Seven Tips on Finance

1. Buy only what you know.
2. Never buy, give, lend nor invest under pressure.
3. Speculate on properties—not schemes.
4. Buy only what can be resold without a loss.
5. Take your profits.
6. Borrow for expansion—not show.
7. Ask your banker.

VALLEY MAY FEED CATTLE

FERTILIZER VALUE WILL BE GREAT

O. H. Plummer and Other Portland Men Advocate New Era in Sideline Orchard Activity

A new era in sideline industry for orchardists may have been initiated here at a forum luncheon of the Hood River chamber of commerce at the Wankoma hotel Tuesday when addresses were delivered by the following men, who advocated the feeding of beef cattle or sheep to furnish fertilizer for fruit tracts: O. H. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition; Col. E. E. Faville, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Portland chamber of commerce; George Peterson, president of the Portland Union stockyards; R. L. Clark, North Portland livestock commission man, and Prof. Lingren and Prof. Alms, of the Oregon Agricultural College extension service.

Mr. Plummer has just returned, he stated from a tour of inspection of citrus districts of southern California, where growers have improved the quality and size of their yield by feeding baby beefs. In and around Los Angeles, he said, the feeders of this kind of beef have built up a trade for their beef product, realising a premium on the market. They have found that the return from the fertilizer value pays them for feeding the cattle, and whatever is realized in the way of profit from the feeding is an additional benefit. It was proposed by Mr. Plummer that growers organize some kind of an association to enter the business of feeding purebred cattle and give the orchard innovation a fair trial here. In case it is shown to be successful, he declared, it will be inaugurated at Medford, Mosier, and White Salmon, Yakima and Wenatchee, Wn.

Mr. Plummer was instrumental several years ago in helping Hood River orchardists in getting started in the dairying industry as a sideline to their orcharding. He prefaced his address Tuesday by saying that Hood River folk were kind of like the poison squad in colleges, on whom were tried out new theories of diet. "Whenever I get an idea," said Mr. Plummer, "I want to go to Hood River and tell it to my friend, Leslie Butler. We have found that if our ideas work up here, they will work out elsewhere."

Mr. Plummer gave figures and figures to show how successful has been the adaptation of the cattle feeding enterprise in the California citrus belts. He declared that the fertilizer value of a calf, taken at a weight of 500 pounds and fed until it weighed 1,000 pounds, was figured at $41.50. The calves would have to sell at about 11 cents per pound to get the money back. He expressed the opinion that through a process of education to the value of the baby beef that a considerable premium over this price could be obtained. The figures he gave were computed from a basis on which the orchardist purchased all of his feed. Mr. Plummer expressed the opinion that at the outset Hood River consumers would be able to utilize all of the high quality beef product at home. Mr. Peterson endorsed the proposed plan but advised orchardists to proceed with caution and not to launch themselves into the feeding of cattle on too large a scale. The speaker declared the fruit growers can keep a check on their efforts and by their figures determine to what extent they can venture.

Mr. Peterson expressed the opinion that eventually the fruitgrowers will have to bolster the fertility of their soil. He cited how the French peasants, when exchanging visits with each other are shown first the size of the manure piles. Mr. Clark declared that the time might not be far distant when a Hood River orchardist would measure his success as a producer of fine apples in the size of his barnyard manure. Mr. Clark, however, suggested that orchardists might find it more economical and convenient to feed sheep. He cited the huge lamb-feeding plant at Lyle, Wash., which he declared the most scientific west of Denver.

The fertilizer from the Lyle plant, Mr. Clark cited, is sold for enough money to pay for all of the labor of operation. He suggested that the Apple Growers Association here might be instrumental in helping its affiliated growers by developing a lamb-feeding plant in Hood River.

Prof. Lingren gave figures to show how the plans of cattle and sheep feeding might be worked out, and the proposal had the endorsement of Prof. Alms.

A. F. S. Steele, president of the chamber of commerce, at the forum meeting of the body held Tuesday under auspices of the Tuesday Lunch club, stated that the Rotary, Kiwanis and other service clubs were seeking to enter the city. Mr. Steele cited that recent meetings of the luncheon club, attended chiefly by business and professional men, because of lack of programs, was drawing a poor attendance. He suggested that the luncheon meetings be made forum gatherings of the chamber of commerce each week, in order that better material might be provided for the sessions.

At sunrise the party stood on a snow drift near the inn and watched the coming of a new day. It was a wonderful picture as the dawn marched westward, the sun breaking across the eastern ridges and sending long beams of light to sprinkle the cloud-sea with silver. Behind us lay Elliot glacier, cold and uncanny, with the snow-mantled mountain in the background forming a picture that will never be forgotten. After breakfast of hot cakes, bacon and coffee the party started for the glacier. We found the crevasses and seracs well filled with snow and ice. After reaching the lower seracs we were greeted with a real blizzard and decided to return.

"After taking a few pictures we started our thrilling glide toward the inn. The glacier was covered with small ridges of snow and ice, making the slide very tricky for skis. Hoerlein, Applegate and Lamson furnished the real thrills of the trip by going straight down the glacier a distance of about a mile with the wind blowing a gale. They soon reached a terrace of speed and at times their skis were clear of the snow for several feet. After the snow had cleared away at the bottom Lamson came up with a badly sprained ankle. The party was greeted by another party from Homestead and after a hot lunch we all started down Ghost ridge for Homestead inn, where a large party was waiting with a real feed before the roaring fireplace. After resting for a while the club started for home fully convinced that skiing is the king of winter sports."

SUNDAY BIRTHDAY PARTY PLEASANT

The 84th birthday anniversary party of S. F. Blythe, celebrated Sunday at Twin Oaks farm with the family of his daughter, Mrs. D. T. Marlor, was a most pleasant event. Members of the Grand Army Corps and Canby Relief Corps were present. A sumptuous and appetizing banquet was served. Mr. Blythe was presented with several boxes of fine candy. The Women's Relief Corps gave him a bouquet of carnations. Comrade S. Coplee presented him with a fine pocket knife. An impressive blessing was asked before the meal by Comrade Sanford Smith.

Those present for the joyful event were: Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Blythe, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson Coplee, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Leonard, Sanford Smith, A. H. Jewett, George L. Aggers, Miss Maude Aggers, James R. Cash, C. C. Southright, Mrs. Nancy A. Wilson, Dr. E. L. Scobee, Mrs. Ira Scobee, Dept. Pres. W. R. C. L. M. Bentley, Mrs. Jennie C. Bentley, Past Dept. Pres. W. R. C. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Blythe, Miss Alice Blythe, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Marlor, George F. Marlor, Henry Weck, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Calkins, Mrs. Charlotte M. Williams, Mrs. Delpha Hammond, Joe D. Thomson, Mrs. Mary Gulligan and Mrs. Alida Shoemaker.

MORTENSEN WILL MEET MR. EDWARDS

Wrestling fans have something in anticipation — Fred Mortensen, Hood River's own Durable Dane, will meet Billy Edwards, the Kansas City butcher or boy, the man who has made himself unpopular with his famous chiropractic head lock, in a finish, best two out of three falls, wrestling match at the local theatre next Tuesday evening.

Local fans remember how unpopular Al Karasick can make himself with spectators. In comparison with Billy Edwards, Karasick is a matinee idol. His theatre will probably be packed for the big bout. Police officers will be present to protect the combatants, in case they get too gay to suit the audience.

MAYNARD AND CHILD WILL PACK FRUIT

Provisions will be made in the new $100,000 cold storage plant, work on which will begin here soon by Maynard and Child, New York city apple dealers who specialize in the export trade, for a refrigerated packing plant.

"We will use a half of the third floor of the new structure," said P. F. Clark, Pacific coast manager of the company who has arrived here to make this city his headquarters, "for packing. The remainder of this floor will be divided into four refrigerated compartments for precooling early apples and pears."

The service will enable independent shippers of this section, who formerly found canneries their only outlet for Bartlett pears, to pack their variety under refrigeration, after precooling and hold them for 30 to 60 days. D'Anjou pears and the earlier varieties of apples can also be given a much longer storage life by utilizing the refrigerated space.

Mr. Clark has opened temporary offices in the Brostus building. He will remain there until the new plant is completed.

K. P. BAND WILL PRESENT MINSTREL

The Hood River band is busy these days getting ready to stage the second annual minstrel show at the Ri-alto theatre March 3.

STREET WORK IS DISCUSSED

COLUMBIA STREET IMPROVEMENT UP

Remonstrances and Petition for Road Surface—Face Heard—Miller Made Park Custodian

At the meeting of the city council Monday night, a remonstrance expressing opposition to the proposed paving of Columbia street from Fourth to Fifteenth was heard. A. L. Vincent, L. M. Baldwin, C. O. Huelat, E. W. Sprick and Councilman Ronnichen spoke in favor of the work. R. E. Early voiced an opposition to the plans, being present as spokesman for the remonstrators.

Mayor Bennett and City Engineer Clark, however, pointed out that the remonstrance was somewhat in anticipation, as the council as yet had not drawn an ordinance for the paving, and the limits of the paved area have not yet been decided upon. It was stated that the paving may not extend west of Thirtieth street. The remonstrance was tabled.

Mrs. Alma Howe spoke for a committee of women, who appealed to the council to improve conditions in the women's ward of the city jail. They asked that a lavatory be placed in the women's room and that the partition between the women's compartments and the cells where the men are kept be made solid. The matter was referred to the police committee.

On recommendation of the fire and water committee lights were ordered installed near the homes of Mrs. R. H. Conhow and F. R. Howard. An ordinance was ordered drawn to provide for a grade on East Eugene street in front of the home of Mr. Howard.

Spirited balloting marked selection of a custodian of the municipal auto park. The name of Harry Hiltz was first proposed. The council tied, three to three, and Mayor A. R. Bennett cast a deciding vote against him.

Robert A. Miller, the second choice of a committee that had been appointed to investigate applications of those seeking the job, was elected to the place. The park will open April 1. The council decided that no gasoline, groceries or other products that might furnish competition with business of the city, shall be sold at the automobile park.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will receive $125 for the first two months, and will be paid at the rate of $150 per month for the balance of the season.

ROCKFORD GRANGE PROGRAM NEXT WEEK

On the program for Friday night, February 26, at Rockford grange, the Colors will be presented by Mr. Cartwright, who served under the Colors 37 months in the Civil war, from 1861 to 1865. Mr. Cartwright is an efficient Color bearer of Rockford grange. He is a member of Rockford grange, and lives with A. G. Wing. The vocal solos by W. N. Byars and T. J. Annala are from singers known and appreciated by all, whose talents increase the years go by. Everyone should be especially grateful to the K. P. band for their good offices in coming out at this time, as they are playing at Cascade Locks Thursday night, February 25. Mr. Weber is a member of the high school faculty and his trombone work is highly appreciated by those who have already heard him. The grange hopes in this way to make acquaintance with a large number in the valley.

The main feature of the evening, however, will be the discussion of the cooperative bill by A. F. S. Steele of the Apple Growers Association. This will be the really serious part of the program and we hope that everyone will come in an open mind and in a mood to give serious consideration to discussion of this bill, because of its great importance to the western cooperatives. Refreshments will be served after the program and all who wish may dance to the music of the Panathropes furnished by C. J. Corson, of the Melody shop. Remember the date, Friday evening, February 26. Committee.

SNOWSHOE CLUB MEN BACK FROM OUTING

After three days of strenuous recreation on the north snow slopes of Mount Hood, members of the Portland Snowshoe club, the Pacific northwest's pioneer winter sports organization, returned to Portland Tuesday night. They reported that a heavy blanket of new snow fell Monday night and that the storm continued to rage Tuesday at high elevations. The snow on the level in the vicinity of their club house, near Cloud Cap Inn at a mile elevation, was only three feet before the beginning of the storm.

J. Wesley Ladd, one of the organizers of the snowshoe club, returned from his 22nd consecutive winter outing on the mountains. Other members of the party were: Alexander Lanthorn, Dr. Herbert S. Nichols, Kenneth Beebe, Rodney L. Gless, Aubrey Watsek and Richard W. Montague.

Odell Revival Near
Evangelist G. E. Williams, formerly pastor of the St. Johns Christian church, Portland, who has just closed a meeting at The Dalles, will begin a revival meeting at the Odell Christian church Sunday. Mr. Williams has been in the general evangelistic field and has held several pastorates in Oregon and Washington for nearly a quarter of a century. He was instrumental in building the Hood River church. He also did creditable work at White Salmon and at the Valley Christian church. The general public is invited to attend these services. A question box will be maintained, so bring your religious and Biblical questions and have Mr. Williams help you understand them.

Take home a quart of Oregon ice cream. Ask your dealer for wash and specials, bulk or brick.
