ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL

The differences recently stirred up between Hood River county officials and the Oregon State Motor association were adjusted in about 15 minutes Tuesday, when Joseph E. Dunne, president of the organization, came here and met with county officials at the courthouse. It was evidenced in less time than it takes in the telling that the motor body officials had jumped to wrong conclusions in regard to the way traffic officers of this county treat visiting motorists. Indeed, the ideal traffic official, fully sanctioned by the motor association, would probably have handled traffic problems of this county not one whit different from the local officials.

Mr. Dunne was very gracious when he comprehended that a mistake had been made. He and fellow officials of his motor association admitted that a mountain had been made out of a mole hill. The meeting ended amicably. Hood River officials and the Oregon State Motor association understand each other and will cooperate in the enforcement of traffic regulations with due regard to motor tourists from outside states. An educational campaign will be advanced.

Everyone was glad of the happy ending of the uncalled for estrangement. It might have resulted differently. As we said last week, the purposes of the Oregon Motor association are worthy, but they might be easily vitiated if Mr. Dunne were to persist in the course evidenced in a recent issue of the Oregon Motorist, when he "wrote up" Hood River county on hearsay complaints of a few disgruntled motorists. If Mr. Dunne had made sure of his facts, and the burden of proof rested on him, the estrangement would never have occurred.

But again we say, "All's well that ends well."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

The world loves honesty and admires a man who has the courage to fight against odds when his conscience dictates a course of action. And today a nation bows before the lifeless clay of a great son, a man who lived and died fighting for what he considered right. And what a power is the little voice of conscience, when we heed it! That wee small voice in the heart of Bryan was able to upset the plans of entrenched political might. He never for a moment permitted himself to compromise with his conscience.

Mr. Bryan was the idealist of his age. His was a gift of eloquence which, perhaps, took him away from a course that might have led to greater investigative study. Mr. Bryan was ruled by his conscience and he ruled men by his oratory. He appealed to passions of men and women, but always in some great moral battle. Given his ability of eloquence, a man without conventional scruples becomes a menace. But William Jennings Bryan was an apostle of righteousness cause. And above all he had pity in his soul for the hypocrite. William Jennings Bryan was honest. He not only preached clean living but practiced it.

HOME INDUSTRIES

We wonder if the average citizen of us ever gives pause and considers the value of home industries. Numerous small payrolls in the aggregate mean much for the general business of the town. Month in and month out they add their quota to the prosperity of the community.

Home patronage during the few years has resulted in the upbuilding of a bakery in which we can take pride. James Brophy and his wife are working hard and forging ahead with a business institution in which the town can and should take pride. They are soon going into a modern, new building. They will have one of the most modern bakery plants available. It may be that we cannot expect Hood River people to use their bread exclusively, but Hood River folk, when they think of bread, for its good bread, should always give Hood River product the preference. Merchants should boost its sale. It is to their interest to do so.

There's material for some Oregon writer in the old Barlow trail. What a story the little incidents of human interest, touches of love and longing, hardship and struggle, it would make! What a setting for one who knows how to weave words into descriptions as the artist blends his colors! How the world has advanced in 80 years. The other day a little band of people gathered south of Mount Hood to unveil a memorial tablet to Samuel K. Barlow, pioneer Oregon road builder, who charted the great immigrant trail, the trail of the covered wagon. We ought to have some great historical romance, a story so powerful as to be read by the thousands of motorists of today and cause them to pause at the new monument and see it as a shrine.

Carl Kelly has joined his brother, Paul R., in publishing the Eugene Guard. What a team! Eugene is in the vanguard of Oregon progress, a progress that will be accelerated by the Guard managed and edited by the Kellys.

The river calls, but play safe and send the kiddies to Kobers's.

DEE

Mrs. Edna Parpher has returned from a visit with her son, Phillip Parpher, at Long Beach, Wash. The Community club had one of the most interesting meetings of the year last Thursday at the home of Prentiss Cutler. The outstanding feature of the meeting was a talk by Mrs. A. L. Stevens on "Community Spirit." Mrs. Stevens spoke inspiringly of the possibilities of our community activities. The club decided to attend the next session of the county court to ask them to improve the grade from Dee to the Heights before school opens in September. The grade is unsafe for anything but one way traffic. Children should not use it as a foot path in its present condition. The club was well represented at Miss Bradley's demonstration Saturday afternoon and greatly appreciated the privilege.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Hill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Collins for a trip to Lost Lake Sunday. N. E. Nelson left Tuesday for a business trip to Portland. Miss Helen Aubert, of Mount Hood, has been selected by the school board to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Leonard's resignation.

The Van Wicklens and Cutlers enjoyed an outing at Cedar Springs Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Macrum and family returned Wednesday from Corvallis, where they had been attending the poultrymen's convention. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and nephew, Chas. Hollingsworth, of Birmingham, Ala., were recent visitors at the home of W. H. Howell. Mrs. Benton Mays and her guest, Mrs. Helen Cranford, returned to The Dalles Monday.

Mrs. B. W. Brown and sons, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Woods, have returned to their home in Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. E. H. Green drove around the Loop Monday. Mrs. Hill, Miss Edna, Walter, Jane and Bonny. H. W. Whitley drove home in a brand new Oakland last Saturday. It is the 22nd new car for this community this year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McCammon and Kille, with Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Catberwood and Virginia, were vacationing at Clear Lake Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Stabler joined a party of Portland friends at Bonville Sunday for a picnic. Mrs. J. B. Van Alst, Mrs. Stabler's mother, came home with them and will remain until Thursday, when the Stablers will leave for a two weeks' vacation at Gresham on route.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Childs are at the summer cottage on the Childs & Childs place. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Edgar and family, with Bert Curtis, of Portland, and Harry Sherwood and son, of The Dalles, the Greenhaw family and Leslie Parker and son made up a week end camping party at Clear Lake.

The Community club is realizing neat little sums each week from the sale of ice cream on the platform at Dee. Don't forget to buy your ice cream there each Wednesday.

Mrs. Frasier Honored by Friends. Members of Canby corps, W. R. C., gathered Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Geo. T. Frasier and her husband came to Hood River in pioneer days and were associated with early day plans for development of the region. Mrs. Frasier was founder of the Hood River Glacier. He was postmaster and filled various municipal and county offices.

The following were present for the party: Mrs. C. P. Southem, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Alberta Andre, Mrs. E. L. Seabee, Mrs. Ella Wilbur, Mrs. W. T. Furry, Mrs. R. W. Ordway, Mrs. Roland Strong, Mrs. Belle Stewart, Mrs. Mary Gilligan, Mrs. R. E. Johnson, Mrs. Phoebe Foss, Mrs. Ella Wood, Mrs. W. L. Upon, Mrs. L. S. Boyd, Mrs. Mattie Gorton, Mrs. H. L. Boy Scout News

During the first week of camp 22 boys passed a total of 71 tests. The demand for tests was so great that it was necessary to postpone games and play periods in order to accommodate those wishing to advance in scouting.

Before an audience of all the scouts and several parents and friends, Stanley Ford, of The Dalles, passed his Junior Red Cross life saving test, administered by W. W. Donaldson, of the Red Cross examining staff, who is camp swimming and life saving director. The passing of this test entitles Ford to wear the Red Cross Junior life saving emblem and the special Boy Scout life guard emblem, which goes with it. These emblems are already won by 14 Hood River valley scouts who earned them at last summer's camp.

Dr. H. W. Dobbins, a medical student, arrived Saturday to take up his duties as camp physician. Visitors are invited to come up to Lumberlost Sundays. A boat will take guests to camp, leaving the rangers' landing at 9.30, 10.30 and 11.30. Monday night 22 boys from Camp Chindere, the Portland scout camp at Wahluam, visited Lumberlost and Wednesday the Lumberlost boys biked to Wahluam lake and were entertained there.

Fifteen news boys arrived Saturday and six of those who had spent a week in camp left Sunday. The scouts have nothing but praise for Harry Sines' cooking.

NEWS OF THE GOLFERS

Dr. C. W. Hamilton is the official Hood River Golf and Country club champion for the current year, as the result of his defeat of E. E. House in the terminal finals. In the semifinal Dr. Hamilton had beaten W. R. Rooper and Mr. House had beaten N. P. Mears. The proposed team match with Bend was called off because of the failure of the Bend club representative to complete arrangements at his home club.

To take the place of this match an informal match was played between two teams of local players captained by House and Hamilton, in which the former's team won by 16 strokes. In the first and second flights of the championship tournament semifinals have been reached. E. R. Footley is one of the finalists in the first flight as a result of his defeat of John Annala. He plays the winner of the Banks-Pierson match. In the second flight Carl Epping defeated Hurlbert and will play Footley in one of the semifinals in the first flight as a result of his defeat of John Annala. He plays the winner of the Banks-Pierson match. In the second flight Carl Epping defeated Hurlbert and will play Footley in one of the semifinals in the first flight as a result of his defeat of John Annala. He plays the winner of the Banks-Pierson match.

The six women who qualified in the championship tournament will be paired off this week and play will be completed in this section by next week. The next important tournament of the club will be the handicap play for the president's cup. This will be held on the 1st of August. New handicap ratings are being compiled and will be posted in time for this tournament. Informal intra-club team matches will be played each Sunday for the next few weeks, and any club member who desires may enter these plays, any time during the day.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. met on the lawn at the home of Mrs. J. K. Carson July 21. Mrs. J. K. Carson presided. Discussion of current events. Then Mrs. A. B. Bennett presented a pleasing program of music and readings: A vocal solo by Miss Henton accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Wilson; piano solo by Geraldine Sosey; vocal solo by Werdna Isbell accompanied by Geraldine Sosey; reading by Helen Richards; Mrs. Ad Smith gave a brief description of her trip as far west as Chicago and her visit to the headquarters of the W. C. T. U. at Evanston, Ill., visiting also Rest Cottage, the home of Frances Willard; solo, Miss Henton; ukelele duet, Alice Carson and Beatrice Bennett. Delicious refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. Gladys Loster as chairman.

Park grange invites the union to the grange hall for the next meeting, August 15. Don't forget the date set for the bazaar, September 26.

VALLEY GRAIN HARVEST UNDER WAY

The Hood River valley will have a bumper crop of grain this year. E. E. Lage and Alphonse Mohr, who operate the community's only threshing machine, expect to thresh an approximate 10,000 bushels of oats, barley and wheat. A number of lower valley orchardists and berry growers have already threshed, among them Rev. William A. Sunday, who has the largest acreage of grain in the valley. He will harvest 1200 bushels. The threshing is accomplished by a balling machine, as straw is at a premium here for bedding dairy cows and other livestock. The windstacker deposits the straw directly into the mows of a power harrow, two tractors have accomplished simultaneously. Both the thresher and the baler are driven by tractors.

Tourist Traffic Heavy

J. R. Nickelson yesterday reported the increasing results of a year's count of traffic: East of intersection of the Mount Hood Loop highway, 1,830; between Loop road intersection and City, 2,026; west of Cascade Locks, 1,081. The count west of Cascade Locks a year ago was 1,425. The traffic at other points showed a corresponding increase over a year ago.

A knocker is a two-legged animal with a corker's nose, a water-soaked brain, and a combination backbone of jelly and glue. Where other men have their hearts, he carries a tumor of decayed principles. When the knocker comes down the street, honest men turn their backs, the angels in heaven weep and the devil shuts the door of hell to keep him out. Therefore, don't be a knocker. You can't saw wood with a hammer. —Kansas City Buzz Saw.
