BENNETT AT PENNY MEETING IN PORTLAND

L. A. Bennett, local manager, is in Portland this week attending an annual buying convention of managers of the J. C. Penney Co. of the Pacific northwest. Prominent officials present at the sessions include: Lew V. Day, personnel department; J. E. Herbert, treasurer; R. L. Whitman, advertising manager; and J. M. McDonald, merchandising department.

George Bruce, writer for the Modern Science Institute, of Toledo, O., in a recent story of the silver jubilee of the Penney Co., said:

"The original J. C. Penney store was founded in Kemmerer, Wyoming, on April 14, 1902. Today there are 778 J. C. Penney stores and plans are already under way to increase this number to more than 800 before the close of this year.

"In 1902, the 'mother store' in Kemmerer did business of $28,908.11. At the close of 1926 the 745 stores operating at that time did a total of $115,082,737 in sales for the year.

"The $300 which was the original investment of J. C. Penney in the little store at Kemmerer was turned better than 230,000 times last year.

"The original $500 was invested in the Kemmerer store has grown to over $30,000,000 of invested capital. This growth has been brought about inside the group of stores. No outside capital is invested in the J. C. Penney company, and the only time that outside help was asked for was in 1919 when an issue of preferred stock was offered to furnish funds for tax purposes. This preferred stock has since been retired.

"Based on the statement of the founder of the business, that 'Success is entirely a matter of moral fibre,' this achievement has been without equal in the business annals of the country.

"The growth of the Ford Motor company was founded on an original $28,000 and was continued without the use of further outside capital. But this $28,000 has not grown in the same percentage ratio as the growth of the Penney $500 investment. And giving Ford a total turnover of $1,000,000,000 for 1926, the turnover is but 35,000 times the original investment which has been working approximately the same time as the Penney investment.

"A still greater difference is shown in the fact that today, J. C. Penney has more than 1,000 partners, each of whom has started in exactly the same manner as he started, with the same future ahead and the same factors to contend with and to turn into personal success."

Foreign News on Apples

The past winter has been full of disappointment to the British fruit trade. Statistically there have been some very bright promises, especially in boxed apples from the Pacific Northwest, but actually these have not been fulfilled to date. It is not probable that they will be until barreled apples are entirely out of the way.

Everyone has observed that the storage stocks of boxes in the United States has been favorable since early winter for an advance in prices. Arrivals of boxed apples since January 1 have not been excessive. As a matter of fact, between January 5 and March 23, Liverpool received only 8 carloads more than during the same period in 1926. Still, prices of extra fancy Winesaps have had a different reaction, reaching a point where they would realize the Washington shipper more than $1.50-$1.40.

Oregon Newtowns have also been disappointing, but this has been largely due to poor quality in which condition, severe outbreaks of anthracnose decay at stem and blossom end being apparent in most cargoes. The mechanical wiping machines have also caused many small bruises that have added to the dullness of finish of the Newtowns. These are not so apparent in the red apples.

The greatest influence on boxed apples—especially the red varieties of boxed apples, has been the abundance of barreled apples. The December layoff in shipping caused some attractive prices on barrels in January, so that Virginia owners concluded that this was a "bid" market in which to liquidate heavy stocks of York Imperials, Staymens and Winesaps—many of which were demanding rapid disposal. Unprecedented winter exportation of barrels followed. Week after week during January, consignments to Great Britain have exceeded the 125,000 barrel mark. From January 5 to March 23 the port of Liverpool received 190,000 more barrels than during the same period in 1926. The market was surfeited with barreled apples the entire time.

The condition of the fruit forced brokers to make rapid disposal. The result was that during February and early March quite attractive York Imperials and Winesaps could always be bought on the auction for from $4-$4.50 per barrel, while there was an abundance of deteriorated fruit selling for from $2.50-$4. Of course prices that realized growers from $1-$2 per barrel eventually shut off consignments of York Imperials.

Since the first of March there has been a shortage of good Washington Winesaps in the north of England and Scotland. Small arrivals started to realize Washington shippers as much as $1.75 per box net shipping point. But Virginia continued to unload her Winesaps, many of which arrived in an attractive condition, and sold for from $4.50-$5.35 per barrel. This precluded the disposal of any large quantity of Washington apples at the equivalent of $10 per barrel, regardless of how attractive they appeared.

It is often said that barreled apples and boxed apples are not competitive, but the British market is a striking example of how competitive they may be when the apples packed in barrels have a reasonably bright, attractive appearance when offered for sale in a country where most of the people are looking for apples that retail at 9¢ per pound instead of 16¢—the price asked when Washington Winesaps return an equivalent of $1.75 per box to the Washington and Yakima shippers. #### Are You "Toxic?"

It is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, acute backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Weekly Market Review

Shipments of western apples were decreasing; the week's output from western states was less than 300 cars, while eastern states originated 600.

The probable crop of peaches in Georgia is now believed to have been considerably reduced by cold weather and other orchard trouble. Combined condition of peaches in ten southern states on April 1 was estimated slightly lower than last spring—only 65%, as against 68% in 1926 and 70% in 1925. The Georgia crop was reported at 55%—4 points lower than a year ago and 24 points below the 1925 record. South Carolina's crop was estimated at 50%, while the condition of North Carolina was only 45%, compared with 78 last April and 90 in 1925. Better conditions than last year prevailed in southern states west of Alabama, except in Texas. A wide range was shown, with low mark of 38% in Oklahoma and high points of 67 and 70% in Texas and Louisiana. These figures, however, do not mean that there will be a shortage of peaches.

The New "Ho-Well" Riller

Combining principles that we have used for several years in the manufacture of orchard and alfalfa rillers, we have this year put on the market a new machine, called the Ho-Well Riller.

The new riller has proven very satisfactory under all kinds of soil conditions, such as freshly cultivated soil, rocky soil and quack grass and alfalfa sod.

We build two styles—a two and a three-riller type. The two-wheel type for a team and the larger for tractor power. Either size is adjustable for depth and width. They are the same in material and workmanship.

Come in and see these rillers. They offer you just the aid you are wishing for in your irrigating work.
