CELEBRATING THE FOURTH

All's well that ends well. There is ors in swimming, or leave camp a first class scout. We hope that each scout who goes to camp will accomplish what he wants to do. now a cooperative effort being displayed in preparations for Hood River's two Fourth of July celebrations. All local folk who can make the trip to the mile-high Tilly Jane camp are prepar-MANY SEEK RESERing to join in on the Legion climb. Many will be left at home, and these will swell the crowd at Koberg Beach, where the baseball club will sponso the celebration. The two organizations are working together for the boosting of both celebrations.

Hood River has a baseball team, a real team this year. The town is proud of its winning aggregation, and merchants and business folk have evidenced a substantial support throughout the year. This support has generated the winning spirit. It will continue.

The Legion Post, through initiation of the Mt. Hood climbing party, has stimulated a statewide interest in Oregon's scenic asset. They have rendered an invaluable service to the Hood River community. The Coopers Spur lateral, completed at this comparatively early date through the Legion's activity, is now open. Do you realize that on the hottest day of summer you completely graded and one may now drive to the Legion Camp, located near Cloud Cap inn, with ease. The accessi-bility of the camp will attract hundreds of additional visitors to the mountain can climb in your automobile and in an hour and a half be throwing snowballs on the side of Mount Hood? Journey up to the Legion camp on the Fourth and gain a comprehension of this year. what the lateral highway means to FUNERAL OF H. C. Hood River Valley.

A COMMUNITY ASSET

Koberg Beach is a community asset. John Koberg has expended funds, time and energy for years in building up this resort. It behooves all of us to aid him in making the beach more accessible, Mr. Koberg should have a better grade crossing over the O.-W. R. & N. lines. The county court should cooperate with the rall line in improving the crossing immediately. In its present condition the crossing is dangerous. Yet it is one of the most traveled roads of the vicinity. On Sundays and holidays cars by the hundreds cross the narrow approaches to the railroad. Let's have it fixed. The road there should be guarded by a heavy fence, the posts and horizontal planks painted a white, in order to be seen at night.

We suggest, too, that some of the antomobile transportation folk of the city provide a special bus to the beach. We believe it would win patronage and serve scores of folk, who otherwise will not visit the resort.

If questioned farther they will tell you much more. Each one is more in-terested in some particular part of the program. One who likes to hike will tell you of the wonderfud hikes that they are going to have and that he hopes to be ap official camp guidesman and wear their uniform. Another will rell you about the two new whale boais. greet you at these services. The Livingstones. tell you about the two new whale boats and how he's going to be a member of one of the crews. The endless stories of the death toll from motor accidents is alarming. The timid are filled with hesitancy when considering a trip. Eighteen people have met death in automobile accidents in Portland this year. The public stands convicted of an apathy and ssness that will permit of such reckless handling of motor cars. Be careful yourself and demand that other drivers be as careful as yourself.

Vacation days are here, and the momidst. The Guides have initiated a plan of systematic visits to the local automobile mathematic visits to the local automobile parks. Their courteous greeting and the information they will convey to the visitors will cause hundreds to think of Hood River Valley after they have finished their journeys diagnosis and the latter has written a philippic let the case of those overvaunted limbs be ended. Elbert should welcome such suggestion. The public is getting tired and first thing we know someone will suggest that his legs be amputated

We have a suggestion to members of the Hood River Guides. They should learn the legendary significance of the scenic points along the Columbia gorge. Stories of them will create a real interest on the part of tourists. Let them hear the legend of Multnomah Falls and Rooster Rock and Castle Rock and they'll never forget them.

It is hot these days down at the city level, but many are the cool retreats in the mountain forests and along the Columbia, or down at the beaches. It takes a few warm days in Oregon to bring us to a real appreciation of the great vacation land that is ours.

Happy now is the city dweller who has labored with his garden plot and has brought to fruition his vegetable beds. They taste a lot better when you have grown them.

Have you dressed your orchard up for the visiting pomologists, who will be here tomorrow and Saturday?
