

Remodeling the Old Home

In the Spring of the year, when all nature buds forth, and the birds begin the building of their nests, there is that same feeling in the human family.

We want a change and it can be done very easily. Create more comfortable quarters in your home by a little remodeling of the old home. Add a Sleeping Porch. Put in a new Dormer to break the bareness of appearance and you will be surprised to find that your neighbors won't know you are living in the same place.

In remodeling or building, our Architectural Service is free for the asking. Why not profit by what others have designed and planned?

Phone 4121—that's our self-starter.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The membership committee met at the home of Mrs. L. M. Thomas Wednesday of last week and planned a membership drive to begin Tuesday, January 20, and continuing until February 17. Mrs. Pugh-Parriott is chairman of the committee. Mrs. Fred Carnes, Mrs. Ella Burns, Mrs. F. M. Atkinson and Mrs. William Foss are the captains.

Interesting articles in current periodicals were read. "When mothers begin to tell their sons they would be as glad to see them stationed as clerksmen, and prove that they mean what they say by what they do, politics will be as clean as pulpit," is one of the clear-cut sentences of Frances Parkenson Keyes' article in Good Housekeeping entitled, "Now That the Election is Over." Mrs. Keyes, the wife of a United States senator, has had much experience within recent years in political activities for women. She calls this article "A letter on every-day good citizenship."

The L. E. L. will be reorganized. A meeting will be held 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at the Christian church. Mrs. C. B. Woolpert will be superintendent.

Parkdale School Grows

The Parkdale high school has shown a larger proportionate growth than any high school of the mid-Columbia. Prof. H. G. Keeney, superintendent of Parkdale schools, who was here Saturday with Mrs. Keeney, states that the school now has an attendance of 54. A maximum enrollment of 58 was recorded the past year. In 1917 the school had but 18 pupils. Three teachers are employed in teaching high school subjects. The Parkdale school will graduate a class of eight next spring.

ALL WORN OUT?

So Was Mrs. King, Who Tells Her Experience.

Are you tired all the time; worn-out night and day? Does your work ache as if it would break? Do you suffer dizziness, headaches, rheumatic twinges or distressing urinary disorders? You have good cause to be alarmed about your kidneys. Do as many of your townfolk recommend. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant directly to the kidneys. This Hood River case is convincing.

Mrs. A. T. King, 1210 Thirteenth street, says: "My kidneys were in a bad condition and I could hardly do my housework, especially mornings. I felt run down and worn out and my back ached considerably. I had frequent headaches and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Pills and they soon straightened out the trouble. The backaches and tired feeling left and my kidneys acted regularly again."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. King had. Foster Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Speaking of fast workers—Allan Dwan is right up on top when it comes to motion picture directors. "Argentine Love," which will appear at the Rialto theatre Friday and Saturday, is his fourth production of Paramount's Famous Forty. The other three were "Manhatten," "Her Love Story" and "Wages of Virtue," all starring Gloria Swanson. Bebe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez are featured in "Argentine Love," an original screen story by Vicente Blasco Ibanez. James Rennie heads a strong supporting cast which includes Mario Majeroni, Aurelio Coccia, Mark Gonzales, Russ Whitall, Alice Chapin and Julia Hurley. John Russell adapted the story for the screen. Gerald Duffy wrote the scenario.

Keep an eye out for Dwan's next production, "Madame Sans Gêne," starring Miss Swanson. Dwan and his staff went to France to make this picture—Gloria's first costume production.

Starting a motion picture scene on its way to celluloid form is done in various ways by directors. At the Paramount Plaque eastern studio recently seven directors were making Paramount pictures and each one of them started his scenes in a different manner.

Allan Dwan, producer of "Argentine Love," coming to the Rialto theatre Friday and Saturday with Bebe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez featured, snaps out the terse word "camera" while Dimitri Buchowetzki, who held the megaphone over the production of "The Swan," shouts: "Gif me music—camera!"

Sidney Olcott, working on a picture version of "Salome of the Tenements," exhorts his players with: "Give me some action now!" and then he merely focuses the cameraman on the shoulder when he wants him to start the camera on the scene. "All ready?" quietly asks Paul Sloane, who was directing Richard Dix in "A Man Called Dix" when the players are ready he almost whispers the word "camera" for the start of the scene.

Joseph Henabery, who held the directorial reins for the "Tongues of Fire" production, Thionich, Michigan, simply says: "Alright, camera," when he wants the action to begin. In directing the play, "Dangerous Money," Bebe Daniels' first starring picture, "Tuesdays started scenes with this line, "Stand by, action, camera!" R. H. Burnside invariably used, "All ready, let's go" to start a scene for "Manhattan," Richard Dix's first starring picture.

Everyone has his own way about things in the movies as elsewhere.

A thrilling story of a pioneer mining town of the west, in which a girl and a small boy help a man find himself, is the basis of J. K. McDonald's latest First National photoplay, "Frisvold's Sal," which comes to the Rialto theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Victor L. Schertzinger, noted director, was engaged to transfer to the screen this story from McDonald's pen, which includes Eugene O'Brien, Mae Busch, Ben Alexander, Mildred Harris, Mitchell Lewis and Tom Santachi.

"Frisvold's Sal" has a scenic background the like of which has rarely been seen on the screen in a dramatic production. Rainier National Park, in northwestern Washington, and the great mining region of Idaho's Coeur d'Alene were chosen as locations. Except for a few excursions of scenic photographers, no motion picture camera has ever before recorded the majestic beauty of Mount Rainier.

Amid these marvels of nature the tensely dramatic love story of "Frisvold's Sal," beautiful girl of the pioneer mining camps, and her sweetheart, a "strange" actor, has been filmed. There is thrilling action from the start, with a climax in which two men battle for the love of the girl while suspended from a wire tramway over a deadly gorge.

Simont Sets New Mark

Representative Simont established the record for all time in congress Friday in forcing the passage of 23 bills of which he was the sponsor. Three of these were Oregon bills.

One decided to the state of Oregon certain lands in Lake county for fish hatchery purposes. Another extended for three years the time for making final proof on desert land entries and the third reserved certain rights for the government and entrymen in the settlement of national forests.

A Real Dead Town

Remains of an Indian village estimated to be 2,000 years old have been found near The Dalles, Oregon, buried under more than 12 feet of stratified deposits.—The National Republican.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale

Whereas, in a certain suit then therein pending in the Circuit Court of Hood River County, Oregon, wherein Paul Aubert was plaintiff and W. L. Hanna, Myrtle Hanna, et al, were defendants, an Execution and Order of Sale was issued thereon on January 6, 1925, upon a certain Judgment and Decree foreclosing the same, entered in said court on December 30, 1924, said Judgment and Decree being in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendants W. L. Hanna and Myrtle Hanna, for the sum of $1123.15, with interest thereon since March 29, 1923, at 8% per annum, and for the sum of $243.00, with interest thereon since October 17, 1924, at the rate of 8% per annum, and the further sum of $236.00, attorney's fees, and a further sum of $22.90, costs and disbursements, and to be incurred upon said writ of execution, that said Execution and Order of Sale is to me directed and commands all the real property hereinafter described to be sold to satisfy said Judgment, costs and expenses.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the said execution and order of sale, I will, on Friday, February 6, 1925, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon on that day, at the front door of the County Court House, in the City of Hood River, Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, for the purpose of satisfying said judgment and accruing costs and expenses, the following described real property situated in Hood River County, Oregon, to-wit:

Lot 4 in Section 22, Township 1 North, Range 10 East of the Willamette Meridian.

Dated January 8, 1925. J85

Wm. H. Edick,
Sheriff, Hood River County, Oregon.

APPLE HOLDINGS NOW VERY LIGHT

Despite the record large tonnage, shipments of the 1924 apple crop are fairly well ended. W. W. Graham, located here as distributor for the Pacific Fruit Express, left for Portland Saturday. Practically all apples in common storage have been forwarded.

Records of the Apple Growers Association Saturday showed that the cooperative agency had received from growers a total of 2,017,120 boxes. Only 142,068 boxes remained unsold. These, all of high quality, will be held for the late demand.

Prominent Speakers at Riverside

Prof. F. O. Bate, teacher of public speaking at Albany College, delivered an address under auspices of the Sunday Evening club at Riverside Community church Sunday night. His topic was "The Fourth Line of Defense."

Tuesday evening Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of Portland, addressed the men of the church at their monthly dinner in the church parlors.

NOTICE is hereby given that the State Land Board of the State of Oregon will receive sealed bids at its office in the Capital Building at Salem, Oregon, on 11:00 o'clock A. M., February 17, 1925, for lease of the following described shore lands in Hood River County, Oregon.
