FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Hood River, Oregon

(The following sounds like a Bank Advertisement, but it isn't; it's a magazine article by Orrin C. Lester.)

Here are three rules it will be worth while following:

1. First, take the amount you ought to save out of your earnings and use the balance to live on.
2. Calculate your Periodic Expenses, and to pay them deposit a proportionate amount each pay day in a Special Thrift Account.
3. Never go into debt for anything that will depreciate in value unless it will save you money in operating your business or reduce the labor or expense in running your home.

If you are to make these principles work: You must make thrift your first obligation. You must spend the balance carefully. You must not draw on your Thrift Account for current expenses. You must not buy things that you cannot afford.

Save First; Look Ahead; Keep Out of Debt—these are the commandments of financial success.

LOCAL ELKS ARE READY

IRONSIDES COMMITTEE APPOINTED

School Children to Write Essays and Contribute Toward Saving Survivor Of Early Navy

With Truman Butler as chairman, a committee has been organized to cooperate with C. A. Richards, exalted ruler of the Hood River Elks lodge, in waging a campaign among school children of the jurisdiction of the lodge for the restoration of "Old Ironsides," the U.S.S. frigate Constitution. Other members of the committee are A. W. Peters and C. C. Crew.

The jurisdiction of the local lodge extends to Mosier in Wasco county and portions of Skamania and Klickitat counties, Washington. District committeemen have been appointed as follows: T. B. Gilbertson, of Parkdale; A. W. Peters, of Pine Grove; C. C. Crew, of Hood River; E. A. Race, of Mosier; S. L. Banks, of Oak Grove; C. M. Hurlburt, Barrett; Al W. Meyer, Cascade Locks; E. H. Green, of Dee; George Sheppard, Odell, and Fred Patterson, Frankton, and Bert Henman, of White Salmon, George Hazard, Stevenson, and O. C. Claypool, of Underwood.

Plans call for essay contests in all grade schools and high schools of the mid-Columbia. Members of the lodge will visit all schools and deliver addresses to the students. Prof. A. M. Cannon, who met with the committee Monday, will call special assemblies at the high school and junior high school. "Old Ironsides Week" will be held October 19 to 24. All school principals have been supplied with specimen programs for patriotic exercises. The best essay of the school will be read.

The Elks lodge was selected to raise the fund, set at $500,000, for restoring the old frigate. A congressional act authorized the raising of the sum. School children will be asked to contribute from one cent to 10 cents each.

The subjects for the essays are set forth in the following letter from President Coolidge to Secretary of the Navy Willbur:

"I have your letter of August 21st, requesting me to select subjects for essays by young people dealing with the historic frigate, the U.S.S. Constitution.

"I select the following topics: "For Colleges—The contribution of the U.S.S. Constitution to human liberty and to national progress.

"For High Schools—Why did the victories of the U.S.S. Constitution contribute so largely to our success in the War of 1812?"

"For Elementary Schools—Why will the preservation of the U.S.S. Constitution promote patriotism?"

"The active service of 'Old Ironsides,' extending as it did over the 84 years from 1793 to 1882, covers the greater part of our history, and a study of her record will turn the thought of our people to many of the most important events in the development of our nation. I therefore trust there will be widespread competition for the Old Ironsides medals, because an understanding of the foundation of our country is most helpful to discharging the duties of citizenship."

Medals have been donated by Commander Marlon Eppley, U.S.N.R., a member of Newport, R. I., Lodge No. 104. The medals will be awarded as follows:

One bronze medal for each lodge jurisdiction, the obverse of which reads "For Excellence in Naval history" and carries other lettering descriptive of the restoration of the frigate Constitution, for presentation through the lodge to the child in an elementary school writing the best 500-word essay on the topic, "Why Will the Preservation of the U.S.S. Constitution Promote Patriotism?"

One gold medal to be awarded to the child writing the best essay of those produced by the children of all the elementary schools in the country.

One silver medal for the child writing the second best essay of those produced by the children of all the elementary schools in the country.

One silver medal in each state for the student writing the best essay on the topic, "Why Did the Victories of the U.S.S. Constitution Contribute so Largely to our Success in the War of 1812?"

One gold medal for the best essay written by a high school student in the nation.

The "Old Ironsides" committee in each lodge shall determine the winner of the elementary school medal in its jurisdiction. The principal of each elementary school should be requested to select the best essay in his school and forward it to the committee, who will select the school authority, should make the selection of the winner. The presentation of the medal should be made at the patriotic exercises during "Old Ironsides Week," and the winner should read the essay.

The national committee will forward to each lodge colored reproductions of "Old Ironsides," from a painting made by Charles R. Patterson. The lodge will receive a sufficient number of these to present one to every school in each district.

MR. GALLIGAN HAS CONTENTED TREES

A large milk condenser has made the slogan, "Contented Cows," nationally known. The other day, after a visit to the True-To-Name Nursery, operated by H. S. Galligan, East Side orchardist, a man referred to Mr. Galligan's orchard and nursery as the home of "Contented Trees." And, indeed, the name might well apply, for never was one privileged to look at more thrifty and healthy nursery stock.

Mr. Galligan, who for years has given his personal attention to the growing of nursery stock, has had the satisfaction of seeing trees that he sold to neighbors now full grown and bearing full crops of apples and pears.

In addition to apples and pears, Mr. Galligan makes a specialty of growing cherry and peach trees. He now has a block of as fine cherry trees as were ever seen in the Hood River valley. Year old trees now stand 9 and 10 feet high. These trees will go largely to Wasco county cherry districts the coming spring. Growers there, who have seen the stock, are eager to get it.

While Mr. Galligan has never grown peaches commercially, his experiments with a few trees have led him to believe that this fruit might be grown at a profit in the Hood River valley, if growers would thin properly and practice the right kind of irrigation. Mr. Galligan has trees of the Superb and Hales Early varieties. The Superb was propagated by him. It is a large yellow peach, the flavor of which is extraordinarily good. Mr. Galligan is sure that peaches of this variety would demand a good premium in all markets.

Mr. Galligan for some years has been paying a great deal of attention to pears. He is a firm believer in the 'd'Anjou' as a money maker for the mid-Columbia districts, where soil conditions are adapted. Mr. Galligan has a block of pear trees that are a delight to the eye of the fruit grower. He secures the seed for his pear trees from abroad, France mostly. It takes three years to get a pear tree a year old and ready for setting. The cherry seed used by Mr. Galligan comes for the most part from Pennsylvania. They are of the Mazzard variety.

Mr. Galligan has an ideal country place. In addition to his orchard and nursery plots, he has all kinds of small fruits, including grapes. His vegetable garden produces everything that a family needs. He had a fine supply of cantaloupes and watermelons this season. His home is supplied with a water system and electric lights. Indeed, he enjoys all the good things of a country home without missing any of the conveniences of his city cousin.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PLANS BIG RALLY

The first Christian church is making extensive plans for their Rally day service which takes place at 9:45 next Sunday morning. For weeks the members have been working out their plans which include 100 men in the Men's Bible class, 100 women in the Women's Bible class, music by the local band, a great pantomime, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," to be given by Mrs. W. O. Livingston, and an address by Mrs. Louise Kellems, of Eugene, a woman of national reputation as a speaker.

The church is planning on a minimum of 300 present at the service. The Valley Christian church will attend here in the morning at the preaching hour to hear Mrs. Kellems. She will deliver her famous lecture on Palestine at the Valley Christian church in the evening, and the city church will be in attendance. Other than the Christian Endeavor service, the evening church services will be held in town. They expect it to be one of the great days of recent years in point of interest, numbers and general helpfulness.

DRUM CORPS GETS FIRST IN PORTLAND

The Legion post's drum and bugle corps won first award in competitive drills at the Odd Fellows parade in Portland last week. The outfit, although the members aroused general applause with their snappy executions and new uniforms, were awarded only fourth place at the state fair at Salem Monday.

The members of the corps Saturday night won the hearts of home folks when they participated in drills on Oak street.

VINEGAR COMPANY PLANS REBUILDING

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Hood River Vinegar Co., the plant of which burned last May, plans of the directors to refinance the company and rebuild the plant were approved. The company carried $178,000 insurance at the time of the fire. A report of the company showed that recoveries on policies reached $143,000. Salvage amounted to $35,000.

Directors were elected for the coming year as follows: Chas. J. Calkins, Duane A. Fellows, Al J. Graff, John R. Norton and Chas. H. Castner. At an organization of directors Mr. Calkins was named president; Mr. Norton vice president, and Eldon R. Bradley was appointed secretary.

MT. HOOD DINING ROOM TAKEN OVER

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Armstrong, who have been operating the Hotel Moro at Moro, have leased the dining room of the Mount Hood hotel. They will take possession of the dining room today.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong say they plan a number of improvements. Only white help will be employed at the hostelry, they say. Hours of service and other details will be announced later. The name of the dining room will be changed from the Oriental cafe to the Mt. Hood hotel dining room.

Calkins Has Wonder Flowers

The most gorgeous bouquet ever seen in Hood River was exhibited Monday by T. D. Calkins, Frankton rancher, at the Economy market. The flowers were a new species of everlasting flower, Celosia Brysonia Chrysantha.

Some of the stalks stand four feet high, and the variegated flowers are as large as a Pendleton Round-Up hat.

The unique flowers, which, it is stated, will keep their vivid coloring throughout the winter, attracted a great deal of attention.

BOOST GIVEN TO FOOTBALL

COACHES TALK AT TUESDAY LUNCH

Chamber of Commerce Holds Rally Meeting for High School Team at Columbia Gorge Hotel

The Hood River high school football team was pledged the support of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce held under auspices of the Tuesday Lunch club at the Columbia Gorge hotel this week. The chief address of the gathering was made by Coach Garber, who offered no alibi for the defeat suffered by the local team last Saturday at the hands of Franklin high, of Portland.

"Do not blame the members of the team for the defeat," said Coach Garber. "They played as good football as they knew. If there be any criticism, bring it to me. I am as much to blame for the defeat as anybody."

Coach Garber derided the custom of some of the folk of the city, who, he said, passed rebuking and discouraging comments from the sidelines to the members of the Hood River team. He declared that such action had something to do with killing the spirit of the Hood River team and destroying morale Saturday. Mr. Garber urged that citizens, hereafter, if they have criticisms, bring it direct to him.

"We learned our defects and our good points last Saturday," said Coach Garber, "and I think we will be able to learn a lesson from the game. The game with Roosevelt high school Friday, I assure you, will be a different type of game."

Coach Garber declared that he found his residence in Hood River a pleasant one. He urged citizens to get out and form an acquaintance with the football team members. He ended his talk by inviting all to be present at Friday's game.

Assistant Coach Weber made a short talk.

Visitors at the luncheon were: J. H. Koberg, Donald Bennett and M. V. Armstrong.

The meeting was the last to be held this season at the Columbia Gorge hotel. Perhaps it was for this reason that Manager Tremblay served such a sumptuous and appetizing luncheon. It was a meal for an epicure. Indeed, one could have been possessed of a tendency to gormandize and found the supply of viands and pastries unlimited Tuesday.

A. F. S. Steele presided at the meeting.

HOOD, CRATER LAKE MODELS TAKEN EAST

When Mrs. Harold Hershner left yesterday for Omaha, Neb., to join other Oregon delegates at the annual national convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion she carried relief models of Mount Hood and Crater lake, executed by F. L. Manser. The models will be used, along with native conifer boughs and moss, in decorating the Oregon table at the "Dinner of States" to be given during the convention. The Chamber of Commerce also furnished Mrs. Hershner with five boxes of apples for distribution at the dinner.

Hood River will also furnish apples for a breakfast to be given at Omaha in honor of Mrs. E. B. Stewart, of Roseburg, Pacific coast vice president of the national organization of the Auxiliary.

Ray Lee, representative of the Hood River Legion post, will leave Saturday for the convention.

The handsome models, which were packed for transportation by B. F. Moses, will be exhibited at the Book & Art store on their return here.

WRESTLING BOUTS INTERESTING FANS

Athletic fans of the mid-Columbia are displaying a keen interest in wrestling matches to be staged at the Rio theatre this evening between Cyclone Smith, of Lewis and Clark, and Fred Mortensen, local carpenter; and Sailor Jack Woods, of Houston, Tex., and Bill Thornton, light heavy weight champion of Canada. It is anticipated that Ted Thye will be present for the matches.

Two weeks ago Cyclone Smith defeated Harry Sonnicksen, West Side orchardist, and challenged Mortensen, who the same evening defeated Farmer Vance, of Portland. Mortensen, who for five years was trainer for Farmer Burns, holds the light heavy weight championship of Denmark.

The theatre will be open at the regular time, and the regular program of pictures for the day will be shown before the wrestling bouts and during intermissions.

The next regular meeting of the Hood River County Poultry association will be held Saturday afternoon at the chamber of commerce quarters in the city hall. An important subject to be discussed the president and secretary urge that a full membership be present.
