OFFICERS ARE REAPPOINTED

J. H. YOUNG IS NAMED COUNCILMAN

Council Adopts Resolution Urging State Land Board to Sell Shoreland To Koberg

At the first meeting for the year of the city council, with newly elected and appointed members of the body present Monday night, Mayor Bennett made the following reappointments of city officers, all of which were confirmed:

William Hart, city marshal; W. L.
Clark, street commissioner, engineer and water superintendent; J. F. Volstorf, fire chief; G. Morgan, fire marshal; H. Conover, night marshal, and G. Y. Morrison, traffic officer. The following committees of the council were appointed: Finance, Smithson, Young and Franz; police, Richards, Sonnichsen and Stranahan; health, Sonnichsen, Stranahan and Richards; street, Franz, Young and Richards; fire and water, Young, Franz and Smithson; and judiciary, Stranahan, Smithson and Sonnichsen.

The financial report of Auditor Crandall was read, and it was announced that Kay W. Sinclair was ready to take over the office of city treasurer, he having been elected to office by W. Critch. The report showed the cash balance of the city in excess of $56,000.

Although a petition largely signed by Heights residents was presented to the council asking for the appointment of C. B. Woodard as water main along May street to its high building site on Paradise Farm, was presented to the body. It was referred to the street committee.

The fire and water committee presented a report, stating that Albert Krieg had been given permission to proceed with converting the old U. B. church into an apartment house.

An ordinance providing for the increase of the salary of the city recorder from $1,800 to $2,000 passed second reading. It was explained that the charter grants the city recorder fees for his work. An ordinance was passed several years ago, giving the recorder $1,800, the fees going to the city. The work of the recorder, who also takes care of the water office, has increased materially, recently.

A bill of the city council, appropriating the general fund and a half from the light and water fund.

J. H. Koberg, owner of the Twentieth Century Truck Farm, recently applied to the state land board for purchase of the shore land adjoining his place. The board apparently looked favorably on the application and its formal advertisement was authorized.
Later, however, the board reversed its action and offered only a lease to Mr. Koberg, who wishes title to the land, in order that he may proceed with an investment in improving his bench. He declares that he will not be justified in an investment in the lease, unless he can secure title or a long time lease on the shore lands. The city council Monday night adopted a resolution urging the state land board to grant his request.

Tuesday at the Lunch club was held an anniversary celebration, and title holders of the belt and other owners of stories of incongruous veracity were called on to recount strange and weird experiences. R. W. Kelly, while a raconteur of parts, who was chairman of the day, declined to "reminisce," giving of his own time to A. F. Steele, who collaborated in preparations for the program. Rev.
Jas. A. Frazer and Rev. R. A. Hutchinson were made judges of the stories.
Mr. Steele cited the stories of Jonah and the whale and the daughter of Pharoah and Moses in the birchbushes as Biblical tales of incongruous veracity.

Dr. E. L. Seabee, holder of the championship belt for the past year, was called on to defend the title. He responded by calling for the experiences of contenders first. J. H. Fredrick, the man who discovered a red, white and blue lizard several years ago, recited a thrilling fish story, in which he and E. J. Midswart, dean of local anglers, participated. Mr.
Fredrick digressed to paint alluring word pictures of the mid-Columbia scenery. The average man can't paint the lily. Mr. Fredrick can.
He was followed by Col. W. S.
Dowd, who told how a young son had constructed an aquarium from an apple box in a small stream near his home.
The action of the water removed a knot from an end of the box, leaving a small hole. One day the young son appeared at the house with an eight-inch trout that had been caught half way in the box. It was unable to go forward or back up. It had grown there. When the board was removed the fish showed a ring around its center. Col. Dowd said he was unable to ascertain how the trout had thrived and grown.

TALES OF INCONGRU- OUS VERACITY TOLD

Hood River has a unique organization, effected several years ago, following the lead of the Disfranchising Baker told after he almost ran down a cougar while motoring over the Columbia River Highway. A number of citizens subscribed a fund, purchased a handsome silver buckled belt and presented it to Mr. Baker. The club organized was called The Society for the Propagation and Perpetuation of Incongruous Veracity. Mr. Baker was named champion for the year.
The belt has since passed to various citizens.

Mr. Rand came to Hood River in 1884. He purchased a little building which was known as the Mount Hood hotel. He added to the structure and developed the pioneer hostelry to pretentious proportions. Later he purchased an acreage along the bluffs of the Columbia west of the city, where he built the Wan-Gun-Gin hotel, the mid-Columbia's first tourist summer resort. The old frame hostelry was razed in 1920 to make way for the modern tourist hostelry, the Columbia Gorge hotel, constructed by Simon Benson.

Mr. Rand's hobby was the collection of unique articles of pioneer times and Indian relics. He had one of the most interesting museums in Oregon.
Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Bartmess chapel. Rev. Troy Shelley officiating. Interment followed at Idlewild cemetery.

Mr. Rand is survived by his wife and the following children: Wm. F.
Delbert E. and Ernest C. Rand, all of Hood River, and Mrs. Axel N.
Rahm, of Metzger. Seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren survive.

The funeral Saturday was attended by all of the pioneer population of the valley. Rev. Shelley delivered an impressive talk.

OLD LANDMARK IS REMOVED

OLD U. B. CHURCH SPIRE IS RAZED

Structure is Being Converted by Albert Krieg into a Modern Apartment House

A landmark disappeared here Monday when workmen razed the spire of the old United Brethren church, which was built in 1869. The old bell, which was 20 years ago tolled at the death of citizens or rang in the new year, has been removed from the belfry. It was rung the last time to usher in the year 1925.

The old church building, which has not been used for religious purposes in 11 years, was recently purchased by Albert Krieg. The structure will be entirely remodeled and converted into a modern apartment house.
It is likely that the old bell will be sold to some valley church. The bell was purchased for the church by the late Oliver Bartmess, father of S. E.
Bartmess, who was well known to all pioneers.

The gymnasium and reading-room of the old religious edifice were not built until 1900. An organization known as the Society of Andrew and Philip constructed these.
Mr. Krieg plans on arranging 16 apartments in the remodeled structure. Each will be equipped with a kitchenette provided with electric range and all the most modern household appliances. The close-by modern apartments will fill a need in the city.

The remodeling of the old church has general public approval, except for the scores of pigeons that have lived in the old belfry for many years. The removal of the spire has left them homeless and confused.

WORLD PEACE CHAIR- MAN HERE TOMORROW

Clifton N. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., publicist, lecturer, author and chairman of the World Peace Commission, will deliver an address at a union meeting tomorrow evening at Liverside church. The subject of his address will be "World Peace and How to Obtain It." He is on a four-year tour of the world in the interest of international disarmament.

Mr. Howard has devoted 25 years to the platform as an advocate of social justice, civic righteousness, law enforcement, equal rights and world peace. The World Peace commission, of which he is now chairman, represents 41 nations who have joined in the call for the next world conference, whose supreme object is to abolish war and make nations Christian in their relations with one another.
It advocates universal disarmament by international agreement.

After hearing Mr. Howard at the White Temple, Miami, Fla., last year, whom he introduced as "one of the outstanding figures in the world of reform," William Jennings Bryan wrote: "Clifton N. Howard's lectures should be delivered in every community throughout the United States. It is the equal of any that I have ever heard or read, and profoundly impressed the large audience that had the privilege of hearing it."

THE PYTHIAN BAND GOES TO PARKDALE

The Hood River Pythian band, which gave an appealing concert last night at the Rialto theatre, will go to Parkdale next Monday evening. As no picture will be presented with the show at the Upper Valley capital, a number of specialty acts, including Spanish dances by Misses Geneva and Londie Isenberg and Edward Thbrun-ton and L. S. Isenberg, will be included in the program.

The band ministrals were well received here last night. The proceeds heard on the streets today indicate a larger audience at the Rialto tonight. The proceeds of the band entertainments will be used in financing a trip of the musical organization; its members garbed in their unique Indian costumes to the Imperial Palace of the D. O. K. K. at Prosser, R. I., the coming summer.

The Parkdale entertainments will be held at McIsaac's hall, Upper Valleyites, who hold the band in high esteem because of its participation in a strawberry festival last summer, will turn out in numbers. The band will go at a later date to White Salmon.

MRS. FENDEL'S FU- NERAL HELD SUNDAY

Funeral services were held from the First Christian church Sunday, for Mrs. Emma Fengel, wife of Herman L. Fengel, whose death occurred last Thursday night. Rev. W. O. Livingstone officiated, interment following at Idlewild cemetery.

Emma Fengel was born near Liberty, Ill., October 4, 1861. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W.
Lorke. She united with the Christian church at an early age at Liberty, later placing her membership in the church here in Hood River. In June, 1912, she was united in marriage to Herman L. Fengel at Hood River.
To this union two children were born, Frances Mae, age 10, and Virgil, age three, who are left to mourn her going. Surviving her are also her father and mother, three brothers and four sisters, of Liberty, and one sister, of Hood River, Mrs. Irl Blagg.

Mrs. Fengel was a teacher in the public schools of Adams county, Illinois, for five years, and a member of the local Relief Corps and the Pythian Sisters.

Gus Miller is receiving the lumber for a handsome new home to be constructed at his country home at Clifton this spring.
