Mushroom fiends have been very busy during the past week gathering the delectable Shaggy Main, a variety easily told. These are numerous along the Snowden highway and have a delicious flavor. Field mushrooms are also numerous but they are dangerous things to fool with unless one is absolutely sure they are edible.

Considering the amount of rain which has fallen in this district recently dirt roads are in surprisingly good condition, which growers who are hauling apples in bulk to town to be packed fully appreciate.

DROP IN YAKIMA, WENATCHEE, HEAVY

Dropping of apples in the Yakima valley has reduced the tonnage from 16,000 carloads to 13,000 carloads and heavy cullage and stricter grading rules will operate to reduce the crop 1,000 cars in addition, making the prospective tonnage 12,000 cars. This is a conservative estimate of the reduction, as some fruit men would place the tonnage at 11,000 cars. The harvest is now completed all through the valley. All the apples which dropped to the ground will not be picked up. Only about one-third of the fruit picked up off the ground will be packed and the only grade it can go into is the C-grade. The loss of apples will be heaviest in the Rome variety as considerable of this crop was let go until the growers had garnered the Winesaps. There will be less than two-thirds of the tonnage of this variety expected. Some of the shippers have begun to fear that they will not be able to fill their orders. There will be no shortage of the intermediate varieties as a considerable percentage of these fell to the ground while the Winesaps were being picked.

Harvesting of the apple crop in the Wenatchee district is now almost completed, as high as 5,000 people having been working in the orchards of the district at one time during the past ten days. It is now possible for the first time to check up the damage done by the premature maturity of the crop which caused an early drop. The general opinion is that the total loss will be greater than at first estimated. More than 25 per cent of the total crop fell to the ground, probably 30 per cent, and most of this will be a total loss. Growers who have attempted to salvage the apples on the ground find that it does not pay. All the larger orchard companies have abandoned the undertaking entirely. It is not believed now that as much as 35 per cent of the volume of apples on the ground can be packed. This would mean a loss of nearly 20 per cent of the entire tonnage or 3,800 cars upon a basis of 19,000 cars for the district, leaving less than 16,000 cars to be shipped.

The general opinion among shippers is that the crop which has been saved is in excellent condition, color being excellent and quality high. Shipments are now running 200 cars daily, the total to date being about 6,000 cars.

TRAFFIC ON LOOP SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Count of the traffic over the valley trunk of the Mount Hood Loop highway, taken Sunday by F. H. Blackman, showed 2,014 motor cars, as compared with 1,466 on the same date a year ago. The traffic would have been heavier, it was stated, had not the Loop within the national forest been blocked by freshets in the mountains.

The traffic of the Loop highway reached 2,000 for the first time in September this year. The census for a representative day of that month showed 2,261 cars, as compared with 1,541 for the same date last year.
