An Essential Item of Your Budget

A man's labor carries him no further onward unless he saves a portion of his earnings. Failure to put aside for future demands keeps a man just toying the mark; perhaps slipping behind; never getting ahead.

The wisest and safest plan, therefore, is to take care of savings first and cut your expenditures to fit the remainder of the income.

Budgeting is wise; and the first item in the budget should be SAVINGS.

Apartment House Proposition

Within the near future the Board of Directors of School District No. 3 will advertise for bids on the old Junior High School property on the Heights. This announcement is made, in order that those who may be interested in the purchase of the property may visit and thoroughly inspect the building.

The structure was built with the end in view that it might some day be converted into an apartment house. Put to such use it will be a valuable and income producing piece of property.

For further details see J. L. Breckenridge, City School Superintendent, who will arrange for your inspection of the building.

TEACHERS' CLASS IS FORMED HERE

City School Superintendent J. L. Breckenridge has announced that a large number of local teachers have enrolled for a class in education to be taught each Monday evening by Dr. Henry T. Boswing, of the extension faculty of the University of Oregon. The class will meet from 7:15 to 9:15 at the Hood River high school. Dr. Boswing was formerly head of the department of education at Simpson College, Ia. Dr. Boswing will meet a class of Wasco county teachers at The Dalles each Tuesday evening. Each course will carry one term hour credit. The two courses, given in sequence the same evening, will make it possible to earn two term hours of university credit per term. Two terms, or even three terms, will be given if the enrollment is sufficient. The fee is $4 per term of three months for one or both courses. The two terms of both courses will, in addition to the regular university credit, satisfy the requirements for a reading circle certificate from the University of Oregon.

The Executor

By Edgar A. Guest

I had a friend who died and he On earth so loved and trusted me That ere he quit this worldly shore He made me his executor.

He tasked me through my natural life To guard the interests of his wife, To see that everything was done Both for his daughter and his son.

I have his money to invest, And though I try my level best To do that wisely, I'm advised My judgment oft is criticized.

His widow, once so calm and meek, Comes, hot with rage, three times a week And rails at me because I must, To keep my oath, appear unjust.

His children hate the sight of me, Although their friend I've tried to be, And every relative declares I interfere with his affairs.

Now when I die I'll never ask A friend to carry such a task; I'll spare him all such anguish sore And leave a bank executor.

FORUM HEARS SCHOOL HEAD

PARENTS ASKED TO SECURE FACTS

Superintendent J. L. Breckenridge Urges Against the Patrons Becoming Victims of Suspicion

J. L. Breckenridge, city school superintendent here who recently came from the similar position at Couer d'Alene, Ida., in an address to the Tuesday forum of the chamber of commerce at the Waukoma hotel this week, declared that since everyone had at some time or other been to school he decides that he has a full knowledge of how schools should be run.

"The word of the physician is taken as final on medical matters," said the dentist, when matters of the teeth are under consideration, and so on," said Mr. Breckenridge, "but not so with teachers when it comes to schools."

Mr. Breckenridge warned against parents accepting the stories that children too frequently take home to their parents. He declared that the school should not be called on to participate in or settle neighborhood quarrels.

Mr. Breckenridge said that he was strong in his support of athletics and inculcating a spirit of fair play among students. He said he had assured the high school students that he was ready to aid them in their activities, knowing the stimulation that students secured in putting in their leisure time in athletics, knowing that they had to make good at the same time in their studies.

Mr. Breckenridge said that he had accompanied Coach Gardner on a visit recently to The Dalles, when a conference had been held looking to a resumption of athletic relations, broken off last winter. Mr. Breckenridge said he had found that blame might have been attached to both schools for incidents that gave rise to the breach.

Mr. Breckenridge declared that there is no royal, easy road to learning. It represents much application and hard work, he said.

HIGH SCHOOL WAS DEDICATED FRIDAY

Patrons and friends of the school gathered with faculty and students last Friday night to formally dedicate the new $75,000 high school building, which has been occupied by classes since the term began September 6. The program of the dedicatory services were:

Invocation, Rev. F. Gordon Hart, pastor of Riverside Community church; address of welcome, Glenn B. Marsh, chairman of the board of education; address, Miss Janet Singer; address, Raymond W. Hatch, architect for new building; address, Geo. E. Goodwin, supervising engineer; address, Truman Butler, vocal solo; Albert T. Case, explanation of school plant facilities; F. S. Knight, principal of the high school; concluding remarks, J. L. Breckenridge, superintendent of schools.

Thirty girls, headed by Miss Inez Young, escorted the patrons through class and study rooms, laboratories and halls, after the formal program.

GLACIER MEMBER OF SELECT NEWSPAPERS

The Glacier is one of 15 Oregon newspapers, ten dailies and five weeklies, outside of Portland, which Monday effected an organization to be known as The Selected Oregon Newspapers, the aim of which is to aid local mercantile establishments engaged in the distribution of food products, manufactured articles, automobiles and nationally advertised goods in securing larger appropriation of funds in national advertising campaigns. The following account of the meeting appeared in the Oregonian of Tuesday:

Motivated by a desire to exploit standardized merchandise, leading newspaper publishers representing every section of the state convened in an all-day session at the Congress hotel yesterday. Resultant from this meeting was the inception of an organization to be known as the Oregon Newspaper group, including newspapers outside of Portland, whose purpose will be to offer to manufacturers seeking a market in the state a uniform and standardized form of merchandising co-operation in their business transactions.

It will be a function of the newspaper organization to act as a research agency to collect definite data picturing the scope and character of the various markets of Oregon. This data when complete, will be compiled in booklet form for the guidance of manufacturers, both local and foreign, who seek to extend their Oregon activities.

Headquarters of the newspaper group will be maintained in the firm of Doty & Stipes, Inc., publishers representatives, of which Arthur W. Stipes of Portland is president.

Yesterday's meeting included a luncheon session in the Congress hotel, at which Mr. Stipes presided. Speakers were A. E. Thompson, D. M. Botsford, Ralph E. Morrison, Marshall N. Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, and Horace E. Thomas, city and news editor of The Oregonian.

Officers of the new organization are: Frank Jenkins of the Eugene Register, president; Robert W. Sawyer, Bend Bulletin, vice president; Joe Thomson, Hood River Glacier, second vice-president; Lucien Arant, Baker Herald, treasurer; L. D. Gordon, Southwestern Oregon Daily News, secretary, and A. W. Stipes, executive secretary.

APPLE HARVEST IS RETARDED BY RAIN

Picking of the main commercial varieties of apples, Newtown and Golden Barges, started the first of the week. Growers, in the city in large numbers last Saturday, were unable to fill their quota of harvest help and a call was issued for additional pickers.

The fruit has been maturing better this season than for many years. The late August and early September rains and subsequent cold weather caused a brightening of color, and mid-Columbia apples have never been colored better than on this season.

All washing plants of the community were ready to receive apples Monday. The Apple Growers Association alone is operating 22 washers. Six of these are located at the cooperative's new central packing house in the city. It is the largest in the state. The Odell and Van Horn plants each have two washers. A washer is located at each of the following points: H. K. Davenport's house and the packing plant on the Kimball place, Odell; The Anna, Pierson, Hickart and Jackku plants in Oak Grove; the Barrett Packing Co. and C. King Benton houses in Barrett district; and at Mrs. Gladys W. Brock's, Geo. Sheppard's, Don Nunnemaker's and Nunnemaker & Downing's on the East side.

Shipment of apples will show a material increase this week. Up to last Saturday the Apple Growers Association had forwarded 20 cars of Gravensteins and 14 cars of pears. The Hood River Fruit company had shipped the record lot of Gravensteins, a total of 35 cars, from the Hood River area.

An urgent call for additional apple pickers was forwarded to Portland yesterday by the employment bureau of the Apple Growers Association. Rain of the past two days have delayed the harvest of apples, which are showing a rapid maturity.

"As soon as it clears," said Mrs. J. W. Ingalls, in charge of the employment office, "we will receive a rush from every grower wishing to get his apples under cover as quickly as possible and to avoid loss in case of windstorms."

HOOD RIVER FOLK WATCH AIRPLANES

Due to the clouded sky, Hood River folk were unable to gaze heavenward, watching the racing airplanes, bound from Spokane to Portland Tuesday, without being blinded by the sun. That night, however, scores of citizens complained of stiff necks. Nine planes passed immediately over the city, flying low, because of the clouds. The first was sighted at 4:11 P. M.

The city had its first excitement Tuesday morning when Gordon Monroe, Portland aviator, who dropped from the sky at dusk Monday night, while on the way from Spokane to Portland, for a visit with his old friend, Traffic Officer George Morrison, took off again at an early hour.

The Tuesday air race was won by C. W. Holman, who beat the time of E. E. Ballough by just 27 seconds. The two planes were traveling neck and neck when they passed over Hood River.

Class B racers, en route from Spokane to Portland yesterday kept interest at the tension point here.

On Monday one of the big military transport planes was forced to make a landing on a sandbar between here and The Dalles. The big ship was able to rise, however, and winged its way into Portland after engine trouble had been taken care of.

COOPER IS ELECTED SKI CLUB OFFICER

The Hood River Ski club spent Sunday enlarging a runway on a steep hillside near Homestead Inn. The members of the club, who have secured use of the Inn for the winter, will work each Sunday from now until snow flies, getting the run in excellent condition.

The ski club has added 22 new members from Upper Valley folk. John P. Cooper, of Parkdale, has been elected vice president of the organization.

Mrs. Alphin Injured by Car

Although clues are meager, officers yesterday were trying to find the hit and run driver who Tuesday night struck and felled Mrs. John Alphin on Sherman avenue near her home. Mrs. Alphin, who had been talking to Mrs. J. C. Meyer, whose car was parked on the north side of the street, had started to cross to her home just opposite when the unidentified car dashed by at high speed.

CITIZENS ARE FAVORING TRAM

LETTER BALANCE TO WASHINGTON

Congressional Committee and Secretary Jardine in That Hood River Wants the Tram

Spurred on by the chamber of commerce, citizens are forwarding a veritable barrage of letters this week to Washington, in support of a tramway to the top of Mount Hood.

Secretary W. M. Jardine of the United States Department of Agriculture will give consideration to an appeal of the Cascade Development company of Portland at his office in Washington, D. C., on October 13. The Portland chamber, which proposed building a tramway from near Cloud Cap Inn to Coopers Spur's summit and thence to the top of the snow peak, appealed from a decision of Chief Forester W. B. Greeley, who denied a permit for the construction.

All Hood River organizations, including the county Pomona Grange, have gone on record as favoring the tramway. Citizens of the city and country as well as writing the Oregon congressional delegation and Secretary Jardine, representing the unanimous sentiment of the Hood River Valley for the proposed tram.

The chamber of commerce yesterday forwarded to citizens the following letter:

"A public hearing was held in Portland at which 40 organizations spoke in favor of the tram and two organizations, the Mazamas and the Trails club spoke against it. Col. Greeley again denied the application, chiefly for sentimental reasons. The Portland Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an appeal to the Secretary of Agriculture who will conduct a public hearing in Washington at 10 o'clock on October 13. Our senators and congressmen are on record as being in favor of the appeal and will all be at the hearing to talk in favor of the tram.

"The board of directors of the Hood River Chamber of Commerce feel this is a very important question as it involves the future development of Mount Hood, recognized as one of our biggest assets. The Secretary of Agriculture invites a full and free expression from interested parties, and the Chamber of Commerce urges you to write personal letters in favor of the tram. No time can be lost as the hearing is to be on October 13. Write your letter now or it will be too late. The letter need not be long and may be addressed to any one of the following, or better yet, write to each one:

"Hon. W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Hon. Chas. T. McNary, United States Senator, Portland, O.; Hon. C. H. Ladd, U. S. Representative, Hood River, O.; Hon. W. N. S. Sinsott, Representative in Congress, Washington, D. C.; Hon. G. W. Hawley, Representative in Congress, Washington, D. C."

GRADE STUDENTS TO GET GAME TICKETS

At a special meeting of the school board Tuesday night the board authorized the sale of tickets to athletic events to the students of the Junior high and grade schools. When games occur on Friday the grade schools will forego their recess periods and be dismissed early along with the high school students.

The board authorized the immediate construction by the associated students of bleachers along the south side of the new athletic field.

The Apple City Electric Shop was awarded the contract for installing electric heaters in the office rooms of the new high school.

The two bids received on curbs and gutters for the driveway north of the high school were turned down, and new bids will be called for.

The superintendent was instructed to secure prices on the following: lawn grass seeds; 20 pounds of European bent, 20 pounds of redtop, 40 pounds of white clover and 20 pounds of bluegrass. It is hoped that the lawn mowing of the building may be started this fall. Authorization was given for the immediate construction of a fence or guard rail on the north side of the driveway.

BOARD TO SELL OLD JUNIOR HIGH

The city school board has announced that it will call for bids in the near future on the old Junior high school on the Heights. The structure was left vacant this year when Junior high classes were moved to the old high school building on completion of a new high school. The Junior high school was constructed in 1921, when it was so built that it may conveniently be turned into an apartment house.

It is anticipated that the structure will be sold to some one who will convert it into an apartment house. City School Superintendent Breckenridge will have charge of showing the building to prospective buyers.

ROTARIANS WILL HAVE FEAST TONIGHT

The Hood River Rotary club, following a banquet at the Hotel Waukoma tonight, will hold a dance at Koberg Beach. Visiting Rotarians are expected from Portland and Willamette valley towns and Vancouver, Wash.

At the dinner a team of Rotarians, captained by Fred H. Bell, will be guests of a team captained by Earl Hutchens. Mr. Bell's team recently won an attendance contest. Rotary Annes will be included in the festivities of tonight.

One of the finest exhibits of dahlias ever seen here was shown Saturday at the Apple City Electric shop. They were grown on the Oak Grove place of Dr. George C. Skinner.
