WHOOPIING COUGH RUPTURES DIAPHRAGM. A case of ruptured diaphragm, declared by surgeons to be one of the most peculiar ever observed on the Pacific coast, was discovered here last week by Dr. Marcus Thrane while examining the year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cotton. The child had been suffering from severe attacks of whooping cough. Dr. Thrane discovered that its heart was located on the right side of the chest. He took an X-ray photograph, which revealed the rupture. Organs located below the diaphragm had been pushed upward, moving the heart to the right side of the body. Dr. Thrane telephoned to Portland specialists and the boy was taken there for an operation, which may save its life.

Paul Le Franck Hurt in Fall. Paul, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Le Franck, is at the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland, recovering from painful and serious injuries sustained last week when he fell 50 feet from a scaffold on which he and fellow painters were at work on the new Burnside bridge. Mr. Le Franck suffered fractures to both wrists, his right knee cap was broken as was his right ankle. He suffered painful bruises about the head. Fortunately no internal injuries were sustained. Mr. Le Franck worked on the Hood River-White Salmon bridge and later on the Sellwood span in Portland.

Schuler Interests Boys. Frank J. Schuler, West Side orchardist, has turned his apple packing house into a gymnasium. Weekly Monday evening meetings are attended by the boys of the neighborhood. Mr. Schuler has secured a large wrestling mat, and several of the youth of the Oak Grove section are fast developing into wrestling artists. A large crowd of neighborhood adults was present Monday night for amateur mat bouts.

Several members of the Mosier Masonic lodge were guests of the Hood River Masonic lodge last Wednesday. Members of the Sweet Sixteen club who attended the benefit card party which the Hood River Woman's club sponsored were Mesdames Beldin, Alington, Strasse, Evans, Camp, Cherry, Holmes, Nichol and Chamberlain, the last mentioned bringing home first prize for 500. Scoutmaster Blanchard took the Mosier scout boys on an all day tramp up Mosier creek Saturday.

The Herr family moved to the John Carroll ranch last week. Geo. Forest was here from Wyeth visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Herr, over the week end. C. G. Nichol went to Redmond Friday. Mrs. J. N. Mosier, who has undergone a serious operation in Portland, is reported doing nicely. An all day convention of the eastern Oregon district of the Christian church was held in the Christian church Tuesday, with a big young people's rally in the evening. The annual party given by the Ladies' Aid for their husbands, which occurred Wednesday evening, was a decided success. The games were greatly enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Mrs. J. R. Wilcox was a Hood River visitor Saturday. A Tugwell is in Portland for several days this week. Mrs. Thos. Lellott was a Portland passenger on the 2.55 local Sunday.

Pneumonia Season. (By Frederick D. Stricker, M. D., collaborating epidemiologist of Oregon State Board of Health in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service.) Winter and spring are the pneumonia seasons. Pneumonia took 610 lives in Oregon during 1925 and seriously inconvenienced over 5,000 of its citizens. The annual death rate of this disease is about 75 per 100,000 in this state, while the death rate for the United States is over 100. The number of deaths in Oregon fell from 648 in 1924 to 610 in 1925. Pneumonia is one of the most prevalent and fatal of all acute diseases. As a cause of death it rivals, and in this state, exceeds tuberculosis.

Pneumonia is a communicable disease which should be classified with the infectious fevers. It is an inflammatory condition of the lungs in which the air vesicles throw out a fibrous exudate which speedily becomes solid and obliterates the air vesicles of a portion of the lungs. The disease generally begins with a well marked chill, high fever, cough, pain and difficult breathing. It may follow the usual course and at the end of seven or eight days the fever will stop suddenly and the patient make a rapid recovery. Pneumonia is a preventable disease and means should be taken for its prevention. The prevention of pneumonia is rapidly becoming more definite through a better understanding of the cause of the infection and the factors which contribute to its spread. Measures that will bring about a reduction of the number of cases of colds, grip and influenza will lessen the number of cases of pneumonia. Colds, wetting and shivering are generally regarded as predisposing causes. But the chilling effects of cold moist air are not as conducive to a high death rate as a relatively low humidity. Pneumonia is spread chiefly by close personal contact with persons having pneumonia or by carriers of this disease. Carriers may infect themselves by inspiration. Man is the source of infection and each case of pneumonia spreads the virulent infection. All cases of pneumonia should be isolated and the discharges from the nose and throat should be burned or disinfected. Crowding favors the spread of the infection. Persons who sleep, work and play together, wash from the same bowl and eat with the same tableware, have every opportunity of spreading the infection. This accounts for the fact that we usually have epidemics in camps, schools, prisons, institutions and industrial establishments. It is important to know that the infection is spread from man to man through the secretions of mouth and nose.

Prevent pneumonia: By keeping the mouth and teeth clean; by keeping objects and hands out of the mouth, and by avoiding infection and exposure.
