KOBERG BEACH

The Glacier wishes to join the city council and civic organizations of the city and county in support of the application of John Koberg for the purchase of the shore lands of the Columbia adjoining his truck farm...

Mr. Koberg has offered to purchase the shore land, in order that he may feel safe in making an investment for permanent improvement of the beach...

PROPOSED MOTOR LAWS

Numerous new bills for raising revenue from motor vehicle licenses and the sale of gasoline have been introduced at Salem. Some of the new laws appear to be so radical as to be ridiculous...

Some of the bills, as introduced, call for an excessive tax on gasoline. A slight increase in the gasoline tax seems justified...

BEWARE THE STOCK ARTIST

The story of Hood River's prosperity has gone forth to every part of the northwest. It is likely that our wealth from the returns of the past season's apple crop is exaggerated...

It behooves the folk of Hood River to be on guard. Beware the stock salesman who approaches you offering enormous dividends as a lure to the purchase of his wares...

When a stock salesman approaches you, just give him ear and propose that you and he go to your banker and get the latter's judgment on the stocks...

UNDUE LEVITY

The trend of jazz, perhaps, may be the cause of an undue levity in the modern day treatment of a serious and high minded organization...

Are, that honorable society has seized on truths of unique incidents that seem incongruous. We earnestly plead that the ideals of the founders of the Society for the Promulgation and Perpetuation of Incongruous Veracity...

MORE MAIL BOXES NEEDED

How many mail boxes are located in the downtown business section of the city? We wonder if a single business man can tell. We'll admit that we do not know...

partment locate a conspicuous mail box or two on Oak street before the influx of motor tourists.

SURE, IN HOOD RIVER!

An apple tree has been produced that will grow in tropical and semi-tropical countries. But when people want apple trees that grow with enthusiasm and produce fruit worthy the Garden of Hesperides they still turn to Oregon—Oregon Journal.

Sometimes we have visitors here from other counties who direct jibes at us because of our old court house. Indeed, we are not overly proud of the old antiquated school house, used as a court house...

The old court house is not entirely useless yet. If it would be no sacrifice, we might proceed to construct a new one. But as long as other things are more urgently needed, it would be a waste to tear down the old building.

Some day we can see our way clear to build a new court house, and then that proposed public assembly hall, the desire of some, can be taken care of.

Have you been visited by the enumerators who are taking the farm census of Hood River county? You should be ready for them when they arrive. This census is being taken primarily for the benefit of the farmers...

The weather lately has been intermittently springlike, but we wish to warn embryonic spring poets that we must decline publication of spring poems at least until after ground has thawed...

The thermometer, it was reported, bumped the bottom at 53 degrees below zero in Maine the other day. New York had a blizzard Tuesday. Who's kicking about Oregon weather?

Twenty-one days have elapsed this year without a fire alarm. Let's all be careful and keep the good record going.

It is high time some decision is being arrived at on the bridge road.

ADVERSHOW SEASON! CLOSED THURSDAY

The Thursday night advershow of Isenberg & Thornton, which have attracted many the past several weeks, came to a close last Thursday night when the popular entertainers staged "A Night in Old Mexico." The bull fight staged in buffoonery was a scream...

WELFARE COMMITTEE MAKES A REPORT

The Hood River Welfare committee in a report just issued announces that a total of $352.42 was subscribed just before the holidays for relief work. Twenty-five families were given provisions, fuel and clothing. The committee now has a cash balance of $208.17.

MANSER PAINTING GOLF LINKS SCENES

Percy L. Manser is now engaged in painting landscape scenes of the Oak Grove course of the Hood River Golf and Country club. The first of the handsome pictures has been finished and is being exhibited at the First National bank. It has attracted considerable attention.

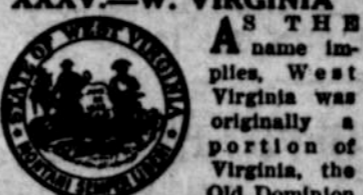

The picture has life to it, and golfers who see it yesterday, when the sun was shining brilliantly and a springlike atmosphere added to the lure, declared that it was with the utmost difficulty that they could keep from gathering up their clubs and hastening to Oak Grove.

Mr. Hood Dance Tomorrow

Remember that tomorrow night is another night for a live time at the Mt. Hood Community hall. The crowds have been increasing the last two dances, and a much larger crowd is expected for this coming Friday night dance, as the roads are much improved and the weather much more favorable for the little jaunt out to the Mt. Hood Community hall.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XXXV.—W. VIRGINIA

As the name implies, West Virginia was originally a portion of Virginia, the Old Dominion Colony. While its history is naturally yoked up with that of the Mother State, there are many points in which the two sections of Virginia were divergent and it was for this reason that West Virginia finally became a separate state.

The first white man who probably penetrated the wilderness of this Western region was John Lederer, a German surgeon, who went on a tour of exploration in 1670. In the same year, La Salle sailed the Ohio and landed at several points in the present state. There was little colonization until 1732, when Scotch and Irish adventurers began to fill Western Virginia. They were encouraged but little, and, in fact, the King in 1738 declared that this part of the colony was Indian country and could not rightfully be settled.

The backwoodsmen who settled in the Western part of Virginia were entirely different types of men from the wealthy slave owners along the coast. Jealousies between the two sections arose and the Western countries felt great dissatisfaction at the way Virginia was governing them. The most marked point of disagreement was over the slavery question, and it was because of this that, when Virginia seceded from the Union in 1861, West Virginia took matters in its own hands. Delegates met at Wheeling, drew up a separate constitution, and declared their independence. Their application for admission into the Union was accepted by Lincoln, and in 1863 West Virginia became the thirty-sixth state.

It is often called the "Panhandle State" on account of its shape. Its area is 24,170 square miles, and it has eight presidential electors.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XXXVI.—NEVADA

NEVADA is a Spanish adjective meaning "snowy," and is taken from the Sierra Nevada, those lofty mountains which separate the State from California. Most of the history of the state centers in this Western section, near the Sierran, and it is here that all of Nevada's principal cities are located.

The first white man to cross the present state was the Franciscan Monk, Father Gares, who made his way across the deserts to California in 1776. In 1825 Peter S. Ogden of the Hudson's Bay company discovered the Humboldt river, which is sometimes called Ogden river after him.

The next memorable trip across the state was that by Fremont in 1843, when he went to California at the time of the outbreak of the Mexican war. It was this war which in 1846 resulted in Mexico ceding a large area to the United States, of which Nevada was a part. When this was organized into territories, the Territory of Utah extended to California. The Western inhabitants, however, were left to their own resources and accordingly organized the territory of Nevada. Resenting the attitude of Utah they petitioned to be annexed to California.

In 1859 the Comstock Lode was discovered and Nevada had its own mining boom. Population immediately grew by leaps and bounds and in 1861 Nevada was formed into a separate territory. Later, portions of Utah were added and the lower part of the state was taken from Arizona. Petitions for statehood were made but it was not until 1864 that Nevada became the thirty-sixth state of the Union.

Though Nevada ranks sixth in size with its area of 110,690 square miles, it has the smallest population of any of the 48 states. Between 1800 and 1800 there was a marked decrease in the population due to the falling off of mining industry.

Towns With Zoning Regulations

Sixty-seven cities of this country are reported to have some kind of zoning regulations now in effect, and 20 cities have complete comprehensive zoning ordinances limiting the use of property, heights of buildings and area of lot that may be covered in every block within the city limits. Among cities adopting zoning during the last year are Milwaukee, Berkeley, Washington, D. C., Omaha, East Orange, Yonkers, Brockton, East Cleveland and a number of smaller cities.

Red and alsike clover planting is usually best done the latter part of February in Oregon, the experiment station finds. They are sown on fall grain where the light freezing and thawing, or rain generally cover the seed. The clover seed business demands pure seed, especially free from burdock. Seed samples will be tested free by the experiment and federal seed laboratory at Corvallis, to help the farmer be certain that his seed is good.
