PARKERTOWN SPRING MAY BE AVAILABLE

A solution of the water problem, now a worry to city officials and citizens in general, may be solved by a ditch between the city and the Hood River Irrigation district. With irrigationists having filed on all available pure water within close range of the city, the municipality is faced with the expensive project of going far into the mountains for an additional water supply. The irrigation company, the system of which covers the Oak Grove district, has filed on Parkertown Springs, the volume of which would supply the city, it is declared.

While no negotiations have been broached yet, the irrigationists have stated that they would be willing to release the springs in turn for the city financing a dam that would impound winter flood water and melting snows and furnish an adequate irrigation supply. This project would cost around $75,000, it was stated.

While Hood River has plenty of water for domestic purposes, the supply is insufficient to furnish water for irrigating gardens and lawns. In former years each householder has been permitted a period of three hours a day in the low city. This has been cut to two hours and many gardens have burned badly as a result.

MR. WHITE SEEKS APPLE INFORMATION

John W. White, representing the White service of England and one of its directors, as well as a director in the firms of Keeling & Hunt, London, White & Sons, Hull, and Rogers and White, Liverpool, all parts of the White service, arrived in the northwest recently to spend about three weeks in a tour of the apple districts, in most of which his concern will operate this season.

As this is Mr. White's first visit to the United States he is being accompanied on his tour of the northwest districts by Thomas A. Duthie, of Duthie & Co., Inc., Portland, the United States representative of the White service. After his trip through the northwest Mr. White will return to England. They were here last week.

The purpose of Mr. White's visit, according to Mr. Duthie, was to enable him to get first hand information on the production of northwest apples in order that he might serve the trade both in this country and in England to better advantage.

Mr. Duthie just recently returned to Portland after having spent a number of weeks in England, conferring with his principals and visiting the various English markets, as well as visiting his old home and renewing old acquaintances.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Tuesday, August 18, the W. C. T. U. will meet at the Rockford grange hall. It will be a county meeting. Mrs. Chas. Foster is in charge of transportation. All who wish to go will please phone E. E. Foster or be at the Paris Fair down town or the Higgins store on the Heights at 1 o'clock. The program will be one of much interest to all. Rev. W. O. Livingstone will speak on World Peace and the W. C. T. U. The music will be furnished by the three unions, Pine Grove, Odell and Hood River.

The ladies of Parkdale, Dee and Mt. Hood are invited for the afternoon. Mrs. W. L. Smith, who is chairman of the soldiers and sailors department, wishes all who will to bring the comfort bags. Please call 3783 for directions on how to make one.

The story of nations will run beginning with this clipping headed Esthonia, by Mrs. Maeio.

"When I left Esthonia for the convention, the W. C. T. U. had 14 organizations, with a total membership of 5,000 women. We have a high respect for the work in the older countries and have appropriated many of their methods. Our nation is young and optimistic and being free politically is also free to absorb new and better ideas. In the autumn the law regarding the sale of spirits will come up for consideration in our parliament. We do not yet dare to ask for total prohibition because the people are not prepared for it, but we are demanding many restrictions and the right to local option, and we believe we have a good chance to win. We women are placing our hopes in local option because we feel certain the women will vote out the public houses. The Esthonian white ribbons have their own periodical."

Daggatt & Havener Expand

H. W. Daggatt and W. J. Havener, apple growers and shippers of Lyle, Wash., have been appointed agents in their home section and in Underwood and White Salmon, for Maynard & Child. The men have provided a receiving plant at White Salmon.

"We are expecting a crop of fine fruit at Lyle this year," said Mr. Havener, who was here the other day securing harvest supplies. "Our firm has contracted to handle about 90 per cent of the crop."

OREGON FINE SITE FOR GLADIOLUS CULTURE

The availability of cheap water and the quality of the product may turn Oregon into the chief gladiolus bulb producing state of the Pacific coast. One of the largest gladiolus farms is owned by J. H. Jewell, of Grants Pass, who has 10 acres planted. Mr. Jewell, who formerly raised bulbs in southern California, declared that the high cost of water there ate into his profits. He purchased 40 acres, and later expects to have the entire plot devoted to bulb culture. His Grants Pass farm is under one of the large irrigation systems there and his charge for water is $7.75 per acre. This will show a slight increase for a few years, and then, it is anticipated, the water charge will show a decrease.

J. H. Wheeler, Summit rancher, has a considerable tract of gladiolus bulbs here. He plans on extending his acreage. Each man grows a bulb, the quality of which exceeds that of California.

A. G. Lewis has a vacant lot within the city devoted largely to gladiolus culture. Even with the expense of his blooms the past several years has attracted a wide attention.

YELLOW JACKETS EAT CUT WORMS

Yellow jackets are proving a very destructive enemy of variegated cutworms, which have appeared here. The worms, which have taken a heavy toll of crops in various parts of Oregon, have attacked garden plots and pastures here. They have made their appearance on the Oak Grove links of the Hood River country club, and it is there that the yellow jackets have found them.

The wasps may be found in swarms, hunting over the golf links. When they find one of the worms a mass attack is made, and within a few minutes not a vestige of the worm is left.

KINKS OF THE LINKS

(By Jack Routledge)

"Old Sol" has played havoc with local divot diggers the past several weeks. No one minds battling around the course against par, but Old Sol is harder to conquer at this time of the year. Even with the heat heat spell the course at Oak Grove has had a good attendance during the last month. The smoke which has been so heavy in the valley offers another handicap for the golfer. The haze does quite a difference in the appearance of the course and the atmosphere is so heavy that the ball does not carry quite so far when hit.

The tournament committee plans a very active two months for local club swingers. A different event each Sunday during August and September is the plan. It is hoped that several team matches may be arranged with outside clubs. A senior tournament is also on the program. In this event the boys of 50 summers and over are the only eligibles.

A special weekly ladies' day will be featured, starting as soon as the weather gets cooler. Ladies' day is in vogue throughout the east and has proven to be one of the finest ways to develop women's golf and club spirit. One day each week the women will meet at the club; those who don't play golf, enjoy an afternoon of cards. A different competitive event is held each week and as all matches are on a handicap basis it gives the beginner the same chance as the old timer.

Golfers of the fair sex have shown quite an increase in interest of late. A goodly number of the women members have taken up the game and are showing a keen interest as well as ability to hit the little white pellet. Among the coming stars who will soon be ready for competition are Mrs. C. H. Yangman, Mrs. W. L. Marshall, Mrs. H. K. Davenport, Mrs. Zener, Mrs. E. O. Blanchan and Mrs. Fred Johnson.

Mrs. C. W. Hamilton and Mrs. H. T. DeWitt, who for some time have held the honors as the leading feminine golfers of the club, had better look to their laurels. Mrs. A. F. Adams has been practicing faithfully and has shown the results of hard work by winning in some fine scores. Several scores of 45 and 41 are her best efforts for the nine holes. Other women who have shown a marked improvement in their game are Mrs. C. C. Crew, Mrs. E. W. Birge, Mrs. John Hays, Mrs. Leroy Childs, Mrs. Crew has turned in several scores under 50 and is very good golf for the time she has played.

ILLINOIS FRUIT MAN VISITS HOOD RIVER

L. E. Emory, known as the apple king of Illinois, has been here from Canton, Ill., visiting his brother, M. L. Emory, and family, whom he had not seen for 15 years. Mr. Emory has a 10-acre orchard, the fruit of which for a number of years has captured blue ribbons at state fairs and horticultural shows. His premium awards last year reached $200. His trees are 14 years old. Last season he shipped 15 carloads of apples. Mr. Emory says he has never had any trouble selling his apples, buyers coming to his place and buying them orchard run at a good figure. The buyer takes charge of the harvest.

Mr. Emory came west by automobile, going to California before heading north. He had traveled 6,000 miles when he reached here and his only trouble had been a single puncture. Mr. Emory was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Mary Emory, and two grandchildren, Eddie and Ruth Emory.

H. L. Hasbrough, optometrist.

Announcement

After the freeze of 1919 we began the study of HARDY AND DISEASE RESISTANT APPLE AND PEAR TREES in order to secure permanent replacements in our own orchards. Now, after having tested out a large variety of trees we have developed and are able to offer stock which will survive the severe winters of the Mid-Columbia Valley.

Our M. A. N. apple trees and our HARDY PEAR STOCK have immense vitality and are extremely rapid growers. We are offering Hood River growers a very moderate supply of this stock. Do not delay in investigating the merits of this stock. Our available supply of trees is being rapidly taken. Send for descriptive literature.
