PRE-HARVEST
WEATHER FINE

RAIN WAS WORTH MUCH TO VALLEY

Cooler Temperature Stimulates Sizing of Apples—Bartlett Pears Now Being Rotted

Hood River valley is approaching apple harvest with ideal weather conditions prevailing. While only an approximate quarter of an inch of rain prevailed last week, this precipitation was worth thousands of dollars to fruit men. It soaked into the earth and stimulated sizing of apples. The accompanying lower temperatures were as valuable as the rain, for they renewed the growth of fruit, sizing of which had been retarded by the extremely warm weather. Fruit and foliage were washed clean of the summer's accumulation of dust. The rains so that people can have a good opportunity to see results from good average herd of pure bred.

This wonderful building covers over 10 acres of ground and will be filled to overflowing this year with breeding animals from all parts of the country and those who expect to come should send in their entries early.

Boys and girls' club work is continuing one of the leading activities of our organization and is being highly emphasized than ever this year.

Premium list may be obtained by addressing O. M. Plummer, General Manager, 21 North Broadway, Bank Building, Portland, Oregon. Entries must be in before October 20 on the breeding stock and before October 20 on the fat stock.

In 1924. Fat stock classes, $5,000; boy and girl club work, $5,000; manufacturers of lamb products and grain show, $3,500; dairy products, $750; judging teams, $2,500, together with groupings of other smaller items which will bring the amount up to approximately $100,000.

There will be two special features this year in connection with the show: one the campaign to show "Truth in Meat" and the other one a dairy exhibition which shall feature a few testing work. The "Truth of Meat" campaign will bring before the people of the country very clearly indeed the importance of knowing meat, both the prime, medium and common. The idea being that the farmer shall receive a better price for his higher grade meat whereas the cheaper types will sell for less money. The consumer will receive the benefit of this proposition. In the dairy cow testing work a string of average farm cows will be seen giving about 4000 pounds of milk a year; another string of pure-breds will probably give an average of say 8,000 to 12,000 pounds, a very small average for a good string of well bred cattle. The cattle will all be picked from the various five breeds so that people can have a good opportunity to see results from good average herd of pure bred.

YEGGS BREAK OPEN
VAULT AT CREAMERY

Gaining entrance through a jimmied front window, burglars Sunday night hammered open the vault of the Hood River Creamery, stealing an estimated $50 in cash. While the checks were left untouched, the yeggs took savings certificates of the Union Savings & Loan Co. belonging to Mrs. W. M. Black, wife of the manager, and his brother, E. F. Black.

Hammers used in smashing of the combination of the outer door, which was unlocked, and forcing the inner door, were stolen from the tool chest of Zoll Bra, who are engaged in work at the new warehouse of Kelly Bros. A chisel was stolen. The hammers were left in the creamery office. Officers had no clue as to the identity of the burglars.

The vault was constructed primarily of a safe company's work, and but little cash is left on hand. The records were left scattered through the vault, and Mr. and Mrs. Black were kept busy Monday morning getting things in order again.

HOOD RIVER ENTERS
HUNT FOR CONVICTS

Hood River was thrown into excitement Tuesday morning when Sheriff Edick was advised by Portland police that the convicts who escaped from the Salem penitentiary last Wednesday night were headed here over the Columbia River highway. Convict Murray, the message stated, had been recognized as one of the passengers in a small automobile traveling east on Sandy boulevard.

Cascade Locks and all points between there and Portland were notified. Local officers, commanding rifles, hastily organized posse and hastened by automobile toward the Mukwonago county line. At noon, however, all officers were withdrawn except patrols at gateway points along the highway.

The local officers early yesterday morning were informed by California motorists that men answering a description of the convicts were seen in a camp just east of town on the highway. The officers hurried there to find two startled boys rolling up their bedding and making ready to resume their journey. Sunday, and there still away to the north.

LOCAL OPTIMISM
PLEASES TRAVELERS

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Castner and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sletton, who have just returned from a motor trip through the Puget Sound country and to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C., declared that they saw no place where the population was more optimistic or evidenced a greater prosperity than in Hood River valley.

"We made it a point to talk with merchants and the farming population," said Mr. Castner, "and it was cheering to us to get back home and find evidenced a spirit of optimistic progress that was not noted elsewhere. The rural region around Mt. Vernon, Wash., to us seemed the most prosperous that we saw. Of all the places we visited no city offered the vacationist any more than Victoria. It has an atmosphere of quiet and calm that is appealing to one who wants a restful vacation."

APPLE FOLK AT A. G. A. PICNIC

An estimated 2,000 orchardists, members of the Apple Growers Association, and their families assembled at Kobeg beach Wednesday of last week to participate in their annual pre-harvest picnic. Growers were present from every part of the valley. It was the largest picnic of rural folk ever held in the orchard district. The fruitgrowers' picnic basket lunches at noon. The afternoon was spent in a water carnival, and in the evening the recreationists held a dance.

BETTER BUTTER IS AN

CREAMERY

With Directors Local Creamery the Visitors of the Hood River Creamery Club

It is the aim of the North Pacific Cooperatives Committee to make the butter of Oregon as standard and of as high a recognized quality as the Oregon apples is today, according to Chas. Johnson, field agent of the organization, and its secretary, J. C. Chappell, of the Oregon Agricultural College creamery. The men, together with all directors of the cooperative body, were here Tuesday to hold their regular August meeting, with the directorate of the Hood River Creamery. Together with the local creamery directors, Manager Black and Hugh Black, the visitors were guests of the Business Men's Association club at the Columbia Gorge hotel Tuesday.

Al W. Peters was chairman of the luncheon meeting. He introduced Mr. Johnson and Mr. Chappell, who addressed the business and professional men. Mr. Peters cited the fact that Hood River had formerly been with the United States department of agriculture and was recognized as the best butter-making on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Johnson praised the Hood River folk for backing up their local cooperative creamery, which has resulted in a beneficial diversity of products here. He declared that the creameries over the country that share the greatest prosperity are those that practice a diversity of agriculture.

Mr. Chappell declared that the reputation of Oregon butter has been obtained the result of its diversity. The organization is endeavoring and is meeting with success in such endeavor, he said, to bring about a new spirit not only among creamery men themselves, but among the people, to get a great deal of the work, he said, in the field among the producers. It is an educational campaign. When a number is approached, the creamery men are contracted to him that he is to be headed by delivering a high quality cream to the butter making plant, to be converted and the entire factory benefits.

AIRMAN DEPOSITS
NOTE ON MOUNTAIN

Circling Mount Hood Sunday afternoon Schuyler D. Priestle, an aviator of the U. S. forest service, out of Spokane, observed Charles Harding, Godfrey Blohm and Jack Edishes, of Portland, just reaching the top of the mountain.

So he swung around, passed over their heads and dropped at their feet a small bag of sand containing a note wishing them a happy Sunday, and then slid away to the north. Forest Ranger Smiley, stationed on the mountain, after inspecting the message turned it over to the three young men who forwarded it back to Schuyler in Spokane Monday.
