NEED FOR FULL INFORMATION

The community was served by the Tuesday forum of the chamber of commerce this week, when the proposal of further development of the municipal water supply was discussed.

However, it will cost a lot of money to bring in Cold Springs. Our population here is small, and we have no assurance that it is going to make any spectacular increases in the next decade.

It was certainly developed at the meagre discussion of Tuesday that we have so little actual information on our water system at the present time that we are in no position to proceed with developments in a practical, intelligent manner.

THE BIG FIGHT

The great majority of us will sit at home tonight and listen in on the big fight that the suckers with more money than anything else have made possible.

All the world is interested, and yet we think tonight's spectacle will be more of a business proposition than a sporting event.

Some of those who were at The Dalles recently to attend the annual Old Fort Dalles Frolics of the American Legion Post there have suggested that some of us here in Hood River should collect all of the pioneer vehicles still left in the community and place them somewhere as relics.

The work of picking apples will be of shorter duration than on normal years this season. However, the task of preparing the fruit for boxes and packing will last as long as usual, probably.

Have you written to Secretary Jardine of the United States department of agriculture, telling him that the people of the Hood River Valley want a tramway up Mount Hood and why they want it?

The Ski club is to be commended for giving to their recreational grounds near Homestead Inn the name of J. O. Hannum. Mr. Hannum has done more, perhaps, than any other individual in fostering winter sports on the north face of Mount Hood.

Many folk have learned anew the past week the glories of an Indian summer trip down the Columbia by boat. Others, making the journey for the first time, have discovered the scenic charm of the great gorge.

Even though you haven't any children in school, you are interested as a citizen in the community's most elaborate factory, or laboratory, if you will, our new high school.

It seems that a goodly percentage of the population of the country is flying to and about Spokane this week.

You should have gone out to the school fair at the high school building. The exhibits were varied and worthy of the closest inspection.

Almost daily airplanes are seen journeying up or down the gorge of the Columbia. We may need an airport some day if we want some of them to stop here.

FOULENIUS POINTS CENTRAL PACK VALUE

Victor C. Follenius, general manager of the Apple Growers Association, says that the central packing of apples of the cooperative should be of great value in the sales of fruit.

"In selling a car of our pears or apples in auction the best results are obtained when the car attracts the attention of every prospective buyer in the saleroom.

"Almost the first question arising in a buyer's mind when he approaches a car of our fruit, is uniformity. What grades and sizes, and how many shippers or different growers in this car? At private sale practically the same condition exists.

"With a tendency in the jobbing trade to operate on a closer margin of profits depending more on tomorrow, it is becoming increasingly necessary today for the trade to buy straight lines.

"The task of inspecting one hundred to two hundred cars of fruit prior to an $300,000 sale takes time. Buyers must know the available offerings, their quality and condition, otherwise they may pay prices out of line and be unable to meet a competitor's prices.

"The Apple Growers Association under its community packing policy will attract whatever premium the market is willing to pay for what it wants in the way of straight cars of uniformly graded, packed, and inspected fruit.

MRS. BELL AND MRS. HOWE AID COURT

When the divorce case of Pearl Miller versus L. M. Miller was reopened Friday with petitions from both litigants before the court seeking modification of the decree, Mrs. C. A. Bell and Mrs. Alma L. Howe, prominent matrons of the community, as an advisory committee to sit with him in the future in cases where the custody of minor children is involved.

"In cases involving the custody of minor children," said Judge Wilson, "it is they who draw the sympathy of the court. The primary concern of the court is for the welfare of the child. Courts are human agencies at best, and they have long realized that no action by legal bodies can change or make overgrown up people, but judges are sympathetically and vitally interested in the children of the community.

"I would not want a strange man, as the judge must be, to settle the destiny of a child of mine involved in such a case. I think women in my certain distinct act better and more wisely in such matters than men. Their instinct is more correct than that of men."

Council Clearing Up Matters

The city council was busy chiefly Monday night in steps that will be taken toward clearing up misunderstanding on street matters. The council received a long letter from the city school board relative to the May 27th improvement. While the council adopted at first reading an ordinance that set the elevation of the street just south of the new high school at 448 feet, two feet higher than asked by the school district, it was said that the grade will probably meet the school's requirements.

The street committee, too, was instructed to reach adjustments as to the improvement of Industrial avenue north of the new community packing plant of the Apple Growers Association.

The wedding of Thomas E. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Scott, and Miss Emily Reneau of Seattle, occurred Saturday at Del Mar, Calif., at the home of Miss Evelyn Campbell. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are both graduates of the University of Washington, where Mr. Scott was formerly pitcher on the varsity baseball team. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott, who visited Mexico before leaving southern California, are returning north by automobile. They are expected to arrive here tomorrow or Saturday.

Joseph Frazier, Jr., Passes. Mr. Frazier, who recently returned to a hospital at The Dalles, died yesterday afternoon. News of his passing brought a great shock to his many local friends.

BOY SCOUT RALLY ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Francis V. Galloway of The Dalles, president of the Mid-Columbia-Deschutes Area Council of the Boy Scouts, has forwarded letters to folk of this city, announcing a Boy Scout rally at the Waukena hotel on Saturday night.

"Perhaps you have not realized that the Boy Scout work in the Mid-Columbia-Deschutes area is at a crisis. All that is needed is a serious financial condition, and the cash is not coming in or subscribed in sufficient amount to take care of the bills promptly.

"Therefore, I am calling a meeting of the Council of the organization to be held at Hood River, Saturday evening, September 24, at the Waukena hotel at 7 p. m. It is our hope that this meeting may be largely attended not only by those having an official connection with the organization, but by all persons interested in the Boy Scout work.

"When the area was enlarged by the addition of the Deschutes Council, it was decided that three meetings should be held annually. The Waukena and Hood River respectively. This will be the third regular meeting, as meetings have previously been held at Bend and The Dalles. A dinner will be served at the Waukena hotel at 7 p. m. costing 75 cents a plate. During and after dinner there will be a general discussion and thereafter the regular meeting of the Council.

"I am getting out a delegation from your community and will get together in each community and determine how many will be at the meeting, and notify Kent Shoe-maker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in time so that he may closely approximate the number to be taken care of at the dinner."

APPLE WASH ACID DESTROYS FISH

J. H. Fredrick, president of the Hood River County Protective Association, has warned orchardists that a state law, which prohibits the dumping into streams of acids or residue that may be poisonous to fish, water fowl, or animals, will be invoked.

"Orchardists must not dump such poisonous materials in places where they will be liable to reach the streams," said Mr. Fredrick. "Recent investigation shows that a great many fish and some water fowl were killed in a valley stream by the acid coming from an apple washer. We suggest that the acid solutions from apple cleaners. We also warn growers against the custom of cleaning their spray machines and allowing the residue to enter streams."

"The state is spending large sums of money, and your local game organization is spending much time and energy propagating fish for the streams of Hood River county. Your earnest cooperation is solicited for the protection of your fish. Do not dump poisons into the streams."

FINS, FURS AND FEATHERS

The deer season in both game districts of the state of Oregon is opened on September 10 and will close on October 20.

Hunters are allowed to kill only deer with horns and two is the limit for any one season. Blue or spotted grouse, ruffed grouse or native pheasant are included in the open season from September 10 to October 20. The bag limit is one of any kind of game bird or animal or eight in any seven consecutive days.

The State Game commission has designated the following dates on which it is laying out traps for muskrats in game district No. 2: October 1, 2, 5, 9, 12, 16, 19, 23, 26 and 30. The district includes Union, Umatilla, Baker, Grant, Malheur, Morrow, Gilliam, Klamath, Hood River, Wasco and Walworth counties.

The following is unlawful: To hunt at night; to hunt on any game refuge; to hunt deer with dogs; to use any kind of snare or trap to trap any animal or game bird; to shoot from public highway or railroad right of way; to hunt on lands without permission of the owner.

To take up any game animal or game bird for the purpose of holding the same in captivity.

To rob any bird's nest, except such birds as are not protected by law. To hunt or shoot from a power boat, sink or boat or sink raft, to trap or bear animals without a license; to trap, net or ensnare game animals and game birds, except fur-bearing animals; to use any kind of snare or trap to trap any animal or game bird; to hunt within the corporate limits of any city or town, public park or school grounds, or within the boundaries of any public school, college or university or within the boundaries of any watershed reservation as set aside by act of Congress to supply water to cities and towns, or within any state or national game reservation.—Sportsman and Fancier.

A group of telephone employes while repairing lines about Vicksburg in the great flood, found an aged negro, who with his faithful dog, had been marooned up a tree for 36 hours or more. When they pulled over to the foot of his root and tried to transport him to safety, he hesitatingly and anxiously asked if they could take the dog along, and, on receiving their reply that they were afraid there would not be room in the boat for the dog, he said, "Well, Colonel, me an' dis 'nigger' dog has been hangin' 'round' together for most 10 years, and if you-all can't take us home, dis here tree and down 'tween."

They took the dog.—Portland Spectator.

Although record catches of salmon were made early last week, the fall run was exhausted quickly, and mid-Columbia fishermen said Saturday that it hardly paid them for operating their traps. Twenty families were at the landing place of Floyd Wright, local commercial fisherman, Saturday morning. Mr. Wright's boat, however, brought in only 19 salmon, and the housewives who had visited the wharf, seeking a supply of canning salmon, were disappointed.
