THE ROSE FESTIVAL

Big Water Portland is having a wonderful party this week, and many of the small brothers over the state are joining in the festive occasion and are sending down individuals and groups to help celebrate the Rose festival. Hood River will have the largest representation ever from here to a Rose carnival. About 100 Guides, Drum Corps, members of the Legion, and other groups and Knights of Pythias band will form a unique marching band and the hosts of visitors in Portland tomorrow will learn that the Valley of Apples is a land where purposeful, energetic people live. Hood River is going to be a mighty quiet place tomorrow, for the marchers from here who will participate in the Merrykama parade are going to be accompanied by the biggest number of automobiles ever to journey down in a day over the Columbia River highway unless, perhaps, it was at the Elks convention two years ago. Go right along, everybody, for the Guides, Crag Rats, Legion drum and bugle men and K. P. bandmen will march all the better if they know that homefolks in numbers are looking on.

THE MOON IN ECLIPSE

Mid-Columbia folk were given the opportunity for a wonderful astronomical phenomenon Tuesday night, when a total eclipse of the moon was visible here. It would have been more convenient had the eclipse occurred a little earlier in the evening. It was a little past midnight when Luna was totally in the shadow. The earth was robbed of the reflected rays of the sun, and for a time deep darkness reigned. It was a rare June night Tuesday, when the big, full moon began to silver the hills on the east side of the valley. The golden globe rode far to the south, and it was not long after dusk and she had started her journey down the vault of the sky when the earth's penumbra began to redden and somewhat dim the moon's light. It was an alluring light. The earlier evening was calm, and the sky was cloudless. Gradually the deep shadow began to creep over the surface of the moon, and the great disk, like a huge cheese, seemed to have been nibbled by a rat.

APPLES FOR HEALTH

We are more and more impressed with the possibilities of the advertising campaign as proposed by Apples For Health, Inc. We repeat our ideas of the benefits that may be derived from such advertising activities from a Glacier of several weeks ago: Consumers of apples have decreased because of the competition of other fruits. Sectional apple advertising will for the most part be merely competitive with apples of other districts. Apples for Health proposes a campaign that will stimulate a general apple appetite. Consumers will find themselves eating apples, instead of other fruits. A general increase in apple consumption will gradually be developed. In the Pacific northwest we have another embryonic body, organized for the purpose of carrying on an apple advertising campaign, applied especially to creating a greater demand for the boxed product of the Pacific northwest. The boxed apple campaign should be supplemental to the main campaign to be conducted by Apples for Health. It was not less wonderful last Saturday as we of Hood River, joining with millions in Canada, the United States and Mexico, listened to the ceremonies attendant on the home coming of the young hero, than the epochal flight of Colonel Lindbergh, himself. But, radio, although it has been a number of years since it was made practical, has become an old story. Will flights across the ocean be as commonplace in another six years as radio is today? It is not unlikely. Are not the happenings of today enough to spur every youth to an activity of accomplishments? Do not the boys and girls of today want to help bring about the miracles of tomorrow?

Kindergarten School Successful

The kindergarten school, conducted on Eugene street the past year by Mrs. J. H. Greenhaw and Mrs. Frank Gilbert was closed for the season last Friday. The school has been very successful. The little play given by the children last week, a dramatization of the story of Ceres and Proserpina, was received with great appreciation by the parents present. The school will open this week with much added equipment.

Fastest Berry Packers Acclaimed

Mrs. Don Chambers and Mrs. Glenn Ordway, West Side matrons, Monday set a record packing strawberries on the ranch of T. Kuga. Each packed a crates of berries, their day's wages reaching $7.92. Each, too, will receive a bonus of four cents on each crate, if she remains throughout the strawberry harvest at the Kuga ranch. A wage of 35 cents per crate is paid for strawberry packing, with the four-cent bonus.

The strawberries have never been better, and now the Bing cherries are coloring rapidly. What feasts of fruit are ours here in the mid-Columbia. Indeed, it is mighty easy to get a lot of pleasure in just looking at the beautiful berries and cherries as they mature to perfection here in Oregon.

The state is now providing some light vacation reading. The voter's pamphlet, telling of the proposed constitutional amendments and measures, with arguments, is being received by electors. It is a 56-page publication and check off of valuable information. Read yours, if you expect to vote. And you should vote.

Boys, keep away from the sloughs of the Columbia while the river is at flood stage. You owe it to your parents to relieve them of the worry that is certain to be theirs if you go swimming in these treacherous pools. You owe it to yourself to avoid the hazard that lurks in these boiling, turbid sloughs during these days of high water.

The city council should take steps to place stop signs on streets that cross Cascade avenue and Oak and State streets. The new state law, as we understand it, makes Oak street a main thoroughfare, and motorists are supposed to stop when entering it.

The New York hotel has made just one mistake about Hood River apples. The hostelry should serve its patrons with properly matured and colored Spitzburgs and no wine since will be needed to make them palatable.

Follow the advice of your grocer. Order some glass jars and preserve some of the Hood River Valley's famous Clark Seedlings. What a feast for a winter morning—hot biscuits and strawberry jam!

Governor Patterson is to be commended for his efforts at bringing about a new spirit of cooperation between the regents of the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College.

Some householders are offending the sensibilities of neighbors and visitors by dumping lawn cuttings and trash in the streets. It may be added that such action is against city ordinances.

The Crag Rats continue to prepare themselves. We will not be a bit surprised this summer to hear that our mountaineering organization has prevented a bad forest fire.

Where is the chronic grunter who used to say that America was way behind in matters of aviation?

An active campaign is being waged for a Memorial Army to be erected in Portland. Plans call for a $900,000 building to be dedicated to the veterans of all wars and to the boys who gladly gave their lives to their country.

The Memorial building will house all the veterans' organizations in the city, provide them with suitable club rooms and offices and a place to save for posterity war trophies, flags and other valuable records.

One of the features of the building is a large drill hall capable of seating 15,000 people, thus providing a much needed accommodation for large public gatherings, conventions, etc.

This project has the endorsement of all the veterans' organizations in Portland as well as their auxiliaries.

It comes before the voters of the state at the special election on June 28.

Sheep Begin Arriving Here

Eastern Oregon sheep began arriving here for the summer pasturing Monday. A flock of 1500 was received from Arlington. They were taken from the city to the highland forests in the Mount Defiance district.

Heavy winter snows, which have lingered in the high forests and burned over areas, insure excellent pasture this season, according to stockmen.

FRANKTON

W. S. Kennedy and daughter, Jean, left Monday for Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Galley, of Grand Junction, Colo., who have been visiting Mr. Galley's brother's family, of Crescent Park, have left to extend their visit along the coast. Mr. Galley is here on account of ill health.

The Misses Ruth Flowerhead and Marjorie Bowen, of Caldwell, Ida., visited Mr. and Mrs. B. L. and F. E. Newell between trails Wednesday. They were en route to the University of Washington to attend summer school.

Do not forget motion pictures are shown every Wednesday night at the Frankton school through the courtesy of A. M. Cannon. The show starts at 8 o'clock. Admission 10 and 25 cents.

Mrs. J. H. Galley and son, James, left last Wednesday to attend the Rose Festival in Portland.

A. H. Geuting, of Philadelphia, president of the National Shoe Retailers' association, who was on his way to San Francisco to attend the California Retailers convention, was a caller at the B. L. Newell home on the highway Wednesday. Mr. Geuting was accompanied by his friend, W. A. Knight, of the Knight shoe company, of Portland. It was Mr. Geuting's first trip over the Columbia River highway, and he was profuse in his comments on its beauties and wonders.

SCHOOL NEWS

According to the high school tuition list for the Hood River high school which has just been filed with County Superintendent J. W. Critch by L. R. Johnson, clerk of school, District No. 3, there were 182 pupils for whom county high school tuition will be collected this year. The distribution of this number of pupils is as follows: Frankton, District No. 2, 17; Barrett, District No. 4, 71; Pine Grove, District No. 7, 90; Mt. Hood, District No. 8, 1; Viento, District No. 10, 2; Oak Grove, District No. 11, 13; Dee, District No. 14, 8; Wyeth, District No. 15, 2; Wasco county districts, 2. Total, 182.

In addition to the county high school tuition pupils, there were others paying personal tuition. According to the report the per pupil cost in the high school this past year was $127.33, which includes about $30 per pupil on an average interest on capital investment. As this is based upon the average daily attendance the estimated income from high school tuition will be about $10,000.

Church Vacation School

The Church Vacation School, held at the First Christian Church, is exceeding all anticipations in numbers and general enthusiasm. There are sixty-one enrolled and no more can be received on account of room, and there are nine competent helpers and 10 teachers. The churches represented in the school are: Methodist, one; Baptist, one; Episcopal, one; River-side Community, two; Valley Christian Church, five and the First Christian the remainder. They are divided into four classes and groups, with memory work, Bible drills, dramatizing, handwork, play periods and devotional periods. The attendance will average more than 98 per cent of the enrollment. Rev. Schuyler Pratt of the First Christian church, who has been cooperating in a splendid way, has been called away for the remainder of the time. The school, which is under the competent superintendency of Mrs. W. P. Sutton, will close on June 24.

The most important school of the country is the Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kansas. It is a great institution of learning to which are gathered the most brilliant members of the tribe all the way from Alaska to Florida. From this school comes the Haskell Indian Band, which is probably the most entertaining organization that has ever toured the western states.

The Haskell Indian Symphonic Band which is to be one of the outstanding features of the "double headline" program of this year's Chautauqua is a brilliant example of the change in the method of living of the original American. It hasn't been so many years ago that the Indian people were generally looked down upon with pity or intense dislike. Now as a result of the educational program that has been undertaken by the Federal Government and the quick aptitude of the younger Indian people, the formerly despised Indian has become one of the brilliant sections of the great cosmopolitan American citizenry.
