

1926 SPRAY CALENDAR

RECOMMENDED BY
APPLE GROWERS ASSOCIATION
HOOD RIVER, OREGON, FOR SEASON 1926

This Calendar is arranged to meet practically all of our spraying problems on Apples. It does not mean that all of our orchards need all of the applications. Seasonal conditions will alter the program somewhat. Keep in touch with the Experiment Station and read the local newspapers for developments as the season progresses. This Calendar has been prepared and is approved by the Hood River Experiment Station, Leroy Childs, Entomologist and Plant Pathologist.

APPLICATION	INSECT & PLANT DISEASE	MATERIALS
1. Bordeaux-sulf. Apply as buds begin to open. Just previous to development shown in Fig. 1. See Note 1.	Leaf Roller; San Jose Scale; Brown Aphid; Woolly Aphis; Anthracnose.	Oil 6 or 7-100 (See Note 8.) Bordeaux 6-6-50.
2. Delayed Dormant. Apply when bud development appears as in Fig. 1. If oil was used in Spray No. 1, omit tobacco. See Note 3.	Apple Scab; Mildew; Brown Aphid.	For Scab and Mildew: Lime Sulfur 3 1/2-100 or Bordeaux 6-6-50 (See Note 2.) For Aphids add Black Leaf 1-1200.
3. Pink Application. Wait until blossom buds have separated in clusters. See Fig. 2.	Apple Scab; Mildew. (On Pear-Green Fruit Worms.)	For Scab and Mildew: Lime Sulfur 2 1/2-100. For Green Fruit Worms: Add Arsenate of Lead 4-100 plus 2-100 hydrated lime. (See Note 4.)
4. Calyx Application. Apply after petals fall. (See Fig. 3.) before calyx cups close. Use 300 lb. pressure or more. Hit the tree tops thoroughly.	Apple Scab; Leaf Roller; Mildew; Codling Moth.	For Scab and Mildew: Lime Sulfur 2 1/2-100 or Dry-Mix Sulfur 12-100 plus 4-100 Arsenate of Lead. (See Note 5.)
5. Fifteen Day Application. This spray should follow the calyx from 10 to 15 days.	Apple Scab; Mildew; Codling Moth.	For Scab and Mildew: Lime Sulfur 2-100 or Dry-Mix Sulfur 12-100 (See Notes 5 and 6.)
6. Thirty Day Application. Apply 30 days after the Calyx Spray. (See Note 6.)	Apple Scab; Codling Moth; (and possibly Green and Woolly Aphids.)	For Scab: Lime Sulfur 2-100 (Notes 6 & 9) or Dry-Mix Sulfur 12-100. For Codling Moth: Ar. Lead 4-100. For Aphids: Black Leaf 1-1200 plus 1-100 Cal. Caseinate spreader.
7. July Spray. This spray should be used only at times of infestation. Very thorough work is needed to obtain control.	Green and Woolly Aphids.	Black Leaf Forty 1-1200 plus 1-100 Cal. Caseinate spreader.
8. Summer Codling Moth Spray. Application depends upon the seasonal development of the codling moth and the time will be recommended by local Station.	Codling Moth; Anthracnose; Late Scab; Red Spider.	For Codling Moth: Ar. Lead 3-100. For Anthracnose and Scab: Add 4-4-50 Bordeaux. For Red Spider: Add 1 1/2% Summer Oil (See Note No. 7.)
9. Fall Application. To get good results spray must be applied after fruit is harvested, and before fall rains begin.	Anthracnose.	Bordeaux Mixture 6-6-50.

- Note 1. For Bordeaux use 100 lbs. of the first spray at rate of 2-25 (100 lbs. scale is preferred).
- Note 2. If Bordeaux is used in dormant application it must be applied no later than the stage shown in Figure 1. As soon as young growth appears a second application.
- Note 3. Brown aphids produce a serious pest application. They can be controlled by using either the first or second application.
- Note 4. Do not spray Anjou or Golden with lime sulfur after 2000 buds are exposed. Use Atomic or Dry-Mix Sulfur 12 pounds to 100 gallons.
- Note 5. The value of this spray for Codling Moth control will depend upon the season. The Station will make recommendations at that time.
- Note 6. Lime Sulfur at this season of the year should be used with extreme care and only when the chances of scab infection are relatively great.
- Note 7. Be sure to use an oil spray that can be applied with safety.
- Note 8. Six Gallons in warm weather, seven in cold or cloudy weather.
- Note 9. Whenever Lime Sulfur and Arsenate of Lead are combined add 2-100 hydrated lime.

REMARKS

As a rule pears do not require as much spraying as apples. Do not use Lime Sulfur on Anjou after the first application. Atomic or Dry-Mix Sulfur 12 lbs. to 100 gal. in the pink and Calyx sprays will handle scab and mildew. Add 4-100 lead for Codling Moth and Fruit Worms. Remember it costs more to spray poorly than not at all.

Cover the tops of the trees. In 1924 at least 80 per cent of the scab in the Valley occurred in the tree tops. In 1925, the apples in the tops of the trees were more wormy than the bottoms. Hit the tops.

Watch your pressure—a good working pressure is 300 pounds where spray guns are being used. Use 5 gallons a minute from each gun.

Use the finest mist spray for scab control wherever possible; the trees will need much more spray if applied in this manner.

Remember it is important to cover under and upper surfaces of the leaves in every spray, as well as the fruit in order to control scab.

If you are dusting, do it only when it is absolutely quiet.

JAMES JOHNSON IN DEBATE WITH U. OF O.

The first Oregon radio debate between University of Oregon and University of Southern California was held at station KGW, Portland, Oregon, Saturday, beginning at 8:30 p. m.
California took the negative side of the question: "Resolved, That war, except in cases of insurrection or invasion, should be declared by direct vote of the people of the United States."
The Oregon team, composed of James Johnson, of Hood River, and Donald Beasler, of Warrenton, which has been trained by J. J. Stasler Gray, variety debate coach, used the old formal style of debating. The informal, cross-questioning method which the university has adopted, it was at first believed, was not adapted for the radio.
The verdict in the debate will be left to the listeners in the radio world. Ballots have been distributed and the audience is asked to mail to the KGW broadcasting station its decision on which team did the most effective debating. All ballots, according to Mr. Gray, should be in the hands of the Oregonian within five days after the debate.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schlegel and son, Palm Springs, student of the University of Oregon, returned up over the week end for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schuknecht. They were accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Pope, a sister of Mrs. Schuknecht.
Judge L. N. Blowers, who was here over the week end from southern California, visiting the family of his sister, Mrs. J. R. Nickelson, left the first of the week for Centralia, Wash., on business. Judge Blowers was accompanied here by his sister, Mrs. W. M. Kates, of Corvallis.
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Robbins, of Tacoma, accompanied by Prof. Walter S. Davis, state senator of Washington, was here last week visiting Alex B. Brooke. Mr. Robbins is registrar of the College of Puget Sound at Tacoma, and Prof. Davis occupies the chair of history and political science there.
Mrs. M. W. Armstrong and little daughter left last week for Moro, where she and Mr. Armstrong have taken over the dining room of the Moro hotel. Mr. Armstrong, who for the past year operated the dining room at the Mt. Hood hotel, made many friends here who expressed regret at their leaving.
Oregon wild flowers are being exterminated, reports Helen M. Gilkey, assistant professor of botany at the Oregon Agricultural College. While citizens of other states are protecting their flowers Oregonians are picking and destroying their heritage without sending the consequence.
The latest mode of pads, and it is somewhat unusual, in mice, Miss Myrtle Gundry has a small mouse, which occupies the cashier's booth with her at the Rialto theatre. The tiny rodent has been taught to stand on his hind feet and beg for tidbits of cheese.
Children and grown ups as well in hundreds viewed a pen of Ghinshilla rabbits exhibited the past week in one of the big show windows of the Paris Fair. The rabbits, a mother and a litter of babies, were the property of John B. Phillips, of Sanctuary Lakes, Wash.
A. C. Duke, an orchardist of Westport, Calif., and representative in the Pacific northwest for the California Spray Chemical Co., has been here the past week introducing a new summer oil spray, perfected by chemists of the California company. The new spray, which, it is said, causes no injury to fruit or foliage, is suggested as a control for codling moth.
George Stranahan, Oak Grove orchardist and contractor, has completed the excavation for a new country residence in the Pine Grove district for Al J. Graff. Mr. Graff, owner of East Side property and interested with Leroy Childs in a large Dee Flat tract, was formerly secretary of the Apple Growers Association. The new house will cost $8,000.
Mrs. Richard Jones and daughter, of Tulsa, Okla., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Nelson and son, Smith Nelson, of Portland, were here Sunday visiting Mrs. Georgiana Rand and Mrs. William Stewart, Mrs. Jones' cousins. Mrs. Jones is a national officer of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and is on a tour of the country visiting chapters at various universities.
A number of local orchardists, during the recent cold weather, using various types of orchard heaters, reported that the heaters probably saved pear blossoms from damage on frosty nights. Geo. M. Galloway, who used coal and wood fires on his place, says he is sure that the heat saved his crop from damage. Others who heated their fruit tracts were: E. C. Goodman, C. E. Miller, Harvey Jones and Don Yeck.
Miss Myrtle Jarvis has been appointed to the junior prom committee which is to be a feature of junior week end at U. of O. May 7 and 8. It has just been announced. All committee appointments have been completed and actual work on the students' big event of the year will begin immediately. Ralph Staley, of Portland, is general director of approximately 75 students who make up the committees.
Miss Alberta Carson was home last week from Marshfield, where she is teaching, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carson. Miss Carson's engagement to Robert Kirkwood, who is with the engineering department of the Bell Telephone Co., and who took postgraduate work at the University of Oregon, has been announced. The wedding will be an event of June.
Mr. Laraway Hurt in Fall
W. F. Laraway sustained a gash across his face and head and a dislocated shoulder Sunday when he fell from an automobile driven by W. G. Peffer. Goldendale manager of the Standard Oil Co., here with Mrs. Peffer on a visit to the Laraway family over Easter. The foot of the closed car came open as Mr. Peffer turned the Oak and Third street corner and Mr. Laraway fell to the paved street.
Mrs. Laraway's many friends were glad to see him able to come down town Tuesday.

THE HEIGHTS

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stansell (Hazel Carr) passed away Monday night. The funeral services were held at Anderson chapel Wednesday. Interment was in Idlewild cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Stansell have the sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.
George Smith has purchased the Ostrander property on Pine street and is making some very noticeable improvements.
W. H. Carrigan and family spent Easter with relatives in Portland.
Dr. and Mrs. F. V. Neely, of Portland, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Y. Smith Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Holman are on their way from Long Beach, Calif. They will stop at Oakland and visit with their daughter, Mrs. Kirk, and expect to be at home about the middle of the month.
Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Samuel motored to Portland Tuesday.
Miss Lillian Fisher entertained the officers of the Eastern Star at her home last week.
Mrs. C. A. Fuddy has returned from a visit with her son in the Upper Valley.
Mr. and Mrs. George Pietila and Billy McLeod, of Kelso, Wash., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Van Cise this week.
J. F. Volstorff has installed a new Hapdayton visible gas pump at his filling station.
W. L. Huckabay went to Albany Sunday, where he is attending to business interests.
Miss Frances Zolla, of Portland, spent Easter with relatives and friends.
Mrs. Emily Reeves and son, Dolph Reeves, are the guests of Mrs. Reeves' brother, L. H. Higgins. Mrs. Reeves is representing the Bell Rubber Co.
Miss Dorothy Higgins, who has been quite ill, is improving rapidly.
Mrs. A. M. Harkin is recovering from a major operation performed at a Portland hospital and expects to be at home the latter part of this week.
Mrs. A. C. Stevens is visiting her daughters in Centralia and Cascade Rock, Wash., and will visit friends in Portland before returning home.
There will be a baseball game between Hood River and The Dalles Sunday.
A. F. Davenport, whose automobile crashed into a telephone pole near The Dalles, city limits on the Chenoweth road last Thursday night, indirectly causing two accidents, was fined $200 in the justice court Monday morning and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail on charges of reckless driving.
The crash Thursday night came when Davenport rounded the curve near Ninth street at a high rate of speed and crashed into a main-line telephone pole, breaking the post off near the ground and interrupting through telephone and telegraph service. Cars driven by August J. Zoller, of Dufer, and Frank Fredrick, of The Dalles, were also wrecked there by the falling pole and by guy wires. Zoller was fined $150 Friday and given 10 days in the jail on a charge similar to Davenport's.
Davenport began serving his sentence at The Dalles Monday. He was to have appeared for trial Saturday, but gave as his excuse that he could not leave his market business. He will also have to pay the damages to the telephone company for actual costs and toll and press interruptions. It was said.

CONTROL OF GARDEN SLUGS

Several inquiries have been received relative to the control of garden slugs. California investigators are recommending the following combination for the control of this pest:
Place a teaspoonful of calcium arsenate and two teaspoonfuls of egg starch mixed together dry in a quart jar. The bait to carry the above mixture consists of carrots cut into small cubes 1/4-inch or less in size. Place about a quart of these cut baits in a jar, add water, and shake so that the contents will be properly mixed and a uniform covering of the poison mixture will be deposited on each piece of carrot. When a good coating is obtained the material is ready for use and should be scattered about the plants that are being attacked. This poison will last for several days and will stand considerable moisture.
Kent Shoemaker has purchased from W. C. Keck the latter's 12-acre East Side orchard place. The tract adjoins a 10-acre orchard already owned by Mr. Shoemaker. The new purchase will give Mr. Shoemaker one of the best located 22-acre orchards on the East Side.
Mr. and Mrs. Keck will probably move later to Salem, where their son, Wendell, is a student at Willamette University.
The folk of the valley generally regret to lose Mr. and Mrs. Keck as residents here, and the good wishes of a host of friends will go with them.
"The fact that one when he retires from farming or orcharding and sells out must also sell his home is one of the drawbacks to such an occupation," said Mr. Keck. "We tried every way to figure some means of disposing of our orchard tract and keeping our name. We have learned to love Hood River valley dearly."

WEDDINGS

Carson-Jenkins
Joseph K. Carson, popular young lawyer and Democrat, of Portland, who is known to be about to enter the lists as candidate for the nomination for congressman from that district, married Miss Hazel Irene Jenkins in Vancouver Thursday, March 25.
Rev. Francis A. LeViolette, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Vancouver, performed the ceremony, and the friends who were along stood up with the bride and bridesmaid.
Mr. and Mrs. Carson are making their home at 622 Glen street.
Mrs. Carson's parents, both now dead, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jenkins, of Umatilla county. The bride attended high school in Pendleton and Miss Caitlin's school in Portland. She has lived in Portland since completing school.
Mr. Carson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carson.
Reed-Kinnaman
Although married July 19, 1925, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Reed kept secret their wedding until Tuesday night, when Mr. Reed announced it at a meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge. Mr. Reed's bride was formerly Miss Lois Kinnaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kinnaman, of Yakima, Wash., where Mr. Kinnaman is a member of the staff of the Yakima Herald. The bride for the past two years has been at the office of Dr. H. L. Dunbar. The wedding occurred at Moro. The bridegroom, who is local representative for the General Petroleum Corporation, is the son of Mrs. Lucy Reed.
Mr. and Mrs. Reed are at home at the Cobb apartments.
Rose-Gardner
F. L. Rose, Upper Valley lumberman, and Miss Cora Gardner, of Salem, were recently married at the capital city. They are now making their home at 750 Pine street.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION DATE IS SET

At a meeting of the city school board Monday the date for an election at which taxpayers will pass on a $80,000 bond issue, needed in construction of a new high school building, was set for Saturday, May 1. The school district already has available funds to the extent of $80,000.
Winans Traps Young Bear
R. M. Winans, rancher of the Dee district, Tuesday brought the carcass of a yearling bear to the city. The animal, trapped near Mr. Winans' home, weighed 125 pounds. It had been raising the Winans pig pens.
The carcass of the bear, displayed at the Hood River market, will be sold to local folk for Sunday roasts and steaks.

McLAUGHLIN OUT FOR HIGH OFFICE

J. O. McLaughlin, who for nine years was superintendent of schools here, having been located the past eight years at Corvallis, who is now seeking the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of schools, was here the latter part of last week calling on old friends. McLaughlin has a host of friends in Hood River, who wish him success in his campaign. A native of Pennsylvania, he is 48 years old.
Many Install Ice Machines
During the past week the Pacific Power & Light company has sold 11 Electro-Kold electric refrigerator units. Eight of the machines were installed by C. J. Dittler, factory representative. Electric refrigeration is a comparatively new home appliance, but it is so far superior to other methods of cooling and refrigeration that the present demand for machines is working every manufacturer to capacity. The Pacific Power & Light company expects to install at least 30 machines in the valley this season.
Eighty-Kold machines were installed at the following homes last week: Judge Derby, S. J. Moore, Dr. Sifton, J. M. Colburn, C. C. Anderson, A. S. Kolstad, W. E. Sherman and E. L. Banks.
Miss Ellen McCurdy, traveling demonstrator on the Pacific Power & Light company system, is now in Hood River and will be in this district for the next two weeks.
Radio Expect Coming
Walter V. Russ, assistant U. S. radio inspector, will be in Hood River either Sunday, April 18, or Monday, April 19, for the purpose of making an investigation of interference conditions.

Davenport Gets Jail Sentence

A. F. Davenport, whose automobile crashed into a telephone pole near The Dalles, city limits on the Chenoweth road last Thursday night, indirectly causing two accidents, was fined $200 in the justice court Monday morning and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail on charges of reckless driving.

Dee Mill Starts Run

With logging camp and mill crews filled up, the Oregon Lumber Co. has started the season's run at an earlier date than usual, due to lack of snow in the highland forests. The company will operate with an approximate 300 men through the season.
The logging camps are located on the headwaters of the West Fork of Hood river, where Douglas fir is the dominant tree. The logs are transported to the mill over a 17-mile railroad.
St. Mary's to Have Special Mass
For motor visitors here from Portland to see the apple blossoms Sunday a special mass will be observed Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church. The mass will be said at 11:30 o'clock.
Father Marshall has announced that the first mass Sunday will be held at 9 o'clock.

McLAUGHLIN OUT FOR HIGH OFFICE

J. O. McLaughlin, who for nine years was superintendent of schools here, having been located the past eight years at Corvallis, who is now seeking the Democratic nomination for state superintendent of schools, was here the latter part of last week calling on old friends. McLaughlin has a host of friends in Hood River, who wish him success in his campaign. A native of Pennsylvania, he is 48 years old.
Many Install Ice Machines
During the past week the Pacific Power & Light company has sold 11 Electro-Kold electric refrigerator units. Eight of the machines were installed by C. J. Dittler, factory representative. Electric refrigeration is a comparatively new home appliance, but it is so far superior to other methods of cooling and refrigeration that the present demand for machines is working every manufacturer to capacity. The Pacific Power & Light company expects to install at least 30 machines in the valley this season.
Eighty-Kold machines were installed at the following homes last week: Judge Derby, S. J. Moore, Dr. Sifton, J. M. Colburn, C. C. Anderson, A. S. Kolstad, W. E. Sherman and E. L. Banks.
Miss Ellen McCurdy, traveling demonstrator on the Pacific Power & Light company system, is now in Hood River and will be in this district for the next two weeks.
Radio Expect Coming
Walter V. Russ, assistant U. S. radio inspector, will be in Hood River either Sunday, April 18, or Monday, April 19, for the purpose of making an investigation of interference conditions.
