STAGE AND SCREEN

The spirit of youth in 1924 is the keynote of the companion portrayals of Clara Bow and Robert Agnew in "Wine," the all star special production which the Universal Pictures Corporation filmed from William MacHarg's published story of the same title. "Wine" will be shown at the Rialto theatre Friday and Saturday. Miss Bow is the typical modern, jazz age flopper and Agnew is the masculine correspondent. Their advanced ideas concern everything which has an influence on the pursuit of pleasure. Myrtle Stedman, Huntly Gordon and Forrest Stanley also have important roles.

Aileen Pringle is to be seen in a new style wedding dress in the Metro-Goldwyn picture, "His Hour," by Elinor Glyn, which comes to the Rialto theatre Sunday. She wears a gorgeous creation as the bride of Prince Gritzko, played by John Gilbert.

Sophie Wachner, designer in charge of the wardrobe at the studio, created something uniquely different.

The dress is made with full court train, and instead of the customery dead white, is of a soft cloth of gold, short waisted and with a low square neck line. The gown is made very simply, but the richness of the material and the elaborateness of the jeweled head gear, make up for the usual ornamentation on a bridal gown.

Her bouquet is of orchids. In that, too, she differs from the conventional bride, for the flowers are of lavender hue.

So effective, so becoming and so different is this wedding gown of Tamara Loraine, the character Miss Pringle is playing, that undoubtedly quite a furore will be started among brides to be and it will not be surprising to see a vogue in cloth of gold wedding gowns.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the Rialto theatre will present Mrs. Wallace Reid in "Broken Laws."

Mother eyes wet with tears, voice choked with sobbing, bosom athrob with the crashing emotions of the moment, a pitiful little mother pleads with a judge to allow her to pay the price to save the life of her profligate son.

There have been dramatic scenes thrown upon the screen before, but never in all the glorious annals of picturedom such a scene as this! The evils, the tragic consequences of the jazz age exposed as they have never before been revealed on the stage or screen.

You will say it is the greatest evening's entertainment you have ever had.

What are claimed to be the most realistic and thrilling auto-race scenes ever filmed for motion pictures will be a feature of the Larry Semon special comedy, "Kid Speed," which will be at the Rialto theatre next Thursday.

Larry Semon, the popular comedian, is starring in this comedy which revolves around an exciting road race. [illegible] racing drivers [illegible] speed cars [illegible] on the [illegible] for some of the biggest auto events of the world. The same breath taking speed and the dangerous skids around the curves were encountered in making this picture and the spectator is promised the thrills of an observer of an actual race.

Flappers will have their parties! And when a motion picture story deals with flappers it is necessary to film one of these colorful affairs.

When King Vidor, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, began making "Wine of Youth," which is coming to the Rialto theatre next Thursday, he decided to get his information about such things at first hand. Accordingly he attended a party of this nature in New York's smart set, and reproduced most of the incidents in the picture. It must have been "some" party!

MR. BOOTH ACCEPTS LEGION DRIVE PLACE

Tribute is paid to the generosity of the people of Oregon and their prompt response to the country's demands and needs during the world war by R. A. Booth, of Eugene, in a letter to the American Legion officials of Oregon, accepting the chairmanship of the committee which will administer the work of raising $50,000 as Oregon's quota of an endowment fund of $5,000,000 to be solicited throughout the nation for the rehabilitation of disabled veterans and for the homeless orphans of veterans.

The state chairman also commends the decision of the Legion to consolidate in this campaign the movement for obtaining $60,000 as a maintenance fund for the Doernbecher hospital to be erected in Portland for the care and treatment of crippled children of Oregon and expresses confidence that the people of the state will gladly contribute to this joint appeal for $110,000 for such a meritorious cause.

The letter of the chairman follows:

"To be associated in the capacity that you have asked me to serve with you and others of the Legion, and with many friends, in a further effort to care for our citizen soldiers and their orphans, brings at once an honor and an opportunity that I highly regard. My efforts shall be exerted in fulfilling the obligation that I gladly assume. While it is true that our country has suffered much less from the horrors of war than have other lands, yet there are but few years, if any, of our country that have not been shadowed with its horrors or burdened with its debts. During the world war the people of Oregon were quick to respond to its demands and needs and nowhere was there manifested greater devotion to lofty governmental ideals or more hearty response given with men and means to their support. The war is over but its problems are unsettled and its debts unpaid. The patriotic people of our state are not only quick to recognize this, but will be prompt with their generous donations to aid 'Those who gave the most.' While the need is urgent I am sure it will be promptly met when the opportunity is given. The proposal of the Legion to provide an expense fund for the operation of the Doernbecher hospital during the early period of its great need is everywhere commended and to it hearty response should be made."

ERROR IN RESOLUTION OF GRANGE

When M. D. Odell, master of the Hood River County Pomona grange, visited the city Monday and explained that the Glacier had been furnished an advance copy of a resolution, which on adoption had been considerably modified, an estrangement between the ranchers and District Attorney Baker was healed. In the copy published by the newspaper a paragraph of the resolution had taken a rap at the district attorney for alleged complicity in whitewashing the county court, charged last year by the grange with illegal expenditure of funds in making a survey for a road to the new interstate bridge across the Columbia river. Mr. Baker declared the charge as slanderous and threatened prosecution.

The paragraph referring to Mr. Baker was deleted in the resolution adopted by the grange.

Mr. Odell also cited that the resolution, which was published preceding a report of the legislative committee of the grange, made it appear that this committee was responsible for the document. Such, he declared, was not the case, the legislative committee's report being entirely separate from the resolution.

SEASON'S BERRY WAGE SCALE SET

The Apple Growers Association has announced the following strawberry wage scale for the season: Pickers will receive 10 cents per carrier of six pint hallocks, all pickers who remain throughout the season with a grower receiving a bonus of two cents per carrier; packers, 18 cents per crate, and all who remain through the season with a grower will receive a bonus of four cents.

The sales organization announced that packed berry growers will be required to pick a certain percentage of their crops for canneries whenever the sales department deems such action advisable to prevent a glut of the market.

An employment bureau, with Mrs. J. W. Ingalls in charge, has been opened here to register help for berry growers. The season's tonnage of packed berries is not expected to exceed 30 cars.

Col. Williams Given Leave

Regrets were heard among local Grnad Army men over the retirement of Col. C. A. Williams, for many years adjutant general of the Department of Oregon, G. A. R. Col. Williams, whose request for a leave of absence was granted, but who was asked to retain the title until a successor could be elected at the next state encampment, is 81 years old. He has served the state G. A. R. body efficiently for many years.

J. G. Chambers, Portland Grand Army man, was appointed to serve as acting adjutant.
