

TENNIS GAMES OF JUNIORS UNDER WAY

Interest of local boys and girls has been centered this week in the fourth annual Hood River county junior tennis championship tournament which started Monday on the Benedict club courts, in which play will continue throughout this week and next.

To date there have been no upsets in the play, the favorites winning their matches without much trouble. In the boys' singles Wright, Samuelson, Sandys, Acheson, Butler, Keir and Manser, all seeded players, have come through handily, while Virginia Vaughan, Verdina Isabel, Lorena West, Carol Gregory, Evelyn Brunne, Mamie Samuelson and Elizabeth Derby, girls favorites, have won easily so far.

One of the most interesting matches Monday was that of Evelyn Sandys and Frank Parker. In the second set Parker, who is a young player entered from junior high, managed to take four games from Sandys, who won the high school championship last year. Sandys is considered one of the strongest contenders for the Kelly cup and singles championship. Eleanor Derby played one of the prettiest games to watch when she defeated Myrna Cobb 6-1, 6-2 early in the play.

Nearly all play will be held on the Benedict courts except the final, which will be played on the Country club courts. There are today facilities to accommodate a large gallery.

Suitable trophies are up for all events. Cups will be awarded as follows: Boys' doubles, Hamilton cup; girls' doubles, Keir cup; boys' singles, Kelly cup; girls' singles, Kresse cup; mixed doubles, two Frans cups; boys' consolation, Beverly racket; and girls' consolation, Beverly racket.

All first round play in the singles has been concluded and drawings will be made for the consolation today and play will begin in them tomorrow. Results of matches to date are: Virginia Vaughan defeated Joyce Nye 6-1, 6-2; Lorena West defeated Olive Shoglar 6-2, 6-4; Carol Gregory defeated Julianne Benton 6-0, 6-1; Elizabeth Derby defeated Ines Young 6-0, 6-1; Eleanor Derby defeated Myrna Cobb 6-1, 6-2; Marian Knoblock defeated Florence Chapman 7-5, 6-0; Beatrice McDonald defeated Dorothy Hackett 6-0, 6-0; Oliver Samuelson defeated Louis Jones 6-2, 6-2; Gordon Manser defeated Lester Young 6-0, 6-3; Frank Parker lost to Erskine Sandys 6-1, 6-4; Harold Patton lost to Sidney Whorlow 6-2, 6-3; Dick Sincclair defeated John Boyd 6-4, 6-6; Robert Butler defeated Ronald Ingalls 6-3, 6-2.

OFFICERS WORK ON MYSTERY MESSAGE

In response to a mysterious, unsigned telegram, Sheriff Read, Deane lumber mill worker, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Sloan, left Saturday night for Elgin. The message from that place to Mr. Read was: "For God's sake help me or I'll kill myself. They are taking me away."

Mr. Read thought the message from his wife. Officers vainly endeavored to get in touch with the Elgin telephone exchange in order to secure information as to who filed the telegram. The office apparently had been closed. Sheriff Edick telephoned Arlington authorities to proceed at once to Elgin.

May 20 Mrs. Read's automobile was run into by a car being driven by J. H. Cook and Chris Ball, Yakima youths. Following report of the accident by Mrs. Read in the two automobiles the car, which was found by local officers to contain a quantity of liquor. The youths later on coming here to claim the car were held by local officers and turned over to federal authorities. They were fined $100 each by Federal Judge Bean Thursday.

Sunday morning the woman telephoned from Washington, Wash., giving about the same information contained in the telegram of Saturday. Her husband had already gone to eastern Oregon points, after he had learned that the note left with a woman in charge of an oil station at Elgin was in his wife's handwriting. The local officers responded to the telegram call Sunday.

Monday morning they received another message by telephone. This time from Olympia, Wash. Officers wondered how she was able to travel from one side of the state of Washington to the other in so short a time.

"Somebody's crazy," was the pertinent and only comment made on the case Monday afternoon by City Marshall Hart.

News of the Golfers

Frank Dolp, of Portland, Sunday set a new record for the Oak Grove links of the Hood River Country club. Sunday morning he shot 18 holes in 89 and in the afternoon lowered the record to 87. He shot two 88s in the course of the 36 holes. Thirty-four was the former course record and par is 94. Mr. Dolp was accompanied by Boyd Busted, professional of the Multnomah club, Arlo and Harry Kyle. Mr. Busted made the course in 71.

S. Benson, whose financial interest made possible the Oak Grove golf links, and Mrs. Benson motored up from Portland last Thursday. Friday afternoon Mr. Benson and Truman Butler played 18 holes. Mr. Benson expressed himself as delighted with the course. The setting, the Hood River atmosphere and the green of fairways, he declared, makes the Hood River course one of the most alluring on the coast.

Girls' Homes Need Canned Fruit. The Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective society requests its friends to remember the girls of the Louise Kerr nursery home when canning fruit and vegetables this year. The Louise home and Albertina Kerr nursery cared for last year respectively 204 unfortunate girls and 213 homeless babies and youngsters. The babies and girls were committed from 28 counties of the state.

VETERAN DEAN IS HONORED AT O. A. C.

In recognition of 30 years of service to Oregon agriculture on the staff of the state college, Dean A. B. Cordley, of the school of agriculture, was deluged with words of praise and affectionate appreciation by more than 100 of his staff, associates and friends at a banquet in the new Benton hotel Thursday night in celebration of his initiation into Alpha Zeta, national agriculture fraternity. Dean Cordley is the first man to be elected to Alpha Zeta as an honorary member from Oregon and one of the few ever elected in the United States.

"The work that Dean Cordley has done alone for the agricultural interests of Oregon is worth more than the entire cost of Oregon Agricultural College since its inception," declared W. K. Newell, of Eugene, former state food and dairy commissioner. He cited the work of Dean Cordley in discovering lime sulfur spray, said to have saved millions of dollars in Oregon alone.

A beautiful silver service was presented to the dean by his staff in agriculture at the close of the banquet. Telegrams from former students and associates from all over the country were read, expressing the widespread appreciation of the lasting results of his long service as teacher, scientist and leader in scientific and practical agriculture. Ten years after entering the course in agriculture at Michigan Agricultural College in 1885, Dean Cordley came to O. A. C., where for 30 years he has been a leader in scientific work and the development of the strong school of agriculture at the college, now recognized throughout the country for the high quality of its courses and of its graduates. He holds the degree doctor of science from his alma mater in recognition of his services to agriculture and the nationally known value of his scientific contributions, particularly the development of lime-sulfur sprays, and control of anthracnose and codling moth in the northwest.

ELKS WILL GIVE DANCE NEXT TUESDAY

The entertainment committee of the new Elks lodge has begun to function. The committee stated Tuesday that it behooves all members of the lodge to be at the meeting to be held at the Elks hall, over the First National Bank, tonight. A feed will be served. The committee has arranged for the first "get together" dance to be held at the Columbia Gorge hotel next Tuesday night. Music for the dance will be furnished by Kenneth L. Hick's Syncopators, of The Dalles. The orchestra recently made a hit when it played for the Country club dance at the Gorge hotel.

The entertainment committee is composed of the following members: A. B. Kolstad, J. H. Cederwall, J. H. Wilson, F. J. Band, Walter Ford, Paul McFarther and C. T. Baker.

Lon Hibner in One of His Equilibratic Stunts

In looking Prof. Lon Hibner for our Hood River patrons we are bringing to you one of the most versatile and charming performers on the American stage. Mr. Hibner's work is real art, and while his illusion is baffling it brings great delight in the quaint and humorous manner of this grand old man. There is nothing cheap about this vaudeville act, nothing common for comparison. In fact it is one of thrill and surprise from beginning to end, a real treat for show lovers that they'll not forget. Come Friday night and then come Saturday for one never knows what he may introduce the next night.

GUIDE INSTITUTION HELD

(Continued from first page) rated with drawings had been executed by Lookout Baker. A feature of the evening was the presentation by Mr. Hannum to Peak Sylvester of a dainty gavel, made from the section of a Manzanita tree's trunk. It will be kept as a memento of the occasion in the archives of the Guides.

Other Ascents will be made up to the hoary sides of Mount Hood, but it is certain that the initial ascent will be at the meeting to be held at the Elks hall, over the First National Bank, tonight. A feed will be served.

The guides received their costumes Monday evening. Many of them appeared at their regular tasks about town in the unique clothes Tuesday morning. Many were the compliments paid them. "Spiffy" was the word Mrs. Geo. H. McMullen, in charge of the Columbia Gorge hotel dining room, applied to them.

The guides assembled promptly at 11:30 Tuesday and lined up for march in front of the city hall. The drum and bugle corps of the Legion, its members having adopted the guide costume, led the march, which proceeded up Oak street to Fifth street, where the squads engaged in a counter-march back to First street.

Spectators lined the streets and rounds of applause greeted the new organization, as it made its bow to the public. Automobiles picked up the guides on Cascade avenue and carried them to the Columbia Gorge hotel, where Guide day was observed by the Tuesday Lunch club. President Baker, of the club, introduced Peak Sylvester, who took charge of the meeting. A. F. Steele, president of the Chamber of Commerce, told of how the organization originated the first of the year. He declared that the chamber was behind the body to a man.

After the luncheon was over the guides posed in front of the hostelry while C. S. Reeves took their pictures.
