion, department of Oregon.

In speaking of Mr. Font's return here from The Dalles, Arthur Howell declares that he feels very fortunate. He characterizes Mr. Font as one of the best motor mechanics in Oregon.

Tones up Spring diet

With Springtime comes a marked desire for "green stuff" on the daily menu. This is Nature's provision for Man's need of vitamins. Perhaps that is why we like ham and bacon all the year round—because they also contain vitamins in easily digested form.

Frye's "Delicious" Brand Hams and Bacon are made from selected young grain-fed porkers. The Frye way of curing gives them a mild, rich flavor and retains all the fine, sweet juices. Frye's Meat Guide and recipe book tells many ways of using these Delicious products with Spring green stuffs.

Send 2 cents for postage to Frye & Company, Seattle, and Frye's Meat Guide will be mailed to your address.
