WHITE SALMON

(By Will S. Bates)

Cooperative weather observer's report at 5 p. m., March 28: Maximum temperature, 46; minimum, 29. Trace of snow on Burgoin Heights. March 29, lowest temperature recorded, 24. No damage to fruit buds reported.

Prof. Cobb, dean of the department of fisheries of the University of Washington, was here last week supervising the work of erecting an elevator to lift steelheads now gathering in the White Salmon river, below the dam of the Northwestern Electric Co., to enable them to get upstream for spawning purposes. Six men are working out the scheme and it doubtless will prove successful. The elevator will drop its basket into the big hole where the fish congregate, lift them 75 feet, where they will be caught and carried up a similar height to the lake. The novel idea is but an experiment and will probably be put on a permanent basis later. It is unlawful to fish within 400 feet of the dam.

Mill creek and Buck creek are closed to fishing until 1930, as these streams are used for spawning. The season for trout fishing opens April 15. Bullheads are biting perniciously at Raven lake. The Buck creek bridge over the White Salmon river near the recreation park on Northwestern lake will probably be condemned as unsafe, although a committee of White Salmon business men and County Commissioner Harden visited the spot and pronounced it safe for 2½-ton loads, including car. This bridge serves many taxpayers in the district and they are complaining bitterly over the possibility of closing it to truck traffic.

White Salmon is to again have a brickyard. Hunsaker Bros. have contracted with W. F. Harden, of Goldendale, to manufacture a kiln of 200,000 bricks near the northern city limits. The plant will probably be ready for operation by the first of June.

White Salmon golf fans are greatly enjoying the privileges extended by the Hood River Country Club.

The next meeting of the White Salmon Woman's Club will be held at the high school auditorium at 2.30 p. m. today, Thursday. The program will be given entirely by the high school teachers and students. The last program given was unusually interesting.

Spraying in orchard districts here is about completed. Very few orchardists on this side have tried out the new dormant dust spray.

Miss Soper, popular teacher here, led a community sing at the Husum school house Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Thompson entertained the Interstate Bridge Club at their home recently.

Fifty guests were present at a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lyon at the Methodist church Tuesday evening of last week. The family moved to Eugene, Ore., Monday. They were presented with a beautiful auto robe as a remembrance from their numerous friends here.

E. A. Franz, of Hood River, was a visitor here early last week.

Road improvement work here is progressing as fast as possible, considering the limited funds available.

Ralph Woodruff, Trout Lake lumberman, reports his box factory running to full capacity. Timber lands in his district are changing hands. Trout Lake is progressing. Tourists from the Oregon side should visit this garden spot during the early spring when fishing is good.

R. A. Byrkett is erecting an automobile service station on his property in Bingen.

Excavation work for Bob Charters' concrete garage is well under way.

Richard Turk and Miss Phyllis Watson were united in marriage recently at St. Luke's Episcopal church at Vancouver, Wash. The newlyweds have established residence at Barberton.

Capt. Spencer, of Columbia river steamboat fame, together with Mrs. Spencer, has arrived from Portland to spend several months in their beautiful log bungalow near Husum.

The birdmen who flew up river to The Dalles Monday morning favored White Salmon with a non-stop visit. Wonder who they were?

STEVENSON

(From Skamania County Pioneer)

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson, of Hood River and Mrs. Soley, of Baker, Ore., were guests the first of the week of the J. E. Clucas and A. O. Lindis families.

Local fishermen have been quite successful this week in catching smelt just below the cascades in the Columbia. Although the run was not as large as usual those who were at the river when it was on have no complaint to make.

Condition of the North Bank highway west of Stevenson at Government slide is somewhat better, but it still is bumpy going. If dry weather continues for a week or ten days work will be permitted and the road put in shape for travel.

A. C. Sly, clerk of the Woodmen of the World, is in receipt of a check for $1333 for the orphan sons of Robert Butler, who live with their uncle, Wm. Butler, of Skamania. The parents of the boys died in the east and Mr. Butler gave the boys a home while his sister took their sister, who received a third of the $2,000 policy the prudent father held in the Woodmen.

Sheriff Gordon and Deputy Ernest Brockman arrested Ed and Lucian St. Martin for being intoxicated while upon the highway near Underwood last Friday. An additional charge of driving a car while intoxicated was filed against Ed St. Martin. They were taken before Justice of the Peace Neal, Tuesday and upon pleading guilty Ed St. Martin was fined $15 and cost, and his driver's license revoked for three months. After paying his fine and surrendering his license he was released. Lucian St. Martin asked for and was granted a change of venue and his case will be tried before Justice Gregorious at Carson.

VALLEY PIONEER PASSES IN SOUTH

A letter from Capt. Henry C. Coe, son of Nathaniel Coe, founder of Hood River, who now resides in Manhattan Beach, Calif., last week brought news of the death at Long Beach, Calif., of Mrs. Priscilla Watson, wife of the late W. P. Watson, a pioneer of Hood River. Mrs. Watson had reached the age of 93 years and six months.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson moved to Hood River in the early 70s, purchasing the Jenkins donation land claim from Dr. B. W. Mitchell. They later moved to Portland and thence to southern California, where Mr. Watson passed away several years ago.

Mr. Watson was one of the first to realize the possibilities of the Hood River valley as a fruit country. He did much to foster the pioneer industry. Mr. Watson was largely instrumental in locating in Hood River the Parkhurst colony, a party of Pennsylvanians, who arrived here in 1875. Capt Coe in his letter paid the following tribute to Mrs. Watson:

"Mrs. Watson was one of those beautiful characters often found among the early pioneers, she having crossed the plains in 1857, coming from Indiana, her native state. Notwithstanding her great age she was wonderfully well preserved, both mentally and physically, and a visit to her home, to talk over pioneer times in Hood River, was a treat of more than ordinary character. But the old arm chair is vacant now, and gloom has settled over her home."

Mrs. Watson is survived by the following five children: Matthew P. Watson and Mrs. Eunice Howe, of San Jose, Calif.; John W. Watson, of Portland; Mrs. Anna Erwin, of Long Beach, Calif., and Thomas J. Watson, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Thomson Has First Lilac

Mrs. Geo. W. Thomson Monday plucked the season's first full blown lilac. It was grown in a protected nook in her backyard. While Mrs. Thomson annally produces the mid-Columbia's first lilac bloom, this is the first she has ever cut in March. The flower was exhibited at the Glacier office.

Cherry trees of the lower level are in bloom and pears are beginning to burst. Trees of this species on the main valley floor, however, are a week or more later.
