W. C. T. U. PRAISES DISTRICT ATTORNEY

The following letter of praise was recently written to District Attorney Baker by the corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U.

May 21, 1926.

John Baker, Attorney at Law,
Hood River, Ore.

Dear Sir: Something over one hundred members attended the regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. and a motion was made and carried that the Corresponding Secretary write you commending you on the particularly capable handling of the recent liquor trial of Art Kolstad vs. the State.

Those who attended the trial were of the opinion that great ability was shown in the final summing up. The W. C. T. U. trusts the case can be kept within this jurisdiction.

Very truly,
W. C. T. U.

DR. BODY TO FILL RIVERSIDE PULPIT

Dr. Wm. H. Boddy, now pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Chicago, who was formerly pastor of the Upper Valley Community church here, will preach at the local church Sunday.

Dr. Boddy was formerly a member of the faculty of Reed College. He and his family are here on a vacation.

Dr. Boddy went from here to Chicago to accept the pastorate of the Woodlawn Presbyterian church, which was recently amalgamated with the First church. The latter institution received its charter before the city of Chicago was established. A fund of $500,000 has been raised for construction of a new edifice for the combined churches.

Pythians Going to Vancouver

EAST SIDERS SEEK 5 PER CENT ROAD

Listing 88 growers, whose estimated tonnage of fruits is 13,152 tons, East Side orchardists have presented an argument to the chamber of commerce, seeking to have the Whiskey creek lateral of the Mount Hood Loop highway built on a five per cent, instead of a seven and a half per cent road, as called for in specifications approved by the county court. A contract has been awarded for the work, but those opposing the steep grade cite that it is on a yardage basis and may apply to the five per cent road.

The appeal of the East Siders is as follows: "You will note that there is nearly one half of a million boxes of packed apples and pears, produced in this Whiskey creek district. These 435,000 packed boxes are equivalent to 10,875 tons.

"While it is true that some of these apples and pears may be hauled to the Van Horn warehouses, yet if they should be packed and shipped from Hood River, the Whiskey creek road is their natural outlet.

"The material used in these 435,000 boxes is as follows: For box shooks, 1,523 tons; for paper, 108 tons, making a total of 1,631 tons, all of which were hauled from Hood River.

"The spray materials used in producing these 435,000 boxes of apples and pears, including miscible oil, Bordeaux, sulphur, lime, arsenate of lead, casein and other mixtures represents 218 tons, all of which were also hauled out from Hood River.

"In addition to the production of these pears and apples, we have shown a production of 40 tons of strawberries and raspberries, 20 tons of milk, 40 tons of potatoes and 70 tons of wood. There were also 418 tons of hay and grain hauled to and from the homes of these 88 homes.

"In the tabulation heretofore presented we have included only the heads of families directly tributary to this Whiskey creek road. We have gone south only as far as the residence of R. H. Weber, who lives just north of the C. T. Roberts road to the Mount Hood Loop highway.

"There may be some who will ask, 'Why include those who reside near and south of Pine Grove school house?' We do this, because these people are compelled, in order to get to the Mount Hood Loop highway, to climb the Van Horn butte with a grade of 8 to 10 per cent, and must also go west one-half of a mile more than will be necessary after the Whiskey creek road is built.

"We might add that after this road is built on a standard grade, that all of the territory south of Pine Grove will travel it. Here is the list of citizens who live immediately south of the Van Horn butte: Mrs. H. W. Krussow, Elmer House, F. G. Fischer, L. E. Clark, Wm. Clark, Bill Clark, Ralph Perry, Victor Thompson, J. P. Thomson, Fred Mack, T. Hanson, H. H. Hill, Clyde Cochran, A. F. Gregg, Perry Wells, T. H. Cantrell, Mr. Shellman, Mrs. English, Mr. Brown and W. T. Bell. None of these have been considered in our tonnage.

"If the Roberts road is used as a feeder to the Loop highway, all of those above mentioned using it are compelled to travel more than a half of a mile too far west, making the distance to the Loop highway, 1 1/2 miles. We might also state that this Roberts road is only 30 feet wide and is not in the best of condition.

"In conclusion, we now offer the following summary: List Number of families served, 83; weight of packed pears and apples, 10,875 tons; weight of box shooks hauled, 1,523 tons; weight of nails, 18 tons; weight of paper, 108 tons; weight of berries, 40 tons; weight of milk, 60 tons; weight of potatoes, 46 tons; weight of wood, 70 tons; weight of hay and grain, 418 tons; weight of cherries and peaches, 15 tons; grand total tonnage, 13,152 tons."

The Orchardist and His Help

Hood River, Ore., Aug. 23, 1926.
Editor Glacier: As the season approaches for apple picking and packing it is well to take in the situation and to predict what might reasonably occur between the orchardist and one who works for him. These words are not having any reference to the faithful employees who have an established good record in the community, but there is a class of persons of a nomadic nature who may pass through the country, staying a day or two, who may know very little of what is expected of them. They stay long enough, perhaps, to shake apples off the trees, and feel injured if they do not receive as much compensation as the best workers.

The majority of the ranchers are not wealthy. If some who work for them could but realize the great expense they are subject to year after year there would be more sympathy shown by the laborers. I feel justified in saying the honest orchardist is always willing to give credit where it is due, believing they are worthy of their hire.

Personally the writer has had no complaints to make. She has been able to secure good helpers. Those who have come have been capable and conscientious. She has had no fears that they might belong to a moonshine or bootleg brigade, or that they might set fire to her buildings or woodpile through the carelessness of cigarette smoking.

Every kind of business demands faithful and honest service, and the orchard business furnishes no exception to the rule.

Among the sorters and packers we will have many worthy people who are entirely new at the work, but no doubt be willing to learn how everything should be conducted. An alert employer does not want too much talking in the packing house as it might interfere with the work. Everyone busy and satisfied should be the slogan, and it should always be a place where no smoking should be allowed. In this connection a word to the wise orchardist is sufficient.

Finally, kindness and courtesy are pleasing and essential qualities and lie within the reach of us all. Rancher.

Premature Arrival of Orchard Help

Apple growers and shipping concerns report a premature deluge of harvest help. Many families have arrived here without funds, stating that they expected to find immediate work in orchards. Philanthropic organizations are hard hit in an effort to care for the

Glacier Ad Fails Money
C. M. Shaw, of the Cottage Farm, says that Glacier classified advertisements get results. Last week Mr. Shaw sold a cow from a Glacier ad. He received $70 in currency for the animal. Walking through Kelly Bros. store he dropped the money, which was later picked up by H. W. Kelly.

Mr. Kelly thought the cash had been dropped by some member of the store's staff, and a check up was made to ascertain where it belonged. No department had missed $70.

"Look in the Glacier and see if anybody has lost any money," suggested H. W. Kelly, and immediately the men found Mr. Shaw's classified ad, seeking his lost currency. In a very short time Mr. Shaw had his funds restored to him.
