WEDDINGS
Mills-Dower
The wedding of Edward Harold Mills, son of Mrs. T. J. Mills, and Miss Irene Agnes Dower, daughter of A. J. Dower, occurred Sunday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. W. O. Livingstone officiating. Only members of the two families and close friends were present.

The newlyweds played a clever trick on admiring friends, bent on giving them a jolly and noisy send-off. A brother of the bridegroom was instructed to be ready at the door of the Bower home with a car. He went forth and started the machine. The friends crowded around the car with old shoes, bags of rice and other articles of faraway. But Mr. and Mrs. Mills proceeded from the house by a rear door, raced across lawn and picked up another machine that was awaiting them. They were driven to a garage, where Mr. and Mrs. Mills were waiting with camping equipment. They were off to the woods before the admiring friends knew they had been deceived.

HIGHWAY PAVING CREW COMING SOON

J. E. Nickelson stated Tuesday that a portable paving plant will be put into commission July 1 for repairs on the highway between the Multnomah county line and The Dalles. Estimates of engineers place the aggregate of patches that need repairing at 2,460 square yards.
Supervisor Nickelson and a crew were called to a point near West Monday to repair a small spot in the highway which had fallen in, making a treacherous hole. It was presumed that the road had been built over a large log, which had rotted, leaving the roadbed sink.
A crew of men is engaged past east of Mosier, building a turn-around at the parksite recently donated to the state by E. D. Chatfield, Mosier orchardist. The turn-out road will enable motorists to leave the highway and get a view of Menalooze Island, where Victor Treavitt is buried.
