BOOZE LADEN CAR TAKEN LAST SUNDAY

Authorities are holding a touring car, bearing Washington license No. 19287, found on a main street Sunday morning with a supply of uncut liquor and a driver's license.

Just after 11 a. m. officers were summoned to the corner of Cascade avenue and Third street by Mrs. E. M. Ross, who gave Portland as her home and who stated that she was mobbing the car. Found a driver's license issued to John Cook, of Yakima.

With this single clue, officers have telephoned to the sheriff of Yakima county, who began an investigation that might lead to the identity of the occupants of the car.

The southeast O. W. B. & N. Portland limited passed through soon after the car was discovered. It is thought the man, who so mysteriously disappeared, may have boarded the train without purchasing tickets.

At 3 p. m. Sunday a man who stated that he was John Cook called Sheriff Edick from Portland. He reported that his automobile, corresponding to the car found here, had been stolen from Portland.

In a recent telephone conversation with Mrs. Alloway, G. A. Weber learned the following facts regarding the accident which cost the life of Wesley Allington, well known as a former Odell boy. Wesley and a boy friend had been employed on the S. P. railroad in southern Oregon and upon being laid off they decided to return home, making their expenses on the return trip by working for the cooking department of a circus train. At Cottage Grove a sudden bump of the car of which Wesley was on top, threw him to the track, killing him instantly. Words fell when we would express sympathy for his parents and sister who mourn because of the young life so tragically ended.
