MASS MEETING NEXT TUESDAY

UNION SCHOOL WILL BE DISCUSSED

With Election on Proposed Union High School Near Center are Being Planned

A mass meeting of citizens will be held at the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening for discussing the proposed union high school, which will be voted on April 3. The proposed district, if accepted by electors, will include seven Lower Valley school districts: Odell, Parkdale and Cascade Locks will be included, as they already have high schools.

In order that the public may be properly informed the Glaciers publishes again some of the facts in connection with the proposed union high school district.

The proposition is this: Shall a union high school district be formed of the seven local school districts including Franklin, Barrett, Hood River, Pine Grove, Oak Grove, Yleno and Wyeth? The election will be held Friday, April 3, at the various school houses in the several districts from 1 until 7 o'clock.

Who may vote? All the residents of legal age who are entitled to vote for sheriff may vote in this election. No property qualifications are necessary. Simply a resident of the state for 30 days.

At the same election five members of a school board to control the affairs of the proposed union high school district will be elected from the entire district at large, providing however that no two directors may be elected from the same local district. Every voter, therefore, should go to the polls and vote for or against the union high school proposition. And he should be sure to vote also for five school directors, two from the same local district, regardless of whether he votes for or against the high school proposition. If the proposition carries then the voters will have selected the directors, if the proposition fails the directors will not function.

Why is a union high school district necessary? The chief reasons are that the districts which furnish high school pupils should furnish and maintain a high school for them. The present high school of School District No. 3 is inadequate in both room and equipment. It is already 25 per cent over-crowded. It is thought neither economical nor desirable to make further additions to the present high school building. School District No. 3 has been furnishing the capital investment for 150 high school pupils who do not belong to this district. It is time that the districts which furnish high school pupils should furnish and maintain a high school for them. Cascade Locks citizens. Interest will follow at schoolhouse assembly.

Frank Conrad Sherrieb was born in the kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany, July 14, 1864. His parents emigrated to America in 1884, settling first in Erie county, Pennsylvania, where they lived 13 years. Later they moved to Michigan. Mr. Sherrieb came west in 1900, working on the Union Pacific railroad in Wyoming and Utah.

In April, 1917, he came to Oregon, living in Portland three months before coming to Hood River, where he lived until his death. He joined the Methodist church in Michigan in 1908, helped organize the first church in Ogdon, Utah. He transferred his membership to Portland in 1917 and later to The Dalles charge, of which Hood River was then a part.

Mr. Sherrieb was married to Isabel Rohrbach May 1, 1887. To them seven children were born, five girls and two boys. Amy Ellen died in infancy. The widow and following children survive:

Mrs. Grace Moses and Mrs. Carol Potter, of Eugene; Leslie and Ralph B. and Mildred Sherrieb, of Hood River; and Mrs. Laura Olson, of Portland. Four grandchildren survive.

The second school district was organized at his home in 1878 by Supt. J. M. Garrison. There were 24 voters in the district which included the territory on the West Side of Hood River from township lines 2 and 3 south to Cloud Gap Inn and west to Green Point mountain. The school house was built on the site of the present Barrett school. Two other schools have since been built there. Mr. Sherrieb was school director for a number of years, helping to build the present building.

He was a member of the grange.

WOOLPERT FINDS CONDITIONS GOOD

A. E. Woolpert, northwest manager of Dan Wells & Co., who recently visited Idaho apple sections and those of southern Oregon, says prospects are bright for a good crop of apples. "The apple orchards of Idaho," said Mr. Woolpert, "are in fine condition. But peaches and pines have not fared so well. A freeze last fall killed most of the peach trees. The orange crop this season will be all, and in instances the trees are dead. In most cases, however, the prune trees will regenerate. What fruit was left following the disastrous frost of last spring failed to mature because of the severe drought. The Idaho growers this season, however, have the best prospects in years from the standpoint of water. Rain and snow have been abundant, and the mountains and foothills are covered with a deep snow blanket, insuring plenty of water.

"The fruit crop of all kinds in the Northwest and Michigan section will be good, leaving first grade apples," Mr. Woolpert says. "The frost has not done much to injure the crop and does not do justice to the quality of the pears as produced in this state. The old question of a two- or three-grade pack comes up for this product. The writer personally favors the establishment of a two-grade standard.

FINE SERVICE STATION TO BE BUILT

The homes of Charles Rathbun and A. K. Stranahan, two of the oldest frame residences of the city, at the corner of Oak and Front streets, have been razed to make way for a service station to be constructed by the Fashion Garage, the oldest business in the city engaged in operating a garage. The Fashion Garage was formerly a livery stable, having in earlier days kept 20 horses at its barn.

The new service station will occupy a plot 100x100 feet, and small, ornate buildings, of concrete construction, will face on both Front and Oak streets. The plans of the new station structure call for the most extensive station plant in Oregon outside of Portland, according to those who have studied them.

The corner, it is declared, will be beautified by ornamental shrubs and the driveways will be kept neat. It will be an attraction to the city. Work on the new structure was started Monday.

NEW TWO MOUNTAIN WRAPPERS SOON HERE

The Hood River Bakery announces that their new bread wrappers, bearing the "Two Mountain" brand and depicting the snow peaks of Mount Hood and Mount Adams, will arrive next week. The bakery concerns, the truck of which has attracted considerable attention here and in the valley, will celebrate the beginning of the spring season by starting to wrap its loaves in the new wrappers.

The Hood River Bakery is making steady progress with its output of bread, and an enviable business in pies and pastries is being built up. Housewives have come to the point of begging on rolls and buns made at the local plant, and social functions, where refreshments are served, are not complete without pastries or special bread orders from the Hood River Bakery.

FUNERAL FOR MR. SHERRIEB TODAY

Another of Hood River's pioneers, Frank O. Sherrieb, native of Germany, aged 60, died Tuesday night. Mr. Sherrieb came to Hood River in 1871 and for a number of years was associated with the Coe family in farming the original townsite of Hood River. He was one of the earliest planters of a West Side commercial orchard. He resided on his Barrett orchard place until a few years ago when he retired, building a comfortable home in the city.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Bartmess chapel, Rev. Frank S. Spaulding, the valley's first regularly appointed minister, now in charge of the Methodist church at

RED APPLES SELL HIGH IN ENGLAND

Upsetting the old notion that the English want nothing but a green or yellow apple, Dulbis & Co. last week received a cablegram from the White Co., apple importers, of Hull, Eng., announcing the sales of a cargo of Arkansas Blacks, the reddest apples shipped from the Northwest, at prices that will net growers $2.70 per box. The price was unprecedented for a red variety on the export market.

The same cable brought news of a sale of Ortleys that netted growers $2.60 per box. The company had just forwarded checks to local growers as a cargo of Ortleys that netted $2.44 per box, a record for that variety up to that time.

GRADE NEAR CALLEE'S

GROWERS AND SHIPPERS IN
State Board of Horticulture and Grange
For Discussing Standardization
Of Pear and Apple Pans

(By W. J. Koehn)

Word has just been received from the Oregon State Board of Horticulture that a committee will be appointed to hold a public hearing on establishing grades for fruits, vegetables and nuts. This is in connection with the annual meeting of the board to be held in Portland April 13. No place of meeting was given, but it will be announced in the court house. The office of the secretary is Room 150, Court House.

The establishment of grades is of considerable importance and all growers and shippers of Hood River valley should be represented at the meeting. Pear and apple grades are the request of both growers and shippers are to be modified. These two products are of particular importance to Hood River.

The present apple grading rules are not perfect, but care should be used in any great changes, as those grades are now fairly well known to the trade. Any modifications should be toward standardization. Apple grades of the Northwest have always been subject to change from year to year, but the present tendency is for the different districts to come closer together. This is to be encouraged so it leads to a more standardization.

The United States Department of Agriculture through their inspection service is working on the grading of fruits and vegetables. It is a matter of time until grades published through this department will be uniform as the standards in all interstate shipments. This is already true of potatoes, cauliflower and many other products. Thus it is very essential that the growers be in close touch with the establishing of grades. The standards adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture will be essential be those adopted at the meeting as that which is to be held in Portland in standardization.

Changes which might be made in the Oregon apple grades to advantage are: Allow the apples of yellow varieties to carry the name number of green stripes in the heavy grades of those of the green variety. Introduce a new quality in the heavy grades to dry rot or cork spot which is within the tissue of the apple. This is of importance and should be dealt with as a separate standard. The grades should be more clearly defined.

As the present time there are no standard Oregon pear grades. Four different grades of grading rules are used in Oregon for their products. These are: Standard, extra fancy, fancy and standard. The various districts should be represented at this state wide meeting and if possible adopt such a standard to avoid the use of more than one set of grading rules for the state.

HUCKABAY STARTS NEW SERVICE PLANT

W. L. Huckabay, who last year opened the city's handiwork filling station at the corner of State and Front streets, has just purchased an adjoining lot on Front street and one of the town's oldest frame dwellings is being demolished to make room for a new 35x65 garage and battery service station.

The new structure will conform to the style employed in building the filling station. The finish will be granite stucco. Workmen will start construction of the new building at once. Mr. Huckabay expects to have it in operation by May 15.

In addition to the front entrance the new garage and battery shop, which will be fully equipped, will have side doors, enabling one to drive from it direct to the filling station. Mr. Huckabay plans on continuing improvement of the corner, which he says he will turn into a place in which the city will take pride.

Clean Up Notice
Notice is given that the city council has ordered the citizens of Hood River to clean up their premises both in front and rear as speedily as possible. In order to expedite business, those who want their old cans and garbage removed at a minimum charge will do well to remember that the truck men who do this work will be engaged in other work soon and their services can only be secured with greater expense to those having this work to be done.

I also caution people, who would avoid a small fee for removing their stuff, not to dump or dispose of same on any other place or private property without permission.

Dr. Jesse Edgington,
City Health Officer.

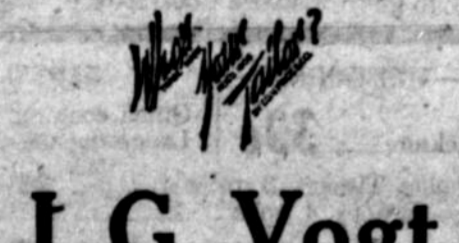

Boy Scout Dinner Held
At a Boy Scout dinner held at the Wankoma hotel Tuesday night, 250 Oberliners, regional director of the boys' organization, delivered an address, telling of Scout aims. The dinner was attended by officials and members of various other local boy organizations.
