

Hood River Glacier

ARTHUR D. MOE, Manager. JOE D. THOMPSON, Editor. Subscription, $2.00 Per Year.

HOW THEY DID IT 15 YEARS AGO

Shades of Hood River boom days were presented the other day when Geo. T. Prather brought to town a copy of "The American Progress Magazine," a booster publication of Portland of that period.

Indeed, those days of 1910 were days when the realtor was in his glory. He dominated all of us, and we were unto the individual who dared to voice the least criticism of an apple of the Hood River valley or an inch of soil.

It is interesting to peruse such a publication as "The American Progress Magazine" here in the Hood River valley during the year 1925, when the goose has again been caught and is hanging high.

If Hood River today can believe as thoroughly in the opportunities offered by the development of the scenic resource, and there is no reason why she shouldn't, as she did 15 years ago in the apple, and proceed as enthusiastically to tell the world about these scenic attractions, she will reap benefits from such optimistic activity.

WE REVIVE AN OLD ONE

Saturday evening a bunch of the fellows who had attended the Portland automobile show were lunching and talking over their buys at the Hood River Drug Co. store.

And then a small individual, with a serious twinkle in his eye, stepped in front of the boaster.

"What the devil difference does that make to you?" queried the newcomer in response, as he noted grins on the faces all around.

HE INSPIRED US

Hood River has never listened to a more touching eloquence than that of Irving E. Vining, here Monday night to address the Chamber of Commerce.

Some refer to Mr. Vining as an old fashioned orator. Let's have more old fashioned orators. He intersperses his practical advice to the state's businessmen with an eloquence.

THE EDDY EDUCATIONAL BILL

An analysis of the so-called Eddy bill, which proposes the compulsory teaching of arithmetic, spelling and writing, will, we believe, show it to be ill-advised.

Legislative tinkering with the department of education is dangerous. If the legislature every two years is going to upset the educational system, we may well expect a retarding of its progress.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

This is his birthday. He is a saint of secular history. His was a greatness like that of Christ. He was humbly born, with a nature characterized by gentleness and humility.

State Prohibition Director Cleaver may be possessed of all the honest attributes ascribed to him by Governor Pierce, and we'll admit the same of Dr. Herwig, adviser from the Anti-Saloon League, but they have certainly failed in the task of practical enforcement of the prohibition law.

Thomas W. Lawson died last week, and press reports of his passing were meagre. There was something pitiful in the decline of the once nationally known figure, who wrote "Frenzied Finance" and whose sensational articles when he heeded Wall street made great copy.

Col. Henry E. Dosch was known throughout Oregon for his patriotic participation in various activities. He was best known to early fruitgrowers, those who were the pioneers in the northwestern apple industry, for the interest he took in horticulture.

The Legion Drum and Bugle Corps is going to be one of Hood River's banner organizations. You are going to hear from them when they begin to make merry noises about over the state.

Hood River county and the Mosier precinct of Wasco county have secured much needed livestock control bills from the legislature.

Hood River's next organization, we predict, will be a band of merry mountaineers, wearing goggles and eating apples, their faces streaked with grease paint.

Have you been approached about investments of the money you have received from your apple crop? If not yet, you probably will. Do not take a chance on some alluring scheme.

Masonic Dances Planned

The dance committee of the Masonic lodge has arranged with Manager Tremblay, of the Columbia Gorge hotel for a series of parties at the popular hostelry, beginning as soon as it is open for the season about March 15.

Word of Appreciation

In announcing the sale of the Mt. Hood Meat Market to Beaudoin & Taylor, I wish to express to the people of Hood River my thanks for their patronage for the past year.

Stevenson Paper is Sold

The Skamania County Pioneer, official paper for Skamania county, published at Stevenson, Wash., has changed hands. W. W. Mokler, who has been the owner and editor since May, 1920, has sold the paper to E. F. Willoughby, who already has taken possession and published his first edition this week.

Mulkens-Pullen

The wedding of Lynn B. Mulkens, of The Dalles, where he is employed at the treating plant of the O.W. E. & N. Co., and Miss Beulah Leota Pullen occurred Monday at the home of Rev. H. C. Clark, who officiated.

HOOD DEBATERS VICTORS AND LOSERS

In a triangular debate with Bend and The Dalles schools Tuesday, the Hood River affirmative team, Clinton Emmel and Lois Jean Sinclair, defeated the Bend negative, Mary Bennett and Maurice Hoover, here by unanimous decision.

METHODIST ENDOWMENT FUND ASKED

The Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is now in a campaign to raise $250,000 endowment fund for the retired ministers. The canvass is now being carried on in Hood River.

Smith Sells Drug Store Interest Ernest J. Smith, who came here year before last from Medford, yesterday sold his interest in the Hood River Drug Co. to his associates in the business.

I wish to express sincere thanks to my neighbors and friends for their kind words of sympathy and aid during my bereavement attendant on the sickness and death of my beloved wife. Especially do I wish to thank those who presented floral tributes.

FINS, FURN AND FEATHERS

Mrs. M. B. Harvey, wife of the proprietor of a silver fox farm near Cascade Locks, has an alligator three years old, which has survived the cold winter of snow and ice at the very foot of the Cascade mountains.

Arthur Eade, superintendent of McGowan & Sons, who operate large fisheries in the vicinity of Cascade Locks, while here Monday said that the Columbia's winter freshet was an aid to the concern in improving the fishing grounds near Stevenson on the Washington side of the stream.

The bottom of the river at this point is naturally muddy and a gravel surface is being applied, in order to make the operation of the seines easier. Several thousand dollars is being spent in improving the fishing grounds.

President Fredrick and Secretary Day, of the Hood River Game Protective Association, Saturday distributed through the valley 45 Hungarian partridges, received from the Poudlette state game farm. They were the first birds ever received here from the eastern Oregon farm.

Rev. A. S. Hisey, of Gresham, superintendent of the M. E. church, was here Tuesday evening to confer with the pastors and representatives of the Hood River county Methodist churches.
