CHAMBER WILL BOOST CLIMB

MEETING TO BE HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Chamber of Commerce Members Will Endeavor to Stimulate Local Interest in Legion Hood Climb

"Mount Hood Legion Climb" night will be observed next Monday evening by the Chamber of Commerce. The session will be devoted largely to stimulating local interest in the fourth annual recreational party of the local Legion post. July 19, 20 and 21 are the dates set for the climb. County officials have cooperated with the legionnaires in improving a road leading up the hogback lying between the Tilly Jane creek and Sand canyon. For two and a half miles those attending the camp will have to hike to the legion base camp, located near the snow line on the headwaters of the Tilly Jane. W. I. Kirby, an experienced packer, has been engaged to pack in the blanket rolls and other baggage of the recreationalists.

The legionnaires have purchased a large quantity of camp kitchen equipment and Harry Sims, army veteran and one of the best known Northwest logging camp cooks, will be in charge of the cuisine of the camp. Legion party meals have become famed for their quantity and quality. Reservations for the 1924 climb are beginning to pour in from Portland and other Northwestern points, and it is anticipated that the climbing party will be one of the largest in the Northwest this year.

The first annual Mount Adams climb of Evans Childs post, American Legion, of White Salmon, proved a decided success, according to Kent Shoemaker, who motored to the highland in the southeast base of Adams Sunday.

"The legionnaires of the neighboring city," said Mr. Shoemaker, "have a wonderful camp. The road up through the Columbia national forest from Trout Lake is in excellent condition, and the recreational parties, who left on their jaunt last Friday, had no difficulty in reaching the base camp. Parties ascended the mountain on the Fourth and also Sunday. Conditions were excellent for climbing. The panoramic views of Mount Hood, the great forests of Oregon and Washington were splendid, as was the atmosphere. The Mount Adams country offers an ideal spot to vacationists. From the summit of the peak one can see innumerable small lakes dotting the park-like plateaus. The forests around Mount Adams are not dense like the fir growth around Hood's base ridges. The soil formation, too, is different and it is much easier to build roads. The completion of the Waukoma interstate bridge over the Columbia at Hood River is going to do much in stimulating the development of Mount Adams as a recreational center. Some day a road is going to penetrate the wilderness north of the mountain. Here one will be able to behold the most magnificent glacial scenery on a northwestern peak."

William Cochran, a member of the guide staff of the Hood Legion climbs, aided the White Salmon legionnaires in establishing their recreational party. Chester Dewey was chairman of the committee on arrangements and "Hank" Anderson, commander of the White Salmon post, was one of the enthusiastic boosters for the climb.

Photographer Reeves visited the climbing camp and secured some excellent photographs.

4TH CELEBRATIONS VERY SUCCESSFUL

This city blossomed forth in patriotic decoration last Thursday. The American Legion Post recently sponsored the sale of standardized flags, which were purchased by every merchant and business house in the city. The standards of the handsome flags are set into the concrete sidewalks. The flags were delivered the first of the week. Early Thursday they were set, and the main street of the town was never so flag-bedecked.

Hood River was a deserted village by 10 o'clock Friday. All the inhabitants had gone on camping vacations or had joined the crowds engaged in celebrations at Koberg beach or at Park grange community center on the West Side. The beach celebration, which attracted more than 750 folk from neighboring towns, was under auspices of the Knights of Pythias band.

No bigger crowd has ever participated at a local Fourth of July celebration that was at Koberg's beach. About 750 cars were parked there, and it was estimated that 3,500 people visited the band's celebration. Soda pop and lemonade were sold by the gallon. The band boys maintained popular prices and the public showed its appreciation by liberal patronage.

The lifeguards at the beach were constantly on the watch, and not a single mishap marred the day, although the pools were constantly filled with small children and many adults were swimming. The oldest swimmer was Prof. L. F. Henderson, who characterized the Koberg beach as the finest fresh water beach in America.

The baseball game resulted in a victory of 6 to 2 in favor of Hood River. The Park Grange celebration's most notable feature was a patriotic address by Hon. Milton A. Miller. A musical program of high order was rendered by the following: Miss Helen Barlow, songs; C. K. Benton, violin solos; S. G. Osbrow, solo, and Mrs. S. G. Osbrow, who was also accompanist, piano solos.

The prize committee for the grange picnic, composed of Mrs. H. D. Steele and Mrs. C. M. Harburt, is very enthusiastic in its praise for the Hood River merchants, who in their generous giving of prizes, made the various contests of the day a success and brought fun and happiness to the large crowd of spectators, as well as the participants of the races.

Little Dennis Anderson, aged seven weeks, won a prize, being the youngest baby on the grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Somerville won a fine oil painting donated by M. H. S. Co., being the couple on the grounds married the greatest number of years. They have been married 49 years.

Mr. Robbins, aged 90 years and seven months, won three pounds of coffee donated by Perigo & Son, as the oldest person on the grounds and Mr. Courtright, aged 81 years, won second prize a pound of coffee.

The girls' relay race was won by Mabel Miller, Marian Palmister, Zoa Easterly and Blanche Woody, each receiving five passes to the Rialto theatre donated by A. S. Kolstad.

Kenneth Thompson won $5 for climbing the greased pole, also $5 in the fast horse race. This money was given by the Butler Banking Co.

Richard Colvin and Marian Palmister each won a $5 savings account given by the First National Bank.

In the tug of war the winners, Roy Hayes, Charles Wallace, Clyde Burke and Ross Noel, won two gallons of ice cream given by the Hood River Creamery and a box of cigars given by C. A. Richards' cigar store.

W. A. Cate, as best clown, won a $3 merchandise order by the Highway Auto Co.

Aug. Gulgaard won the $2 auto polish given by the Interstate Motor Company.

Sammie Katayama won a vase given by Yasui Bros. The following prizes: One year's subscription to News, by Hood River News; $2 meat order, by Holman & Samuel; $2 meat order by Mr. Hood Feed Co.; Swift's ham, by Grange store; Swift's side of bacon, by Laurinell Market; three beautiful dolls, one by B. E. Cobb Co., two by A. S. Kehr; a thermos bottle by Hood River Drug Co.; box of stationery by Kresse Drug Co.; safety razor and pair of shears by E. A. Frans Hardware Co.; two auto mirrors, one by Bendett Bros. and the other by the Hood River Garage; rubber tubes by Barlow's Hardware Co. and The Tire Shop; three flashlights, one by Apple City Electric Co. and two by H. D. Steele; four sacks

P. P. & L. OFFICE IS WINNER OF TROPHY

Employees of the Pacific Power & Light company have a well-earned feeling of elation and of pride in their community, over winning first place in a two-month contest for the sale of ranges. Seventeen districts of the company were competing with each other in the sale of electric and gas ranges during May and June, and in the last week Hood River slipped ahead of Yakima, and finished in first place, with 250 per cent. of quota. The Dallas was third. Thirty electric ranges were put in service here, two of them the new White Super-Automatic type, making a total of over 100 in this district. Such an achievement is possible only in a progressive community, where the comfort of modern conveniences is appreciated.

Visible evidence of the success will soon be on display at the power company's office, when a sterling silver loving cup, presented by Guy W. Talbot, president of the company, is received. The handsome trophy is awarded the district making the highest per cent in the sale of major appliances, and will be the permanent possession of any district which wins it three times. The entire personnel of the district was organized into a sales group during the recent campaign and each member contributed to the victory, which is the first one the local office has achieved. They are particularly happy to have their efforts meet with entire success in the first campaign held after H. E. Baker assumed charge of this district. Alva L. Day, line foreman, was especially active, and has several ranges to his credit. The cup will be in competition again during September, when a similar contest over the sale of Thor washing machines will be held.

BIG PARTY PLANNED FOR COUNTRY CLUB

The second of a series of summer parties, a bridge whist and mah jong party will be given Wednesday night next week at the Hood River Golf and Country club. Mrs. W. J. Knight is in charge of arrangements. Plans call for 25 tables. Prizes have been donated for the party by the following merchants: The Paris Fair, E. A. Frans Co., J. G. Vogt and Kelly Bros. Refreshments will be served.

The proceeds from the series of parties, the first of which was a dance held recently at the Columbia Gorge hotel, when the big dining room of the hostelry was donated for the occasion will be utilized in the purchase of furnishings for the club house. It is planned to hold a big basket picnic in August.

LEGION ESSAY WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Hood River county winners in the American Legion Americanization essay contest were named yesterday as follows by Dr. V. R. Abraham, head of the local Legion Americanization committee: Wendell Keck, first; Harriet Fuller, second, and Clifton Emmel, third. The winning essays will be read at the meeting of the Legion post meeting tomorrow night.

Young Keck and Miss Fuller were members of the high school winning debating teams the past spring. Young Emmel was county winner of a national oratorical contest on the American constitution.

HOSPITAL PLAN IS PROGRESSING

NEXT MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

Committee Appointed to Investigate and Negotiate for Purchase or Lease of Temporary Quarters

A second meeting of the Hood River county community hospital organization will be held at the Chamber of Commerce, next Thursday night, when representatives of all the religious fraternal and municipal bodies will be present with definite authority to vote for a permanent board of trustees and consider other necessary action. At a meeting Thursday night representatives of the various bodies had received no definite instructions. All bodies not represented at the last meeting have been urged to send authorized delegates to the next meeting.

In the absence of Leroy Childs, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce hospital committee, a meeting in Portland to be with his wife, ill in a hospital there, E. O. Blanchard presided. Other members of the committee, H. B. Perigo, Truman Butler and Victor C. Follansbee, addressed the meeting, citing the definite need for a community hospital.

Following adoption of a motion of Rev. Hyars, seconded by Rev. DeLoane, Mr. Blanchard appointed the following committee to make an investigation and start negotiations for the purchase or lease of temporary quarters for a hospital: Rev. DeLoane, chairman, Mrs. Allyn Hayes, Fred Shoemaker, L. M. Baldwin, Raynor Bickford and Victor C. Follansbee.

Secretary Allyn read a letter from the chairman of a committee at Marshfield, where a recent successful campaign for a $100,000 community hospital was waged.

J. R. EDGAR TALKS ON THE PHILIPPINES

J. R. Edgar, who for 17 years was a resident of the Philippine Islands, Tuesday in an address to the Young Men's club, declared to be the feeling of the islanders were not now ready for independence and that their actions would lead one to think they would never be ready for it. Mr. Edgar, president of the club by a recent election, chairman of the day, said that the Philippine Islands lack a unity of language. Propaganda for independence is said, comes not from the Filipinos themselves, but from persons who are fostering an appreciation for the propaganda.

He declared that the policy of the Wilson administration was a gross error. He asserted that the islanders were not now ready for independence and that their actions would lead one to think they would never be ready for it. Mr. Edgar, president of the club by a recent election, chairman of the day, said that the Philippine Islands lack a unity of language. Propaganda for independence is said, comes not from the Filipinos themselves, but from persons who are fostering an appreciation for the propaganda.

Mr. Edgar declared that the Philippines is a wonderful country, although different from anything an American can imagine. He told of the beauties of the various islands and the fertility of the soil. American energy and practical mindness, he said, has worked wonders in the way of sanitation and progress.

Guests at the lunch Tuesday, served at the Mount Hood hotel, were: Sam Green, of Parkdale; C. A. Reed, J. McCoy, of Portland, and F. E. Russell. The latter was proposed for membership.

President Pines announced that the next meeting will be held at the Cottage Farm, when L. B. Gibson will be chairman.

GRAND JURY RETURNS SEVEN INDICTMENTS

gold chain, Habronck jewelry store; $5 silver set of salt and pepper shakers, W. F. Laraway; 20 passes, A. S. Kolstad; cord of wood, Harry DeWitt; $1 order for music, Oregon music shop; box of stationery, G. D. Haven; box of candy, Apple Blossom Cafe; beautiful plant Geo. Haslinger; 10 gallons of gas by Standard Oil Co.

All prizes were tagged and on display in an artistically arranged prize booth, and were awarded at 4 p. m. to the lucky winners.

The finding of the mysterious couple caused much excitement to everyone. Marian Palmister found Annie Rockford, who proved to be Mrs. Abble Colvin. Marian Palmister received a fine box of candy given by the Apple Blossom Cafe; Mrs. Colvin, a cord of wood by H. T. DeWitt; Uncle Park Grange was Supr. L. B. Gibson, who won an inner robe; and Ethel Dixon, his captor, received a fine box of stationery given by G. D. Haven's store.

The Butler-Nut Co. of Portland, gave an immense, finely decorated cake which was won by John Ansham.

A vote of thanks is tendered all business men who cooperated with grange committees to make this picnic a grand success.

Electric Refrigerator Here
A new development of home service has been arranged for by the Pacific Power & Light company which will have a unit of the Electro-Kold refrigerating system on its sales floor next week. S. A. King, service man for the company, is spending the present week in Spokane taking a week's training at the factory on the installation and servicing of the machine. A feature of the Electro-Kold is that it can be installed in an ordinary refrigerator. The unit will be in operation at the local office, and when Mr. King's return the company will have this refrigerating service available for its patrons.
