APPLE BLOOM BANQUET IS SUCCESS

The superlative stories of beauty that the members of the Portland Progressive Business Men's Club, who with their wives and sweethearts more than 60 strong came here Thursday to see the hundreds of acres of bloom on apple trees, carried back home with them, swelled the crowd of motor tourists here for Apple Blossom Sunday. President Boynton, of the visiting club, who confessed that it was the first time he had ever seen Hood River, declared that the afternoon ride through the orchards was one of the most impressive trips he had ever had.

The day could not have been more ideal for the visitors, a perfect calm prevailing and the guardian snow peaks, Hood and Adams, standing out as clear as canoes.

More than 200 were present at the annual bloom banquet of the local Chamber of Commerce, all local fruit districts being represented and a large delegation being present from Mosier. Manager Geo. R. Tremblay received plaudits for the work he has engaged in the past winter in development of the hostelry grounds.

Chief speakers of the evening were: Rev. R. A. Hutchinson, pastor of the Upper Valley United Church, of Parkdale, and Jacob D. Allen, former California, publicly man who for a number of years was in charge of publicity work for Sunset magazine.

Hutchinson urged that visitors here in the future should not think they had beheld Hood River until they had made a trip to the Upper Valley. He characterized a visit to the Lower Valley like a mere stepping onto the front porch to see a beautiful mansion. Mr. Hutchinson paid a tribute to the apple bloom, which was more like a thing of beauty. He declared he could look on the sweetly perfumed blossoms and see the promise of the harvest.

"I can see new comforts for the home, new automobiles, college degrees and honors of various kinds in bloom. I can behold in them in a few moments more than a crystal gazer can see in a year in her hall of glass."

Mr. Allen was introduced by A. S. Dudley, manager of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, who declared that one of the needs of the time is the development of a sentiment toward the stabilization of business. He cited that statisticians in recent reports declare that Oregon and Washington show the whitest spots of the nation for business prospects. Mr. Dudley predicted the release this year of thirty to thirty five millions of dollars of tourist money in Oregon.

Mr. Allen, known generally, he said, to his associates as Jake, the son of a circuit rider, who only arrived a few hours before, starting for Hood River from San Francisco. His address was an appeal to his hearers to do something to help the community by individual enterprise and cooperation. He quoted ex-President Wilson, "The strength of America lies in well organized communities," and ex-President Harding, "I care not what position a man may momentarily assume of himself in, you can measure his standard of usefulness to America by the services he has rendered to his community." In justification of such organizations as chambers of commerce, "Americanism," said Mr. Allen, is the doing of the front and back porch jobs of our own home towns.

The personal justification of such organizations as your chamber of commerce can be found in that inherent seeking of mankind to be of service to others.

Capt. Geo. R. Wilbur, president of the chamber, presided. He declared in presenting a group of Mosier school children, who were given an ovation because of their well executed drills, a scotch song by a little boy and a solo dance, that somebody made a mistake when the Mosier orchard district was not included in Hood River county.

The first musical number on the program was given by T. Cass, Mrs. C. H. Sletton, director of Riverside church choir, gave solos. Both were encored. Capt. Wilbur introduced R. J. McInane and A. F. S. Stele, respectively president and manager of the Apple Growers Association, who were asked to stand in order that the visitors might see them.

RADIO NEWS

K-G-O

Here is the latest development in radio educational methods. Look at a picture in your newspaper. Then tune in on station KGO and hear the Spanish name for that picture. In this way learn the language.

Oscar Galton, inventor of the pictorial conversational system, well known in San Francisco and other American cities where he has taught thousands, is giving a series of Spanish lessons over the air from KGO, the General Electric broadcasting station.

Hundreds of letters enclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes, requesting the pictorial leaflets which illustrate this course, are being received by Edna K. Barker, director of the course of language at the KGO radio college.

As a part of the regular Monday night program, the KGO Radio College, the evening of May 19, will offer courses in agriculture, Spanish, music, economics and literature. Thousands of radio listeners throughout the west, who are now organized into what is believed to be the largest class ever known to receive instruction from a single teacher, will take their third lesson in the Spanish language. Before the microphone in the studio of the Pacific coast station of the General Electric company, Prof. Oscar Galton will instruct one pupil who will endeavor to repeat words and phrases after him. Radio listeners will be told, from time to time during the lesson, to refer to pictorial charts illustrating what he says. These charts may be clipped from newspapers, or may be secured by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the director of the language course at KGO.

Earl Lee Baker's story, "Seven Keys to Balhate," which was made into a play by George M. Cohan and became a great stage success, has been broadcasted from KGO Tuesday evening, May 21.

"Humors of the Law" is the subject of an address to be given by Archibald Trent, a San Francisco lawyer, Saturday evening, May 24.

The Sunday afternoon program, May 18, at 3:30 o'clock, by the KGO "Great Symphony Orchestra" will include Tannhauser Overture and the Liszt Rhapsody No. 2. An original orchestra arrangement of the old hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," will be featured, during the playing of which listeners will be asked to stand a few moments in silent worship.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"Romance—magnificent, glorified and entrancing." The words are those of the dramatic critic of a New York newspaper in reviewing "Ashes of Vengeance," a Joseph M. Schenck production starring Norma Talmadge, which is to be presented by the Rialto theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The colorful atmosphere of France of 1572; interior and exterior scenes of three different castles; the massive ball room of the Palace of the Louvres, where, in sufficient excitement, 1200 ladies and gentlemen of the court are dancing the minuett on the fateful eve of St. Bartholomew; sword play ranging from single duels to the mighty clash of great contending forces; brilliant caivalades of gallily caparisoned horses and attending men-at-arms moving along the picturesque roads of France—only a few highlights, these, of the scores of features that make "Ashes of Vengeance" not only the greatest picture of Norma Talmadge's career, but one of the most resplendent ever produced. But it is the drama itself, the romance of Toledad de Breux and Rupert de Verlane, which is the most appealing feature of the production. These roles are played respectively by Norma Talmadge and Conway Tearle. Twenty-five screen notables are in the cast of principals in support of the twain, including Wallace Beery, Guyton, Lucy Pote, Josephine Crowell, Betty Francisco, Claire McDowell, Andre DeBeranger, Murdock McQuarrie, Boyd Irwin, Carmen Phillips, Winter Hall, William Clifford, Hector V. Sarno, Earl Schenck, Jimmy Cooley, Lucy Beaumont, Forrest Robinson, Mary McAllister, Kenneth Gibson, Howard Truesdell, Frank Leigh and little Jeanne Carpenter, and 4000 little extras are employed in the mob scenes.

"Ashes of Vengeance" is a First National picture.

Enjoying the rare distinction of being the only actress in America who played Uncle Tom's Cabin, "Zaza," Lucille LaVerne, who plays the part of Aunt Rosa in Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Zaza," which will be on view at the Rialto theatre tomorrow and Saturday, is a playmate of the "Good House" popularity in this production is one of great artistry.

Miss LaVerne was born on a plantation in Tennessee and entered on a stage career at 15. She played one night stands with a Broadway company in Tennessee and other southern states. At 21 she organized her own stock company and was the first woman who ever played the character of "Uncle Tom."

"In my repertory days I used to have to play any kind of a part on a minute's notice," she explained. "One night in a little Iowa town, while thus pinch-hitting, I had to play the part of Uncle Tom. Those were the good old days. I guess I have played every kind of a part imaginable on the stage."

Miss LaVerne played an important character role in "Orphans of the Storm" and was seen as the colored woman in "The White Rose." As Aunt Rosa in "Zaza," she has added another strong character to her long list of screen portraits.

Babe London, the fat girl who has appeared in several excellent Christie Comedies, and who tips the scales at 200 pounds, also spoken of as a "perfect 48," supports Bobby Vernon in the new Educational-Christie Comedy, "Second Childhood," which will be shown at the Rialto theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Both Vernon and Miss London will be seen in the make-up of 1-year-olds. Vernon and a bobbed wig and a child-like sailor suit and Miss London in curls and ruffles.

"Second Childhood" deals with the troubles of a couple of young business partners who have obtained money from a distant uncle under the pretense it was for the education of a nephew who exists only in the minds of the conspirators. The uncle appears on the scene and Vernon enlists to carry on the deception by being "Little Oscar" during Uncle's stay. Complications, which are said to be extremely funny, follow close again.

In the cast supporting Bobby Vernon and Babe London will be seen other popular Christie players, including Charlotte Stevens, Lincoln Plumer, Earl Rodney and Lila Leslie.

Theodore Roberts, in the role of John Kincaid, millionaire piano manufacturer in the Paramount picture, "To the Ladies," which will be shown at the Rialto theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, has quite a tussle with an automatic fling cabinet, installed by one of his valued employees.

He begins by trying to open the cabinet. He presses a button but the thing doesn't work. He presses other buttons with the same result. He begins to lose patience. He slams it back and forth and gives it a kick. Then presses more buttons. Suddenly a bottom drawer flies open, hitting the slits and sending up a shower of papers. It immediately closes again. As he bends over to nurse his shin a top drawer flies out and bangs him on the head—more papers go ceilingward and the drawer closes. He straightens up with an oath and another drawer flies out and slams him amidship—more papers are scattered. The inventor of the weird contraption comes to his rescue only to be ordered out of the way roughly when the boss roars that the files be thrown out. It is an amusing scene, that he at least, for everyone but Mr. Kincaid.

Edward Horton, Helen Jerome Eddy and Louise Dresser are featured players with Mr. Roberts. "To the Ladies" is a James Cruze production, adapted by Walter Woods from the Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman stage success of the same title. It is an appealing domestic comedy.

Grade Track Meet Big Success The Central Valley, Barrett, Frankton, Odell and junior high schools were represented in the annual county grade school field and track meet on Gibson field last Saturday in the most successful meet held in recent years. In both boys' and girls' events the winner was in doubt till the last man in the relay team had crossed the line. When the score was totaled it was found that by winning the relay races, Junior high had won both boys' and girls' pennants. The final score was: Boys—Junior high, 25; Odell, 20; Barrett, 11; Frankton, 11; Girls—Junior high, 27; Barrett, 19; Odell, 15; Frankton, 5.

Special credit is due to the fine sportsmanship of all classes and to the stellar work of Graber, of Frankton; Cutler, of Odell, and to Florence Chapman, of junior high, who was high point "man" of the entire meet, with 18 points.

WIYEAST CLUB

Thursday evening, May 15, the Wiyeast club will have a wiener roast and moonlight hike at Sand canyon near Homestead Inn. The start from Hood River should be made early enough to leave Homestead Inn at 7 o'clock. Mark Weyandt will lead the hike and will give a picnic supper about a mile from the inn, following a forest service trail most of the way. After the wiener roast, the return trip to the inn will be made by moonlight. Mr. Hannum has invited the Wiyeast club to use his living room for dancing or other social entertainment. There should be plenty of time left for this feature of the evening's program. Those who need transportation can furnish additional transportation should register with C. C. Crew at the First National Bank. The club will serve coffee at cost, but members should bring cups and the necessary cuts.
