THE AUTO PARK BUSINESS

Because of the position taken by The Glacier some three or four years ago and because of the active criticism that was directed at us at that time for our stand on opposing the sale of the plot of ground used at that time for a municipal automobile park, we feel justified in pointing out that a park, operated on that plot this year has been, perhaps, one of the most sucressful along the mid-Columbia section of the Columbia river highway. The Glacier cited that the city should not purchase, at least for development as obile park, the Batchelder tract west of town. We pointed out that the automobile park business was due to suffer from keen competition.

Things have turned out as we pre dicted. The city had a little bonanza in the three-acre tract, on which it was operating an automobile park. It sold MRS. BOYD'S BROit, the deed carrying a restriction against its use for auto park purposes for three years. The time limit was up this year. The plot, which is in plain view of the highway and which is characterized by inviting trees, was immediately utilized as an automobile park, and the municipal park and other parks at the west edge of town suffered by the keen competition that it offered.

J. O. HANNUM

One of the first citizens of Hood River county to vision the Mount Hood Loop highway was J. O. Hannum whose sudden death last Sunday brought a shock and sincere grief to quietly worked up the sentiment of Portland and Hood River folk who set in motion the campaign that brought the great loop road to early material-

And Mr. Hannum, too, was the first to suggest a highway to Cloud Cap Inn up the ridge that lies between Sand Canyon and the Tilly Jane.

Mr. Hannum was a public spirited itizen. He did much for the advancenent of the local highway program. He has written himself into the history

The herd, it is said, is the finest that has ever been produced in Hood River county. The bull, herd head of the Sanday ranch, which has been retained, was given Rev. Billy Sunday by Lake Lea. Nashville, Tem., newspaperman. Mr. Sunday purchased a number of helfers two years ago from the Joha-son ranch near. Wamic. The animals have had constant excellent pasture and have been fed corn. They are all rolling fat.

Mr. Samuel is cutting a baby beef from the herd this week. Those who have seen it declare that no better beef was ever offered in Hood River.

The Automotive Service Co. will celebrate the completion of a new floor in fis place of business at the corner of Fifth and Oak streets tonight with a dance. A good orchestra has been secured, and the general public is invited to attend the celebration and make merry. Thique viludeville stunts have been planned as a feature of the celebration. MRS. An interesting story in a recent issue of the Houston Chronicle tells of the of the Houston Chronicle tells of the passing of the famed Texas longhorn cattle. Some of these cattle are still owned on the ranch of Seth Brown, brother of Mrs. L. S. Boyd. Mr. Boyd spent two years riding the range on the ranch in the Texas country. The following, telling of a purchase of the noted cattle by the government for stocking a national park, is taken from the Houston paper: The following story of the Long-horns is taken from the Houston Chronicle:

Barnes, agent for the govern-ment. Barnes estimated he looked at over 50,000 head of cattle before he selected the "perfect 30." The East Texas contingent was furn-ished by Frank Dew and Seth Brown, ranchmen of Liberty and Chambers counties. The herd includes two bulls, two steers and 10 cows.

Rain Spoils Pienie

While weather conditions seeme auspicious Monday morning, clouds of scured the sky in the afternoon, and later rains prevailed, spoiling the plans of the Woodmen of the World for their pincle at Koberg Beach. Woodmen were present at the fraternal gathering from all mid-Columbia points.

Jackson Tells of Vacation

R. V. Jackson, of the J. C. Penney Co., told the members of the Tuesday luncheon forum of the chamber of com-merce of his vacation at Lost lake at the Columbia Gorge hotel this week. Because so many members had not become organized after the Labor day holiday, the attendance Tuesday was slim.

Wm. Stauffer, former local orchard-ist, was here last week visiting friends, having just returned from a visit in opment of the scenic attraction of Mount Hood. TIES—That put more color into life. Color—it isn't just red or green or yellow—it's a vital, refreshing quality that gives in-terest to everything it touches. These ties have it. They have it. They have easy prices, too. 75c buys a very smart one. NEW DRESS SHIRTS FOR MEN_It's a joy to take such shirts out of your drawer. The colors are so attractive, the styles so good you'll get something of a 'kick' every time you put one on. Collar attached shirts white jacquard broadcloth, stripes, and all-over patterns in broadcloth and plain colored broadcloth. A new assortment just in.

HERALDS OF FALL—Chilly mornings and the "tang" in the air at night remind us that it is time to consider buying some Oregon City Pure Virgin Wool Blankets. Single Blankets and double Blankets in a variety of beautifully blended colors and patterns. Make your selections while our stock is complete.

BOYS' BLAZERS A new assortment of Blazers for boys-just the weight for fall and winter wear. Bright and colorfula large selection to choose from at most reasonable prices.

SLICKERS—For the rainy days ahead we can supply your needs. Boys' Slickers, Men's Slickers, Girl's Slickers, Women's Slickers—all colors.

We are not advised in the least as to the merits of the discussion over the the ranch. elevations of the street on the south side of the new Hood River high school building, but we would urge that city and county authorities arrive at some early conclusive agreement, in order that the city school board may proceed with permanent improvements there. The new city school is the most impos ing structure of the county. In arriving at conclusions relative to the May street elevation, nothing should be done that will interfere with a proper beautification of the grounds around the new building.

The fire in the kitchen stove feels delightfully comfortable these recent mornings. Many householders have bemornings. Many householders have be-gun to grumble in anticipation of a long winter. We advise all, however, to withhold murmurings about the weather. These rains are but clearing the air of the accumulated summer haze. We are just getting ready for the glories of Indian summer, the most pleasant season of all i the mid-Columbig.

We'll wager that the folk of the Upper Hood River valley miss the service of Curly Runcorn, who so many years operated the Fashion stage. Curly is one of the most courteous and obliging fellows we have ever known. He matched goods for Upper Valley women, bought tobacco and cigarettes for the males and engaged in many other errands for his Upper Valley patrons and friends.

It is too had that some hydrochloric acld cannot be mixed with the rain that has been falling over mid-Columbia orchards recently. Showers of fresh aqua pura might follow the solution's downfall, and then fruit growers would be ready, after a warming sunshine, to harvest their crops without necessity of artificial washing.

We agree with the Klamath Falls News. If the people of Multnomah county succeed in getting a representative of the calibre of Nicholas J. Sinnott, they should indeed be congratu lated.

Heed the rules of the forestry serv ice. Lost lake is due to become one of the most popular of local recreational centers. Help the rangers there preserve the natural beauty.

The whistle of a river steamboat will be heard again next Monday. All of us will welcome it. The Harkins Transportation company is proposing a sys-tem that should, in all logic, succeed.
