

BRIEF LOCAL MENTION

Dressmaking at 809 Columbia. Phone 5485. W. A. Hackett was a business visitor in Portland the first of the week. Mr. and Mrs. John Baker motored to Portland Saturday. W. R. Woolpert was a Portland business visitor the first of the week. Mrs. Victor Follenius was a Portland visitor the first of the week. Father Hugh J. Marshall was a visitor in Dufur last Thursday. Hard Times old fashioned dance at Rockford, Saturday, Nov. 26. Gravenstein. Fifty cents. Good time assured. Have your school shoes in the best of repair. Don't wait. Take your shoes to Weber. Henry will do a nice job. $2.00. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon have rented the L. M. Bentley residence on the West Side for the winter. Walter Ford, N. C. Coultter and Don McLeod were in Portland Saturday to see the O. A. C. Idaho football game. J. Eastman and family left yesterday on a motor trip that will take them to southern California. C. S. Bove, Upper Valley rancher, has been here this week serving on the jury. Dr. Francis Knox was up over the week end from Portland looking after Middle Valley property interests. Mrs. C. A. Bell is in Portland this week visiting the home of her niece, Mrs. Walter S. Chenuat. The children's shoes should be repaired during this wet weather. Let Henry make them right down at Weber's. Hemstitching and stamping. Orders taken for pleating, chain stitching, pin tucking and buttons. Miss Claxton, at the Leonora. 0141f. Dr. N. Plyler, Chiropractor. Chiropractic and Electric Treatments. Rooms 1, 2 and 3, Brosius Bldg., Hood River, Phone 6381. Res. Phone 2812. a141f. Searches of records and reliable abstracts made by Oregon Abstract Company, A. W. Onthank, Manager, First National Bank Bldg. Tel. 1621. 1y20f. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Dyer and small daughter spent the past week visiting relatives and friends at Forest Grove and Hillsboro. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Morrison are in Longview, Wa., today to spend Thanksgiving with the family of Mr. Morrison's sister, Mrs. Hetherton. En route to Los Angeles, where they will spend the winter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Birge were guests the first of the week at the Congress hotel in Portland. Mrs. C. G. Pratt, of Cooperstown, N. Dak., arrived last week to make an indefinite stay with her daughter, Mrs. Frank J. Simpson, and family. R. J. Crane, now permanent court reporter for Hood River and Wasco counties, was here the first of the week attending the session of circuit court. Dr. Don B. Haylor, of Portland, permanent, dependable optometrist. Eye service monthly at the F. H. Coolidge jewelry store. Next visit Saturday, December 3.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Collier were in Portland last week, where they were guests of the Congress hotel. Mrs. Roger W. Moe and little daughter, Jean Aris, returned Monday from several days' visit with her sisters in Portland. A. B. Bennett was a business visitor in Portland Saturday. While there he witnessed the Idaho-O. A. C. football game. All kinds of scissors, shears and knives sharpened and repaired. Razors honed. Satisfaction guaranteed. Leave them at Kelly Bros. hardware store, Geo. T. Prather. Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Bartholomew moved to Portland last week, where Mr. Bartholomew is employed at Terminal No. 4. Miss Wilma Lively, their niece, accompanied them. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crulshank were up from Kelso, Wash., last week visiting friends and attending to matters of business. Mr. Crulshank was formerly county engineer here. Modern and Old-time dances, every second and fourth Tuesdays each month at W. O. W. hall, over Electric Kitchen, under auspices W. O. W. Lodge, Dance, 50 cents; lunch, 25c. Good music, good floor and all invited. 0201f. The Goodrich Truck line has been busy the past week hauling several carloads of flour, sugar, canned milk and general groceries for Skaggs store, which is laying in its winter supply of the staples. L. R. Thomas who operates the service station at the junction of the Mount Hood Loop and Cooper's Spur lateral highways, and Mrs. Thomas have removed to the Tucker residence at Tuckers bridge for the winter. The many friends of Postmaster Johnson will be glad to know that he is making a fine recovery at the Hood River hospital from a serious operation performed last week for removal of a goitre. The Ladies Aid of the Asbury M. E. church will hold their annual bazaar, candy and food sale at the Pacific Power & Light Co. December 3. Be sure to come and buy your Christmas presents at reasonable prices. Mr. and Mrs. Roy U. Yeach, who have been residing at Conrad, Mont., write that they have removed to Helena. "We have had a little winter here the last few weeks," says a letter, "but snow is melting now. We have not had any severe weather yet." Mr. and Mrs. John R. Putnam and daughter, Miss Doanda, who are here on a visit, motored through the Upper Valley Tuesday with Mrs. W. F. Tucker. Mr. Putnam declares that road improvements here since he left have been wonderful. The Hackett Furniture Co. on Sunday evening furnished the household equipment used in "home" service at the First Christian church. The series of Sunday evening sermons by the pastor, Mr. Livingstone, is creating a great deal of attention. Mrs. Emma Fleck, president of the department of Oregon, Women's Relief Corps, will be here Saturday, November 26, to pay an official visit to Canby Corps. A luncheon will be held for Mrs. Fleck at the Waukoma hotel at 12:15 p. m. All those desiring to meet the president at the luncheon are asked to notify Mrs. H. J. Frederick, Mrs. S. E. Barntess or Mrs. E. S. Dowditt. Fielding S. Kelly and Dr. H. D. W. Pines were visitors last week at Monroe, where dust sprays have been used extensively in the control of codling moth. A fuller report of their findings there will be given at a later date in the Glacier. D. F. Thomson, of Goldendale, who spent the fall here working for L. C. Baldwin and later in the apple harvest, was back in the city Saturday on business. Mr. Thomson says that business conditions at Goldendale are good. Twenty-five miles of the Satna road to Yakima have been graded, he reports. Aubrey Davis, Paul McKercher and Chester T. Dewey, of White Salmon, were very successful recently on a goose hunt that carried them to Tulle lake in Klamath county. Each man returned home with the limit of big geese. Their friends feasted on roast goose. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Putnam and daughter, Miss Doanda, who are here on a vacation from China, are here visiting friends. They own an orchard place in the Middle Valley, where they formerly resided. Mr. Putnam is in the consular service in China. William White, better known to his many friends as "Bill", on Tuesday lost from his automobile a Zellerbach Paper Co. price book. The book, valuable only to Mr. White, was dropped somewhere east of the Mt. Hood hotel as Mr. White left for The Dalles. Finder please return to The Glacier office. The Shamrock plant of P. L. Tompkins in the Hood River Canning plant was closed yesterday. F. H. Kingdon, the popular superintendent of the washing and packing plant, was presented with a gift by the force. In presenting the gift the men and women of the Shamrock plant expressed their appreciation of the way in which Mr. Kingdon has conducted the plant. H. E. Level, 30, is making a fight for his life at the Hood River hospital, where he is suffering from tetanus. Mr. Level injured his hand with a saw. The wound seemed a clean one and was healing well, when the infection was first noticed. He was seized with convulsions and was hastened to the hospital, where serum was administered. Pond-Lavison News has been received here of the wedding in San Francisco, Calif., of Russell G. Pond, former Upper Valley orchardist, and Miss Dorothy F. Lavison, of San Francisco. The wedding occurred on November 8. Mr. and Mrs. Pond will make their home in San Francisco. Water Power Committee Appointed At the regular meeting of the city council Monday night the following members were formally appointed to serve on a committee to investigate possibilities of a proposed municipal power system: C. A. Richards, J. B. Smithson and C. H. Castner. Offer activities Monday night centered in disposal of routine business.

THE DALLES FOLK ARE COMPLEMENTED

(By Fred Lockley in Oregon Journal) Judge Fred Wilson and Lulu Crandall are doing more to put The Dalles on the map historically speaking than any other citizens of that prosperous community. Judge Wilson's father, J. G. Wilson, was a pioneer jurist of Oregon. Mrs. Crandall is also a pioneer of The Dalles. She taught school at The Dalles in 1874 and '75. Recently, when I visited The Dalles, she told me many interesting incidents about early days in The Dalles. "The graveyard here at The Dalles was all the time the Methodist missionaries were here," said Mrs. Crandall. "This was back in the early '40s. Later, scores of emigrants camped at The Dalles while waiting for transportation on rafts or on bateaux, down the Columbia. There were quite a number of deaths among the emigrants, and those who died were buried in what was called the Soldiers' burying ground. "One day my husband called me up from his place of business, and said, 'There is a man here who wants to locate his mother's grave.' This was in 1906, and the man's name was Owen Humphrey Churchill. I told my husband to send the man up to the house and I would see if I could help him. Mr. Churchill was courteously, affable and cultured. He had on a beautiful suit of banker's gray. He was a very handsome man. His hair was white, and he had an air of distinction that marked him as a man of influence. He said to me, 'My mother was buried here at The Dalles in the fall of 1850. She had a baby, my brother Thomas, who now lives in Los Angeles, who was born on Bear river. Mother did not gain strength as she should, after the birth of my brother, and she died. She was brought in chicken broth and other dainties to tempt mother's appetite. I had been on rather short rations, and it seemed to me that I never did smell anything so good as the food his woman brought to mother. Mother died a few days after we got here, and this woman, whose name I never learned, prepared mother's body for burial. She was buried in what was then called the Soldiers' burying ground. "We were walking up toward the old Soldiers' graveyard while he was telling me about the death of his mother. I noticed that the grave of his mother had taken the bodies of the soldiers buried at Fort Dalles down to be buried in the Soldiers' cemetery at Fort Vancouver. I also told him that the bodies of 11 soldiers who had been removed from the Soldiers' burying ground to the Pioneer City graveyard by relatives or friends and that all of the other graves had been plowed under. For some time these graves were left in the middle of the street, but eventually the marble headstone was removed and the street was paved over these graves. Mr. Churchill saw, of course, that there was no chance of locating his mother's grave. "I have always blamed myself," Mr. Churchill said to me, "that I did not locate my mother's grave when I came back to The Dalles when I was 17 years old. I worked for Mr. Lord, who had a store here at The Dalles. He also operated a pack train between The Dalles and Canyon City. While working for Mr. Lord I used to drive the pack horses out to a place about 12 miles east of The Dalles to be pastured on the ranch of a man named Donnell. Mr. Donnell was very kind to me. He had me eat with the family. I remember particularly how kindly his wife was. There were seven children in the family, the oldest a girl. They were well-mannered children. "I said, 'Thank you, Mr. Churchill, for the compliment.' Z. M. Donnell, at the time, was a young man. He was my father, and I was the oldest girl in the family. The wife of the man you worked for, Elizabeth Lord, is my dearest friend. I want you to meet her. We stopped at her home, and I introduced Mr. Churchill and told her of the death of his mother. Mrs. Lord said, 'Mr. Churchill and I need no introduction. I was a little girl at the time, and I remember her well. My mother took care of my mother while she was dying, and prepared her for burial.' "As we walked back toward my home I told Mr. Churchill he would have to hurry to get home. He said, 'I will. I used to drive cattle from Walla Walla to the Montana mining camps. I had a partner—a man I thought a good deal of. It's curious I can't recollect his name.' He named his son for me. I said, 'I think I can help you there, too; your partner's name was McCoy.' 'That's it,' he said. 'His son, Elihu Owen McCoy, or 'Dutch' McCoy, as we call him—lives in that house right there.' I said and pointed to Mr. McCoy's house. Mr. Churchill said, 'I must certainly see my namesake, Owen McCoy.' "We went to the house, but found that Mr. McCoy had gone. Mr. Churchill and I left his card with the Chinese cook. When my husband came to lunch I said to him, 'Call up "Dutch" McCoy and tell him that the man for whom he was named is dead. He may be able to help me. If he hurries he may be able to see him before the train leaves.' "Dutch" McCoy, in answer to my husband's information, said, 'Don't you believe that he's at the Umattilla house; he has been up there for some time now, and he's eating lunch with me.' "A year or two later Mrs. Lord and myself visited Los Angeles. We had promised to look up Mr. Churchill if we were ever called, so we called on him. He insisted that we be his guests during the rest of our stay, and he took us in his automobile to all of the beauty spots of Los Angeles and vicinity. Both he and Mrs. Lord were children of 9 years of age when they had their first met each other, in The Dalles, in the fall of 1850."

Christmas Suggestions We are now displaying early lines of new articles in Christmas goods. A small payment down enables you to have your purchase laid away until you desire it. Christmas Cards -Are now on display. Make your selections early from our fullest and choicest line. Early shopping is always more satisfactory. YOURS FOR SERVICE A. S. KEIR'S RELIABLE DRUGGIST OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK

Sure! And all of us like 'em! Who? THE HOOD RIVER FIREMEN. And we'll join them tonight Thursday, November 24 at their 24TH ANNUAL BALL

THANKSGIVING We're genuinely thankful to be in this community. We're thankful to have won the trust and confidence of the many families and individuals whom we serve each day. It has been a labor of gladness to wait on and please you. The confidence of its customers is the merited possession of this store. THE STAR GROCERY "Good Things to Eat" PERIGO & SON Phone 8561

SILVER FOX TOO STRONG FOR COURT An incident at the courthouse Tuesday caused members of the bar to recall a story that Frank Branch Riley used to tell of a police judge of a southern city. One Monday morning, one of those fine mornings when the judge was not feeling any too well, the first prisoner brought before him was a huge, black negro. "What are you charged with?" demanded the judge. "Fragrance, yo' honor," the prisoner said. "The judge smiled and then he cried: 'Guilty, take him out!'" Tuesday the case of T. F. Glasier, of Jefferson, and Dale M. Haslin, local silver fox man, was being tried. One of the foxes was brought to the courtroom in a crate. The room was somewhat close, and finally the odor of the fox was noticed by all. Judge Wilson was observed sniffing. The crate was just below his bench. He finally declared that the smell of a fox was too much for his court, and two bailiffs, on instructions, immediately carried the fox to the courthouse lawn.

REAL SANTA CLAUS CLOSE TO HOME Yes, the jolly, old St. Nicholas is coming to Hood River. All Santa's little friends will be glad to know that they can see and talk to a real, live Santa Claus so close to their own home. We are told that this big, round, laughing friend of the children is to be here for nearly three days. He will arrive at the J. C. Penney Company store Thursday, December 1, at 4 p. m. and will be at home to the little folks until 6 o'clock. On Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3, he says that he can see the folks from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 6 p. m. There is only one more week to wait and we are sure Santa will have lots of fun for the little folks. Santa carries a real pack loaded with toys and he is going to bring this with him. PINE GROVE Mr. and Mrs. Clare Bickford spent the week end at Maryhill as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDonald. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Watson and son and daughter of Hubbard, Ore., visited Mrs. Watson's brother, O. F. Yoder, over the week end. Miss Irene Smith and Miss Alice May Davis left for Portland on Wednesday for the holidays. Miss Hagan and Miss Reynolds went to their homes in the Middle Valley. Mrs. O. P. Yoder left last Thursday for a visit with friends in Portland. Mrs. Clare Bickford will entertain the Aloha club next Wednesday. Mrs. Freeman will conduct the program, "Suggestions for Christmas." The program at the next social grange will be under the auspices of the teachers of the school. Mrs. Will Dimon of Portland is visiting her mother, Mrs. Julia Hunt. Geo. Lage and Willard Jarvis will go to Salem with the high school football team on Thanksgiving Day. Gerald Jarvis has arrived in Seattle and will proceed to San Francisco and make another trip to the Orient. A campaign will be conducted by the Boy Scouts next week to make an effort to raise funds to carry on the work for another year. The local scouts will meet at the school house next Tuesday evening. E. E. Lage was in Portland Saturday to attend an irrigation conference. Will Clark was called to Bandon last week by the death of Mrs. Clark's father, Mr. Marr. Mrs. English and Frances, and Mrs. Katherine Thomson and children went to Portland Wednesday to spend the holidays. The mortgage on the Grange hall will be burned December 14 with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cutler have gone to Long Beach, Wash., for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Graf have been at Newport for the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Freeman are in Portland for the Thanksgiving holidays. Frank Dehman, who has been in the Good Samaritan hospital, Portland, for several weeks, returned home on Tuesday. Hot lunches will be served at the school next Monday.

DECISION GIVEN IN BAKER CASE Under Oregon statutes, according to a decision rendered Tuesday in circuit court by Judge Fred W. Wilson, the district attorney and justice of the peace in summary proceedings before the justice are not required to inform the defendant about to enter a plea that he has right of counsel. The matter was presented when Geo. W. Baker, young West Side rancher, who recently entered a plea of guilty when arrested on a charge of giving intoxicating liquor to a minor, after his sentence to jail and having been given a fine, moved through a writ of review to have the court reverse the sentence and permit him to enter a plea of not guilty and go to trial. The affidavit accompanying the motion set forth that the defendant had not been advised of his right to counsel. Judge Wilson in his decision said that the statutes, while providing that a defendant in criminal cases should be advised in circuit court of right of counsel, the rule was not carried to the justice courts. He cited two cases that have been before the Oregon supreme court wherein that court had so held. Judge Wilson, however, expressed it as his individual belief that the law should extend to the justice courts. "As a judge of the circuit court, however," said Judge Wilson, "I have no authority for making laws and can merely apply those on the books." In his decision Judge Wilson enumerated the justice of the peace, the district attorney and other officers of an illegal action in the justice court proceedings in the Baker case. He suggested, however, that the justice court might at its discretion permit the defendant to change his plea and go to trial. Judge Wilson emphasized that his comment in this wise should in no way be construed as a command from him that it was necessary advice. He cited that the defendant had found fault with the court officials, but had pointed out that his plea had been made under a misapprehension. Judge Wilson suggested that a trial of the case in open court, giving the defendant his "day in court," would, perhaps, be better as a matter of public policy. More About the Girl Scouts The Girl Scouts of Troop I under Mrs. A. T. Case, and the Girl Scouts of Troop II under Miss Jean Skene met in the basement of the Riverside church last Monday. Many new Scouts were present for the first time. Much excitement was caused over the contest being held by Troop I. It was found that Patrol I is in the lead with Patrol III hot in pursuit. The contest will soon expire, so every girl is working like mad. At the end of the meeting the patrol leaders corporals were called aside for a special meeting to plan more excitement for all. Every Girl Scout wishes to extend her thanks to Dr. Sifton, who has willingly given them first aid lessons. On Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock those Girl Scouts wishing to pass the first aid part of their second class test will meet at Dr. Sifton's office. At 10 o'clock the same morning a hike will be taken to the Scout cabin, and from there into the woods to enjoy a real camp dinner. Come join the Girl Scouts; Troop I, 12 years and over; Troop II, under 12. Dorothy Higgins, Goldenrod, Troop I.

All Prices are LOW not just those advertised You will find all our prices are low. We do not have just a few extra specials to attract you once, We have low prices always to merit your regular trade... Speedy Specials Saturday and Monday, Nov. 26-28 RICE—Fancy Blue Rose. 4 pounds 25c AMAIZO STARCH—Corn or Gloss. 1-lb packages; 3 for 25c SYRUP—Adirondack Cane and Maple. New pack from the foot hills of the Adirondacks. Full Quart 53c Full 1/2 Gallon 99c CORN—Del Monte Tiny Kernel. 3 Cans 49c BEANS—Red Mexican. No. 1 Calif. 4 pounds 25c PINEAPPLE—Rosedale. 8 large, mellow, slices to the can. Large cans, 3 for 59c FLOUR—Fisher's Blend. Exceptional value at this low price. 49-lb Sack $1.94 20TH CENTURY COFFEE—Good Coffee is nature's own "Pick-me-up." 20th Century is of the best, and it's always fresh. Pound 45c; 3 lbs. $1.32 SWIFT'S EMPIRE HAMS—1/2 or Whole Ham. Per pound 24c DON'T FAIL TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE BIGGEST CANNED GOODS SALE IN THE HISTORY OF THE 20TH CENTURY STORES. OUR SALESPeOPLE WILL GLADLY GIVE YOU THE FULL PARTICULARS. Fresh Fruit and Vegetables AT ALL TIMES