

EDUCATED LARIATS AT ROUND-UP

Chester Byers, with his college-bred ropes, has at once made his home town of Fort Worth and the Pendleton Round-up famous. Byers will be among the trick ropers when the Round-up starts September 15.

"Boy, that rope's been to Yale, that's all!" So spoke an almost unbelieving spectator when Chester Byers, trick and fancy roper who made Fort Worth, Tex., famous, unstrung a few of his carefully cherished lariats. If there are educated ropes on earth, they belong to Chester, and he trained them himself. That, he explains, is the reason they refuse to perform for anyone else. The old "master's voice" stuff. They are one-man ropes!

But Byers is anything but a one-rope man, as crowds who attend Pendleton's 1926 Round-up will be able to attest. It makes little difference to this versatile twirler whether he has one rope or three. He can make all of them do tricks that you must see to believe, and does it with such an easy and carefree air that most of his spectators inwardly resolve to go home and do likewise. It's so simple. Try it on the wife's clothesline, if you think so.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Seeger and all the boys at Hilltop camp are spending a week camping at the Lee caves of Mount Adams, Trout lake and several other camping spots in Washington. Needless to say everyone concerned is heartily enjoying himself. It is not always that we find two such delightful people so interested in youngsters as this couple, who have no children of their own. They are as interested in the uplift of these boys in their care as one could wish.

J. J. Ramer and his hired man were returning from Hood River Sunday and were struck by the Mount Hood jitney at Bucher's crossing and very badly shaken up. Mr. Ramer, who was driving, said he did not know the jitney went out Sunday and so was not on his guard, as he should have been, and did not see it until it was too late. He put on all speed, but the jitney struck the rear of his truck. Both the truck and the engine of the jitney were demolished and only a second of time saved their lives. This was certainly a very close call.

of the irrigating water for a month longer for some purposes, most of the irrigating is over with, making the accident not as serious as it would have been earlier in the season.

Armand Dubuth, who took an outing Sunday along the West fork with his fishing tackle, landed a five-pound steelhead, which is looked upon as unusual as the season is said to be far advanced for this variety of salmon to be running.

Bartlett pears were about cleaned up in the Dee district Saturday as far as picking was concerned. Taking the Bartlett season here by and large it has proved a successful one for most growers. Those who delayed their picking for a day or two when the fruit should have come off and then had the rain stop operations for a day or two longer experienced some difficulty in having overripe fruit, but not enough to mean any serious loss. In all instances the yields were heavy and some loss was naturally to be expected.

A pleasant social affair took place at the apple house of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Edgar Thursday evening when about 25 of the intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Parker assembled there to bid them farewell. A basket dinner was provided and Mr. and Mrs. Parker, who left Friday morning to make their home in Portland, were given the best wishes of all present for happiness and prosperity in the future. It is understood that Mr. Parker is to engage in the insurance business in Portland.

To raise funds to finance the activities of the Hot Lunch club of the Dee school for the coming term a dance was given at the school auditorium Tuesday evening. The affair, which was well attended and had a number of enjoyable features, was successful in furnishing the ladies of the club with a substantial amount to add to the funds in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem West, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. West's father, Walker West, on the Flat, returned Thursday to their home at Gelson.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Catherwood, who took a motor trip to eastern Oregon last week, going as far as Baker, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nilsson, returned to Dee Friday. Miss Virginia Catherwood, who had been a guest of the Nilssons several weeks, returned with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Parkins returned to Hood River Sunday after a stay of two weeks on their ranch on the Flat. During their stay Mr. and Mrs. Parkins had the pleasure of harvesting the first crop from their young pear orchard, which contained less than two boxes of cull fruit.

Mrs. Benton Mays, who has been spending most of the summer at her Dee Flat residence, returned to her home here Thursday after a visit of several days with friends in Portland.

The county road crew which has been engaged in surfacing the new Dee grade, is now busy putting gravel on some of the more important parts of the Dee Flat roads, to put them in better condition before the apple hauling season commences.

During the summer months the grounds around the Dee school have been further improved. Flower beds have been laid out and ornamented along the front of the building, the grounds leveled approaching the entrance and the walks put in better condition.

Work is now being rushed by a large crew on the new packing plant the Hood River Apple Growers Association is building at Dee. The structure is being rapidly enclosed and every effort being made to have it ready for the apple harvesting season.

The poles for the extension of the light and power line of the Pacific Power & Light Co. into the Dee district are now being erected near Summit and it is said that the work of completing the line will now be rushed as fast as possible, although failure to obtain a full crew is delaying the work, according to the company officials. Dee residents in anticipation of the actual coming of the "juice" are having their houses wired and preparing to have the convenience of doing away with the lamp and candle.

Gibson will have charge of the schools this year. The other teachers are Miss Vivian Felke, Miss Stella Van

CITY SCHOOL CON-TRACT TO BE LET

The city school board next Monday will open bids on the new $100,000 high school building, which will rise on a nine-acre tract on Paradise farm at the west edge of the city. The structure will be two stories high, constructed of concrete, faced with brick. Plans call for getting the new school plant under cover before winter rains set in. It will not be ready for occupancy until next spring, when commencement exercises will be held there. The grounds will be landscaped. An athletic field will be arranged. The old high school building will be used as a junior high school, on completion of the new senior high structure. The old junior high building, which will be suited to conversion into an apartment house, will be sold.

TOBY

Toby Nord is coming to town heading his own big company of players. Toby will be remembered by many, having played here before with a partner. This year Mr. Nord has one of the biggest and finest theatres on the road. Large, comfortable seats are used this season.

The company this year will have two feature plays, Rex Beach's "Barrier" and the "Hoodlum." Special flat scenery and effects are carried to make the plays real productions. New vaudeville will be the specialties between acts.

The opening play for Thursday, tonight, will be "Mother's Love," a big Toby special, plenty of comedy and a strong heart interest as well. Ladies will be admitted free tonight with each paid ticket.

The Glacier makes rubber stamps.
