Lemmon has left for Burlington, Ia., for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Maria Crawford, aged 92, and other relatives. She will spend two months in the east, visiting friends and relatives in Chicago before returning. Mr. Lemmon will leave next week for Medford for a visit with his son, C. C. Lemmon, and family. Last Friday Mrs. A. J. Vogler served a sumptuous dinner in celebration of the birthday anniversary of a member of the staff of the Emory Lumber & Fuel Co. Guests present from the city were: R. B. Perigo, E. A. Franz, R. W. Kelly, J. C. Meyer and E. A. Kincaid. Several of the men carried their musical instruments and the evening was pleasantly spent listening to old-time selections. Miss Barbara Blythe, a freshman in the school of journalism at the University of Oregon, will spend her vacation doing society for the Vancouver Columbian. Miss Blythe will take the place of Miss Frances Blarrock, who is taking a three month vacation at Seaside. Miss Blythe is the older daughter of E. N. Blythe, one of the owners of the Vancouver paper—Oregon Exchange. I. M. Higley, owner of the Byde-A-Wyle Fruit & Trout Farm near Seaside, Ore., accompanied by Marcet W. Holling in charge of Inaropus of the Oregonians, motored up from Portland yesterday en route to Wasco to attend the wedding of the latter's son, Claudius Higley. Mr. Higley's trout propagation yards is the largest in the state. On the way here the two men visited the Dunneville fish hatchery. Roberto Lane, of Cascade Locks, won the Joseph H. Albert prize of $25 given annually to the senior student of O. A. C. adjudged to have made the greatest progress toward the ideal of character, service and wholesome influence. Lane, senior in commerce, is a member of Phi Chi Theta, national commerce fraternity for women, and Kappa Alpha Theta, national social sorority. Cooperatives Growing Thirty-seven states now have standard cooperative marketing laws on their state books authorizing farmers to form commodity wide cooperative marketing organizations. The last three states to add such laws were New Mexico, Nebraska and Indiana. The latest report, January 1, 1925, shows 10,836 cooperative marketing associations listed with a membership of something over 2,000,000 in the United States.

SCOTCHMAN LIKES HOOD RIVER APPLES J. T. Woody, who has the Alameda head lease, has just received the following complimentary letter from John G. Miles, of Ettrick, Scotland, in praise of his apples: "I have no doubt you will be wondering who the writer is and how he came to have your name, and so I will tell you. I know the names as we have just finished the third case of Newtown apples grown by you. We have to compliment you on the quality of the fruit. Out of the three cases there were only two apples which were in any way defective. The rest were splendid and some of the yellow and sun-kissed ones were excellent. We will certainly keep an eye on the grower's name in further purchases. "You may be interested in the price of these apples sold retail on this side. The cases were 20/6, 20/6 and 23/6 respectively. This would be at current rate of exchange $4.85, $4.97 and $5.70 per case of 150. It would be interesting to learn what would have been the price you sold them at. "I have never yet had the pleasure of visiting the U. S. A., but I am looking forward to gratifying my desire to do so in the future. "I am particularly interested in fruit culture generally and am always glad to read of other methods and systems employed in other parts. I was wondering whether, in this respect, you had any from culture periodical or magazine, which you no longer required and if so whether you would be good enough to mail it to the above address for my perusal. "What I would especially like would be articles dealing with the life, employment, wages and so forth of the fruit growing community in Oregon. If you could let me have this I would be most grateful to you. "I trust you will be looking forward to this year's harvest and I hope that you will have a bumper crop of fruit similar to the three cases we had this winter."

WOMEN'S CLUB NEWS The delegates from the Hood River Woman's club, who have returned from the Marshfield convention, made their report to the club yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the first of the local club until after the vacation season is over. The following women attended the Marshfield convention: Mrs. E. O. Blanchard, Mrs. J. E. Ferguson, Mrs. C. H. Coste, Mrs. P. L. Manser and Mrs. O. W. West. The following list of delegates will leave this week for Salem to attend the annual convention of the state federation of Business Women's clubs: Miss May Davidson, president of the local club; Mrs. C. A. Richards, Mrs. Ruth Root. Alternates are: Mrs. Ola Calandra and Mrs. B. E. Johnson. Mrs. Susie I. Lynn, vice president of the state federation, will attend from here. Mrs. Richards will be accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen. The Hood River Woman's club has already started plans for one of the largest mid-Columbia meetings of club women held here in recent years, when they will greet Miss Alice Bradley, nationally known authority on cooking, July 25. Miss Bradley, who is making a tour of the Pacific coast, is editor of the cookery department of the Woman's Home Companion. She conducts the famed Boston Cooking school. The Dalles and Wasco Woman's club will come here en masse for the meeting held to honor the visitor. The Business Women's club members participated in a pleasant meeting at the Columbia Gorge hotel last night, when Mrs. Susie I. Lynn, assisted by Mrs. Orva Wiley, Miss May Davidson and Miss Mattie Gerdes, was hostess. About 50 were present. The first speaker of the evening was H. C. Culbertson, publicity manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Songs were rendered by Mrs. Floyd L. French and a piano and violin duet was played by Misses Geraldine Soney and Miss Chipping. Mrs. William A. "Ma" Sunday was a guest of the club and delighted her hostesses with a short, witty speech.

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS Mrs. Allen Macrum, of the Dee district, last week reported the death of a broiler sized chicken from eating star shaped tags off plugs of chewing tobacco. She found the chick in a spasm. Killing it she made a post-mortem examination, finding a star stuck in its throat. Two other chickens found with a pant's button in the chickens' crops. Excitement prevailed in the neighborhood of the home of Leroy Childs Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Childs telephoned this message to the office: "Hurry home, the bees are swarming!" Mr. Childs left his work of outlining plans of attack on coding moth and crushed the four blocks to his residence. There he found Mrs. Childs' nest, a cherry tree diligently ringing an enthusiastic dinner bell. The noise had attracted scores of children, and many all the little boys and girls of the neighborhood watched at a safe distance, as Mr. Childs reared a ladder and proceeded to entice the bees to a new hive. The experiment station man, after an hour and a half, succeeded in saving his bees. He was not stung once, and no casualties were reported among the children, who at times came dangerously close to the scene of hostilities. Mr. Childs keeps a few bees at his city home to aid in pollinating backyard cherry trees. O. C. Dean has offered a remedy for strawberry root weevil. He says he has a friend who has discovered the weevil eggs that are obliterating Clark seedling acreage. The comanode has suggested that a mongoose might be imported from the orient to clean up the roppers after they finished up the weevil. Some last Thursday morning when Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Moe, en route by automobile to Portland, passed Wasco, a small dog was noticed in the neighborhood. The car to which the dog belonged started before the automobile returned from its chase. When the little dog did get back to the highway, however, he ran as fast as he could to catch up with his own master. The driver of the car which the dog was called to the dog, but he did not stop long enough to allow the animal to catch up. The greater portion of Nov. Scotia's shipments has been going to London, with Liverpool second, and Manchester third, says Consul Bernard Gottlieb, Halifax, Nova Scotia. The Canadian exhibit of apples at the Wenatchee exhibition revolutionized the British-Canadian apple trade according to the commissioner general of the Canadian pavilion, who states that thousands of pounds' worth of apple orders have been booked by British and German firms. The exhibit has proved finally the necessity for the adoption of a new packing system by Canadian growers. In the past Canadian fruit has frequently been sold at a heavy loss because of bruising while in transit. A new system of packing known as the crown pack was tried with the exhibits for Wenatchee with the result that these apples are as fresh and sound as when they left the trees over a year ago. Canadian dealers and growers are confident that Wenatchee will result in almost doubling the apple business between Canada and the United Kingdom. Considerable quantities of Canadian fruit have begun to arrive at Copenhagen and Hamburg where they bring very good prices. At the Imperial fruit show held in Birmingham, England, October 24 to November 1, last, the Canadians competed in three sections: first, the British Empire section open to entries from any part of the British Empire, the prizes in this class being won by British Columbia; the Overseas section, in which Nova Scotia won three firsts, five seconds and three thirds, and the Nova Scotia section in which Nova Scotia competitors competed with each other, for which the awards have not yet been reported. The winning exhibition, British Columbia easily won first place with Nova Scotia an easy second in spite of the fact that both Canadian provinces were handicapped by a lack of sufficient color to make other exhibitors glow showing fruit up to its full standard.

HECK UNGER HAS MOVED HIS PLANT Heck Unger, who formerly operated a garage on the Heights, has moved to his new location, the new concrete building just completed by the Fashion service station at the corner of Oak and First streets. The new place will be known as Unger's service station. He will take care of electrical equipment of automobiles. Mr. Unger has equipped his place with a Weidenoff test bench, one of the best in the city. Steam heating station equipment available. The new structure is declared one of the most modern plants of its kind in the mid-Columbia. CALIFORNIA PEAR MAN VISITS HERE Frank C. Sweet, manager of the California Pear Growers' association, spent Tuesday here conferring with market men and studying methods of pear culture. Mr. Sweet was taken through the main pear orchards of the valley by Leroy Childs and Gordon G. Brown. He complimented the local growers on the good looks of their orchards and on the quality of their product. While Mr. Sweet would give no intimation as to what the price will be this season, he stated that his organization within the next few weeks will set the price on pears to be delivered to canners. ROGERS SEEKS TO HAVE ROAD OPENED Homer A. Rogers, who operates Mount Hood Lodge and Cloud Cap Inn, Tuesday appealed to the Chamber of Commerce and Tuesday Lunch club to urge federal and state road authorities to clear the remaining three miles of snow at Bennett Pass on the Mount Hood Loop highway. Mr. Rogers declared that the judicious expenditure of $200 in keeping the surface of the snow agitated would have resulted in the highway being open by Memorial day. "If we cannot secure aid from the highway authorities," said Mr. Rogers, "it behooves us to get busy and subscribe sufficient funds to have the snow blocked portions of the road opened as soon as possible."

Weather Fine for Apples The weather conditions this spring have been ideal for the growth of apples. Dick Mercer, Oak Grove orchardist, Tuesday exhibited at the First National Bank clusters of Gravenstein that measured more than an inch in diameter. The apples average six to eight inches, he said, and he will have to thin them to one or two to the cluster. "I have 100 trees of 10-year-old Gravenstein," said Mr. Mercer, "that will have to be thinned at this rate. I will take off at least 2,000 boxes of apples. My Delicious and other varieties are sitting up just as rapidly." The fruit has a good color and shows a healthy appearance.

THE GOOSE THAT Laid the golden egg is dead. She died of pneumonia aboard the Canadian freighter Stockwell while en route to this country, along with several other and wilder animals consigned to E. S. Joseph, wild animal dealer. The goose was of African descent and laid bright yellow eggs, which showed like gold. Her death was announced recently by Mr. Joseph, of New York. The apple crop of Canada for 1925 has been estimated at 3,225,713 barrels, against 4,493,800 barrels in 1924. The yield in Nova Scotia is placed at 1,274,742 barrels; in Ontario at 933,080 barrels; in British Columbia, 803,400 barrels; in Quebec, at 87,876 barrels, and in New Brunswick at 86,615 barrels, reports Vice Consul Samuel E. Green at Prescott, Ontario. The Canadian exhibitors of Nova Scotia's shipments has been going to London, with Liverpool second, and Manchester third, says Consul Bernard Gottlieb, Halifax, Nova Scotia. The Canadian exhibit of apples at the Wenatchee exhibition revolutionized the British-Canadian apple trade according to the commissioner general of the Canadian pavilion, who states that thousands of pounds' worth of apple orders have been booked by British and German firms. The exhibit has proved finally the necessity for the adoption of a new packing system by Canadian growers. MARVEL SINGER AND OLDEN TURTLE HERE Leland Stanford Jerome, who says he was named for the founder of one of the Pacific coast's greatest schools because his father attended school when a boy with Senator Stanford, and his 600-year-old turtle, will appear Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Rialto theatre. The turtle, which has been studied by many scientists, was a sizeable amphibian when Columbus discovered America. Mr. Jerome, who has been making a hit at California metropolitan theatres, is a wizard with his voice. He will sing in two different voices. At times he will use both at the same time. He will imitate Caruso and other internationally known singers. Young Jerome's voice is thought to have come from gasping during the great war. He has been a student at the University of California.

MR. CULBERTSON DIES ON BIRTHDAY Funeral services for Edward Culbertson, who died Monday on his 69th birthday, were held yesterday at the Upper Valley Community church, the pastor, Rev. B. A. Hutchinson, officiating. Interment followed at the Parkside cemetery. Mr. Culbertson, a native of Pennsylvania, who had lived here for 13 years, died at the home of his son, T. B. Culbertson, Upper Valley orchardist. His wife passed away April 18. Other children who survive Mr. Culbertson are: E. A. Culbertson, of Medford; Mrs. E. H. Hay, of Rockwood, Pa., and Mrs. H. K. Gerow and Miss E. J. Culbertson, of Arlington, N. J.

SMALL BOAT USED TO SHOOT RAPIDS An extraordinary feat was performed Monday by Charles Smith, of Stevenson, when he shot the rapids in the Columbia river at Cascade Locks in a small motorboat. The reason was that a carpenter at the fish wheel a mile west of Cascade Locks had drowned and the body could not be recovered. Mr. Smith volunteered his services and towed a sealing skiff over the rapids to help rescue the body. The trip was witnessed by V. W. Tomkins, engineer in charge of the locks, and by the great of 25 feet above low water, registered 10 days ago. Gardeners farming lowland tracts expressed the belief that the spring freshet has reached its height, and planting of potato fields and other late crops is under way in this vicinity and in the region of Blingen, Wash.

Notice to Next of Kin In the County Court of the State of Oregon for Hood River County. In the Matter of the Estate and Guardianship of Ambrose Ostrander, Incompetent. Notice is hereby given that F. G. Church, the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of Ambrose Ostrander, incompetent, has applied to the above named court for an order of sale of all the property belonging to said ward, and that Saturday, the 11th day of July, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, of said day in the court room in the court house in the City of Hood River, Oregon, has been fixed and designated by the court as the time and place for the hearing on said petition and application. The next of kin and all persons having any interest in the property of said ward are hereby required to appear and make and file their objections thereto, if any they have, on or before the time fixed for said hearing. Dated this 9th day of June, 1925. F. G. Church, Guardian.
