UNVEILING OF STAR FESTIVE OCCASION

The crowds of city and country people who thronged the plant of the Twin Peaks Auto Co. Saturday night gave a carnival flavor to the celebration held in connection with the formal unveiling of the new Star Six. Hundreds were present for the event, and spectators around the new model, after the draperies had been withdrawn, were several deep.

The Twin Peaks Co. made the unveiling celebration a red letter occasion, and with an orchestra dispensing ultra-new and oldtime favorites, the crowd enjoyed dancing. Refreshments were served. Hundreds of gas-filled balloons had been released in the display room of the auto company, and these, each with a colored streamer attached, added to the gaiety of the scene.

The orchestra furnishing the music was the "Twin Peaks" own. It was composed of Mrs. James Penmore and J. A. Wolfe. It was estimated that 600 people attended the unveiling ceremonies.

Officials of the company and members of the sales and mechanical staff all with badges carrying their name, acted as a reception committee. They were: S. S. Parsons, P. S. Rife, J. W. Penmore, S. H. Sherwood, L. M. Nickelson, J. S. Low, A. A. Goldsmith, J. A. Wolfe, J. B. McKinnon and Jos. Jones.

The story of the Star Six is one of amazing dramatic accomplishment; a detailed account of the reasons why the new Star Six is the greatest Six ever built at the low price of $895 here. Gone are all your ideas of what a car should be—gone with the obsolete types of yesterday. This truly is the car of tomorrow—the car of the future—a high powered, flexible, road eating "6." Think of it, a Six, delivered here complete for $895!

For three years the secret has been closely guarded—no authentic news leaked out. True, there have been rumors of what Star was going to produce, but no one had the faintest inkling of the startling announcement that Star now makes. A new Six—a new idea—a new price.

No other car should be compared to this new Star Six because no other light car is designed in its entirety, along this new engineering principle. No word of mouth or stroke of pen can give an adequate picture of this new Star Six. So great, so different is it—so radical a departure from all mobile building as the past has known it—that only by a personal inspection, by riding in it, driving it, can you begin to realize what Star has achieved, at the revolutionary price of $895 here.

Highway Offices Moved

With headquarters in the basement of the Pilot Butte hotel already under construction, the local division of the state highway department will move from The Dalles to Bend the latter part of this month. C. W. Wenzler, division chief, has announced. Wenzler expects to have the Bend office in full operation by February 1.

Henry Hackett, assistant engineer, will be the only member of the local staff who will go to the Bend office. H. P. Newland, maintenance engineer in the northern section, and Christ Fausero, in charge of bridges in the same territory, will remain in The Dalles. Office quarters have not been definitely located at Bend.

The change was made because of the fact that most of the new construction work in the next few years will be south and east of Bend. The road program of 1917, in which the northern highways were planned, has been almost completed, leaving but little maintenance work in the Columbia river counties.

Rev. Miller Going South

It was announced that Rev. I. H. Miller, for the past two years pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal church, will leave January 25 for Berkeley, Calif., where he will be rector of St. Clement's church. Rev. Miller will give his farewell sermon next Sunday.

Rev. Miller came here from Spokane. He has been active in educational work in the eastern Oregon diocese of the church. During the past year a new church building was erected for St. Mark's. During 1924 a parish house was constructed.

BOX APPLES SELL WELL IN ENGLAND

Supplies of Pacific northwestern apples were heavy on all the British markets during the week ending January 9. Three cargoes arrived in splendid condition, according to cable advices. At Liverpool, boxed Winesaps and Spitzburgs sold 50 cents a box above the previous auction price. While apple consumption in the United Kingdom, said the cable, is slow at present, British markets in general would take more good Yorks. The weather is warmer than the average for this time of the year. In Glasgow, Yorks ranged 50 cents a barrel higher than the price realized on the January 6 auction.

At the New York auction, Oregon apples sold at the following prices: Newtowns, 1105 boxes extra fancy, large to very large, $2.40 @ 2.00, average, $2.48; fancy, medium to very large, $1.95 @ 2.25, average, $2.00; O-grade, medium to very large, $1.90 @ 2, average, $1.80.

Delicious, 765 boxes fancy medium to very large, $2.10 @ 2.00, average, $2.35; Ortleys, extra fancy, large to very large, $2.15 @ 2.75, average, $2.64; Spitzburgs, 627 boxes extra fancy, large to very large, $3 @ 3.05; medium to large, $2.05 @ 2.50.

At the St. Louis auction, 284 boxes of Oregon extra fancy Arkansas Blacks at $2.05 @ 2.80, average, 2.35; 508 boxes of fancy at $2.05 @ 2.25, average, $2.10, and 81 boxes of C-grade at $1.80 @ 2.05, averaging $1.90.

Cold storage holdings of apples compared as follows: January 1, 1925, 3,843,000 barrels, 11,870,000 boxes, 2,102,000 bushel baskets; January 1, 1926, 3,254,000 barrels, 9,089,000 boxes, 1,565,000 bushel baskets; five-year average, 3,604,000 barrels, 9,886,000 boxes.

Total shipments from all states to January 11 were 96,770 cars, as compared with 88,564 cars in the same period last season.

Apple trading was limited in the northwest. The latest sales were: Wenatchee valley district, extra fancy Winesaps, $1.50 @ 1.80; fancy, $1.00 @ 1.65; C-grade, $1.20; fancy Romeys, $1.25; one car of Spitzburgs, extra fancy, $2.15; fancy, $1.85; C-grade, $1.35. Yakima valley district, C-grade Winesaps, $1.25; fancy Romeys, $1.15 @ 1.30; C-grade Romeys, large to very large, $1 @ 1.10.

Snow in Mountains Light
 E. C. Wolfe, in charge of a camp of the Oregon Lumber Co., on the headwaters of the West Fork of Hood river, who was in the city recently, said the snow in the highland forests is lighter this season than has ever been seen. In places where normally the blanket is from 4 to 10 feet deep, only a trace was found.

Mr. Wolfe said he noticed no deer signs but the forests are filled with bobcats.

Ordinarily no winter work is attempted at the highland camps of the lumber company. This year, however, Mr. Wolfe has a small crew felling logs, preparing for the spring drive.
