

Thor—the "feature-full" electric folding ironer!

DRUDGERY of ironing has been eliminated in this new folding ironer and new features have been added. Simply attach it to the most convenient electric plug. Any one will do. Then sit down. There's no heavy iron to push around.

Touch the automatic lever on either side (at your finger tips). The padded roll starts turning while the ironing shoe closes and gives a more uniform pressure, heavier than is possible by hand.

Irons four times as fast

Start the pieces through. You merely guide them. The Thor does the rest. There's an open end to the feed board, just like your ironing board, so you can iron the most difficult pieces and do them quickly. For the Thor is four times as fast as the ordinary iron. Yet it costs but a few cents an hour.

A touch on either side of the roll stops it and automatically releases the ironing shoe. It can never be left against the roll. That's one of the safety features.

There are many other features to the "feature-full" Thor. You can have them all demonstrated in your own home—and without obligation. Just call us—or call on us.

WHITE SALMON

Government weather report for 24-hour period ending at 5 p. m., Saturday: Maximum temperature 53; minimum 32; clear and calm; minimum temperature early Sunday morning 29; 49 above at 11 a. m.; clear, calm and beautiful.

H. E. Sheldon and wife, of Laves Corner, have returned to their permanent home in Twin Falls, Ida. They were accompanied by Miss Julia, a granddaughter, who has been spending the summer with them.

Alec Miller, pioneer homesteader in the Pine Flat district, who suffered a stroke about six weeks ago, is much improved in health, although he is still confined to the "house."

Mr. Miller packed in from White Salmon about 40 years ago when there were no roads to speak of.

Richard J. Bates, former justice of the peace of Burdick Heights district, also an orchardist who quit the apple game to establish a garage business in Portland over a year ago, has sold out and will engage in other business.

Percy Hathaway, former ranch foreman for A. E. Glader, Burdick Mountain orchardist, is in the Carson district, where he has been employed by a logging company. Mr. Hathaway is an expert engineer.

Dewey Boyler, former manager of the Frank Boyler orchard, Burdick

Heights district, could not resist the lure of the road and has signed up with Swenson Bros., Scandinavian comedy show as band master. The company will play White Salmon next week and is booked at Washougal for a three-night stand, a good argument in favor of the company. The comedy is rich with Swedish humor and is well worth seeing. "Well Yens, I tank ye tak my wife's husband' to yump down n' seeing dis, et bane gode for da pip n' yellow yaundice vich ya got," quipped Bill Newby.

Orchardists and others in this district met with Prof. M. D. Armstrong, horticultural specialist from Washington State College, at Legion hall Friday evening to discuss orchard problems which must be overcome. Mr. Armstrong was sent here by the extension service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the state college of Washington cooperating. The meeting was very interesting and well attended. It has been proposed to try and induce the department to establish an experiment station here and it will be pushed to the limit.

The Woman's club has accepted an invitation from the Lyle Woman's club to meet with them the afternoon of November 4. Miss Mary Sutherland, nutrition specialist of Pullman college, will address the ladies on this occasion. Mrs. C. J. Harrison is hostess at this meeting with Mrs. R. Byrket, Mrs. E. S. Plin and Mrs. S. Williams serving on the social committee. Mrs. Ida Larson is chairman of the philanthropic committee of the local club and members are seeking worthy cases where substantial aid can be administered during the winter months.

Bud Holsington has purchased the taxi service from R. R. Peeler, who has established a garage here.

Mr. Byrket, prominent Odd Fellow, who has been operating a gas station and second hand store on Jewett avenue for the past few years, has moved his stock of goods to his home, where he will continue to operate a store.

The Mountain View grange held a meeting the evening of October 21. Six new members were taken in as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Evans; Mrs. Throp, Mrs. Wendorf and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Von Carnop. Big oaks were served and several talented singers entertained the delightful occasion. Pomona meets with them November 10, an all day meeting with a big dinner at high noon.

W. Miller, of Oregon, has purchased the old Boddings ranch in the Locke Hill district and will try the chicken game.

The White Salmon Woman's club was a guest of the Hood River Woman's club Wednesday. The members report a very enjoyable time.

The Community Chorus club will stage an old time negro melody show at the gym at an early date.

The Woman's club gave a benefit card party October 30. The Eyrie Interstate bridge and 500 were played.

Canadian Estimates Grow

The Canadian commercial apple crop is 12 per cent larger than estimated in September, according to the October report of the Canadian Department of Agriculture. Production is placed at 2,850,335 barrels, as compared with 2,543,880 estimated in September and 2,749,544 barrels for the 1924 crop.

The bulk of the increase reported has occurred in Ontario, where a crop of 1,190,886 barrels is now indicated, an increase of 328,000 barrels over September figures. The British Columbia and Quebec crops are also substantially larger, but that in New Brunswick is unchanged from a month ago.

An increase of 328,000 barrels over September figures, however, is reduced by 12 per cent from the estimate of last month or from 973,176 barrels to 860,450. This bureau wishes to correct herewith the report P.S.A-34, dated October 10, 1925, in which the Nova Scotia crop is erroneously reported at 1,019,000 barrels.

APPEAL IS MADE FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

(By Mrs. Ada Wallace Urruh)
It was an inspiring sight on a recent visit to see the children of the Farm Home housed in a new school building financed by a state appropriation. After the long months in which they have been crowded into wholly inadequate and inconvenient quarters it is not at all strange that the splendid teachers were smiling their joy and that when the children were asked to voice their feelings that they nearly "raised the roof" with a deafening roar.

With all of the generosity of the state and of our friends we are still short of funds to complete and equip the entire building. Cash has been contributed to equip the three class rooms thought to be sufficient for this year. The East side Baptist church of Portland will complete and equip the auditorium which will be the center of the social and Christian work of the Farm Home and the good people of Roseburg are financing the domestic science room. Our numbers have increased so rapidly, however, that we find ourselves obliged to complete another class room even though funds are not in hand for the purpose, the three being now so crowded that efficient work is impossible.

There are on the Children's Farm Home grounds three girls' cottages capable of housing 70, while the two boys' cottages will only shelter 45 boys. This made it necessary one day last week to refuse homes to four little boys within the great array of cottages. To receive the girls from this family would mean the breaking of family ties with the probability that they would never be united in close family relations again. The cherished thought of the projectors of this home for dependent children was, that so far as possible, families with all the helpful ties established when "He set them together in families" should be kept intact. There are those outside of the W. C. E. U. who hold this sacred. We must have another boys' cottage just as soon as it can be erected. Where are the people who will help in this?

Think of it, in Oregon we buy our expensive cars, we take our trips for pleasure, we purchase extravagant clothing, we gratify every wish, but poor children must be separated for lack of room to shelter them or worse yet drift into the great array of delinquents because there is no place for them to have home love or care.

A small amount having been sent in for another boys' cottage by persons who had visited the home and recognized the need, we have decided to organize "A Boys' Building Farm Home League" and put all dues in that fund. Will every person interested in saving boys send to their own dues of $1, adding for family and friends when possible? Here's my hand for "Boys' Building." Send all contributions to 506 Stock Exchange Building, Portland, Oregon. When digging and storing your flower bulbs send all you can spare direct to the Children's Farm Home, Corvallis, Oregon.

BRIDGE OF GODS CONTRACT SIGNED

Contract for construction of the long projected highway bridge over the Columbia river at Cascade Locks was signed in Portland Friday afternoon between the Wauna Bridge company and the joint contractors, the Puget Sound Bridge & Dredging company, of Portland. Efforts will be made to complete the bridge by next July. Cost will be approximately $600,000.

Exclusive of the short approaches, the bridge will be 1390 feet in length. It will be of the cantilever type, with the center or lowest span 705 feet in length between piers. The floor of the bridge will be 150 feet above the mean level of the river. The width of the bridge will be 20 feet, broadened to 30 feet for some distance along the central section to permit advantageous views.

The financial interests behind the Bridge of the Gods are identical with those which built the Inter-county bridge across the Columbia river between Kennewick and Pasco, Wash., which in the past three years has been successful as a toll bridge, it is said.

An issue of mortgage bonds, already largely subscribed by eastern Washington investors, will provide funds for constructing the bridge at Cascade Locks. Most of these bonds will be placed with the investing public by the Ralph Schneeloch company, of Portland.

Officers of the Wauna Bridge company are residents of Walla Walla, Wash.; and include W. F. Crow, president; D. F. Baker, vice president; N.

A. Davis, treasurer; T. O. Webster, secretary; Robert L. Moore, Ben. G. Stone and L. F. Jones, directors. The remaining director is Ralph H. Schneeloch, of Portland.

With completion of the Bridge of the Gods another scenic loop highway along the Columbia river will be provided. The distance from Portland on each side of the river will be 50 miles.

Frost Hits Eastern Apples

(Hymen Cohen in Oregon Journal)
An entirely new situation has appeared in the market for apples. It may have a very big effect upon the price. Special messages received here by the Clark-Baker company from their New York connections report that very little of the New York state crop had been picked before the rains, which have remained for several weeks. This has been followed by freezing weather which means nothing but severe damage to fruit on the trees. In fact, almost total loss may be the outcome.

As New York state is a very heavy producer of apples, severe loss to the crop there is expected to exert heavy influence upon the entire American trade. Such loss, together with the already high prices being paid for apples, is a rather exciting incident at the moment, although there are drawbacks to a sensational rise in values.

Mushroom Five Feet in Diameter

Walter Hayes, society man of Buffalo, N. Y., invited a party of friends to a royal feast recently. The chief dish was a mushroom of the puffball variety weighing 21 pounds and measuring five feet one inch through the thickest part. The fungi was picked near Mr. Hayes' home at Pleasant Beach, about 15 miles from Buffalo. Mr. Hayes believes the puffball was the largest ever found in those parts. He pointed to a description of the fungi in a Standard dictionary, which says that "the giant puffball has been known to attain a diameter of five feet." The one plucked by Mr. Hayes beats this by an inch. The dictionary also adds: "It is edible when young." Mr. Hayes' price was young.

Roadside Shooting Costly

H. A. Gross, Portland man, was fined $25 and costs last week for shooting a China pheasant from his automobile. Mr. Gross was apprehended after he had shot a bird near the links of the Hood River Country club. He was apprehended by District Attorney Baker, who was engaged in a golf game when he saw the visitor fire from his machine. Mr. Baker notified Sheriff Edick and Mr. Gross was arraigned at once. He was not permitted to take the bird.

Sweet Potatoes Tried

Wasco county the past summer has conducted experiments with sweet potatoes on a tract of Columbia river lowland near Rowena. The tests have been observed by Leo Schanno and W. S. Nelson, of the Wasco county chamber of commerce. It is thought that the sweet potatoes may be turned to a profitable industry for growers of the section.
