WHERE NO WILL IS MADE IS MADE

This Bank advises everyone with property of any kind to make a will.

But in cases where no will is made, this Bank's services as administrator of the estate under the direction of State law are always available to heirs of the deceased.

This Bank has experience in settling estates—whereas most individuals haven't. And in no work is experience more essential.

TAILORING

At this time of the year when the leaves are coming out it is human nature to stretch and get a move on and we have been reminded by friends that they are looking for something in our usual place in the Glacier.

We find an old clipping which we hope some of our Hood River business men will read twice. This clipping appears to boost the printers' business but we are not in partnership. Here it is:

Wake Up, Man

Tell us, are you advertising in the same old foolish way that your grand-dad did before you, and persist it "doesn't pay?"

Think the whole world knows your address. "Cause it hasn't changed in years?"

Wouldn't the pathos of such logic drive a Billy goat to tears? "Just a card" is all you care for, hidden, lonesome and unread.

Like the sign upon the tombstone, telling folks that you are dead.

Wake up, man, and take a tonic, bunch your hits and make a drive.

Run a page, and change your copy, ADVERTISE and keep alive!

—Smith Center, Kansas, Pioneer.

P. S. For tonic we would advise plenty of Koberg's Non Pareil Asparagus.

INSURED MORTGAGE BONDS

The first mortgage bonds issued by the Mortgage Security Corporation of America and unconditionally guaranteed by the National Surety Company of New York are regarded by good banks as a desirable investment for customers seeking mortgage loans.

These bonds bear six per cent interest and may be had in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000 to mature in three to twenty years.

We will be glad to mail further information or the officers of the bank will be pleased to discuss this form of investment with anyone who is interested.

DE MOLAY CHAPTER INSTITUTED

45 YOUTHS INITIATED ON MONDAY

The Dulles Chapter in Charge of Work—Order Under Approval of Royal Arch Masons

At a ceremony, declared by those present to have been one of the most impressive ever participated in by a mid-Columbia fraternal organization, 45 Hood River young men and two from The Dalles were initiated into the Order of De Molay here Monday night. The new De Molay chapter of the young men's fraternal organization was instituted, the work of the installation and institution being held in charge of The Dalles chapter.

Many Masons were present from various mid-Columbia points to witness the ceremonies of institution and the installation of officers. Officers were named as follows: Donald McLucas, master; Paul Kirk, junior counselor; Dale Fike, treasurer; Kelsey Slocum, scribe; Gordon Hanson, chaplain; Erikson Sander, senior deacon; Paul Kerr, junior deacon; Thomas Johnson, Jr., senior steward; Middel Lager, junior steward; Frank Berger, almoner; Harold Howard, marshal; Victor Miller, standard bearer; Gordon Hout, sentinel; Harry Weber, organist; Howard Miller, orator; Maurice Fletcher, Elton Wasson, Melburn Johnson, Robert Butler, George Palmer, George West and Clayton Foreman, preceptors.

Other members of the new De Molay chapter are: Frank Stratton, Arnold Redwell, Arthur Lofta, Dan Pierson, Harold Clayton Fletcher, Ellis Cummings, Willis Ray, Loran McCarty, Herbert Fraser, George Miller, George Alston Fletcher, Herbert Peterson, Bartley Woodyard, Howard Elnor, Walter Suhl, Prince Koberg, Roscoe Walton, Edward Volstorff, Harold Beldin, Russell Volstorff, Maurice Walden and Joseph Dale Samllin.

Leo Brown, of The Dalles, was here to represent the deputy grand councilor. Dr. W. J. Kerr, president of the Oregon Agricultural College, who was unable to be present. The local order of De Molay is sponsored by a board of Royal Arch Masons, composed of the following: A. E. Keen, chairman; Earl H. Shanty, secretary; Dr. E. L. Scofield, Vern Horne, W. O. Sheppard, Harold Harshner, F. H. Blagg, A. H. Berry, Frank Gilbert and W. T. Price.

Following the ceremonies of institution and initiation the members of the new chapter were entertained at a banquet.

is providing a treat for the Apple Valley's guests. The Lower Valley was a sea of pink and white blossoms and light breezes of the afternoon wafted the delicate perfume down vistas of bounding trees and meadows.

At the sun sank Sunday night at the end of a perfect April day visitors and fruitgrowers alike expressed contentment, the former for the privilege of a day of unusual pastorial recreation amidst a valley of peace, and the orchardist because of the promise of a bumper yield.

The heavy bloom, with prospects of an excellent crop far in excess of the 2,000,000-box tonnage of a year ago. Frost dangers seem over, and growers who had purchased heating pots stated they would store them away until another year.

The Guides, who assembled Sunday morning at the Columbia George hotel for breakfast and then furnished visitors with information or piloted them over the orchard sections, were many plaudits.

WABTUM LAKE SNOW FOUND VERY LIGHT

E. W. Wheeler, in charge of the district of the Mount Hood national forest, said Monday on his return to Astoria that the snow in the celebration of American Forest Week next week, said indications now point to early hazards in mid-Columbia forests. Mr. Wheeler said that he returned from Wabtum lake, where he found the average snow depth three and a half feet. The average depth at the season is around eight feet. Mr. Wheeler says that the snowline of the forest, usually in the lower toward the lower altitudes at this season, has already crept far up on the foothill summits.

In another month the forest will have melted. The snowline of the forest, usually in the lower toward the lower altitudes at this season, has already crept far up on the foothill summits.

"The outlook is not very promising from the forest ranger standpoint," said Mr. Wheeler, "and we anticipate a busy spring and summer. Still, I have observed that we ordinarily get a lot of early and early summer rain following a winter of light precipitation. If this tendency to even things up prevails this year, we may secure sufficient rainfall to keep the woods damp and green and thus eliminate the fire hazard."

Mr. Wheeler stated that he had a maintenance crew of two men engaged on the Snake creek trail to Wabtum lake. The trail has been cleared for four miles. Because of the dry winter storms and the light snowfall, clearing of the trail will be light. Parties can now get through to Wabtum lake, Mr. Wheeler said.

Mr. Wheeler was at Wapinitia last week, where he secured two new pack horses from Range Graham. He rode home by way of The Dalles he placed up five of his own animals, which had been on their way to the coast since Oregon," said Mr. Wheeler, "and I have never seen animals gathered in the open in these spring conditions."

CLOUD CAP CAMPAIGN SET FOR APRIL 27

Hood River's participation in the campaign to raise a $10,000 fund for construction of the new Cloud Cap Inn will be launched Tuesday, April 27. Originally it was proposed to wage the campaign this week, with the assistance of a chamber of commerce members making the solicitations. However, the activity of the chamber in raising its annual budget and other activities caused the postponement.

Soliciting committees have been named, and the campaign, when once launched the latter part of the month will be carried to completion rapidly. It was stated at a meeting Monday, following the luncheon at the hotel, the following: C. C. Anderson, S. E. Bartness, A. F. Steele, James Strahan, A. W. Peters, M. E. McCarty, L. A. Bennett, Earl H. Blank and R. E. Perigo.

The executive committee of the chamber in charge of the inn campaign is composed of Leslie Butler, Kent Shoemaker, A. L. Anderson and Fred H. Bell. Truman Butler and E. O. Blanchard form the advisory members of the board.

Subscriptions reaching $2,100 have already been pledged. The First National and the Butler banks and the Oregon-Washington Telephone Co. each pledged $500, and $300 was pledged by each of the hotels, the Hotel Waukoma and the Mt. Hood hotel.

FRED FRAUTSCHY DIES IN PORTLAND

Funeral services for Fred Frautschy, a pioneer homesteader of the Dec district, were held Monday at the Jacobson chapel in Portland. Interment followed at Mt. Scott cemetery. Mr. Frautschy is survived by his brother, Emil Frautschy, of Dec, and Mrs. John Beeson, of Portland. He was an uncle of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gender and Mrs. W. Jennings, of Portland.

Mr. Frautschy and his brother had developed one of the most alluring ranch places in the valley in the foothills west of Dec. While they had a garden plot of wonderful flowers and fruits, their place was chiefly devoted to stockraising. Mr. Frautschy had resided in the Dec section for more than 80 years.

While he had been ailing for more than a year, it was not realized that his sickness was serious, and his death brought a shock to his many Hood River valley friends.

Well Baby Clinic

The monthly Child Health Clinic for April will be held Friday, April 16, at the court house. The hours are in the morning from 9 until 12. Dr. E. L. Dumble will be the physician in charge. Miss Weaver, county nurse, asks that inasmuch as this is the first clinic to be held since the epidemic, all parents exercising the utmost care that no children shall be brought to the clinic who have been recently exposed to a contagious disease.

Remember this is a well baby clinic.

STRAWBERRY OUTLOOK GOOD

LOWER VALLEY ACRES BEING PLANTED

Activity of Root Weevil May Mean Increased Damage—Bugs From 1927 Due for a Jump

While weather conditions this spring have been ideal for pollination of strawberry blossoms, now leading plants in every section where a heavy acreage appears, the blossom this year may be cut because of activity of strawberry root weevil in bearing acreage. The Apple Growers Association last year shipped 46 cars of commercially packed strawberries and 30 tons were forwarded to Canada.

The berry harvest, because of the early spring weather this season, will begin about May 10, from present indications. Harvest of the lower elevations has been blossoming for more than a week, and Lower Valley tracts are now in full bloom. The commercial berry tonnage of the Hood River district is usually close to the Rocky Mountains and Duhamel peaks. Although the price of the local fruit is considerably higher than that from other sections, however, purchasers Hood River. Clark Seedlings were used for planting purposes.

Estimates place settings of new acreage of Clark Seedling berries in the valley this year at more than 180 acres. The new plantings, however, will have no effect on this season's tonnage. The planting of berries for the past several years was nominal because of damage of root weevil. Discovery of a plumb bait control has stimulated berry-growers to a greater extent than has been observed for the past 10 years.

The new plumb bait, to be effective, can only be applied following the harvest of the fruit, and growers will have a last opportunity this coming summer of practicing control. Growers, however, have demonstrated that the bait is effective in killing tracts of the pest. Growers have generally had the plumb bait used with all shade trees of the Hood River valley, but this year the plumb bait will be used on strawberry acreage, also.

"Because of the fine weather of the past winter, I have never seen strawberries, which are now being planted, plants have attained a fine growth, and the quality of this season's crop will be remarkably good."

SIXTEEN ATTEND GRADUATE MEETING

It was recommended to the Oregon State Board of Horticulture, which held a meeting in Portland Monday, that the Fourth grade of apples be eliminated from state grading rules. An attempt to recommend establishment of an orchard run grade was defeated. The state board, at some later date, it was stated, expects to formally adopt the suggestions of the Hood River county board of horticulture.

A committee, composed of State Comptroller, Washington, and Hugh J. Fish, of the Rogue River district, and H. L. Shoemaker, of Hood River, was appointed to confer with Washington orchardists at a meeting to be held April 22. Efforts will be made to standardize the grading rules in the local folk.

Local folk at the Portland meeting were: D. L. Pierson, Arvo Huarki, E. J. McInnes, E. A. Collins, M. O. Down, H. L. Shoemaker, Marshall Iversen, F. L. Thompson, C. K. Benton, A. J. Graff, Walter Woodpecker, H. E. Galligan, Geo. T. Galligan, J. C. Duckwall, W. J. Kocken and A. F. Steele.

THE MASONIC LODGE WILL BURN MORTGAGE

The Hood River Masonic lodge will observe a mortgage burning celebration Wednesday evening, April 21. R. B. Bennett, master of the lodge, has announced the following program: "Early Day Reinstatement," H. E. Davidson, a charter member; historical review, Kent Shoemaker, secretary of the lodge, and "Present Day Activities," Harold Hershner, past master of the lodge.

Following initiatory work, a banquet will be held.

Candidates' Records Presented

Mrs. Helen Ayres Davenport, prominent in Pacific northwestern W. G. T. U. circles, will address the local union next Tuesday. Mrs. Davenport will present the past records of all candidates now seeking office, according to Mrs. J. R. Nickerson, who is arranging next week's program. Measures to be presented to voters in May will be discussed by Mrs. Mary Frazer Corwin.

Speeches at Penney Convention

Manager L. A. Bennett, of the local J. C. Penney company store, will leave today to attend the spring regional buying convention of managers of the organization which will convene at Portland Friday morning. Daily sessions will be held for ten days. Resident managers of over 100 stores from the adjoining states will be in attendance. The first two days will be devoted to formal discussions by executives and managers of the Columbia George hotel. Officers will be elected and the annual report will be read. Mrs. Saldie Orr Dunbar, of Portland, will be speaker of the day. Each community is urged to have a full representative present at the meeting.
